Next Monday evening a parish dinner will be held for the canvassers, members with Mrs. F. B. Clarke, as convener, and a committee composed of Mesdames F. E. Moore, R. E. Davis, R. Bailey, R. Babcock, A. Watson, G. W. Corby, and J. Bennett.

Officers of the church include, the Rev. L. Arthur Page, rector; churchwardens, Mr. Percy Clarke, people's warden, L. F. Reid; vestry clerk, R. I. Hall, and treasurer, A. Lockley. Other members of the parish council are, D. Kerr, J. Ritchie, R. Wood, J. Slade, S. Sillitoe, Mrs. S. J. Price and Mrs. A. Watson.

Bride-to-Be Honored By Staff Members

Last evening the home of Mrs. Marjorie Foster, Coleman Street, was the scene of a happy gathering when ten girl members of The Ontario Intelligencer office staff tendered a pantry shower to one of their number, Miss Cathleen Martin, bride-to-be of next month. The home was gaily decorated for the occasion with pink and white streamers, white wedding bells, and corsage basket.

The evening was spent in a social camaraderie, after which a delightful lunch was served with yellow, and overflowing with pantry foodstuffs in beautifully wrapped packages, was presented to the guest of honor whose appreciation was most graciously expressed for the bounteous gifts.

Refreshments were served later in buffet style, bringing to a close a delightful evening.

Elderly Couple to Celebrate 60th Wedding Anniversary

Mr., Mrs. James E. Mumby

On September 11, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Mumby, now residing at the Hastings County Home, Belleville, and former residents of Springbrook, Ontario, will celebrate the 60th anniversary of their marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Mumby are in comparatively good health considering their number of years. The couple was married on the lawn at the home of the bride's parents, Alexander Mc. and Mrs. Thomas Hamilton, Marmora township, near Cordova Mines. The Reverend J. A. Connell, minister on the North Marmora charge officiated. Mr. Connell was later on the Rawdon circuit.

Mrs. Phyllis Barrons and Mr. Charles Carman were their attendants.

After their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Mumby farmed north of Cordova village until 1908, when they moved to Rawdon township about one and one-half miles east of Springbrook, the farm now being owned by their nephew, Hiram Mumby, Springbrook.

Mr. Mumby is the seventh oldest of a family of 11, being a son of the late Joseph and Molly Mumby, of Bonarlaw. Their post office at that time, was Springbrook. Later a post office was situated across from where the Anglican church now stands, and was known as "Big Springs" and later as "Bell View". Their farm was located east of Bonarlaw on the 12th concession.

Mr. Mumby has three sisters and one brother living, Mrs. Elizabeth Linton, Moosomin, Sask., who is in her 94th year; Mrs. Martha McGarvey, Tweed, and Miss Milda, of Toronto and Mr. Lindsay Mumby, 12th concession of Rawdon. Dellilah Barrons and George, David, Hiram, Samuel, John and Charles, are deceased.

Mrs. Mumby was the former Nina Hamilton, daughter of the late William Thomas Hamilton, and Elizabeth Carman of Cordova Mines, known then as "Whatstone". She has one brother living, Willie Hamilton, Cordova Mines. A brother, Howard is deceased and a half-sister, (Isobel), Mrs. Will Carman, also is deceased.

NO FAMILY

Mr. and Mrs. Mumby had no family, but in 1914, two girls came out from England, Maude Annie Bell, and made their home with them. The younger is now Mrs. James Milne of Rylstone.

Mr. and Mrs. Mumby have been residents of the Hastings County Home about two years and are most contented and happy with their abode. They speak in highest terms of the residence and the wonderful care they receive.

They have a lot of visitors and Mrs. Mumby takes an active part playing the piano for the sacred sing-songs and services. They enjoy the church services held on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Mumby are prominent members of Springbrook United church and always attended regularly until recent years. Mr. Mumby was an elder of the church and was treasurer of the congregation for 20 years and auditor of the school books about ten years.

Mrs. Mumby was an active member of the Springbrook United church Women's Association, and for some time their organist. She also served as organist of the Cordova Methodist church for several years. She was a member of Springbrook Women's Institute and took a keen interest in both organizations, and also a valued member of Springbrook Sunday school and many times in recent years walked to Springbrook to attend.

It is Mr. and Mrs. Mumby's wish that they again meet with relatives and friends of former and recent years and plan on celebrating the diamond anniversary of their marriage by being "at home" to their acquaintances on Monday afternoon and evening, September 12th, at the home of their nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Mumby of Springbrook.

OUTLIVES SELF

CHICAGO (AP) — Mrs. Emma Gloe Thursky collected the $50,000 face value of a straight life insurance policy on herself. The Prudential Insurance Co. of America paid off Mrs. Gloe because, at 96, she has outlived the mortality table by 26 years when she took out the policy 30 years ago.

Women's Activities

MARSH HILL W.M.S.

The September meeting of the Marsh Hill W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Allyn Finkle with nine members present.

The president, Mrs. Leslie Finkle, opened the meeting with the reading of a poem "Life is a Mirror" and prayer.

Several members contributed to the birthday box.

Mrs. Walter Lindenfield read a letter from the presbyterial treasurer, Mrs. E. W. Jones, re "In Memoriam Certificates".

The members reported making eight house calls and three hospital calls, sending one letter and ten cards.

PROGRAM

The following program was presented: The 23rd Psalm was read in unison by the members; Mrs. Frank Finkle gave a meditation on the Psalm.

The Psalm was written by David shortly before his death. He was strong but he learned early in his life to look to One who was stronger. Now in his old age, he is resting and thinking about his part life.

Conscious of the Providence that ruled and the divine care that had upheld him he gives this wonderful Psalm.

Mrs. Allyn Finkle gave a reading "Let Your Light Shine".

Mrs. Leslie Finkle gave the topic, "The Great Commission". "The great commission of the Master is to carry the gospel to the whole world. If each Christian should bring one soul to Jesus, a year, how soon the whole world would be won. It has been said that the question is not whether God can obtain other salvation, if the gospel is not preached to them, but whether we can be saved, if we fail to obey Christ's command. If we cannot go to foreign lands, we can at least "hold the ropes for those who go."

After the benediction, the president conducted a Bible quiz on Old Testament characters.

The hostess served refreshments.

BELLEVILLE UTILITIES COMMISSION

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

TRY OUTEMARTING FIEZL, FRANCES

Dear Beatrice, Fairfax:

Everybody's heard of the nagging mother-in-law who makes her daughter-in-law's life miserable. But I wonder if it's quite as common for a young wife to be nagged by her husband's whole family at once?

Maybe "nagged" isn't quite the right word, because my husband's mother and his two sisters aren't exactly mean to me. I'm sure they don't intend to be, anyhow. What they do is to constantly comment on every move I make, just sort of laughing at me.

They make cracks about the way I keep house—and I can't see anything wrong about it, and neither can my husband—and about the way I care for my children, too. What I guess I am trying to say is that they treat me like a young bride in a comic book who can't do anything right and is meant to be laughed at.

My husband doesn't seem to mind, although he gets a lot of it, too. But I mind, and it's getting on my nerves so much that sometimes, after we've had Sunday dinner and spent the afternoon with his family, or they've been at our house, I just break down and cry. — Frances T.

Dear Frances:

You have my sincere sympathy. There's nothing more irritating, and nerve-wracking, than to be constantly the butt of other people's silly jokes. People who like to do this sort of thing, of course, have a large streak of the juvenile in their make-up, but that doesn't help the victim any, just to know that.

At the same time, it's not really surprising that your husband isn't bothered by it. Most of us are so used to our family's attitudes and habits that there don't make the same impression on us that they do on people who aren't used to them. Long before he married you, your husband undoubtedly learned to brush off the things his family did that annoyed him, or they don't bother him now and he doesn't see why they bother you.

It's quite different, though, when a person is subjected to this sort of horseplay from people who are related only by marriage, and it's perfectly natural that you should be hurt by it and resent it.

I do think your husband should have the insight and the sense to speak up for you, either privately to his family or, when they start making wisecracks at you, by saying right then and there: "Hey, you folks! Lay off!" But apparently he doesn't do anything about it, and so, rather than be forever quarrelling with him about it, I'd suggest that you try to adopt his attitude—or at least a reasonable facsimile thereof.

In other words, try to laugh off the wisecracks, and at least pretend that you think them very unimportant. This might even prove a cure, if you kept it up long enough. Pretty soon he'd get tired of laughing at a person who simply refuses to rise to the occasion, and seriously. Your in-laws probably know that what they say gets under your skin, so they get so much enjoyment out of it that they keep on doing it. If you can train yourself to conceal the fact that it "gets" you, they'd get no satisfaction out of it and in time, would likely stop.

Or you might take them by surprise, and throw their fun-making right off balance some day by saying in a perfectly pleasant way: "Yes, you're right, I must stop doing that." Or "Thanks for the suggestion. I'm going to try your way of doing it right off." I hardly think they really mean you to take what they say seriously, and if you suddenly began to give them the impression that you were doing so, it might give them pause.

Of course you'd go right on doing the things your own way in your home. You'd have no intention of adopting their methods. But if they have any intelligence at all, it might stop them dead in their tracks if they thought you were taking their jokes for real.

Anyhow, by trying this plan, you can have some fun all to yourself.

Readers' Friday Column

As Conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION:

(1) Will glycerine keep jelly from crystallizing? If so, how much will I use? Will it taste the jelly? (2) Have you any small recipes (for two only) for Chili Sauce? Rhubarb Conserve? Pickle? (3) Are the ripe tomatoes we use in Chili sauce tender or should one wait until later? Best of luck.—Mrs. E. F.

ANSWER:

I have to confess complete ignorance on the crystal-preventing properties of glycerine. Sugar crystals may result from a different cause: (1) an excess of sugar; (2) insufficient acid in the fruit; (3) overcooking of jelly; (4) too long a delay in sealing. The crystallization of grape jelly may be greatly reduced by letting juice stand several hours in a cold place before making jelly after it is extracted. The tartaric acid crystals settle and juice may be poured off leaving it in bottom. Do any of our readers know whether adding glycerine to reduce crystallization in jelly?

CHILI SAUCE

(Yield 4 14-oz jars.)

Tie in a cheesecloth bag loosely 1 tablespoon whole cloves and 3 tablespoons whole allspice. Put bag into pot with 4 dozen tomatoes by peeling and chopping—you should have 16 lbs. Add to them 2 1-2 cups chopped pecled onions, 2 1-2 cups chopped, seeded sweet green peppers, 2 1-2 green and 1-2 red), 1 1-2 cups sugar, 2 tablespoons salt, 4 cups vinegar. Add spice bag and bring to boil, stirring often, and boil uncovered 1-2 to 3 hours or until not quite as thick as chili sauce. Consistency should be (it thickens a little more when cold). Remove bag and pour into hot, sterile jars and seal.

RHUBARB CONSERVE

"Two lbs. each sugar and cleaned and chopped rhubarb, juice and grated rind of 1 very large orange, juice and grated rind of 1 lemon, 1-2 to 1 cup fine quality broken walnuts or almonds. Mix together all but nuts and boil gently 30 minutes, stirring frequently. Add walnuts and cook 10 minutes longer or until thick enough. Pour into sterile glasses and seal.

Would you mind letting me know what pickle recipes you would like? I will probably then send you former releases which you could cut in half for your small family. Tomatoes are ready now to use for chil sauce.

QUESTION:

Can you help me with a recipe for "Cold Pack Pickles"? This is a pickle my late mother-in-law used to make and of which my husband is very fond . . . perhaps this will give you some idea: it has 2 qts. cues (don't peel), cut up small and scalded, leave overnight with a piece of alum in strong brine and cover. In morning drain and cover with cold vinegar. Add 1 cup whit sugar for four mornings. Add 1 spoon mustard and 1 spoon mustard seed, 2 teaspoons mixed spices and 1 teaspoon turmeric. This recipe is no use to me at all as I don't even know what a strong brine is. Is 32-oz. jar same as quart?—Mrs. Wm. R.

ANSWER:

I will give you my recipe for

CHUNK PICKLES

Because it is similar to the one you outline, but more specific.

Cut up 7 lbs. dill size cucumbers into 1 1-2 inch chunks. Soak in brine of 1 cups water to 1 cup salt (it must cover chunks), for 7 days. Freshen by soaking in cold fresh water 24 hours. Mix together 1 quart vinegar, 2 quarts water and piece of alum size of walnut and boil drained chunks in it 7 minutes. Drain at once. Make a syrup by boiling together 1 quart vinegar, 3 lbs. sugar, 1 oz. mixed celery seed, whole allspice and cassia buds. Pour this hot syrup over the drained cucumber chunks, and let stand overnight. On next morning drain off syrup, bring to boil, pour over pickles again and this time seal in sterile jars.

An Imperial quart (like a milk bottle) contains 40 ozs. Standard sealers hold 32 ounces, but are called quarts commonly.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMIESON

HOW TO CHOOSE THE RIGHT PERFUME

Take your time in selecting perfume. Test by applying to the inside of the wrist.

Perfume does more for a woman than almost any other article on her dressing table. It often makes her feel luxurious but it gives her spirits a lift when she's "in the dumps" and its fragrance gives her an aura of glamour which is delightful to others as it is to herself.

Some women, however, are inclined to get into a rut where perfume is concerned. They use the same scent for years and never experiment with new ones. In some cases this may be due to a fear of straining the budget. But don't let this fear keep you from experimenting with new fragrances since most of the loveliest perfumes on the market now come in dress sizes, purse sizes and other inexpensive vials. So why not start off the new season with a new perfume to go along with your new suit, your new hat and all your new fall accessories?

What to buy? The eventual choice will be up to you, of course, but the best way to find what suits you best is to go to the nearest perfume counter and have the saleslgirl make suggestions according to the type of perfume for which you have a marked preference or the "mood" you'd like to create and then test the ones she offers. And when we say "test," we really mean test. The first thing to remember is that you should never try out more than three different scents at any one time because your olfactory nerves will probably become confused if you smell more than that number.

And now for the testing procedure. Correctly followed this means putting a few drops on the inside wrist of one arm. Then, after it has dried, sniff—not just once, but two or three or four times. Think about the fragrance. If the first does not please, wash it off and repeat the process with a different perfume on the other inside wrist. A third scent should be tested on another part of the arm, preferably the inside of the elbow, so that the odors will not be confused. Take your time to "try on" your perfumes. Just as you wouldn't expect to buy a hat that's "just right" in a half hour, don't expect to find the scent that's perfect for you in a jiffy. You may have to make three or four visits to the perfume counter before you're satisfied, but they'll be very much worthwhile.

SPECIAL FORM OF REPLY TO WEDDING INVITATION

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I have just received a formal invitation to the church wedding and Country Club reception of the daughter of business friends of his in a city quite a distance from here. It so happens that my husband has been scheduled for some time to go to that city for some business meetings during that week. He thinks he shouldn't go to the wedding without me, and I think he certainly should go. Do you think he should go? If so, how should I write the formal reply to this formal invitation? — K.I.

It agrees with you . . . I think your husband should go to the wedding and reception. Of course the hosts of the wedding will understand why you will not be able to come.

Your reply would read (written on the first page of double-sheet letter-paper or note-paper):

Mr. Johnathan Lane accepts with pleasure the kind invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Thompson for Tuesday, the sixth of October but

Mrs. Lane regrets that she will be unable to accept

WANTS HER DADDY TO HAVE A BIRTHDAY PARTY!

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband will have a birthday soon. He has never had a birthday party, and I thought that this time it would be nice to have a party for him. Our little daughter loves a party, and she wants her Daddy to have a birthday party. We have so many friends in our church, and I would like to invite them and his co-workers too. When I invite the guests, shall I say that it is his birthday and shall I mention his age? — R.S.

Please do give a birthday party for your husband this year. He'll be happy, I'm sure — and you'll be happy planning it, and your little daughter will be enchanted at the idea! I think you should mention that it is a birthday party . . but not customary to mention the age. Invite as many guests as you can conveniently accommodate. Be sure to have a fine birthday cake . . . to be brought in gaily, and to go to the wedding, as it is too far away. Thank you for your advice. — G.A.

Yes . . . invitations to the wedding should be sent to relatives and friends in your city, and to all relatives and friends of your family. The fact that they probably won't be able to attend the wedding isn't the point. . . the real point is that your son and his fiancee would like to indicate to these relatives and friends of his that they would so very much like to have them at the wedding if this were possible. Wedding invitations are a most gracious and friendly gesture.

Chief Mulligan's Counsel Quits Vancouver Probe

VANCOUVER (CP)—The royal commission investigating Vancouver's police force was adjourned suddenly Thursday when T. G. Norris withdrew as counsel for Police Chief Walter Mulligan.

The surprise move prompted Commissioner Reginald H. Tupper to adjourn the inquiry until Monday morning.

Mr. Norris, who had been a dominating figure in the hearings with his stinging cross-examination and his desk-pounding, said his withdrawal was for personal reasons.

"My reasons are entirely personal," he told Commissioner Tupper as the session was opened in city council chambers.

NOT CAUSED BY PROBE

Mr. Norris' resignation brought about the fourth adjournment since the inquiry opened July 6. Chief Mulligan was given until Monday to engage new counsel.

Emphasizing his withdrawal had "nothing to do with the probe," Mr. Norris said: "It is proper that I should state I have the utmost confidence in the strength of my client's case as it will be developed."

Commissioner Tupper had adjourned the hearing last Wednesday at the request of Mr. Norris who then claimed "personal reasons."

The commission was appointed July 6 to investigate all phases of police activity after the attempted suicide of Det.-Sgt. Leo Cuthbert, who has testified that he shared underworld payoffs with Chief Mulligan.

CAUGHT BY SURPRISE

The chief, on requested leave for the duration of the inquiry, said of Mr. Norris' withdrawal:

"I caught me by surprise. He explained it fully to me. The reasons are strictly personal to him and confidential."

Prior to the adjournment the commission had heard testimony from police officers who charged that Chief Mulligan was "unfair and dictatorial" in his treatment of the men and showed favoritism in granting promotions.

Russians Inspect Breeding Bulls

The inspection was carried out at the artificial insemination centre under the direction of Dr. H.G. Smiley, secretary-manager of the Eastern Ontario Cattle Breeding Association.

Dr. Smiley explained that semen from 38 bulls, some of them grand champions of Toronto's Canadian National Exhibition, are used to impregnate about 40,000 cows on eastern Ontario farms each year. CO-OPERATIVE BASIS

Dr. Smiley informed the Russians that the station is run on a co-operative basis; farmers in the district finance it by paying a $25 membership fee. For each cow inseminated the fee is $3.

Soviet livestock expert Yuri Golubash, deputy minister of Russian state farms, said he liked the unit "very much." It was superior to most others he had seen in North America and compared with the best seen in the U. S.

The Russians' trip to this town 35 miles south of Ottawa was the last leg of their 15-day, 4,000-mile Canadian farmlands tour. Only six of the 12 delegates made the trip. The others, including leader Vladimir Matskevich, remained in Ottawa.

Board Expects 30,000 Persons To Attend Fair

PICTON, — Prince Edward County Fair at Picton opened its gates Thursday for the 102nd fair, and before it closes Saturday night nearly thirty thousand people are expected to enjoy all the delights of a fair, and this is Class B, one of the larger and better fairs.

The grounds presented a hectic scene Wednesday as the Grant Model Shows midway with a galaxy of rides and shows moved in, hundreds of cars brought in exhibits and directors completed a hundred and one details. By midnight, the curtain was ready to ring up on the three-day show.

Yesterday saw a revival of the school parade, when the band of 6 RD Trenton, led several thousand children to the grounds where during opening ceremonies, President Willis Sills and County Warden Murney Parks extended welcomes.

HORSE JUDGING STARTS

Horse judging, junior farmer competitions, band concert, horse show at night, entertainment by the Riders of the Western Range, were among first day highlights.

Friday, sees three horse races and a colorful variety grandstand show at night. Three horse races are carded for Saturday afternoon, while at night Whipper Watson will appear in the main bout against Doc Gallagher in a wrestling show in the new Agricultural Centre.

In the Centre are 102 head of Holsteins. There are 60 Yorkshires being shown. The new horse barn is filled with around 40 horses. The Palace has a tempting array of home baking; a large exhibit by County schools, commercial exhibits and special entries.

In a separate building, 4-H clubs have a large display of club projects, general exhibits and a commercial exhibit on cheese.

In the Centre is a splendid entry of ladies' work, fruits and vegetables, grains and seeds, handcrafts, a commercial feature on cheese, and a wonderful display of flowers.

Given good weather, record crowds are expected for the final day on Saturday which is the "big" day.

Sunday School Lesson:

It Happened Once Before

By ROY L. SMITH

There is an old saying to the effect that "history always repeats itself" which has a vivid illustration in this week's Sunday school lesson. Many of the conditions with which the new state of Israel is confronted were anticipated in the conditions which the Jews had to face when they returned from the Babylonian captivity and set about rebuilding their ancient homeland.

UNDER AUSPICES OF PERSIA

Since the year 536 B. C. the Jews had been living as displaced persons in the general vicinity of Babylon, first under one emperor and then under another, sometimes of one race and sometimes of another. In the meantime, a mongrel population had grown up and occupied their homeland — a people who had earned rights in the land by virtue of the fact that they had tilled it and built their homes therein while it was empty. It was inevitable that the order of the Persian monarch that the city of Jerusalem should be rebuilt would arouse bitter enmity and opposition on the part of the local residents. We have a modern illustration of the problem in the case of the Arabs who occupied Palestine when the British announced that they would look with favor on the establishment of a "homeland" for the Jews in the ancient Land of Promise. Just as two solid bodies cannot occupy the same space at the same time, so two nations cannot occupy the same territory at the same time. In both cases it was the interference of an outside power that initiated the difficulty.

OPPOSITION BITTER

The news that the Jews were coming back from Babylon in force to rebuild their once-beautiful capital and reoccupy the land stirred the Samaritans and other local tribes to a fever of excitement and suspicion. Every Jewish family that came back would crowd the little land just that much more, and it was never intended to be the residence of a large population. Its slender resources could not provide enough livings. The miracles the modern Jews have worked by means of scientific techniques were undreamed of then, and even today they have a limit.

It was inevitable then, as it was inevitable 20 years ago, that any large influx of Jews was certain to arouse the bitter opposition of the neighboring tribes and states. And that the returnees should be faced by a solid alliance of unfriendly neighbors is either case was to be expected.

JEWS ABLY LED

The scholars say that the records we have in the book of Nehemiah, in the Old Testament, are probably the most accurate and dependable historical records in all of the great book. And the book of Nehemiah pictures for us a leader who was intelligent, patient, determined, and enlightened.

The Uniform Sunday School Lesson for September 11: "STRUGGLE FOR SURVIVAL." Nehemiah 1; 2; 4; 6; 12:27-36, 43.

Not the least important aspect of the case was the fact that the returnees were willing to work, and for hard labor there has never been any satisfactory substitute (Neh. 4:6). It is lack of any adequate understanding of this basic principle which is the explanation of the economic morass in which certain areas of the earth find themselves today.

ABILITY TO CO-OPERATE

The ability to co-operate, to assume whatever task may be assigned us, to divide burdens and responsibilities, and to perform the tasks immediately before us, is the secret of the strength and vitality of any nation. It is extremely interesting to note, however, that Nehemiah tells how they worked with arms in one hand and tools in the other. An adequate defense program and an internal works program had to go together. And again we find the correspondence in modern Israel.

Brooklyn Dodgers Win Earliest National League Pennant In History

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GARRY ALEXANDER

HOW ABOUT IT?

Last summer, no softball champions were named in the Belleville and District Softball League and unless the Belleville Orfuns and Point Anne can get together, it will be the same this season.

The Orfuns have been eliminated from the OASA playdowns and Point Anne have only one more series to play, the Ontario finals in the Industrial setup. According to convener Don Lee, the Cementmen will meet Toronto or Waterloo but not until next week some time. That will be a two-of-three series, more than likely, with the home-and-home games coming on week-ends if Waterloo can oust Toronto. The long trip, some 200 miles, would make this almost a sure thing.

There is no reason that we can see why the two local teams can't open a series immediately. They put on the best softball games held here this year all during the league schedule, each team winning twice and ending in a tie for first place with 13 wins against three setbacks. This forced a playoff for first place with the Orfuns triumphant. Point Anne disposed of Frankford and the Orfuns whipped the Bobcats in the semi-finals but then both teams entered OASA playdowns and nothing farther has been done about the local title, the Bill Ott Trophy.

The weather is perfect for early evening games now but it won't last long. A three-of-five series, with games beginning at 5.45, would be ideal and we expect would draw good crowds.

These two teams boast most of the best players in the district. The Orfuns have an excellent one-two pitching combination in Bobby Green and Bob Hunter as well as Bruno McCarthy who also batted over the .500 mark this year. Pat Maracle is the Pointer's mound ace backed by Bob Hull and Buck Burshaw.

Fielding is no problem for either team with Jack Wardhaugh, Doug Hull and John Batchelor turning in some excellent plays for Orfuns. The infield combination with Pat Gilmour and Gerry Goyer both infielders of fine ability.

The teams are strong at the plate as can be seen by the final batting averages. About seven of the top ten batters played either for Point Anne or the Orfuns. Gerry Goyer took the title with a terrific .404 mark followed by John Batchelor, Phil Bennett, Bert Whalen, Jack Wardhaugh. Don Barclay and several others from both teams all down the line. Gerry Goyer played with the Orfuns near the end of the season and hit well while Bob Hull batted .455 for Point Anne but did not get enough official at bats to qualify for the title.

The two teams are well matched all the way, so let's get to it. As we said before, it should be a good series.

SOME HURLING

Gordie Vaughan, a strong-armed right-handed chucker in his early teens, came so close to pitching his team to a provincial title as is possible without quite making it, last Monday.

Gordie throws for his father's team, the Vaughan's Bantams, which represented Belleville in the OBA bantam playdowns. Two weeks ago the club went to Ottawa to take part in the Eastern Ontario round-robin series and Gordie threw both games to bring home the title. On the Labor Day holiday, Vaughans travelled to New Toronto for a similar series to determine the Ontario championship.

Four teams took part with Belleville meeting Niagara Falls in an early afternoon game. Young Vaughan was again at the hill and his team won by a narrow 3-2 margin with Gordie allowing only one hit in the first six innings. His mates got him one run in the last inning to win.

With only 85 minutes' rest, Vaughans were pitted against Kitchener for all the marbles. You guessed it. Gordie Vaughan once more took the hill. This time the smart young hurler gave up only two hits but they were enough to defeat him as Kitchener pulled out a 2-1 victory. The two hits that did the damage came off the bat of the opposing pitcher. Congratulations Gord on a terrific showing.

Note to Al Kelleher: Better keep your eye on this boy.

RASSLIN'

Clear the deck for action at Memorial Arena tonight when the pride of Ontario, Whipper Billy Watson and Pat Flanagan, clash head on with Germany's gift to the grunt and groan trade, Karl Von Koehler and Fritz Von Erich.

It will be a battle between a pair of clean, scientific, grapplers against the toughest combination in district wrestling circles. The German team has turned the local fans into a wild lot by ripping into their opponents with everything including the ring posts. A large crowd is expected and you can bet they'll all be howling for the Whip, and his buddy to give the Vons a lesson in wrestling. It won't be easy.

Doc Gallagher, Bob Leitler, Sandy Scott and Firpo Zbysko are also on the card which opens at 8.45 p.m.

Sam Snead's Golf School

Many players "throw the club-head from the top". That is, they start the downswing with a pre-mature uncocking of the wrists which absolutely kills the shot. There's nothing left in the swing by the time the clubhead gets to ball.

You must delay that wrist action until the hands get to about the level illustrated. Then you must pour those hands into shot with plenty of determination. Some players, go to the other extreme of never uncocking their wrists, which is just as bad as doing it too soon.

When slicing, try to get that whip-lash action in more at the bottom of your stroke. Maybe you also because your hands are ahead of the clubhead at impact. This means that you draw the club face across the ball from heel to toe, imparting a right spin which produces a slice at the end of the ball's flight.

Three Pressure-Packed Days Ahead for Four Contenders For American League Flag

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Brooklyn's pennant victory is the earliest ever in the National League—but in the American one or two of the contenders may find it's later than they think after the next three, pressure-packed days.

The Dodgers made it with a 10-2 thrashing of Milwaukee Thursday, erasing their own league standard for an early clinching, set on Sept. 12, 1953.

The frenzied American League battle, however, now jumps into its most crucial three days yet. The Chicago White Sox go into New York's Yankee Stadium to open a two-game set this afternoon while the first-place Cleveland Indians begin a two-game series at Boston tonight.

Sunday, Chicago moves to Boston and Cleveland visits New York in a pair of doubleheaders.

The burden is on the White Sox and the Red Sox. Both lost vital ground Thursday. Idle Cleveland and New York reeled off victories. The Indians beat Baltimore 5-3 in 10 innings, maintaining their half-game lead over the Yanks, who whipped Detroit 12-5.

But the White Sox were jarred 2½ games behind by Washington's 3-4, and Boston, after winning six straight, slipped four games back with a 7-6 loss to Detroit.

Cleveland stayed out front with four unanswered runs—Dorr Larry Doby's 26th homer, leading off the 10th to break a 3-3 tie, provided the Tribe with its margin. Relief ace Don Mossi pitched his third homer in two days, but the Indians stood with nine hits.

Baltimore, completing its season play against the Tribe with only three victories in 22 games, pushed over a run in the ninth off Ray Narleski, the Tribe's fourth pitcher, as the Indians stood what they hoped would be a game-ending double play.

The Yanks had no such anxious moments. Bob Turley five-hit the Tigers for his fifth shutout and 16th triumph and Yogi Berra belted a pair of three-run homers. Kansas City kicked in four errors, giving New York six unearned runs on their nine hits.

After losing 17 games to the White Sox, the Senators closed out the '55 series with their fifth success, chasing Virgil Trucks with two decisive runs in the seventh. Ernie Oravetz, who earlier had given the Sox two runs on fielding errors, brought home the winning run with a sacrifice fly following three singles in the seventh.

Mickey Vernon's two-run homer off Chicago's Jim Wilson in the sixth and started Trucks' decline. Virgil hadn't lost to Washington since 1953.

Ellis Kinder, of all people, muffed it for the Red Sox. His wild pitch allowed the winning run to score in the Tigers' 7-6 ninth. Starter Willard Nixon gave way to Kinder, Boston's relief ace, after Chuck Harmon opened with a walk and a double with none out.

Pinch-hitter Ted Williams, out by injury, was a soft touch for Kinder. Then Phillips bloooped a two-run single to tie the game. Harvey Kuenn doubled and Kinder let loose the wild one after intentionally walking the bases full.

The Dodgers, winning their ninth modern-era pennant, breezed home on 11 hits and the brilliant relief work of Karl Spooner. The 24-year-old southpaw, relieving rookie Roger Craig in the fourth, pitched no-hit ball over the final 5 2-3 innings, striking out nine and retiring 13 in order in one stretch.

Bob Buhl was the first of five Milwaukee pitchers. He failed to last the first inning as the Brooks scored four times on three walks, a hit batsman and two singles.

Jackie Robinson, who hit a two-run homer in a four-run fifth, and Gil Hodges each knocked home three runs.

Roy Campanella was the gent clipped by Buhl's pitch in the first, but he packs reduced the pain in the right forearm and x-rays were called unnecessary. Rube Walker replaced Campy behind the plate.

The New York Giants, taking advantage of Milwaukee's defeat, moved within 2½ games of the runner-up Braves with a 6-2 victory over the St. Louis cardinals in a night game.

Philadelphia tightened its grip on fourth place with a 6-4 decision over fifth-place Cincinnati.

CNE Cancellation Justified Say Power Boat Men

TORONTO (CP) — Commander H. Y. Reid of the Toronto power boat squadron said Thursday night the escort-boat operators "had nothing to do with" cancellation of the Canadian National Exhibition's marathon Lake Ontario swim.

He said in a statement that the 36 power boats waiting at Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont., represented an investment of between $350,000 and $500,000 and had they started while storm-warning flags were up, their expensive launches would have been void.

But, he said, they were not asked to start under these conditions and the cancellation decision was entirely that of the CNE and the exhibition's weather advisers.

Commander Reid said he was issuing the statements in answer to published reports suggesting that reluctance of the power boat men was the reason behind the action, which saw the crossing-event replaced by a marathon on a triangular course on the Toronto waterfront.

"The power boat owners in operation had nothing to do with the cancelling of the race," he said. "They took their orders from the RCMP and there was no grumbling."

Rochester Wings Upset Royals; Leafs Even Series

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Somebody had better tell the Montreal Royals that they are playing their favorite patsies, Rochester, before the Red Wings eliminate the international League champs in the semi-finals of the Governor's Cup playoff.

The Wings upset Montreal again Thursday night 7-5 to take a 2-0 lead in the series. Dixie Walker's charges had their regular season series to the Royals 16-6.

By copping the first two contests at Montreal the Wings are in position to oust the champs from the playoff in four straight games, to be played at Rochester starting Saturday night.

Toronto, meanwhile, returned to form, walloping Havana 11-2 with an eighteen-hit batting and squaring the series at 1-1.

LEAFS COME BACK

Eddie Blake was touched for a pair of runs in the first inning, but the Leafs, for the rest of the way despite 10 Cuban safeties, Toronto got back one of the runs in the third frame when Jack Brucho, Then in the fifth the Leafs sent 12 men to the plate, smacking seven hits off Brucho, Raoul Sanchez and Emilio Cueche.

Mike Fornieles, who posted a late-season 5-0 record, is Toronto's choice for tonight's contest, after which the teams leave for Havana. Vincente Amoros, Leafs' veteran against the Leafs, goes for Havana.

Cot Deal, pitcher of Rochester's "well - rested" rightiest had the situation pretty well in hand Thursday night going into the eighth inning with a 7-1 lead. The Wings pitcher, Glenn Mickens (13-3—.800), who had bested them three times this season without a defeat.

Clyde Parris' three-run homer was the big blow in the Leafs' defeat, but Tony Jacobs checked the Royals, getting the last five outs to preserve Deal's victory.

TOO VICIOUS

LONDON (AP) — Ewart Boileter, seven-foot two - inch, 318-pound South African, is too big and too vicious looking to fight Italy's Antonio Crosia Tuesday, the Italian Boxing Federation told British officials Thursday.

The fight was to have been a preliminary to the Nino Valdes-Don Cockell heavyweight fight at White City. Promoter Jack Solomons now has signed Boileter with Simon Templar, 223 » pound Jamaican.

Football Fans Lining Up To Get Ducats

VANCOUVER (CP) — Football fans lined up in a block-long queue Thursday to obtain standing-room admission tickets to Saturday's Western Interprovincial Football Union game between Edmonton Eskimos and British Columbia Lions.

Lions officials, who Wednesday hung up "sold out" signs for Empire Stadium's 30,000 seats, Thursday put 5,000 standing-room tickets on sale at $3 each. The tickets allow admission to the open north end of the stadium.

Players To Operate Senior 'B' Hockey Club In League

Strong Executive Will Be Formed to Advise, Assist Team Throughout Season

BY GARRY ALEXANDER

At a special meeting of ivn players held in the Memorial Arena last night, it was announced that Belleville would have an entry in the OHA Senior "B" league this season.

The announcement came after an hour and a half discussion among the players and several other parties concerned with the hockey club that the players would operate the team themselves. This decision was made just a week after prospective sponsor Don McNevin announced that he would not sponsor the club because of the high salaries asked for by the players.

The players came to a financial agreement among themselves that will slash the operation cost of the club some $3,500 from last year. The local players hope to strengthen the club with Peterborough players and several top grade imports. The Peterborough players can play here because of the one-year leave of absence for Oshawa but was blasted to greater their team from the grouping.

A strong executive will be named to assist and advise the players. Drury Denyes was an unanimous choice for secretary-treasurer, while the remainder of the executive will be named at a meeting to be held in the near future.

Several plans to raise funds were discussed with a good program and a couple of exhibition games with pro clubs definite, is expected to help the team on its legs.

AGREE ON SPLIT

The Arena Commission has agreed for the team to use the arena on the same split as Mr. McNevin was offered—except the Arena will run the canteen. The equipment will be loaned to the players for one year, but the team will stay under the commission's franchise.

The team expects to open their practice sessions the first week in October and will play their first league game here against Whitby on Friday, October 14.

Those present at the meeting felt that they could operate the club at a profit profit but the general feeling was that if this was not the case, the team would carry on to keep hockey alive in the city.

Expenses will be cut all down the line with the team travelling by car instead of bus. The long trips to Clinton of last year will not be necessary since the New Edinburgh club was dropped from the grouping and this will also save a great deal of money. Home games will be made because of a shorter schedule, 48 games last year, 40 this year.

RECORD PRIZES

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Horse Show Association said Thursday international jumping teams from Canada, Ireland, Mexico, the United States and probably The Netherlands would participate in the 57th show at Madison Square Garden Nov. 4 and 5.

There will be 131 events, including 24 championships worth a record $34,440 in prizes.

'Bonus-Fine' Deal Instituted By Argo Coach

TORONTO (CP) — Coach Bill Swiacki of Toronto Argonauts has come up with a "bonus-fine" deal that is designed to eliminate last for Oshawa but was blasted to minute fumbles of the Eastern Football Union club.

As Argonauts prepared for their league engagement against the Alouettes in Montreal Saturday, Swiacki said Thursday he is instituting a fine-bonus arrangement whereby players can pick up money cash for exceptionally fine play or be fined for poor performance.

Earlier Thursday Swiacki said he had fined most players on the club for their entertainment a sum of $10 after Hamilton Tiger-Cats last Monday. Tiats won 37-13, but after Argonauts beat them 31-6.

The money, $200 worth, will be put into entertainment, which will be liquidated at the end of the season.

HOW IT WORKS

This is how Swiacki's deal works:

The player who makes the tackle on the ball, makes a 20-yard, or better, run from scrimmage, or runs 20 yards after receiving a pass, gets a $5 bonus. The player who tackles the passer before he throws, recovers a fumble, intercepts a pass, blocks a punt, throws the most vicious downfield block, makes the most vicious tackle, is declared the best offensive lineman or is the best defensive lineman gets $10.

Five-dollar penalties will be assessed to each player who misses an assignment or loafs.

Pulled from Water

PENTICTON, B. C. (CP)—Long distance swimmer Bert Thomas of Tacoma, Wash., was pulled from the water after covering about 12 miles.

The 29-year-old lumber buyer, going on to successfully swim the 18.3-mile Strait of Juan de Fuca, entered the lake at 1 a. m. in his attempt to cover the 25-mile distance. He was to get completed the crossing.

Crippled by Severe Cramps Gerda Olsson Pulled From Lake After Covering 22 Miles

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE (CP) — Gerda Olsson, crippled by severe arm cramps, was pulled from Lake Ontario today, exactly a year after Marilyn Bell was fame by swimming the 22-mile stretch of water to Toronto.

Gerda, a 19-year-old brunette from Simcoe, Ont., became the 20th person to be rebuffed in attempts to match Marilyn's epic swim last Sept. 6. Miss Bell, then 16, swam from Youngstown, N. Y., in 20 hours and 56 minutes.

Gerda had covered about 22 miles when she was taken from the water at 1:42 a. m. EST. It was 14 hours and 35 minutes after she left this town on the Niagara river.

The 100-pound marathoner was the seventh swimmer to make an unscheduled challenge of the lake after cancellation Wednesday of the Canadian National Exhibition's cross-lake marathon.

Although Gerda protested, her trainer, Tommy Hall of Toronto, lifted her from the water. Earlier, after an unusually fast start, she paused midway across the lake to dictate to her handlers a cable to her parents in Sweden assuring them that she would duplicate Marilyn's conquest.

But in the hour between midnight and 1 a. m., the Simcoe girl developed cramps in her right arm. She switched from an overhand crawl to a breast stroke in a futile effort to shake them.

After 12 miles, Gerda's pace slowed. One of her handlers, Gordon Grant, swam beside her for 40 minutes in an effort to lift her spirits and to help ease the cramps.

Treading water often to rest and take nourishment from a paper cup handed to her from the pilot boat, Gerda still had her sights set on a pencil of light from searchlights at the CNE grounds in Toronto-end Toronto when the end came.

Her message to her mother and father was: "Tell mom and dad that I'm halfway across and definitely going to make the second time my love."

Weather conditions were perfect when Gerda left here at 11:07 a. m. Thursday. The lake was calm and the water temperature was around 68 degrees. She soon ran into long, rolling swells but still made fast time, averaging 30 strokes to the minute. Later, however, a choppy lake-head churned up three-foot waves.

The weather got so bad that Brenda Fisher of England, who had planned to swim her cross-lake swim from here Thursday night, decided against it. She went to bed early and plans to attempt the crossing when the conditions improve.

Brenda was at the shore to see Gerda take off. She gave her a four-leaf clover for good luck. Gerda tucked the clover and a sprig of heather in her bathing cap. The heather came from her mother in Edinburgh.

GERDA OLSON

Gary Schreider, Queen's Star, Looms as Pro Football Prospect

BY GEORGE M. CARVER

They admitted Gary Schreider, Queen's backfield star, to hospital here Tuesday.

It was nothing physically serious. The modest, 5-foot-11-inch, 190-pound halfback underwent more or less painful verbal examination by bedside interviewers with this reporter.

Gary has gained inch, and is neat and sweet in proportion, but is the same fine, friendly, modest youngster who was known high as a butterfly when Papa Ed was bookin' 'em in the backfield for Belleville or semaphoring balls and strikes behind a baseball plate.

Michael A. Schreider and others may say Toronto is Gary's boyhood palace but we who basked in the wigwams on the left and right banks of the Moira have a strong-er claim.

PRO PROSPECT

Right now Gary is looking forward to the best season in his brilliant gridiron career. As Mr. Hodden informs this writer, Schreider is one of the best pro prospects in intercollegiate football.

He is a member of what is reported to be the most-feared backfield in college grid circles. He makes the fourth member of Queen's University's quartet of Go-Go Gals. The others are Ron Stewart, Bill Surplis and Al Kocman. Kocman, however, will miss the first three games of the schedule as "punishment" for "blowing his top" in that now famous Western-Queens final of 1954.

Gary, who doubles in track, can do the 100 in 10 flat. And, brother, that's not loafing in any man's league. Last March he finished fourth in the Canadian Indoor Championship 60-yard sprint. His time was 6.03, the winner's 6.02.

In his earlier days in track, young Schreider was under the tutelage of Lloyd Percival, famous Sports College founder and coach.

As he tripled in baseball during week-end trips to hometown Toronto where Papa Ed and Mama Doris reside, Gary played centre-field with the Earlscourt Juniors who won the West Toronto championship. He had a batting average of .320.

Gary's first claim to gridiron stardom came in his Catholic Conference days when he played with Toronto St. Michael's. He was the leading point-scorer in each of his three years in the conference, his best year netting him 12 T.D's and 76 points.

HYAH "DOC"

Then he decided to go to Queens where he is in his third year in physical education. But there's a question in the Schreider mind. Gary thinks the letters M. D. would look well behind his name and there is a possibility that he may take a medical course. With an "if" or two he could enter second-year medicine next year.

What a break for the "old man". Ed, being an umpire in Toronto senior baseball leagues, naturally will need eye treatment or a white cane — and if Gary "M.D.'s" he'll get 'em for free.

Spearheaded by that dynamo of intercollegiate gridirons, Ron Stewart, the four Go-Go Gals of Queen's backfield will be the backbone of the squad for the major part of the season at least.

The Tricolor has lost seven of the stalwarts that blazed a surprising trail in inter-collegiate circles last year, but coach Frank Tindall is not discouraged. The line will look a trifle weak at the moment will improve — and with the Go-Go Gals in the backfield, the rest of the pack should have plenty of tough opposition.

Tindall has a quarterback problem but there's a ray of hope in the fact that Norm Dyson, one of last year's mentors, may be back. He has some promising intermediate talent at hand. Tom Calle, the Syracuse high school quarter flash, will not be eligible for the Varsity squad.

MEMBER OF GUARD

But back to Gary. He told me he has "butterflies" feel, something that won't harm him in football training. He "half-soled" his dogs while doing duty as a yeoman of the Fort Henry Guard, colorful unit reminiscent of the mid-nineteenth century which has taken the country and part of the U. S. by storm.

"Best of all was the pay," he said. "We got $100 a week if we worked 90 hours. On one 16-day stretch of duty I collected $347."

He travelled with the guard to Washington where it was the guest of the U. S. Marine Corps. He expects to go to England next May with the unit, and will be on parade in Toronto this week at the opening of the Ontario Legislature.

The story around Kingston is the guard has been invited to the New Year's Day Rose Bowl football game, Pasadena, California.

Gad, $100 a week. And we did guard at Prospect, Belgium, in 1915 for 15 cents a day. (They held back a buck). And some sticky German uniforms were shooting at us besides. How times do change!

POPULAR COACH

If there is championship calibre in the 1955 edition of the Tricolor, Coach Frank Tindall will bring it out. He is one of the best - loved, if not the best, in the intercollegiate union. His players pest and preach sweat by him. They have absolute faith in him — as he has in them.

Right now he is pushing some 45 aspirants for the varsity squad through gruelling practice grinds. He has the nucleus of an outstanding team if some of the strength comes up to measure and a good quarter misses out of the bag, what with that Go-Go Gals' backfield of Stewart, Schreider, Kocman and Surplis, a la Gary says:

"Watch Queen's this year."

AT THE McCARTHY

The story of a major criminal how he got that way, what he did and what he must do, comprises the compelling material that Columbia Pictures has utilized to forge a smashing new screen shocker, "Cell 2455, Death Row." The new Columbia drama opened yesterday at the McCarthy Theatre, and bids fair to be the shock event of the screen year.

The film is based on the sensational best-seller written by Caryl Chessman in San Quentin Cell 2455, Death Row." It is the story of a life against the law, brought to the screen in all its vivid and shattering realities.

"Cell 2455, Death Row" tells how a youngster named Whit first turned to crime to aid his impoverished family and desperate father, stealing groceries and pretending he had an early-morning newspaper route. Serious crime began when Whit sought to imprint an attractive young delinquent, member of a teen-age gang. He needed from her theft to armed robbery, to reform school and state prison. He preyed on other criminals, "hijacking the hijackers" until this, too, became too hot for him to handle. Whit finally is tried and convicted as the infamous Lovers' Lane Bandit who terrorized couples in isolated parts of Los Angeles, and sentenced to death. His girl abandons him, criminal lawyers refuse to help him. In "Cell 2455, Death Row," swalling execution, Whit desperately studies law to the point where he can win stay after stay of execution, twice within minutes of his scheduled descent to the gas chamber.

As the adult Whit, William Campbell makes a forceful hoodlum. His younger brother, Robert Campbell, is equally forceful as the boy Chessman who starts the criminal career. Marian Carr is attractive as Whit's girl, "Doll," while Kathryn Grant is excellent as the teen-ager who helps to initiate Whit into a life of organized crime.

HOLDS LEAD

DETROIT (AP) — Bull Buchan jr. of Seattle piled up 41¾ points Thursday to maintain his big lead in the Mallory Cup sailing championships on Lake St. Clair.

The University of Washington student, whose crew includes his father, a Seattle contractor, came in second to add to three previous first-place finishes, a third and a fifth.

George O'Day of Dover, Mass., finished first Thursday to bring his point total to 27½, defending champion Gene Walet III of New Orleans, third Thursday, was also third on points with 33½.

SAVES MISTRESSES LIFE

LOWMOOR, Va. (AP) — Miss Edith Mitchie, a high school teacher, says she was dodged a homeless cat after it was struck by a train and lost its tail and a leg. The cat has paid her back. It pounced on and held by the tail its copperhead enemy which is dangerously close to where Miss Mitchie stood. The cat had on until help was summoned and the snake killed.

WIFE OF EDITOR DIES

LINTHICUM HEIGHTS, Md. (AP)—Mrs. Barbara Jean Lovell Warren, former Associated Press editor and wife of an AP editor, died Thursday at her home here. She was 38. Mrs. Warren, wife of Huell E. Warren, jr., day news editor of the AP bureau in Baltimore, was night filing editor in the Baltimore bureau until she resigned in November, 1947, to marry Warren.

Miss Chadwick Postpones Swim Across Channel

DOVER, England (AP) — Florence Chadwick of San Diego, Calif. Thursday postponed her attempt to swim the English channel round trip.

She had intended to enter the water on the English side today. But Thursday at the home of the Royal Navy, said weather forecasters predicted only 12 more hours of light breezes with freshening wind to follow.

"That could have destroyed any chance Miss Chadwick has of making the crossing both ways," he said. "It must now hope for a longer period of settled weather while the tides are favorable during the next five days."

Miss Chadwick, who failed to complete the double crossing two years ago, held the England-to-France record of 16 hours, 22 minutes until last summer. Last month Englishman Bill Pickering lowered the mark to 14 hours, six minutes.

FORCE THIRD GAME

WINNIPEG (CP) — Backed by the brilliant goal-tending of young Glenn Lee, Mount Pleasant, B. C. Indians outclassed the Manitoba All-Stars 13-7 here Thursday night to force a third and deciding game in their western Canadian junior championship.

Manitoba won the first game 8-5 on Monday night. The deciding game will be played tonight with the winner advancing into the Canadian final for the Minto Cup.

PACE DEAD HEAT

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—Adios Boy and Torrid finished in a dead heat for first place in the $25,000 New York championship pace at Yonkers raceway Thursday night.

Torrid, a five-year-old son of Knight Dream, had beaten Adios Boy here recently, but went off at 14 to 1 this time. However, bill backers got only $5.40, $5.40 and $3.80 because of the dead heat.

Elmer Sandercock Committee Man For Toll Roads

TORONTO (CP) — Three select committees named Thursday by Premier Frost may change little from those chosen last spring at the closing session of the 24th Ontario legislature to study toll roads, air pollution and smoke control and certificates of title to motor vehicles.

Changes resulted the addition of eight seats to the former 90-seat legislature and wins and losses in the June 9 provincial election.

Following are the names of committee members:

Certificates of title to motor vehicles—chairman: Robert Macaulay, (PC — Toronto Riverdale), Hon. W. K. Warrender (PC—Hamilton Centre), R. M. Myers (PC—Waterloo South), Hon. Brysn L. Caldwell (PC—Lambton West), John F. Roberts (PC—Lennox North), Lloyd Letherby (PC—Simcoe east), Arthur C. Ashley (PC — Niagara Falls); Fred Young (CCF — Kenilworth East), J. J. Wintermeyer (L—Waterloo North).

Smoke control and air pollution—Chairman: Alfred Dowling (PC—Toronto High Park) Elmer Brandon (PC—York West), R. E. Elliott (PC—Hamilton East), Hon. P. T. Kelly (PC—Cochrane North), E. P. Morningstar (PC—Welland), T. D. Thomas (CCF—Oshawa), Mr. Macaulay, William Murdoch (PC—Essex South), G. T. Gordon (L—Brantford).

Toll road—chairman: Mr. Roberts, J. A. C. Auld (PC—Leeds), John Root (PC—Wellington-Dufferin), Mr. Dolley, Donald C. MacDonald (CCF—York South), Arthur J. Child (PC—Wentworth), A. A. MacKenzie (PC — York North), Peter Manley (L—Stormont), Arthur J. Reaume (L—Essex North), W. E. Sandercock (PC—Hastings West), John Yaremko (PC—Toronto Bellwoods).

R.C.A.F. Will Hold Memorial Services

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCAF, together with the RAF will hold services on Sunday, Sept. 18, commemorating the 15th anniversary of the Battle of Britain.

At home and overseas Canada's air force will mark the day with church parades and special services.

Canada was represented in the fight by several hundred officers and men who served as aircrew and groundcrew in fighter, bomber and coastal commands with both the RCAF and RAF. Of these, 47 lost their lives in the Battle of Britain.

Dempsey Takes Seat Among Conservatives

TORONTO (CP) — James S. Dempsey (PC — Renfrew South), centre of a controversy in recent months over campaign contributions, apparently is back in his party's good graces.

Mr. Dempsey, dropped from the Conservative party last May and re-elected without official party backing in the June 9 election, had a new seat in the legislature Thursday but it was among fellow Progressive Conservatives.

Mr. Dempsey, speaking "on a matter of personal privilege," said he believed the House was due a complete explanation of incidents surrounding the so-called Dempsey-Drohan-McCann affair. However, he would not take the time at the special session. His intention was to "give a full explanation at the next session of the legislature which will prove my conduct as legal and entirely proper."

Federal Revenue Minister McCann was reported to have told Premier Frost that Mr. Dempsey had not reported $6,000 in political contributions he received from the late John Drohan, a Barry's Bay lumberman, during the 1951 Ontario election.

ONTARIO TO OFFER

Conditions varied from province to province and it followed that a specific conditional grant that would be suitable in one province was not suitable in another.

He said restrictions on the use of grants had diminished their value not only to Ontario but to all the provinces.

The province would like to see the basis of grants re-examined and a more flexible system devised.

Turning to unemployment relief, the premier said he views a federal unemployment relief proposal with misgivings.

SHORT OF NEEDS

"The proposals fall a very long way short of meeting the requirements or what might reasonably be expected from the proposals made by the federal government in 1945-46 to assume 100 per cent responsibility for the unemployed employables, while the provinces and their municipalities would look after unemployables."

He said the federal government proposals are that the provinces and the municipalities should continue to support the unemployables, and to the extent that unemployables and unemployed employables exceed .45 per cent of the population, the federal government will then share in 30 per cent of the cost.

"It is a very great mistake to think that such a plan will work equitably in Ontario. It cannot possibly do so.

"With only .45 per cent unemployment in the province we could have one portion enjoying very high employment and other places having very considerable unemployment problems with no federal contribution at all."

Concerning the trans - Canada pipeline, the premier said the province has expressed its willingness to participate in any practical, sensible scheme and to consider proposals aimed at building an all-Canadian line from Alberta to the East.

Later, directing his remarks directly to Mr. Oliver, Premier Frost said: "We have signed nothing."

He said the province is willing to consider participation in building the pipeline if it can be shown that some project financed by the two governments—federal and provincial—would solve the financial problems of the pipeline.

Earlier, Mr. Oliver asked the government to give an explanation of what has been done in relation to unemployment relief and, why the federal government proposal was apparently unacceptable to Ontario.

He also questioned the government on an apparent change in policy on the pipeline. He understood the proposition was that the main line was a federal responsibility and commitment. Lately it had been suggested in newspaper stories that Alberta and Ontario share the cost of building part of the line.

Mr. MacDonald said it appeared free-enterprise promoters were unable to cope with the problem of bridging the 1,000-mile gap from Sarnia to Ontario and the public purse would have to take the risk and pay the cost of the pipe line.

Adenauer Starts Working Session With Red Chiefs

By STANLEY JOHNSON

MOSCOW (AP) — A brass-tacks working session got under way today between Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and leaders of the Soviet Union in an effort to resolve differences on the stubborn German question.

Diplomatic circles expected the West German chancellor to give a polite but firm no to Russian suggestions for an immediate exchange of ambassadors as a first step toward setting up normal relations between the two countries.

Observers cited Adenauer's opening speech Friday to give weight to this view. Adenauer told the Kremlin chieftains that he had expected the Moscow talks to be just the first of many which would lead eventually to establishment of normal relations.

ABOARD TRAIN

Adenauer and his delegation planned strategy for the meeting aboard a German train in the grounds outside Moscow's Leningrad station. They are holding their confidential talks aboard the train because of their skepticism concerning security at their Sovietskaya Hotel headquarters.

While the leaders faced each other across the negotiating table in their second session, Moscow residents clustered in wilhoods with newspapers giving the full text of Adenauer's opening statement. It was the first time most Soviet citizens had ever seen a West Germany's view on the return of German war prisoners still held by Russia, and on reunification of Germany.

GENEVA (Reuters)—The United States and Communist China have reached full agreement on repatriation of civilians in each other's countries, a Chinese spokesman stated here today at the close of the 14th meeting between the two delegations.

The Chinese Communist spokesman told a reporter agreement had been reached on the question of repatriating civilians. It has occupied American Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson and Chinese Ambassador Wang Ping-nan since they began their discussions here last Aug. 1.

Last Tuesday the Chinese Communists announced that 12 American civilians would be permitted to leave Communist China, but an estimated 28 other U. S. civilians still remained held by the Chinese Communist government. Of these, 25 are actually held in Communist jails. The remaining three are under house arrest.

Settlement of their future leaves the way clear for the two ambassadors to move on to the second point of their two-part agenda—"other matters" at issue between the two sides.

This is expected to include exploratory discussion of the possibility of a Formosa cease-fire and Chinese Communist moves for relaxation of United Nations-imposed trade sanctions on Communist China.

Young Liberals Urged to Use Personal Touch

KINGSTON (CP)—Ontario Liberals were advised Friday night by a newspaper editor to take a personal approach in selling their ideas to the public.

"The greatest enemy of the Liberal party in Ontario is the political apathy of the people themselves," Arnold Edinborough, editor of The Whig-Standard, told the Ontario Young Liberal Association's summer conference.

"You have to take your ideas right into people's homes," he added. "Discuss the matter over a cup of coffee and present your platform."

Mr. Edinborough said television, radio and newspaper interviews were too effective for putting a platform before the public.

He said the Ontario Liberal party, if its future is to be bright, should stress leadership, health and trade the basis of its platform.

COPS FOUGHT, SUSPENDED

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal police department's disciplinary board Friday suspended two constables for seven days for staging a fist fight on Mount Royal Island last Saturday. The constables, Maurille Marleau and Robert Lauzon, pleaded guilty to fighting while patrolling the heavy Labor Day weekend crowds.

French Envoy Wins Support Of Ex-Sultan

PARIS (Reuters)—Gen. Georges Catroux, special French envoy, flew into Fez in Morocco from Madagascar after persuading ex-Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef of Morocco to support a "free sovereign-country liaup" between Morocco and France.

Catroux announced that he had reached agreement with the ex-sultan in talks in Antsirabe, Madagascar, the island in the Indian ocean where Ben Youssef is in exile.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Warm air swept northwestward across southern Ontario Friday night and temperatures are expected to exceed the 70's in the lower Great Lakes regions today. Cold Arctic air has pushed southeastward across Lake Superior this morning. Thunderstorms in advance of the cold air, are expected in the southern regions his afternoon with the cold air reaching this area this evening. Sunday will be sunny and cold over southern Ontario. A deep low pressure area over western Hudson Bay is moving southeastward bringing snowflurries to northern Ontario tonight and Sunday.

CANADA BACKS U.S., RUSSIAN ARMS SCHEMES

Agrees in Principle With Both Proposals

By RUSSELL ELMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) Canada supports in principle the United States and Soviet disarmament proposals, but feels that in no way must national security be endangered.

Health Minister Paul Martin told reporters after a session of the United Nations disarmament subcommittee Friday that Canada would favor a plan to prevent surprise attack worked out as quickly as possible and leading to the limitation of armed forces and the eventual prohibition of nuclear weapons.

The Canadian delegate emphasized, however, that no disarmament plan would be acceptable unless it contained adequate safeguards guaranteeing its enforcement. He said Canada shares Britain's view on this point as Britain and the United States.

DIFFERING PLANS

The Soviet Union has proposed establishing military control armed with eventual abolition of atomic weapons and assignment of ground inspectors to key communications points. The U.S. has concentrated on a "really worthy" system against surprise attack by offering an exchange of military blueprints and mutual air and ground inspection with the Soviet Union.

So far the Soviet proposals have been unacceptable to the West because insufficient guarantees of control have been given and Russia has not replied formally to the U.S. plan.

In reply to questions by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Zorin on Canada's attitude to the Russian plan Martin noted that Canada, as co-sponsor of an Anglo - French plan last spring, already had expressed agreement on most points.

CHIEF OBJECTIONS

His chief objections were to a Soviet proposal which would make the use of atomic weapons for self-defence subject to approval by the Security Council during the period before the atomic ban takes effect. Martin said no state can be "deprived of the right to use any particular weapon in self-defence by the veto of one of the great powers."

Soberly said he considered Martin's answers were "important."

The Russian delegate added that before he would comment on the proposal for an exchange of military blueprints, he wanted to know if it included conventional as well as nuclear arms.

Eden Expected To Announce Cabinet Changes

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Eden is expected to announce a Conservative cabinet shake-up within 10 days.

Parliamentary sources are taking it for granted that at least some cabinet changes will be made public by their time. Speculation chiefly concerns the probability that Sir Walter Monckton will finally leave the ministry of labor.

He Should Have Fired Gen. McArthur Two Years Earlier States Truman

CHICAGO (AP)—Former President Truman says he wishes he had fired Gen. MacArthur two years sooner.

That, he said, is the only "repentance" he has had for removing MacArthur as supreme commander in Korea on April 11, 1951. The 71-year-old Truman made the statement in a question-and-answer period Friday.

The former president fired MacArthur on grounds that the general was "trying to sabotage" the "established support" to the policies of the United Nations and the Truman administration in the conduct of the Korean War.

Truman was asked why UN forces in Korea did not drive to Yalu river "and clean it out once they could" instead of halting at the 38th parallel.

"MacArthur never was ordered to stop at the 38th parallel," Truman retorted. "There were a million and a half Chinese between the Yalu river and that line. I couldn't get through them."

UN forces had reached the Yalu earlier in the war, only to be forced back when China entered the conflict.

Both Champions

Marilyn Bell, only conqueror of Lake Ontario, is shown here giving her friend, Cliff Lumsden, encouragement before he started the thirty-two-mile Canadian National Exhibition marathon swim at Toronto. Lumsden was the only swimmer in a field of 30 to finish the course. The remainder of the field were forced out by the intense cold of the water, many of them very shortly after the start. Grain Storage Situation Brings Varying Reactions

WINNIPEG (CP)—A tight grain-storage situation in Canada has brought about new movement restrictions, a call for government action and a meeting of representatives of farm and business groups and the governments of the three prairie provinces.

With grain elevators plugged from the Prairies through to the Lakehead and Montreal, farmers and officials are expressing concern over what to do with the expected bumper new crop now being harvested. Many prairie farmers already are preparing to store new grain at home, either on the ground or in newly-constructed granaries.

Overseas clearances of Canadian wheat have continued to decline sharply in the last three weeks, although they still are above loadings at this time last year. At the end of August Lakehead elevators were jammed with 62,900,000 bushels of all grains which couldn't be moved east due to plugged elevators at Montreal.

Western grain men blame the glut in prairie elevators on a continued shortage of boxcars but the railways say they have no power to unload at the Lakehead if they did take the grain.

The Canadian wheat board has imposed its new restrictions in order that boxcars could be made available for grain now in demand, including barley, flax and some grades of wheat.

The board said permits authorizing deliveries on the 1954 eight bushel quota will only be issued when the board is satisfied the producer actually has old-crop grain available for delivery, and then only if no space is available at the producer's regular delivery point on the date the initial unit quota was made effective.

Commenting on the restrictions, John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Prince Albert, said Canada's wheat problem can only be solved by federal government action and "if necessary, Parliament should be convened immediately."

Aussie Diplomat Says Chinese Nationalists Must Be Preserved

OTTAWA (CP)—Australia's external affairs minister—here for a three-day visit—says a formula must be found for preserving the identity of Formosa before his country can consider recognition of Red China.

"As far as we are concerned we must preserve the identity of the Chinese Nationalist government," R. G. Casey told a press conference Friday.

The Australian diplomat discussed a variety of other subjects including immigration, Soviet espionage, admission of more members to the United Nations, and exchange of Canadian and Australian newspaper men.

Mr. Casey confers today with external affairs officials after talks Friday with Prime Minister St. Laurent and External Affairs Minister Pearson. He is scheduled to end his visit Monday when he leaves by air for Washington.

FAVORS EXCHANGE

On Canada - Australia relations, the diplomat reiterated pleas made during previous visits here for a greater exchange of newspaper men between the two countries. He said he would like to see more Canadian news in Australian newspapers and more Australian news in Canadian newspapers.

Direct newspaper representation in the two countries would further improve relations.

On immigration, he said he hoped there would be no decrease in movement of West Germans to Australia. Australia would some time this year greet its 1,000,000th immigrant since the end of the Second World War.

Referring to the disclosure some time ago that the Soviet spy ring in Australia, Mr. Casey said the Soviet espionage agents "still may be operating for all we know."

He said his country agrees with Canada that time has come to admit more nations, apart from Communist China. Many countries have been seeking admission for as long as six years.

PLANE LEAVES

LONDON (Reuters) — A British Britannia turbo-prop airliner, with 52 BOAC officials and British technicians aboard, left here Friday for South Africa on the first of nine overseas route-proving flights. The new plane, built to carry 83 passengers, is scheduled to fly more than 70,000 miles in the next month. The Britannia is due to start regular London-to-Johannesburg flights next spring.

RUSSIAN FARM EXPERTS LEAVE CANADA FOR HOME

Express Hostile Feelings Against Demonstrators

Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — The Russian farm experts leave Canada today with a bundle of notes on Canadian agriculture and some hostile feelings about the anti-Communist demonstrators who crossed their paths in three cities.

The delegation is scheduled to take off shortly after 1:00 p.m. EDT by commercial airline for New York where they will prepare for their homeward journey. They have been in Canada since June for a total of about eight weeks, the first six in the United States and the last two in Canada. They travelled a total of about 16,000 miles in North America, 12,000 in the U.S. and 4,000 in Canada.

Delegation leader Vladimir Matshevich said Friday the delegation likes with some warm feeling on Canadian friendship but labelled the demonstrations "provocative" and "hooligans" whose hands were "steeped in the blood" of Russians and Canadians who fought together against the Hitler invaders in the Second World War.

OBSERVERS WONDER

Some observers are a little puzzled as to why the visiting Soviet agriculture minister decided at a press conference Friday to review the incidents that occurred in Winnipeg, Montreal and London, Ont., when Ottawa officials is was felt that if he wanted to leave on a really friendly note he might have brushed the incidents aside with his usually bright humor. But he was very serious in making the statement before a large gathering of newspaper men. He said the demonstrations were created by men who had served Hitler.

And in an apparent dig at Toronto civic officials he said the fact that he couldn't get to Toronto over the Massey Harris plant there is a Soviet order for 1,000 tractors to be held out the hope that the order may be placed some time in the future.

The delegation by-passed Toronto because of fears of further demonstrations there and because it had received no official invitation from the city.

The Russians are returning to the Soviet Union by air, apparently unchanged on the useful news of state and collective farms. A reporter asked the delegation leader whether after his visit he had not considered the free enterprise system was better. He replied that the Soviet system was the best system for the Soviet, in fact he would go back to strengthen that system.

There were some farming practices in Canada, he said, which might help the Russian farmers.

Will Give Bail

TORONTO (CP)—An expectant mother charged with possessing drugs will be allowed to have her bail set outside of jail, police said Friday.

Bail for Mrs. Hannalore Rosenblume, 23, was lowered by magistrate W. W. McKeown from $25,000 to $10,000 prosperity with the approval of special prosecutor Walter Martin. She will be allowed out, even if she is due to deliver during the day to cheer him.

Mrs. Rosenblume was arrested when two men following a raid at a house where police said they found $1,000,000 worth of narcotics.

Waterfront Drama Reaches Climax In Double Collapse

Swimmer and Coach Out After Long, Gruelling Race

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—A waterfront drama that started in the blackness of early morning and reached its climax in a double collapse on a finish barge nearly 20 hours later has ended in fame and riches for long-distance swimmer Cliff Lumsden.

The 24-year-old marathoner from Toronto showed a remarkable immunity to Lake Ontario cold waters and a dogged determination Friday to win the Canadian National Exhibition's 32-mile swim over an international field. He was the only one to finish.

The water, with temperatures ranging from 68 to 70 degrees, proved too much for 29 other starters, including six women. The fatigue-numbed bodies of the pilot boat also took its toll on Gus Ryder, Lumsden's forty-year-old coach who collapsed at the finish in full view of thousands of spectators.

SHOCKED BYSTANDERS

All the pent-up enthusiasm of thousands over Lumsden's astonishing display of stamina and perseverance was shattered when Ryder, the maker of long-distance champions, crumbled unconscious at the end of the 19-hours 48-minute swim.

Lumsden finished with a strong kick but was unable to pull himself up to the deck of the barge, just a foot above the water level. He was lifted out almost unconscious from the bitter cold by waiting attendants.

Ryder was taken to a nearby CNE hospital where he recovered quickly and Lumsden was whisked away in an ambulance to a neighbor's home in suburban New Toronto. His own home was locked and deserted—his parents sought him in a Toronto hospital.

The young swimmer was asleep in less than three minutes, probably to dream about the financial jackpot this swim brought him. He can count on at least $26,500 made up of $15,000 first-prize money from the $25,000 put up by the CNE, $5,000 from an anonymous donor, $3,000 in a prize from a Toronto newspaper and $1,000 each from the city of Toronto and a nightclub impresario.

UNBELIEVABLE END

It was a startling and almost unbelievable end to a swim that was almost frozen out minutes after its 7:10 a.m. start. Lumsden was in an hour after the swimmers had jumped in it appeared to be doomed to an early finish.

One by one they were pulled out, some unconscious and others too numb to talk with cold from the 56-degree water. The field was reduced to 25 within an hour; the count showed 27 out at daybreak. Eight hours after the start it developed into a battle between Lumsden and Ryder Hesketh, the 26-year-old Egyptian. Mustafa gave up at 9:27 a.m. at the 14-mile mark and Lumsden took over the lead. Of course to himself, keeping to a steady pace of 60 strokes to the minute.

Hour after hour he plodded through the water, encouraged by Ryder, Marilyn Bell, the only person to swim across Lake Ontario, and his fiancee, Joan Cook. A few hundred curious spectators were ordered from nearby CNE attractions during the day to cheer him.

Then, when it appeared fairly certain he would make it, thousands thronged to the water front. They chanted "Go Cliff, Go" and it was estimated 100,000 persons saw the finish.

FELT LIKE QUITTING

"I don't know how I took it. I felt like getting out three or four times but Gus Ryder said 'Get out and I'll kill you!'" Lumsden said after the swim. "I lost track of the laps and Gus wouldn't say how far we had gone until there were only six miles left. By then, I thought there were down to about two miles." Lumsden's lower lip was badly swollen from the cold water. "I had to force myself, but if you get in the lead and have a chance for the money you'll do anything."

Ryder applauded Lumsden as "definitely the greatest male swimmer I've ever coached." He explained his own collapse by saying he just had had too much on top of all the excitement at the camp last week."

The waterfront swim was a substitute for a much-advertised cross-lake swim from Niagara-on-the-Lake to Toronto. It was cancelled on account of rough water and "unmanned" when errant winds refused to die down.

SAME DISTANCE

The 32-mile swim here — same distance as the proposed lake marathon—was originally carried as a quadrilateral three-mile course covering both sides of the waterfront breakwater.

After 21 miles, with only Lumsden and Mustafa left in the water, the weather forced CNE officials to change the course to a one-mile route inside the breakwater. At the 26-mile mark it was changed again to a course from Ryrie—to a half-mile course.

Ryder and Lumsden was swimming into a stiff northeast wind and that he would be given a much better chance if he had to contend with it only for a half mile.

Lumsden propped up in bed and eating soup, munching crackers and basking in the admiration of friends, said that at one point near the 12-mile mark he suffered a cramp which rendered his legs useless. He said he dragged them until the cramp left him and then was able to use them again.

After 21 hours, I wouldn't even think of the Juan de Fuca Strait for a while. They tell me the water is the driest out there."

What does he intend to do today? "I think I'll go out for a swim," Lumsden said.

Lonely Indian Is Freed by Court, Took Tot to Show, Then to Room

PORT ARTHUR (CP) — Archie Nepinka, 26-year-old Indian bushworker of Auden, Ont., was given a two-year suspended sentence Friday after pleading guilty to unlawfully depriving the parents of four-year-old Margaret Kline.

Nepinak was charged when police found the little girl sleeping in his room at Port Arthur Aug. 25 following a report of her disappearance. He told court he had taken Margaret to a show and to eat in a restaurant after she had spoken to him on the street. Nepinak said nobody had spoken to him in his two days in town and he was lonely at the time. The girl was not harmed in any way.

Defence counsel said that after checking with the department of Indian affairs he had advised his client to plead guilty. He said he had been influenced in making his result of limited intelligence and asked the court in passing sentence to consider a suspended sentence.

Hurtling Along at 500 MPH in Jet Plane Unbelievably Comfortable Reporter Finds

By BOYD UPPER

Thanks to the RCAF and the kind intercession of S/L Roy Wood, public relations officer at Station Trenton, I went "out of this world" in a T-33 Shooting Star jet trainer.

For 50 minutes I cruised over the Quinte district at speeds ranging from 130 to 450 knots. The Air Force managed to speed in nautical miles, like the navy, with 120 knots being approximately 150 miles per hour and 400 knots being about 500 miles per hour. For most of the trip we hiked along at 360 miles per hour.

Three-hundred-and-sixty miles an hour in a jet at 10,000 feet is as comfortable as sitting in your sun porch rocking chair. There is no vibration from the engine. There is less noise than you would hear in a car running at 40 miles an hour with the windows open. The sound of your own breathing in the face mask echoes over the radio earphones louder than the engine whistling behind you. The only sensation comes when the pilot and the "student" is linked to the tower at Trenton making possible two and three-way conversation. Conversation in a normal tone of voice is exactly as in a great factor in dispelling the sense of isolation that comes from hurtling along in a crowded cockpit with nothing but thousands of feet of air above, below and on both wingtips.

The flight started about 11:00 a.m. when S/L Wood took me into the equipment room just off the tarmac at Trenton to be fitted for helmet, oxygen mask, Mae West life jacket and parachute. It was then I met Flight Lieutenant Jack Craig, a lean, black-haired, soft-spoken member of the instructional staff of the Flying Instructors School at Trenton, a veteran of two-and-one-half years in the RCAF.

We chatted briefly and then he departed to the locker room to suit up for the flight. He was back in a minute with a summer flying suit which I wore in place of a business suit and shirt.

"Have you ever been through decompression?" he asked.

"No, I haven't."

GETS A DEMONSTRATION

"Well, then, I guess we won't go higher than 10,000 feet," he said. He explained that the T33 has an operational ceiling of 35,000 feet but did not operate much over 30,000 feet as engineers had no high altitude experience on it and had not been erected to decompression in a room in which high altitude conditions were simulated.

Personnel in the equipment room checked out the Mae West life jacket as we would be flying over the lake.

"You just pull this cord with the wooden knob," said a corporal, "and that you will have to," he added.

Adjustments to the parachute were made while I sat on a bench. When I stood up I was held in a sort of upright position and could not straighten up.

The squat is a good sitting position for a parachute descent," said the corporal. "Not that you will have to use it."

He then showed me how to disengage the parachute — a semi-circular lever to the right and a punch on a steel disc — "just in case."

"This is routine procedure," the helpful dressers in the equipment room explained. "We have to tell you these things."

The oxygen mask was adjusted for leakage by a corporal who shut off the breathing tube and asked me to inhale. When I couldn't inhale anything the mask was declared a good fit.

Flight Lieutenant Craig then held a short briefing on the natural landmarks in the Quinte district used for visual navigation. He explained that the shoreline of the lake west of Trenton is regular while the shoreline to the east is irregular. He pointed out that the Canada Cement Co. plant at Point Anne, with its chimneys, and the huge pit of the Marmoraton Iron Mines Co. are conspicuous landmarks, readily identifiable, that give instant orientation.

He then checked out T-33 532. He read all the current remarks on the plane, a summary of its latest mechanical trouble, particulars on minor and major deviations from normal—(there were no major ones) and signed on for the flight giving estimated time of takeoff and duration.

PLANE CHECKED

A thorough exterior check of the aircraft was made on the flight line. The check included an inspection of dive breaks, fire extinguishers, drop tanks, tail surfaces, tires, wheel mounts and so on.

Getting into the cockpit at a dive let is no experience. Knee, shoulder and shoulder straps were adjusted so that I was held solidly, but comfortably, in a sitting position. Hooking up the oxygen and radio systems followed a detailed examination of the control panel and F/L Craig's description of the maze of dials.

"It has a very simple control panel," he said. "Jets are very simple aircraft."

He explained the procedure for ejection.

"If we have to eject, and we won't, I will release the canopy," he said, "then you pull that white handle (shaped like a croquet hoop) with your left hand. Then hold the other one with your right hand. Then squeeze that handle under the seat to the right and out you go."

Going out with me would be a survival kit, a rubber dinghy and about everything you need to stay alive including the usual ammunition, fishing tackle, concentrated food and so on.

The first real surprise came when the turbine was fired up. There was absolutely no vibration. There was just a deep-throated roar from beneath the seat like from the tower. F/Lt. Craig is taxi-ing to the end of the runway began.

During the run and takeoff and landing I was on 100 per cent oxygen. A tiny lever was adjusted to normal after we were airborne.

At the end of the runway, after receiving clearance from the tower, F/Lt. Craig gave the plane full throttle. Still no vibration. When power output was at 100 per cent he released the brakes and we accelerated down the runway.

I did not know when we left the ground. I heard F/Lt. Craig say "wheels up" and found myself heard a slight click during the climb. Only a change in speedometer was reciting during the warmup and takeoff but even his "wheels up" seemed to be a signal that we were still on the ground.

The speed of the jet was deceptive. Almost before I realized it we were climbing above the Murray Canal, then at 10,000 feet over Lake Ontario and turning eastward to the south and beaches dropped away beneath us.

OVER BELLEVILLE

I just had time to note the geometric precision of the fields and green patchwork of farms and woods beneath us when I heard, "there is your hometown."

And there was Belleville. The Bay of Quinte curved eastward than the Moira River from the Bridge Street bridge. Belleville was a tiny chart spread out before a landscape that included the whole of Prince Edward County and a lakefront that stretched beyond Deseronto to the east and Brighton to the west. To the north and south cloudbanks in the far distance were the only barriers to unlimited visibility.

Trenton came wheeling into view again almost in a twinkling and then Brighton was flashing astern and we were over Lake Ontario again. The lake was a dull, leaden grey, seemingly immobile, streaked with tiny lines of waves that looked like the fine lines in old varnish. A fill of white along the golden beaches was the only indication of motion far below.

"On a clear day, higher up, we can see Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Syracuse and Ottawa from here," said F/Lt. Craig.

"Let's go down," he said. He explained that with dive brakes down, flaps down and throttle back the plane would fly about 130 knots. As the dive brakes went on the plane nosed for the first and only time. As speed dropped the shaking decreased. At 130 knots it seemed to be just as stable as it was at high speed although we were losing altitude.

F/Lt. Craig retracted the dive brakes and pushed the throttle ahead. There was a surge and forward like it had been shot from a slingshot.

"How about a dive?" he asked. We went to 10,000 feet and then started down at a steep angle. The speedometer was at 450 knots, or 500 miles an hour, when we pulled out at 4,000 feet.

GRAVITY — A LIVE THING

Gravity is a live thing, explained by airmen in G's, is like a live thing. As we pulled out of the dive the pilot and the plane grew heavier and heavier. I sagged into my seat. My head felt very tired. I was writing notes on a yellow pad on my knee and found it difficult to command it to move my fingers, I felt tired all over. Flight Craig's voice in the ear phones started getting farther and farther away. I could hear him clearly the whole time but I seemed to strain to hear his voice as we came out of the dive. All other noise dropped away. As we streaked skyward again the pressure of weight disappeared. F/Lt. Craig's voice came back strong and clear and the wind whistled outside the canopy.

"I am going to let you fly it," said F/Lt. Craig. "Just move that control stick in the direction you want to go. Push left turns, back to climb and down for descent. See if you can fly straight and level for a minute."

For the next 10 minutes I steered a T-32.

A movement of the stick of what seemed to be an inch put the plane into a turn. The stick straightened out and streaked north until we were several miles north of the Marmora Iron Mines ore pit.

Constant reference to the altimeter was a revelation as the plane would climb or descend a hundred feet with no appreciable sensation. Flying on the altimeter was a revelation of more nearly exact flying for me than trying to steer by inspection of the horizon out the canopy.

On the way back from Marmora F/Lt. Craig let me do a roll and rolled the plane over after alerting me that a roll was coming. I felt no physical distress as the plane rolled except vast surprise to see the canopy above where the sky should be and vice versa.

WHOOPS . . .

We were circling the deserted airstrip at Brighton when I lost the orange I had had for breakfast. I was turning and writing notes when we went into a turn. I felt the G-forces before I knew we were turning and before I could get my head up, the orange was in my lap.

Once we straightened out my stomach went back to normal again. The flight was nearly over. It seemed only seconds before we were approaching over Belleville in an approach glide to the air station. A straight in landing was in order because we were too high so we took the routine "approach to the left."

We landed at 105 knots with F/Lt. Craig chanting his litany of landing procedures to the air phones. The only indication we had touched the runway was a screech from the tires and a bump that might dent a fly's wing.

We were back and I hadn't needed the parachute, the Mae West life jacket, the survival kit that forms the seat.

I had had a wonderful 50 minutes in the air.

Even the brief trip I had convinced me that jets are the commercial aircraft of the future because of their comfort and stability. Absence of vibration and the ability to ride above storms and passenger fatigue almost to the vanishing point, have to be experienced to be believed. The

Obituary

MRS. HERBERT F. WILSON

In ill health for some time, Mrs. Eva Lavina Wilson, 9 Wallbridge Road, died at her home on Friday. She was in her 64th year.

Born in Tudor township, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Phillips, she had lived in Belleville for the past six years and prior to that at Mountain View and in Stirling where she was a member of the Wesleyan Methodist church.

She is survived by her husband, Herbert F. Wilson, two sons, Harold Ernest Wilson of Belleville and Lyle Elmer Wilson of Peterborough, and three daughters, Mrs. Arthur Hobbs, at home, Mrs. James (Eva) Willis of Frankford, and Mrs. Eugene (Jean) Noble of Picton.

Also surviving are four brothers, John Phillips of Ottawa, Marvin of Trenton, Albert of Belleville and Robert of Trenton, and one sister, Mrs. Rosa Schriver of Trenton.

MRS. KENNETH GEROW DIES AT 1, Belleville

A player procurement committee was also formed with Vern Goyer, "Red" Doran and "Twig" Hendry members. The publicity committee is George H. Carver, sports editor of the Intelligencer, and Jack Devine, Belleville sportsman.

Forced to Swerve To Avoid Tractor

Losing control of his car, when he was forced to swerve suddenly to avoid a farm tractor which was making a left hand turn, Matthew Smith, Toronto, escaped with shaking up early Friday when his vehicle went into the ditch.

Eleven cars piled up on No. 2 Highway when as he topped a knoll west of the Marysville fire hall, a farm tractor hauling a seed drill crossing the highway in front of the car. Smith swerved to the left, but could not avoid the tractor, Ronald Elmaleh car was damaged to the extent of about $600.

Robt. Hoskings, Corbyville, Ont., was charged with driving at 2:40 this morning, when his car went out of control on Highway No. 2 and struck the C.N.R. bridge.

And in the city, Mark Vanzet, Pine Street, was summoned after the car, which he left parked on Queen Street, came to be found across the street in front of Bank of Chatham. The car was reported to police as having been the driver's walk but when the owner was located he said he had no knowledge of it got that way.

sense of absolute security that the terrific power plant develops, the smoothness of takeoff and landing and the precision of flight, make jet transports and passenger planes the thing for commercial aviation of the future.

The distress of G-forces in sports cars or aerobatics is for the novice as much as anything else, because no problem to commercial airlines whose planes never dive or turn sharply in passenger operations.

My thanks go to S/L Roy Wood, F/Lt. Jack Craig and the RCAF for giving me a tremendously thrilling 50 minutes and a new appreciation of the skill and abilities of the men who guard Canada's sky frontiers in jets.

Anglicans Sponsor Largest S.S.

The largest Sunday School in the world will meet for a new session on the second Sunday in September. There are 40,000 members. Sponsored by the Anglican Church, the Sunday School of the Air reaches children through thirty stations from Aklavik to St. John's. It is heard over CFRB at 9.30 a.m. on Sunday.

Children who would otherwise receive little Christian education are enabled by the Sunday School of the Air to take instruction in their own homes. Sunday School cards are mailed in advance to registered members. Regular contact is also kept with parents. They receive suggestions about home religious training from experts in the field of children's work.

The Sunday School of the Air is particularly appreciated by disabled and shut-in children and by those who live in remote areas.

The Anglican Church pioneered in the field of religious instruction through the mail fifty years ago. The present successful radio school is the outgrowth of that project, and now rates as the world's largest. Inquiries may be addressed to the school at 159 Adelaide Street, East, Toronto 1.

Bulletins From Birdland

SPOTTING A SPECIES

How pleased we are with ourselves when able to spot the various species as they migrate through settled Canada! But this is harder now than in spring. There are several added difficulties: few birds are singing, many more females than the females and young in the year, and there is this summer's crop of young birds.

These latter, born in Canada, often have characteristics unlike either parent. It is very confusing. And so we must think of distinguishing points other than mere color and markings, something on which we may reply at any date.

The locality in which your bird is seen counts a great deal. Warblers will be found near bushes, Cowbirds in pastures, bank swallows where there are sand banks suitable for their homes, Sandpipers on beaches.

Size is important, though often none too easy to judge. Look at a tiny fly at close range, or at a few hundred yards away, and a passenger plane far in the heavens, and you will realize what we are up against. However, the best we can do is to learn the sizes of certain common birds to use for comparison. And English sparrow, a robin, and a crow will do.

NOTICE SHAPES

Notice shapes. Is your bird short and plump or long and thin? Is the bill short and stout like a sparrow's or long and narrow like a woodcock's or a robin's? Is it straight does it curve either up or down, is it hooked?

Tails tell a great deal. There are many lengths, very short like a duck's or a wren's, extra long like a blue jay's or a grackle's. The tail may be also rounded, or forked.

The manner of flight is certainly interesting. A goldfinch goes bounding through the air, a red-tailed hawk has a wheeling flight, a green heron is recognized by the downward bend of the wings, a chimney swift flies and sails alternately, taking an erratic course, a robin uses a direct path.

When moving about on land a water-inhrush wags its tail up and down incessantly. Most birds hop, but a few, as an ovenbird, walk.

Watch not only what food is eaten but also the way it is tackled. The hovering in mid-air of a fly-catcher, the poking into bark crevices of a woodpecker, the clinging attitude of a goldfinch as, poised on a weed, it picks at the seeds—all these guide us to our answer.

Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE B. POWELL

JESUS SAVIOR, PILOT ME

Jesus, Savior, pilot me
Over life's tempestuous sea;
Unknown waves before me roll,
Hiding rock and treacherous shoal;
Chart and compass came from Thee:
Jesus, Savior, pilot me.

As a mother stills her child,
Thou canst hush the ocean wild;
Boisterous waves obey Thy will
When Thou say'st to them, "Be still!"
Wondrous sovereign of the sea,
Jesus, Savior, pilot me.

When at last I near the shore,
And the fearful breakers roar
'Twixt me and the peaceful rest,
Then, while leaning on Thy breast,
May I hear Thee say to me,
"Fear not, I will pilot thee."

When the Rev. Edward Hopper wanted to picture Christ, the Saviour, for the seamen in his New York church for sailors, some years ago, he wrote a beautiful hymn of the sea which has been popular ever since, not only with sailors but with Christians in every land.

The hymn was written in 1871 while Hopper was serving as minister of the Church of Sea and Land in New York Harbor where thousands of sailors, coming and going through the great American port, paused each year for worship. Here per mewe that he could best reach these men by talking to them in their own language, so he pictured Jesus as the Divine Pilot, guiding men and women through the perils of life's stormy sea.

"Jesus, Saviour, Pilot Me" first appeared anonymously in the Sailor's Magazine. Then, several hymn books discovered and used it. But not until 1880, nine years after its composition, did the public learn the name of the author. The Seaman's Friend Society was holding an anniversary celebration in the Broadway Tabernacle in New York and someone asked Hopper to write an appropriate hymn for the occasion. He offered his famous hymn of the sea.

Hopper, a native of New York, was educated for the ministry. After serving churches in several other cities, he came back to New York in 1870 to begin his pastorate among the seamen. He continued his splendid ministry until h i s death, in 1888.

Death came while he was sitting in a study chair writing some verses on "Heaven". He went out to meet his Pilot as he had prayed that he might in that glorious third stanza:

"When at last I near the shore,
And the fearful breakers roar
'Twixt me and the peaceful rest,
Then, while leaning on Thy breast,
May I hear Thee say to me,
'Fear not, I will pilot Thee!'"

Indian Feast At Contarerra

By LEONARD L. KNOTT
Ill. by David Ranson

In the winter of 1635, one of the chiefs in the Indian village of Contarerra decided to invite his friends and neighbors to a party. The party was to take the form of a feast and preparations took several weeks.

Invited to the young chief's party were all the villagers, about 200 men, women and children, and Indians from two neighboring villages, as well. The village long house was cleared out to make room for the banquet, and platforms were also built outside, so that there would be room for all. Thirty kettles were hung on the campfires and 20 deer and four bears were killed and cut up to provide meat.

Messengers were sent to each of the long houses and to the nearby villages. As the messenger arrived he spoke just one sentence. Giving the name of the Chief, he added: "Come and eat." No Indian ever refused, because to do so was to give great offence to the host and would anger the spirits. It might even cause an Indian war.

Each of the invited guests picked up his dish and spoon and went to the village long house. As they arrived, each guest saluted his host by saying, "Ha", then sat down on the floor in the long house or on one of the platforms outside. The kettles were boiling slowly over the campfires.

MUSIC WITH MEALS

When all the guests were seated they had a hearty meal, talking and shouting songs about their bravery and the defeat of their enemies. Then, there was silence as the Head Chief arose and walked to each kettle. Peering into the kettles, he called then announce what each one contained. As he did so, the guests would answer "ha" together and as the chief called out the contents of the kettle, the squaws took huge ladles and began filling each Indian's bowl.

The host of the evening took nothing, but carefully watched each guest to see that he ate every thing that was placed before him. No guest could leave anything in his bowl uneaten. To do so would be an insult and would also arouse the anger of the spirits. No matter how much an Indian received, he had to eat it all.

During the evening, too, the host offered prizes for those who could eat their food the quickest.

Following the meal, thre was a dance in the long house. Four old Chiefs acted as the orchestra, singing at the top of their voices and shaking tortoise shell rattles. The men danced first and then the women. Only when all were exhausted did the party end. Some of the guest just slept on the floor of the long house. Others crept away to their homes.

The Hurons, it was said, disliked being invited to feats and dances but they were afraid to refuse to go in case they might anger their host and cause him to gather his warriors and attack them. When an Iroquois chief said "come and eat", he was always sure of a full house.

A Lift For Living

You Cannot Undo the Past

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

The art of leaving is a vital part of the art of living. A popular essayist tells of a certain clergyman who made such a success of his first pastorate that after seven years he was called to a larger parish. So firmly was he rooted in the love of his work that he declined the tempting invitation. Then his trouble began. From that time forth, whenever the least thing went wrong in his church, his thoughts turned toward his lost opportunity at the other place. Whenever the mood of depression overtook him, he dreamed of the declined offer.

He would have saved himself so futile mental distress if he could have cut off decisively the thought of "what might have been." Eight years later he did leave his parish for another, then after the excitement of the new routine had subsided, the periods of regret began to creep over him. Why had he left the dear old place? And then again he found himself looking back over his shoulder to the point of advantage he had given up. Those regretful glances disturbed his energy and disrupted his peace of mind. In his stronger, saner moments he felt ashamed of this weakness of his; but there it was!

FUTILE WISH

And there it is with many of us—that tendency to look back to year, to look back with the futile wish that we could undo it: that we could undo it by which we worked out yesterday's problem and to wonder whether we could have done it otherwise; that inclination to spoil today's happiness by letting in the yelping pack of yesterday's hounding worries and regrets. Such are the very common versions of this tendency to look back when we should be looking ahead.

The control of the backward look is one of the chief factors in personal power and happiness.

The man of action weighs the evidence, balances the issues, reaches a decision,—then dismisses it. The situation is declined, or the step is taken,' or the contract is signed—then the gate is firmly and finally closed. The successful man looks forward to opportunities, not back to settled issues.

Life, of course, is not a succession of time-tight compartments. The past does flow into the present, bearing with it the wealth of memory. By capitalizing on the experiences of our yesterdays we enjoy the enjoyments of our today; but in so doing we must learn how to be selective, talking over the assets of the past, while leaving out its liabilities.

We have been talking as if this control of the backward look were purely a matter of man's own will power. But it is not. God helps to blot out the bedevilling past. How? For one thing, God helps us to advance from remorse to repentance. It does not do any good just to remember sins which we cannot undo. To sit and brood over them, to keep saying to oneself, "What a fool I've been"—all that is futile remorse. Like a rocking chair, remorse keeps us moving, but it doesn't get us anywhere. Worse than that, it tortures the mind without cleansing the conscience.

BREAKS CLOSED CIRCLE

But when we bring God into our situation, He lifts us out of our self-centered circle. He breaks the closed circle in which we sit alone with our errors and sins, thinking of how they have hurt us. He turns us from worldly grief to spiritual grief.

We should remember the distinction which Saint Paul drew when he said that grief produces a repentance that leads to salvation and brings no regret, "but worldly grief produces death."

Some years ago a young man committed a very serious wrong. He was filled with remorse. His whole life seemed ruined. His father was a highly respected leading man in the community. The father learned of his son's misdeed on a Sunday morning. At luncheon the boy found his father ready to meet him in the study after the meal. There the father said something like this: "My son, I cannot condone your sin. It was a wicked wrong for you to do. You have done a thing which cannot be fully repaired in this life. But I am with you, I can and I will bear for you the ill-feeling which judgment demands." Later that father, Our Heavenly Father identifies himself with His erring children. The scars of the sin may remain, but the loving relationship also remains. Sometimes we see the experience of having one's sins swallowed up in a great love. Then we glimpse that what God does with the past we cannot undo.

A POOR SHOW ALL AROUND

V. V. Matskevich, head of the Soviet agricultural delegation visiting Canada, says that demonstrations against the group were the result of "small, noisy hooligans" which do not have the support of the Canadian people.

This is not accurate, but it is as close to the truth as much that has been said on the subject.

The majority of Canadian newspapers have commented editorially on these demonstrations. With just enough exceptions to prove the rule, these newspapers have deplored the demonstrations and criticized those responsible. On the whole, though, their criticism has been moderate. No such spirit of moderation has been evident in many of the letters to editors. Like the editors, the letter writers generally express annoyance at those responsible for the hostile reception given the visiting Russians and voice humiliation as guests being exposed to such treatment while in Canada. Unfortunately in many instances the letter writers have used this annoyance and this humiliation as an excuse to vent what is evidently a resentment of long standing against "D. P.'s" and "foreigners."

Now the reason why these immigrants demonstrated against the Russians is common knowledge. Many of them had suffered cruelly at the hands of the visitors' countrymen. Many have relatives who are still suffering. Common decency demands that other Canadians, who are now their fellow countrymen, should judge these immigrants kindly.

That is not to excuse their conduct. It was wrong. If we are to visit the sins of their nation on every individual Russian, then we bar ourselves from all hopes that, one day, we may all live in peace together. The Sudbury Star perhaps puts the case as well as any newspaper. "Canadian servicemen who became the prisoners of Germans, Italians and Japanese," it says, "can tell of the indignities they suffered in those prison camps. But they do not go around seeking quarrels with the people of these nationalities who have immigrated to Canada. It just doesn't conform to the concepts of justice to nurse grudges and seek vengeance through whatever means are at hand."

Canadians might well provide these Communist-hating immigrants with another example of the proper spirit and not turn these unfortunate demonstrations against the visiting Russians into a stick with which to belabor "D. P.'s" and "foreigners."

It has been a bad show all around. Perhaps the best we can do is to forget it — and to learn better manners before our country is again visited by people from another country with whose policies we disagree.

LUXURY CHEESE

The apple pie season is now in full swing.

Call a big slice — the bigger the pie the bigger the piece of cheese that goes with it. And that cheese — Belleville district cheese — is a luxury. We have the word of D. A. Campbell, commercial secretary for agriculture in London, England, for that.

Writing in "Foreign Trade," Mr. Marshall says that so far as Canada's exports of cheddar cheese are concerned, their future lies in the semi-luxury field.

But wait! Do not misjudge Mr. Marshall. Let him explain.

"Those who said that the British housewife would not pay one shilling per pound premium for a matured product have been confounded," he says. "Canadian Cheddar cheese has demonstrated that the United Kingdom is now, as before the war, receptive to quality produce."

That seems to be the puff out over cheese and reach for another hunk of cheese. Britain can buy cheese anywhere in the world and is importing great quantities from several European countries and from New Zealand, with cheese from the latter country being offered at the equivalent of 19 cents a pound on the London market. But, despite this competition, there is still a demand for Canadian cheddar, because it is the cheese the average Britisher has been using most, a matured cheddar. In that product, at present, Canada has a virtual monopoly.

STRANGE WAYS OF FIRE

Fire is a strange thing.

A raging blaze in southeastern Manitoba destroyed thousands of acres of bush and took the lives of three young bushworkers. The RCMP say that it was the work of an arsonist. Police say the fire was started with three matches.

If the RCMP can make that statement, then the three matches which started the fire must have been found. The flames which began at the ends of those matches failed to travel the short distance of the match — yet raced over thousands of acres and snuffed out three lives!

If that statement is true, then the "pyrotechnic" every reviewer would complain about the writer's improbable plot — but in real life fire demonstrates its strange ways.

MISS CHATTERBOX

Little Miss Chatterbox tells you the news
Wants you to know she is wearing new shoes;
Home from a party, she stands at your chair
And rapidly names every child who was there.
Tell her it's time that she went off to play,
"Now, listen to me, I am talking," she'll say.

Little Miss Chatterbox talks by the word.
Of adverbs and adjectives she has a hoard.
Grammar is something that later we'll teach,
As yet her one specialty seems the speech.
If you've settled down for a moment to read,
She'll rattle it off at remarkable speed.

No stopping to rest and no pausing for breath
If patient you stay, she will talk you to death.
Though much that she says you may not understand,
Of words she has gained an amazing command.
That tongue of hers faster than motors can go,
She has so much to tell that she wants you to know.

"Donkey Baseball" With Real Donkeys

A team composed of members of the fire department and police department will meet a team composed of the Kinsmen's Club in a "Donkey Baseball" match under the floodlights at the Exhibition Park this Tuesday evening. The donkeys are here, fat and funny and ready to go. There is a lot to the game of interest but it's mostly laughs and is guaranteed to shake the sides. But they do do around seeking quarrels with the people of these nationalities who have immigrated to Canada. It just doesn't conform to the concepts of justice to nurse grudges and seek vengeance through whatever means are at hand."

The presentation was made at the close of Mass in the opera house, where the congregation has been worshipping since the destruction by fire of their church some time ago. The presentation was made by Mr. J. H. Hurley, ex-M.P., on behalf of the congregation. Short addresses were made by the Rev. Father Twomey and Col. M. J. Hendrick, the United States Consul here.

Mayor Charles N. Sulman occupied a seat on the bench with the police magistrate at court this morning.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

WILD TONIC

Only those who have loved the wild, with all its natural splendor, can know of the physical, mental and spiritual tonic it affords. Nothing has its equal. Every gift of nature is a tremendous one.

I came across a comment by Thoreau that I keep thinking about. He said: "At the same time that we are earnest to explore and learn all things, we require that all things be mysterious and unexplorable, that land and sea be forever wild, unsurveyed and unfathomed by us because unfathomable. We can never have enough of nature."

Wandering through the woods today, I kept stopping and gathering many varieties of flowers, ferns, tiny baby trees, and flowering plants like I neither knew the name of nor had I ever stopped to study many of them. Here I had spent vacations for twenty-five years, yet had learned to inquire the names of these friends of the wild. How unlearned we are, anyway! I can understand how it was that the early physicians dealt primarily with herbs. Even now they form the base of scores of drugs.

The medicinal value of vacations and visits to the wild, however, largely lies in their effect upon our nerves and entire body. They do something to us, and the effect is always good. I could not get enough of my birds and put crumbs and other mixtures in it—but no sooner was I beyond the fence and bought some bird seed. At once they came in droves. I delighted to feed upon the grains. I learned how birds are jealous of one another, and one will not let another feed while it is feeding. But I noted that when I did not feed them there eating it was a mother with her young.

Never do I tramp through the forest without learning something new. The various designs of leaves alone is an inspiration. How intricate is perfect beauty! How beautiful the formation of a tiny flower and the many kinds. How like gods are the great mountains! How I want to become healthy divorced from yourself; like the wild tonic treatment—and live anew!

Poor Life

(Peterborough Examiner)

A woman of 101 attributes her great age to minding her own business. Does she call that living?

Breed Species Of Deviates

(Hamilton Spectator)

It happens so frequently that public indignation is no longer provoked, a helpless bewilderment often replaces righteous anger. A young hoodlum in Guelph struck in the face a policeman attempting to take him into custody; the policeman fell striking his head on a fire hydrant and was knocked unconscious.

The young hoodlum left the officer lying on the ground because, as he expressed it, "I wasn't too much worried about him."

This cold-blooded statement, expressed with such indifference, is worthy of consideration by those who plead, from emotional rather than reason, that these hoodlums are merely youths who have got out to the wrong track because of poor environment or family social pressures and that all that is needed to make them into good citizens is a little more kindness and uplifting occupation.

It is high time that the human race recognized that it is producing a species of deviates that is the natural enemy of the rest of society. The policeman, being the symbol of law and order, becomes the first target of these creatures and he must be clubbed, injured and, in extreme cases, destroyed. To show pity is to be weak.

It has been implicit in our civilization that no individual, however wicked, is beyond reformation but in itself this is no longer enough. Before it becomes valid the individual must, however slightly, desire to be redeemed. Otherwise redemption would regard such an admission with cold contempt. The reason with them is to plead with a brick wall. All the features and is blank of expression, unresponsive.

"As the number of reformatory "especially" in the United Nations belie their names; for hardened social deviates they represent bed and breed rather than sanctuaries for them to resume their place in the human family. Against this mentality reform attempts are futile.

It would not be too degrading for humanity to observe the laws of nature and kill off the deviates which since they are natural, can only be a threat to the species. Not only the rules of the herd is excluded from it. If human society is to avoid the evil which will undoubtedly result from allowing its deviates to live by their own laws of violence it will have to devise a method of segregating these hoodlums for long periods, or in extreme cases, permanently.

Old Ice Cream Flavors Gone

Any one charting the progress of American civilization in its march to the higher standard of living will find adequate evidence on the flavor card of any place that sells ice cream today. Where once the world was younger, ice cream had only a few standard flavors — the flavors — vanilla, chocolate and strawberry. Today, the nation has moved on to such flavors as Dutch Apple, Rum Raisin, Cherry Vanilla, Pineapple Fudge, Burnt Cocoa, and another hundred tastes and colors.

Chocolate ice cream that really tastes chocolaty and even looks it, is hard to find in the more sensational expensive spots. Vanilla with the little black specks in it which means that it is flavoring come from ground vanilla beans and not from the bottle, is also hard to locate. Strawberry ice cream today often seems to be a pinkish concoction.

It didn't have to be a fancy place to serve good ice cream and it usually wasn't. Marble-topped tables bar, wire-legged chairs and a soda fountain were all needed so long as the proprietor continued to turn out good ice cream.

It was a pleasant place on a summer night and without much of a workout. The boy had his best girl there, his straw hat on a chair near by, the husband was out and the wife for a bit of air and what better place could they find than the parlor?

Some of these places may remain, now expanded into combination soda bars, short order restaurants, and all the rest of the modern trade can be mourned but not for long. Unless must attacks of nostalgia, something can be done about this one. Some where in the closet is an old ice cream freezer. Given the right vanilla rich milk, and sugar the right chocolate, and home until artificial strawberries, a little cranking will bring the old days back. And not a trace of seaweed extract anywhere in there.

When Did She Accept Fate?

(Ottawa Journal)

A 43-year-old mother of seven children "claims the title," so we read, "of lady's fattest woman." She stood on the scales in front of reporters and photographers and emitted with pride the figure 413 pounds.

This Roman matron may be what she claims — the fattest woman in all Italy — and we have no thought of disputing her contention. What puzzles us at the moment is the point at which a woman wipes out all concealment of her weight, all thought of diet, and begins to take a great pride in what at one stage she would have considered a shocking poundage.

There was a time, no doubt, when this Italian champion was a slim, dark-eyed lass of about 120 pounds, a menace to the susceptible male hearts of her neighborhood. With marriage and children and the ever-increasing girth and waistline rounded about, but then would be a time when the mirror would reveal a kindly matron of 170 pounds and the realization that she really must cut out her lashings of spaghetti, must begin to think seriously of a rigorous diet. She would look at the photos of herself at 120 pounds with envy and longing, but would survey the years ahead with the knowledge that all the many good meals they had brought her.

But 170 pounds would the lady not have gone into a state of something like shock? Would she resign herself then with any conviction that she would start a rigorous diet in the right direction? Or was much of the excess? Would she admit that the situation was getting out of hand? Perhaps there was a point at which she would begin to agitate avoirdupois. She may have dropped to 190. But she did not. Then she set a new mark and by the treed was upwards again.

Somewhere along the heroine must then have seen as inevitable the figure 413 and never did she hesitate. One can imagine her with the thought that the good Lord had intended her to be fat, and who was she to go against nature? But did that pious view of nation come upon her at 250 or 310 or 350 pounds or more? That is what a spirit of scientific research moves us to wonder about.

We wonder also if the good lady ever looks through the rolls of fat at her girlhood days when she was slender and lovely signorina. We wonder, also, what her husband thinks of this transformation.

Fox Enjoyed Being Chased

(Fort William Times-Journal)

The party in the car spotted a black fox not far from Silver Islet. The car was stopped, and the driver, accompanied by his dog, Tinker, jumped out and gave chase.

The barks of the dog grew fainter as the chase took him further into the bush, and the driver party expressed his anxiety lest the dog get lost.

But no sooner was Tinker back, than the fox was back too. Tinker left after the fussy fellow a second time, but did not go so far. When he came back the second time he was a wee bit tired.

Then for the third time, the fox came back into view. Obviously Mr. Fox liked the game and wanted to play some more. But Tinker had enough.

Pinnacle Of Gadgetry

(Milwaukee Journal)

This is becoming a push button world much faster than most of us imagine. In Ladysmith—South Wisconsin, not Yorkshire—a retired meteorologist has just taken out a patent on a new type of fishing reel. It's automatic and brings in fish by itself.

The device uses as the pinnacle of gadgetry. Now if someone would invent a self-casting rod a fisherman wouldn't have to move a muscle. That would be much fun. Landing a fish automatically is something like providing a robot with a rubber ball or hiring a stand-in to drink your gin and tonic.

The reel's inventor says he's confident that he'll find markets for it and that it will pay for itself handsomely right. There's a growing generation of fishermen who really prefer gadgets to fishing itself.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

Character and Wheat

Right here, by way of breaking it gently, let me say that there's just one thing stiffer than "going on a diet at two o'clock next week," and that is going on a diet without strict medical supervision. Even including diets prescribed by the physician who knows the patient's condition and requirements, I'd say that in most instances dieting is ineffectual or actually harmful.

Big feeders give the best diet once over lightly and begin squawking about the absence of bread, toast, waffles, pancakes, pie, cake, rolls, muffins, biscuit, crackers, spaghetti, macaroni and other items made of refined white flour. Little sleepers who are allowed to spend hours listening to radio or television when they should be out playing or getting the sleep which is essential for healthy growth, also protest that they have any part in it. Chubby demand that Mommie supply all the yummies the hero of the present radio series recommends, especially the ones with box tops which, after a few pennies, will bring valuable prizes . . .

But, just for the novelty of it, read the fine print on the model health diet menus. You'll find that although the diet as outlined includes no bread or cereal, a reasonable amount of plain wheat or cereals made with it may be added when a larger caloric intake is required.

Incidentally, the basic health diet as outlined in the Vita book-let yields approximately 2,100 calories daily, so it makes an ideal, safe, indeed a beneficial reducing diet for anyone who is too fat perhaps but not fat-headed.

You may well wonder why in thunderation I don't print the plain wheat cereals to prevent or correct the common ailments and disturbances mentioned due to too much cheat-food (refined carbohydrate) in the everyday diet of most Americans and Canadians.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

WHAT IS CHRISTIANITY?

A man going through a jungle discovered to his consternation that he was lost in the way. At last he came upon a native who said he could show him the way out of the jungle. The native took his broad knife and began cutting a straight path. All the man, thoroughly alarmed, cried out to the native, "Are you sure this is the right way?" and the native called back over his shoulder, "There is no way. I am the way. Follow me."

Jesus said on one occasion, that although heaven and earth shall pass away, His words will never pass away. Yet His command was not "following my teachings," but "follow me." He did not say that He would show us the way of life. He said, "I am the way, the truth and the life." The New Testament contains many teachings, but one stands out like a mountain peak above all others, namely, the teaching that a personal relationship is more important than anything He ever said or did.

We are saved not by Christ's teaching but by His divine sacrifice for us. We are sustained not primarily by His words but primarily by His presence. Jesus Christ is loose in the world today, to the glory of all we hope for ourselves and for others.

Christianity is an attempt to live under the power of the risen and potency of the Unseen Presence.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

"Being conscienceless predators ourselves, we human beings are always afraid when worms attack a tree, they are preying upon it. The tree is the victim.

Might it be that the tree sighnalled to the worms for help? In chemical processes of a tree there could be some arrangement whereby the tree, anxious for better nourishment around its base, could attract the necessary insects to come and convert the bulge of manure. A tree has two uses for its foliage. With he leaves' chlorophyll, throughout foliage season, the tree performs the chemical processes which turn the sun's food for its growth, from water, air, sunlight and substances extracted from the soil. Then in autumn, the tree drops its dead leaves to serve as cover on the ground for its roots, to conserve moisture, deflect frost, and in time to rot into necessary organic matter for the tree's further growth. It does not do this to that extent.

A handsome white oak near my house, which stands alone, was infested during the summer with a good big supply of worms. It did not consume all the leaves, as the caterpillar usually does, but only some. And this worm's droppings, about the size of number seven shot, covered the ground every morning. From a bit of pathway, I could have swept up a cupful from a square yard or so, every day.

This conversion of green leafage into a bulge of manure that would be caught in the trash and grass of the ground, and the watery organic tyranny instead of blowing away, was going on standing apart. And probably in need of more nourishment. What could suggest that this infestation was for the tree's good was an experience some years ago when the white forest in our vicinity was attacked by worms and the forest tent caterpillar. Early in June, they simply denuded the trees. I recall carpeting myself through foliage to the ground, so the tree performs the chemical processes which feed it. But the whole bush had sprouted new foliage, looking none the worse for experience.

Now: the following summer, I never saw one caterpillar in this bush exhibited. It seemed to me then that the great foliage that had been converted into manure by the worms had done the second growth for a wonderful good. A need had been served.

Now a Bread-Winner

(Tuvaale Daily Star)

According to a writer, the "cake eater" of the early thirties has been supplanted by the proverbial "Bebopper." Youth marches on, and the early thirties "cake-eater" is probably by now just a solid old bread-winner.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK — By R. J. SCOTT
INSULAR, INSULAR, INSULAR,

Lumsden Has Always Been In Prize Money in CNE Swims

TORONTO (CP)—Cliff Lumsden has always finished in the prize money in all the Canadian National Exhibition marathon swims he has entered since 1947.

He won a purse of $25,350 in the last seven swims previous to his Friday victory.

Lumsden won four of the last five marathons off the CNE waterfront.

In 1949 and 1950 he took top prize money over 15-mile distances and then after finishing third in 1951 he won 10-mile races in 1952 and 1953. He first entered the CNE marathons in 1947, finishing sixth and winning $250. The next year he came fifth for $500 in prize money.

He hit the jackpot in 1949, winning first place money, $6,200, when he and only two others of 43 starters finished the 15-mile grind. His win in 1950 brought him $5,950 and in 1952 and 1953 earned him $5,200 and $5,000. He got $750 for finishing third in 1951.

PREVIOUS FIGURE

The most money ever won previously by a swimmer in a CNE marathon was $25,000. It was taken by Barbara Jordan of the United States in 1929 for a 15-mile grind.

The CNE first started its endurance dash in 1926 and since that year was 21 miles, the longest race of the previous 31 up to this year.

Ernst Vierkoetter of Germany, who later settled in Toronto, was the first winner and received $20,000.

There were no finishers in the second marathon, held in 1928. Vierkoetter was dragged from the water after swimming 16 miles in seven hours. Michael of Lorraine, France, who had finished third in 1927 and was considered the Flashing Frenchman floated for 14 miles and was pulled out many hours later. After two days of argument the $35,000 prize money was split between the two men.

GEORGE YOUNG WINS

Only three starters finished the 1931 grind, won by popular George Young of Toronto, who jumped from obscurity to fame when he swam the Catalina strait in 1927. Bill Goll of Landing, N.J., who went sixty-four miles in this year's swim, was one of the three finishers along with Young and Warren Anderson in that 1931 marathon.

The marathon craze rode high with annual swims from 1927 to 1937. After a lapse of nine years they were revived in 1947. In the early years Vierkoetter, Keating, Young, Marvin Nelson, Goll, Gino Gambi, Frank Pritchard were the big names of the long distance swimmers.

Two Call Off Planned Attempt To Swim Lake

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAK E (CP)—Brenda Fisher of England and 28-year-old Ray Muench of Windsor, Ont., called off their planned attempts to swim 32 miles across Lake Ontario Friday night when the lake was churned up by 30-mile-an-hour winds.

It was not known when, or whether, the two marathoners will make their bids to cross the lake. Miss Fisher was to leave from Youngstown, N.Y., in an effort to duplicate the epic swim of Toronto's Marilyn Bell last year.

Muench was to leave from Windsor early Friday.

The Toronto office said it expects the winds will subside by afternoon.

Thomasburg

THOMASBURG — The heavy rain and wind which visited this district last Thursday did little damage with the exception of a few trees blown down. The rain was appreciated by those whose wells and cisterns have been low and will be a great help to those threshing or picking corn for the canning factory. Crops in the district are good considering the hot, dry weather of July and August.

GRAIN STORAGE

He said the government should take immediate steps to ensure adequate farm storage facilities; provide loan interest for farm-stored grain and provision of loan assistance, to enable farmers to meet current expenses.

To provide storage facilities, he advocated a withdrawal of the cost to farmers over a period of three years.

Meantime, the Interprovincial Council of Farm Unions in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta has called a conference in Saskatoon Sept. 27-28, inviting representatives of farm and business groups and the governments of the three prairie provinces.

Asked to send representatives are the wheat pools, United Grain Growers Ltd., Line Elevator Associations, Federations of Co-operatives, Federations of Agriculture, Rural and Urban Municipal Associations, Chambers of Commerce, Retail Merchants' Associations, Independent Dealers' Associations and Provincial Federations of Labor.

High on the agenda will be discussions on the various aspects of farm marketing, as a result of a bumper crop in the grain movement is halted.

The bright note came from the Lakehead where W. A. W. Cordon, sales representative for the wheat pool, met touring representatives of leading United-Kingdom buyers and have indicated they will have to rely heavily on grain imports from Canada this season.

Mr. Cordon was accompanying the group on its trans-Canada tour.

Egg Prices Show Advance On Local Market

Trade was active on the local market and prices firm. Supplies continued in abundant and varied supply.

Egg prices increased with extra large grades selling at 75 cents a dozen. Other prices were: large, 70 cents, mediums 55 cents and pullets 45 cents.

Pears were in good supply with Bartletts selling from 75 cents to $1 a six-quart basket; Clapp's Favorites and Flemish Beauties were 75 cents a basket. Casteloupes were 10-50 cents each and watermelons brought up to $1. Apples were an abundant feature with MacIntosh at 75 cents a basket, Wolfe River 60 cents, Duchess 85 cents and St. Lawrence 75 cents. Damsons were 50 cents a basket and greengages 90 cents to $1. Burbank plums continued at 75 cents a basket while grapes were 70 cents. Peaches brought 70-85 cents a basket. Pumpkins were 25 cents each.

There were few price changes among the vegetable offerings. Celery was 10 cents a head, three for 25 cents. Corn continued at 35-40 cents, while peppers were six for 25 cents. Gherkins held at 51-53 per pint. Cucumbers were 60-75 cents and slicers from 5c apiece. Cabbage was plentiful with butternuts selling up to 12½ cents and Hubbard up to 50 cents. Carrots and beets were sold in a bunch while beets were 50 cents a basket. Cooking onions were 75 cents a basket, Spanish, five and 10 cents apiece. Lodges Hold Memorial Services

The parade from the lodge hall on Front Street was led by Stirling Citizens Band under the leadership of Maurice Bell, with Patsett Carlisle acting as Marshal.

At the cenotaph a wreath was placed by Raymond Rose and Guy Bradshaw, in honor of deceased members who paid the supreme sacrifice in two world wars. A solemn silence was observed with Garnet Thain in charge of "Last Post".

At the cemetery approximately 35 Rebekah members, marshalled by Mrs. Edward Thain, joined the group for the impressive service.

Mrs. Burton Woodbeck rendered a vocal selection and Mrs. Pearl Ellis played the prayer. Noble Grand Mrs. Morley Barlow was in charge and Mrs. Alan Brown read the 25 names of deceased members of Laurel Lodge No. 113 as follows:

Rachael Thrusher, Clare Sine, Emma Belleau, Mrs. Richardson, Annie Green, Margaret McKelvin, Samantha Samantha Dix, Mary Grills, Hattie Hubel, Blanche McGie, Grace Cummings, Agnes Grills, Stanley Bailey (Mrs. Truman Bailey), Maude Bailey, Annie Bailey, Mrs. Alfred Bailey), Mabel Dafoe, Alberta Farrell, Marjorie Hall, Georgina Heath, Malvina Maynes, Hattie Sine, Mary Jane Spry, Purais Fitchett and Phyllis Earles.

Noble Grand Ray Rose read the names of deceased members of Stirling IOOF and Earl Fox, Grand Secretary of Stirling Lodge No. 235. Encampment placed a wreath of flowers in memory of the brothers who passed on.

Belle Haven Club Work

The members gave the chairman, Mrs. McMurray, an unanimous vote of confidence, and asked that she continue as leader of the club.

On nomination by the chair, the following officers were elected—T. Meems, secretary, and Mrs. J. Croft, treasurer.

Mrs. McMurray introduced to the members Mrs. Doris Griffith, director of the Recreation Association of Handicapped groups, who gave a brilliant lecture in which she surveyed the various clubs of the province, showing how from humble starts they had achieved success.

Refreshments were served and a good time was enjoyed by all.

J. & J. Cash's Club Enjoys Corn Roast

The members of J. & J. Cash's social club spent an enjoyable evening at Mrs. Wesley's cottage at Stoco Lake, on Thursday.

Some 50 employees and their friends travelled by bus and cars. Camp fires lighted the beach while wieners and corn were toasted over the embers. Every one joined in a sing-song, accompanied by guitars and banjos.

At the close of the evening, the hostess was presented with a gift by the chairman of the committee.

Women's Activities

BRIDGE STREET W.M.S.

The regular meeting of Bridge Street United church W.M.S. met in the church parlor on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. McArthur read the minutes of the last meeting held at Mrs. P. C. McGuire's, Oak Lake, and Mrs. Counsell then brought a statement of the finances to date.

Mrs. Masser gave a report on cards sent, and Mrs. Meyers spoke on the new study book, and for a sale, later. The president, Mrs. Denyes, reminded all that the fall tea will be held in October, and the sectional rally will be held at Carmel. She also told some interesting facts from the School for Leaders, held recently at Whitby.

Mrs. Whiteman delighted with the solo "And I Know He Watches Me."

Mrs. Schryver gave a short talk on each of several books, now available on the book-shelf.

Mrs. G. Anderson took charge of the meeting and Mrs. Gilmour conducted a Bible Study. Mrs. Ackerman, Mrs. Kell and Mrs. Pearsall each read passages from Luke's Gospel and questions and answers from the same.

MISSION STATIONS

Mrs. Davis gave an interesting talk on the workers and missionaries at large, showing the stations marked with bits of color on a large map of Canada.

She sketched the work done by these intrepid women, from the east coast of Newfoundland through the Maritimes, the south coast of Canada, noting especially the work at Halifax, Montreal, Huntsville, Hamilton, All People's church, Sudbury; Sault Ste. Marie, Jasper Place, Vancouver and Prince Rupert.

At the conclusion of this splendid meeting. A hot cup of tea and light refreshments were served by Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Gilmour's group. Mrs. Ackerman presided at the tea table.

Grandma Moses at 95 Continues Active Career as Painter

By EDITH EVAN ASBURY in the New York Times

EAGLE BRIDGE, N.Y. — Here in the rolling hills she has shown the world, Grandpa Moses established her ninety-fifth birthday last Wednesday surrounded by her children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and a few neighbors.

Suggestions for more formal and more public observance of the date were vetoed. Grandma prefers "old-timey" things, like family gatherings. Besides, she is a touch lame at the moment. It is painful to get to the television set and switch off a boxing match some time ago—"I hate fights," she sputters—she tripped over a coffee table and injured her knee.

That knee is coming along fine, though, and so are the chipper little old lady's plans for future paintings.

"As much as all this fuss about my birthday is over," she said in the interview at her home, "I am going to sit quiet and think and remember and imagine. Then I'll get an inspiration and start painting. Then I'll forget everything, everything, as I stepped her hands like a gleeful little girl, "except how things used to be, and how to paint it so people will know how we used to live."

A LIFE OF HARD WORK

Those hands, gnarled and knobby with age and arthritis, had done a prodigious amount of hard work before Grandma decided herself to painting eighteen years ago.

Now her work hangs in the Metropolitan Museum, and in other museums around the world. An exhibit of her pictures will tour Europe this fall and winter, beginning October 1 in Bremen, Germany. Just before this career was born, Grandma had lived a full and rugged life as a tomboy girl, farmer's wife, mother of ten children, grandmother and great-grandmother.

As she neared 80, Grandma Moses' hands were no longer needed so much for cooking, washing, scrubbing, soapmaking, quilting, churning, canning and other farm work. They were too stiff for needlework pictures so she tried painting, "and I found it was a lot easier than embroidering."

But there was too much work to be done. Grandma, who was Anna Mary Robertson then, had five brothers and four sisters, and her mother needed a lot of help.

At the age of 12, Anna Mary went to work as a hired girl on a neighboring farm. She toiled there and on other farms in this Rensselaer County area for fourteen years. In 1887, when she was 27, she married Thomas Moses, who was employed as a hired man on the same farm with her. He had $600 saved up, and they began farming on their own.

THINGS ANYONE CAN PAINT

"Anybody can paint," Grandma insists. "All you have to do is imagine a picture in your mind, then get busy with the brush."

When Grandma began imagining her memory roved back to the old-timey days. Sleighs in the glistening snow, horses and buggies, blacksmith shops, barns, and the beloved hill, mountains and trees she has looked at all her life were her subjects.

The homely tasks she and her contemporary farm-folk performed at daily routine seemed to her things of beauty, glimpses of rural American splendid in nostalgia and lovingly recorded for posterity. She has made her native landscape known throughout the world.

"You don't get to be 95 without having some sad memories and knowing ugly things," Grandma says. "I don't believe in painting ugliness.

"I paint pretty pictures. If I put in something that is not pretty, I make it look a little better. If people could dream, out of lookin' at a picture, what's the use of painting it?"

"I've painted so many pictures already I am going to have to do a lot of imagining and remembering from now on," she said. "But I'll think of something. When you are 95"— her bright eyes twinkled behind the rimmed spectacles—"you don't have the plan so far ahead."

W.M.S. Executive To Meet In Wellington

The fall executive meeting of Belleville Presbyterial of the Woman's Missionary Society of the United church of Canada will be held in Wellington, Thursday, Sept. 8. Mrs. Lincoln Hamilton of Tweed, president of the Presbyterial, will chaired the session which were well attended by officers and secretaries of the presbyterial as well as auxiliary presidents.

Tentative plans were made for rallies to be held throughout the presbyterial—at Carmel in Belleville east section, Oct. 13; at Eldorado or Madoc section, Oct. 18; at Trenton Grace in Belleville west section, Oct. 14; at Cherry Valley in Prince Edward section, Oct. 25; at Napanee Grace, for both Napanee sections, Oct. 26.

Departments of the work to be specially stressed are, literature, "Missionary Monthly" and Christian citizenship.

The guest speaker will be Miss Margaret Brown, recently returned from Hong Kong where she had a big share in editing and distributing Christian literature. Miss Brown was appointed by the General Council as a missionary delegate to the United church of Canada to the general assembly of the church of Scotland. Her visit to the Belleville Presbyterial is looked forward to with great interest and anticipation.

Furs Appear Slender And Luxurious

Fall's favorite fur coats look slim and trim retaining enough fullness to make them wearable and warm. Prime example of the slim style is the Maiden Rideau in the full length straight coat with big collar and deep inset section in back.

Built from slightly wider shoulders, it eases downward into a slim line that appears to be the most tapered. But it ingeniously retains room for the four flat pleats, inverted pleats or vents held about the center back and framed with a low placed martingale or band.

In the direct opposite fashion are the A-line interpretations in furs with the fullness concentrated in flaring hemlines. Many of these have gentle flare that starts at waist or hip level.

The low trim silhouette appears in fur coats with suggestions of semi-fitted lines that break into a flare from one hip. Many coats slip at the sides and controlled with pleats and pocket details.

Skirts that fit to the knees long the gain steadily in popularity. Mostly straight cut except for back interpretations with spreading hem lines, they have a new casual look that is completed with bellows or pockets, half belts and tabs.

New designs for coats of all lengths provide an easy-going look and eliminated cut for today's active living.

With improvements in dyes, newer furs take on fashion importance. Persian lamb will make its debut in at least its velvety form. Nutria, sheared raccoon and muskrat answer the call to colors in a great variety of excellent furs.

Beaver will be produced in all colors of the rainbow, making an important point of caramel and rose beige shades.

Mouton is scarcely recognizable in its fall glory. It is being treated with masterful workmanship and involved with all the careful detail generally reserved for the most expensive furs.

Going Places

Air Travel With Children

By SHIRLEY AND BOB SLOANE

Apparently the complications of air travelling with children represent the most provocative subject we have touched on.

Our recent column on our plane trip to Miami brought at least as many queries concerning the manner in which the children deported themselves enroute as it brought the usual questions on room rates and places to stay.

So for those who are still trying to work up the nerve to take a holiday flight, here's what it was like:

We had two strokes of intuitive genius. The first was to send ahead by rail express a week in advance the excess baggage as our wardrobe trunk could hold. If you don't have one of these trunks, suitcases may also be shipped this way.

Since the airlines permit 66 pounds of baggage per person accepted and we had only two full size (Claudia two-and-a-half, west half fare and one-year-old Jonathan, free), we figured the excess baggage charges on our belongings—you need almost everything—would be somewhere near that at luxury resort—would far exceed the $30 maximum charge. In handling all that luggage would be intolerably cumbersome with two small children in tow.

HANDS FULL

As it was we had our hands full with one large suitcase, containing items we needed at home until we left; a light but sturdy and accessible bag for the plane trip to Cuba for two dollars, which we carried on board because we would need for diapers, baby food, toys, our camera and toilet articles which might break or leak in the checked baggage; Jonathan's collapsible stroller which we needed around the terminals; and — our second stroke of genius — Jonathan's car seat.

Since we had only three tickets, the four of us were entitled to only three seats. Unfortunately, the plane was full on the going trip so three-abreast seating arrangement of coach flights. Claudia sat between us and Johnny perched high in his car seat slung over the back of the middle seat. It was an ideal arrangement. Inconvenienced Claudia when during take-off and landing. During the trip she switched between our laps or stood up, while Johnny remained secure in his car set.

On the return trip he slept two hours stretched out on a pair of unoccupied seats from which the rest had been removed. (All airliner arm rests are removable and all seats reclining.) Claudia and you're traveling to the cramped seats of coach flights especially with children.)

The noise of the engines bothered neither child. During our first take-off Claudia put her hands over her ears but that was the only time she gave of discomfort. She complained once about her ears hurting during climbing, but some candy mints solved the problem by making her swallow, thus relieving the pressure.

MAN SICKNESS

There was no real indication of motion sickness by either child. During our landing at Miami we had to weave around thunderstorms for about half an hour, during which Jonathan cried once, "Hai—pane all over, Daddy!" and rested easy in his father's lap. But she gave no outward sign of

Belleville Cheese Highly Praised

In a current article on the Province of Ontario in the Encyclopedia Americana of the U.S., Keith Munro, authority on Canadian affairs, writes:

"I got a thrill not long ago reading a story by Clemention Paddleford, food editor of the food. She had attended an international cheese show, and tasted them all. Her verdict — the finest thing she tasted was Canadian cheddar from Belleville."

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DON'T YOU THINK THE NEXT MOVE IS THE BOY'S?

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

About two months ago, I broke up with the boy I had gone steady with for two years. He left me without giving me any reason why we had broken up. All he said was that he still liked me, and asked if it would be all right if he came up to see me some time again.

Recently, I found out that there had been rumors going around that he and I were getting married, which made his family object to his going with me. I have never met his family, and know nothing about them, so they must dislike me for some reason or other about.

I love this boy very much, and would like to go back with him and get things straightened out with his family. My own family approves of him and had no objection to our going steady.

Please give me some advice, as I have not given up hope of going back with him. I'm 19 and I'm nearly 16. — Jo Anne

Dear Jo Anne:

Well, let's see, now.

My first thought is that if this boy asked you if he could come and see you some time again, and you told him—as I assume you did that he certainly could, then it would seem to me the next move was up to him. If he really wants to come and see you, and you have let him know you have no objection, and your family haven't any, there seems to be nothing to stop him unless it's pressure from his own family. And I would really think that a boy 19 would be old enough to assert himself a bit, in a respectful way, and set his parents straight on any mistaken ideas they might have about his relationship with you.

Personally, I feel that you might well wait to see what this fellow does and let yourself be guided accordingly.

However, if you feel you want to take some definite step to find out just where you stand with him, then I suggest that you write him a note—just a friendly one, not a romantic or emotional one—and tell him that you've heard these rumors, have been disturbed and confused by them and ask if they are responsible for his breaking off with you and if there is any way the matter could be cleared up. Say that you certainly don't want to be put in an unfavorable light under any circumstances, entirely aside from any question of "going steady," and if you're that type, he would tell you anything he may know that you don't.

If these really have been rumors around which are unfavorable to you, in any way, and he knows about them and knows that they have influenced his family, he should be decent enough to give you a frank reply. In any event, he should certainly answer your letter, and the kind of reply he makes should give you a pretty good idea of his real attitude toward you.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMIESON

TREAT YOUR COMPACT WITH CARE

After each use, a compact should be slipped back into the flannel jacket in which it was purchased. This prevents scratches, other damage.

Perhaps you haven't given your compact much thought beyond the fact that it's a useful article and you couldn't, of course, get along without it. If you are all of the matter of good grooming, you probably have several compacts to wear with sports clothes, another for dressy daytime occasions, an evening compact and a solid, utilitarian model for workaday use. But, how do you take care of them?

It is a great disillusionment when an otherwise smartly groomed woman unearths a disreputable-looking compact from the depths of her purse. Your compacts should always look as neat and bright as the day they were purchased. So when you buy them, leave them in the protective flannel jackets in which they come. The manufacturers have especially designed these to keep the fastidious woman free from perfume vials, and other damage.

Then there's the matter of the mirror. Be really ludicrous woman wants to see her reflection through a cloud of powder and smudges, so she'll be sure that the mirror is always clean and bright. Powder puffs and Solied puffs should be discarded immediately since most manufacturers will provide additional puffs and most department stores either keep them in stock or will order replacement puffs in the correct size and shape. The fashion-conscious woman not only takes good care of her compacts but, in selecting them, she uses the same thoughtful consideration she would use in choosing the style, color and cut of her bags, gloves, and other accessories. Choosing compact should never be a hit-or-miss proposition and there's no reason why it should be a mirror. Today compacts are made for every conceivable fashion mood, season and occasion. So you might just as well powder your pretty nose in style.

Readers' Saturday Column

As Conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION:

. . . One of my friends told me she read an article in your column with instructions for washing cotton sweaters to avoid the little "balls" or balls of fluff forming. I must have been away on holidays as I did not see it.— Jean G.

ANSWER:

I think I must have been away too Jean, for I can't remember writing it. I'm no expert on laundering. I love doing the washing but haven't had time to do it for years, but I can tell you what Annie does with my white orlon pullover and cardigan which are in the wash nearly every week. She makes a good suds with a detergent in very hot water then cools it down with cold water to just above the temperature of the hand—lukewarm. Then she washes the sweaters by hand, gently. I don't let them get very dirty. Then she rinses them twice in water that is clear and of about the same temperature—certainly not cold. She holds the edge of a terry towel under her little fat chin and holding the sweater out, she squeezes excess water against the towel then rolls it into the towel to soak up excess moisture. She never actually wrings the sweater. Then she spreads out a newspaper with a dry heavy towel on it and spreads the sweater smoothly out on that. Next day I turn it over. It takes two days to dry. The little "pills" are only described by you have not appeared and mine are a year old.

QUESTION:

. . . among many of the recipes I clipped from your column (before you went on holiday several) favorites. One we liked especially was a fruit cake . . . appeared in your column shortly before Christmas three years ago and was called . . . Emma's Fruit cake. . . . my friends thought it was delicious. Unfortunately I've either lost or loaned it. . . . another recipe I want is for steamed Apple Suet Dumplings. The suet of course, is used instead of shortening for the dough . . . my father asked me to make these and I had to send to Montreal for it. . . . made them without recipe . . . they were not successful.—Mrs. A. W. Smith

ANSWER:

I think you must be referring to Emma's Fruit cake. I am mailing you the recipe.

STEAMED APPLE SUET DUMPLINGS

Suet Dough—(butter or shortening may be used instead of suet.)

Sift all-purpose flour and measure 3 cups and sift it with 4 teaspoons baking powder and 1-3 teaspoon salt. Cut into 1-3 or 1-2 cup shortening finely chopped fast (if you use shortening use only 1-4 cup). Evenly mixed and about the consistency of oatmeal add 2-3 cup milk less 1 tablespoonful and mix until dough is just moistened. Roll out on floured board in 1-4 inch thickness and cut out into six rounds. Wipe, core and pare six medium-apples. Place on dough and fill centres with mixture of 4 tablespoons sugar and 1-3 teaspoon cinnamon. Draw dough up around apples, having corners overlap, to cover apples, moistening bottom of last flap to seal it. Place double thickness of cloth or parchment paper on bottom of steamer top section. Place dumplings on steamer until apples are tender—trying them with a toothpick inserted in centre. Serve with cream or with Lemon Sauce.

NOTE:

Apple dumplings may be baked at 375 deg. Fahr. with 1-2 inch water in baking dish around them or a brown syrup poured over before baking.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

A SELFISH, INCONSIDERATE GUEST

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A question has arisen in our household which concerns my two teen-age children and myself. Recently my daughter had a week-end guest, and both she and my son (who joined in on her side) were very distressed and impatient because I decided that 9 o'clock in the morning was long enough to restrain our 8-year-old sightseeing. Our household is normally under way, about 8 o'clock in the morning, and breakfast is over by 9 or so.

What is required of a family toward a guest who does not join the family at breakfast but instead stays in bed until 10:30 or so? Shouldn't the guest get up when the household activities start and join the family at breakfast (even if she should desire to go back to bed), instead of making it necessary to have a second breakfast prepared? — Annoyed

The guest we enjoy having come to our home is the thoughtful and considerate one who makes it a charming habit to find out about the household routine and adapts herself or herself to the habits of the household. In these days when truly unselfish, it is extremely important that a guest do nothing to disturb the necessary schedule . . . and your daughter's young guest was selfish indeed to give you added worry about keeping your little daughter quiet while "visiting."

If your daughter and son felt so "distressed and impatient" about your having to care for your little daughter for an extra-long time by their "early, very busy themselves and take over the care and amusement of their little sister? Here was their opportunity to show their selfish guest that they could be unselfish and next time, if I were you, I would suggest to your daughter that if her guest wished to stay in bed so long (your daughter) prepare her a tray breakfast and serve it to her in bed, when it pleased her to have it.

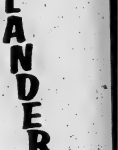
Who Was This?

Hillie Briefs

By A. A. M.

Who was the woman, married to Uriah, the Hittite, who was personally selected by the king to be disloyal to her husband in his absence in the army of Israel? The king fell under the spell of this woman's beauty. In order to do away with her husband, this ruler commanded Joab, his military leader, to set Uriah in the forefront of the fiercest fighting when the troops were besieging a city.

After the battle, the messenger ran to the King with his news: "The enemy gained an advantage over us and came out against us in field: but we drove them back to the entrance of the gate. Then the enemy archers shot at your soldiers from the walls of the city. Some of your men are dead, and your servant, Uriah, the Hittite, is dead also."



The King urged his messenger to return to Joab and encourage him. He advised him to say: "Do not let this matter trouble you. For the sword devours now one and now another. Strengthen your attack upon the city and overthrow it."

Lamentation for Uriah was made by his widow. When the period of her mourning was over, she went to the King. She became his wife and bore him a son. This is the evil thing which the King had done displeased the Lord. Their little child fell ill and on the seventh day of his sickness, the infant died.

Transmission Requires Checking

By EUGENE MILMOE

Because it can be such a complicated business, automatic transmission service should be left to the factory-trained specialist. But the car owner still bears full responsibility for preventive maintenance and must know what care is necessary for trouble-free operation.

Most important is making certain transmission fluid is at the proper level. Since this is very often the key to several transmission ills, regular inspection of fluid with the transmission in the car, while others will require its removal.

SEDAN WANDERS

H.N writes: "My 1954 sedan has a tendency to wander at speeds of 50-60 mph. New shock absorbers were installed, wheels were balanced and aligned, wheel bearings were repacked and the steering system and springs were checked, — but still no cure. Going through state inspection, I mentioned this condition to the inspector, but he found everything in good order. Your advice will be appreciated."

(A) Car-wanderer is often due to nothing more than variations in unseven tires pressures, or different treads. This could be true in your case.

Mrs. H.N. writes: "While having new rear springs put on, I looked at my local station. I noticed that the mechanic applied compressed air to each of the old plugs before removing them. Why?"

(A) This is done to clear away dirt and grit which may fall into the recesses) that might fall into the cylinders when the plugs are removed.

(Q) Examine the carburetor air cleaner, if clogged, it can block the air flow and bring about an overrich mixture—especially at high speeds.

From W.P.: "My car is a 1953 model with automatic drive. Oil has been slowly leaking from the transmission, and the dealer says he will have to remove it in order to repair it. Is this always necessary?"

(A) It depends on the source of trouble. Many leaks can be repaired with the transmission in the car, while others will require its removal.

Newest and Fabulous Fishing Resorts Located in Northland

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Barney Lamm's customers rough it in style — for a price.

Saturday plays host to some of North America's better-known tycoons and business stars. But when a guest arrives at his Ball Lake camp, 30 miles north of Kenora in northwestern Ontario, or at God's lake, 400 miles north in northeastern Manitoba, he becomes anonymous — just another fisherman out to try his luck at one of Canada's newest and fabulous fishing resorts.

Barney, a former flying school operator at Fargo, N. D., used to spend his holidays fishing and hunting in the English river area north of Kenora.

WILDERNESS LUXURY

Finding his discharge from the United States Air Force after the Second World War he decided to go into the resort business. Today his Ball lake camp is a $250,000 operation. It can handle almost 90 persons, at $250 a week each. Its facilities include boats, canoes, muskies and northern pike in the area. Guests may play ping-pong or bingo. Barney recently re-appointed main lodge. They may buy perfumes from Paris or sweaters from Scotland in the well-stocked shop.

His Ball lake camp a success, Barney, now 35, began looking around for another campsite. He found it 400 miles north in the God's lake country, a wilderness of forest and lakes and stream abounding with brook trout, pickerel and northern pike.

At God's lake, Jim Smith, former game guardian, who realized the area's fishing potential teamed up with Lamm. Smith still runs the God's lake camp.

WILDERNESS LUXURY

Clients lightly pay the $600-a-week bill at God's lake. Ear in this wild country living is made easy. Cabins have city conveniences.

Lamm's customers are aggies who are willing to follow stringent conservation rules and leave with only two brook trout—all the law permits.

Lamm's latest venture was the setting up of an outcamp on Elk island, further down God's lake. Reached by plane or by Peter Pitcher, a Cape Breton-boat skipper who teamed up with Barney on the lake, the cabins of the old God's lake gold mine, an unsuccessful venture, have been attended recently by Ontario Central Airlines L&E, operating out of Kenora. Lamm has an interest in the business and it now offers 36 planes all over the Ontario and eastern Manitoba northcountry.

Barney is still looking farther north. He has designs on Hudson bay, into the Arctic char country of the Barren Lands.

Garden Notes

Versatile Hedge, Useful to Garden

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

We plant hedges for many reasons—to separate the lawn from the vegetable garden, to mark the property line, or to screen the service yard.

These green walls will cost approximately the same as a fence. The hedge will need no further expensive upkeep, and will add to the attractiveness of the home and grounds. Fall is a good time to plant one.

There are many shrubs which make good hedges with very little maintenance. Some of these plants may be allowed to grow without clipping, others need clipping in early summer and again in late fall. A few are rampant growers and should not be planted on the city lot.

Selection of the plant will depend upon the function you will them to perform. A wind break will need to grow very dense and be evergreen. White cedar, also called American Arborvitae. Thuya Occidentalis is the best for this.

Tall back-yard hedges which are used to screen an undesirable view, to lend privacy to the service yard, play area, or to shut out a street noise should be picked for their dense foliage, and height. Cockspur thorn and Norway spruce are it is hardier than the English thorn.

Forsythia, while prized for its brilliant yellow bloom in early spring is seldom thought of as hedge material. Given plenty of room makes a good, dense screen, or background hedge, for the property line. Choose the new Spring Glory as it is the best of the forsythias for an abundance of bloom, prune back severely.

Lilacs make a good screen, or may be clipped to form a formal hedge. Left to grow to their full height they will reach eight feet. The common lilac makes the best hedge material.

Tartarian honeysuckle will grow tall, or may be cut back to a four foot hedge. It supplies color in the early summer with rosy blooms which are fragrant and later the red berries. Alpine currant and Spirea Van Houttei are other choices for flowering hedges where height is also required. They both offer dense foliage.

One of the Viburnums called Arrow wood has a dense upright growth, broad spreading leaves with masses of white flower heads in spring and bright blue berries in fall. The autumn color of the leaves is also attractive, in gold and bronze.

Cottoneaster forms a tall colorful hedge with its red berries that scarlet fruit. Caragana or Siberian pea has deep racimes of yellow blooms and fernlike foliage. It is extremely hardy and makes either a tall, or medium sized hedge.

For the formal hedge Amur privet is the best. This is a very shiny green leaves which last well into the fall. It is hardy, and can be clipped into maintaining a compact, attractive appearance. Ibota privet is a new hedge with darker green leaves.

Korean lilac makes an evergreen dwarf hedge which withstands city condition well and is best suited to the semi-formal garden.

Japanese barberry, green or red, make good hedges. They are dense and have attractive foliage and need little clipping. The red type should be planted in full sun to bring out its full color.

To plant, dig a trench 12 to 15 inches deep. Set the plants the required distance apart, according to their ultimate size. Fill in soil around them to within four inches of the top. Soak thoroughly. Fill in and leave a shallow depression to hold rain water. Keep soil damp until roots have taken hold and trim back one third.

New Western Movies Will Be Especially Heavy This Season

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — About 50 years ago a man named Owen Wister wrote a novel called "The Virginian" and started a literary fashion that has flourished to this day. The novel, it's called in the book trade.

The basic element of the western is a rather mute and fundamentally decent guy who's quick with a gun and able with a horse. To this character is added a variety of plot developments and all the well-established patterns. The western is a commercially successful commodity, Zane Grey and Claude Bowers accumulate fortunes. They highly qualified practitioners of the form today are Ernest Haycox and Alan Le May.

The movies seized on the western early, and produced such superior works as "Stage" and "High Noon" besides its perpetual spate of incredibly bad western films. Television followed the lead of the movies, picking up old films that had no market except the kids' Saturday movie matinees.

Now television is sufficiently mature to produce its own equivalent of "Shane" or "High Noon." New westerns will be especially heavy this season, with loud fanfare that they're going to be better than ever.

FROWNING COLT

First out of the corral this week trotted a spavined runt and a high-stepping colt of promise. The runt was something called "Western Marshal" which appeared on NBC's New York outlet and may show up elsewhere if the salesmen have their way. It's the same old synthetic western.

The promising colt is "The Life and Legend of Wyatt Earp," which had its premier on ABC-TV. Even if it's not "High Noon," it's the best western this department has yet seen on television. Hugh O'Brian is a credible and convincing Wyatt Earp, that actual western marshal who took the cause of justice reluctantly and died in bed in his 80s.

The technicians of Edward R. Murrow's "Person to Person" (CBS-TV) are mighty happy to be in Denver to visit the home of Ethel Merman as a part of the show. It's cool in Denver.

They won't quickly forget their visit to Dick Powell's Hollywood home on last week's show when the temperature went to 106. The equipment acted up in the heat and they ordered a truckload of ice cubes. Even so, they had to borrow a pair of asbestos gloves from Powell's wife June Allyson to handle the cameras.

Stories About Displaced Persons, Refugees in Series

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—One of the new shows entering the television sweepstakes is an item called Crusader. The title role is not played by a knight in armor, but a free-lance writer in a business suit.

The crusader will be Brian Keith, the handsome actor who made a hit in the movie "Fight Spot." He'll play a magazine author who roams the world in search of stories about refugees and displaced persons.

Does that sound like a strange premise for a TV series?

Producer Dick Lewis admits it is unusual, but he thinks the public will go for the idea.

DOCUMENTARY FLAVOR

"I think there has been a growing acceptance for drama with a documentary flavor," said Lewis, a young veteran of the radio and TV scene. "You see that in movies like 'On The Waterfront,' which was semi-documentary in treatment. And you see it in TV shows like Dragnet and Medic.

"We have a wealth of material to choose from. Some of our stories concern escape from Iron Curtain countries or Russia itself. Some are about people who are removed from their homes. There is a great deal of excitement in such tales.

"There is the added quality of reality. All of the stories are true. We have got wonderful co-operation from governmental agencies, religious groups and other organizations that deal with refugees. They have opened their files for us. The stories will all be based on fact, though we change some details so that the persons concerned will not be subject to recriminations.

"I think this show can do a lot of good in this country. After all, we will be letting 200,000 persons in this country for the end of 1956. It is important that we know their problems."

The filmed show will appear on CBS Friday nights. Incidentally, this may be an indication of TV's power: Brian Keith has a two-picture-a-year deal with Columbia pictures, but the Crusader series takes priority on his services.

UPTOINTED COACH

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (CP)—Jack Crawford, veteran National Hockey League defenseman and former coach of Hershey Bears of the American Hockey League, has been appointed coach of Providence Reds of the AHL, the club announced Friday. He was born in Dublin, Ont.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

You can be squeezed more often than you would expect in a game of bridge. More often, even, than in a game of postoffice. Because in bridge there are more squeezes than you could possibly count.

Usually you lead up to a bridge squeeze in a formal manner of procedure. But not always. Times are when you make special advances, sort of preliminary preparations leading up to the squeeze.

You will see it in this deal:

It was bid like crazy to a grand slam in spades with south as declarer. From the earlier bidding and the first trick doubled south suspected that west was void in trumps.

So, when the opening lead from west was club king, dummy won with the ace and returned a trump. East's cover with the seven was taken by south with a deep finesse of the eight spot.

A diamond to the king entered dummy. Another trump from dummy was covered with east's nine and won with south's ten. Another diamond from south was successfully finessed with dummy's jack.

A third trump from dummy caught east's jack with south's queen and south picked off east's king with the trump ace lead. A diamond went to the dummy ace and a small heart to south's ace.

Of the four cards still left in each hand, south held the two remaining trumps, a small heart, and the club jack. Dummy had king and three odar hearts. West kept the club queen, two hearts and the queen of diamonds.

Another trump lead forced west to give up a trick-taking heart or the club queen. Jack of clubs or small heart takes the final trick.

Chicago And Boston Take On Frighteningly Pale Look In Hot Loop Race

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

BLUE, GOLD AND RED

Give Frank Tindal, Queen's coach, a quarterback and four or five linemen and he could tell Varsity, Western and McGill to jump in the lake.

The line problem is secondary. The senior question is the slicker. Tindal is desperately clinging to the slim hope that Norm Dyson will be back. But it is a slim one.

• • •

Yesterday Frank talked with Mike Rodden and this reporter as some 48 aspirants went through a tough practice grind under assistant coaches Hal McCartney and Jimmy Jerome on the sun-drenched practice field at Richardson Stadium. We had special permission from the "doc" to get away for an hour from four walls, a bed and the gals in white, (bless 'em.)

By the way, Jimmie Jerome, a 210-pounder who looks like a wrestler on the loose, is a product of Tindal's "Alma Mammy", Syracuse University. He played with the Ottawa Rough Riders after being released by Montreal Alouettes, his first Canadian "love."

• • •

The Tricolor coach admits he is worried over that quarter spot. The line, he feels, will be strengthened, albeit not up to the standard of last year, but possibly enough to hold its own.

At the moment he is trying out Pete Redfern, Carleton College, Ottawa, and Bill Cook, 1954 KCVI senior, in the quarter spot. But what he wouldn't give for Dyson. Ron Stewart has been doing some "quartering". The mighty mite tosses a fairly good pass too.

Fourteen new candidates reported to Tindal on Wednesday but over-half were rosy-cheeked freshies.

Among those trying for the squad is 21-year-old Terry Dolan, 175-pound fullback and son of the late Edward M. Dolan, who played for Queens in 1922-23. He was a quarterback who "spelled" Johnny Evans.

• • •

Others in action were Bob Bevan, halfback, formerly of the Cobourg Galloping Ghosts; Chuck LaFrance, quarter; Floyd Bassett, guard; Keith Hazelton, end — all from Toronto; Al Robertson, end; Ian Smith, back; Norman White, back; Phil Olivér, tackle; Gordie Robinson, end; Art Round, end; Ron Lane, flying wing.

• • •

A welcome addition to the Tricolor "forward wall" was Jack Abraham, coke-fool-proof giant who tips the scale at 225. Abraham is a member of last year's senior squad and, in case any pugilistically-inclined "foemen" read this, is the intercollegiate heavyweight boxing champion. Abraham is a native of Toronto.

Tindal appeared satisfied with the way the squad is shaping up and feels it will give a good account of itself against the ORFU Balmy Beach squad at the stadium here on Saturday, September 17th.

Later they meet St. Lawrence University and the speedy Sarnia Imperials of the ORFU in exhibition tilts before taking on the McGill Redmen here on October 1st in the intercollegiate opener.

• • •

It is a rather light exhibitional schedule but Tindal feels it necessary in order to give the big squad crucial tests in actual battle. Koeman will see plenty of action in these tilts.

• • •

Michael J. Rodden, sports editor here, commented on the report that two former pros likely will make the McGill team. Tindal offered no comment on the story.

• • •

Rodden says the question of eligibility of the ex-pros might be raised by other intercollegiate squads, and with the Redmen meeting the Gaels in the opener, Queens might be "placed in an unenviable position," if forced to query the status of visiting players.

Queen's officials were silent on the subject.

• • •

THE FINALS

Bill Spafford was in a fighting mood. And why not? His hopes for an Ontario softball title had taken a quick exit not too long ago, via the Limestone City route.

"This one will be different" roared the Orfun coach. "We beat this club before when the chips were down and we can do it again," he added.

No, Mr. Spafford was not talking about a replay with Kingston or anything like that but it is a very important series that makes this usually kind-hearted, gentle soul turn into a minor edition of Casey after the Indians won a pennant. (We should live so long).

The aforementioned series is for "all the marbles" in the city and district softball league. "That team," as referred to by Spafford, is Point Anne, and "we" is the Belleville Orfuns.

Tuesday night has been named as the opening date for the first game in the championship series for the Bill Ott Trophy. Action will get under way at 8.00 p.m. sharp at the CNRAA Park.

No further introduction to these two teams is needed for all softball fans of the city must remember the action-packed games that the two teams have participated in all year long. Needless to say, the Cementmen are every bit as confident as the Orfuns.

No date has been announced for the second game but it will be played at Point Anne.

HURLS NO-HITTER

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — Ed Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell's (Georges) Walker, former major leaguer outfielder who injured his league outfielder who injured his wrist in losing the Red Sox into a second straight defeat 3-1. New York, still trailing the Tribe by a half-game, shook up the White Sox 5-4 with Jim Collins' two homers lacing Chicago to a second straight defeat.

IT'S A MUST

Manager Marty Marion is confident his lefty ace, Billy Pierce, can tumble the Red Sox today. It's practically a must if the White Sox hope to make any ground when they meet Boston in a doubleheader Sunday while the Yanks and Indians sing it's last hymn.

The same goes for Boston in one last chance at the Indians today. Al Smith, Tito Francona and Al Rosen — leading off the sixth, seventh and eighth innings with their homers—produced Bob Lemon's 17th victory of the season. Narleski and Don Mossi had to wrap it up. It was the veteran right-hander's fourth straight victory—but also the 18th consecutive time he has won in relief.

Narleski balked him out in the eighth, after a single, walk and Lemon's sacrifice had put runners on third and second with two away. Then he struck out pinch-hitter Gray Hatton and Jim Piersall. Narleski issued a walk but gave up a single to Billy Goodman, and Mossi had to hurry in to fan Billy Klaus on a 3-2 pitch.

The Yanks had no easier a time with the White Sox, who now have lost six of 10 games with New York that were decided by one run. Collins, who hit the ninth, after fanning Grady Hatton and Jim Piersall, Narleski issued a walk but gave up a single to Billy Goodman, and Mossi had to hurry in to fan Billy Klaus on a 3-2 pitch.

The Yanks had no easier a time with the White Sox, who now have lost six of 10 games with New York that were decided by one run. Collins, who leads the league in clutch hitting with 109.

Doubles—Kuenn, Detroit, 35.

Triples—Mantle and Carey, New York, 11.

Home runs—Mantle, New York, 36.

Strikeouts—Score, Cleveland, 226.

League home runs—900 (record is 973 set in 1950).

Prexy Expects Players to Blow Up at Umpires

BALTIMORE (AP) — Will Harridge, president of the American League, said Friday he expects his players to blow up at umpires more than usual during the stretch pennant race.

Harridge was asked by the Baltimore Evening Sun if there were going to be any repercussions as a result of remarks by the New York Yankees during a doubleheader Monday with the Baltimore Orioles.

He hasn't heard of them officially, Harridge replied.

"As far as we know officially, nothing unusual occurred in that doubleheader that would warrant censuring of the players or the umpires," Harridge said.

He admitted he had read about the flareups in the newspapers, "but have not heard from the umpires that they were going to make a report. I would have had it by now."

The Yankees blew up in the first game which they lost 6-5 in 11 innings. Hank Bauer had to be restrained by a teammate from raging after umpire John Rice who ruled he had trapped a ball. Lou McDougald hit the sky when umpire Larry Napp, ruling he had not on a runner at third base, waved the runner home with the winning run.

Cleveland, New York Widen Margin Over Runners-Up In Killing Pennant Drive

By The Associated Press

The first division isn't exactly cluttered up with dead bodies yet in that killing American League pennant race, but Chicago and Boston suddenly have taken on a frighteningly pale look.

After being struck down by first-place Cleveland the second-place New York Yankees Friday, the Red Sox and White Sox have reached the new-over-.500 point. With only 15 games remaining, Chicago is 3½ games out—and three games behind are Boston and the Yanks.

Boston's in the same precarious spot—five full games behind and four games back in the lost column with 16 games remaining.

The Indians laid the Bostons low Friday night, clubbing three home runs to trip the Red Sox into a second straight defeat 3-1. New York, still trailing the Tribe by a half-game, shook up the White Sox 5-4 with Jim Collins' two homers lacing Chicago to a second straight defeat.

IT'S A MUST

Manager Marty Marion is confident his lefty ace, Billy Pierce, can tumble the Red Sox today. It's practically a must if the White Sox hope to make any ground when they meet Boston in a doubleheader Sunday while the Yanks and Indians sing it's last hymn.

The same goes for Boston in one last chance at the Indians today. Al Smith, Tito Francona and Al Rosen — leading off the sixth, seventh and eighth innings with their homers—produced Bob Lemon's 17th victory of the season. Narleski and Don Mossi had to wrap it up. It was the veteran right-hander's fourth straight victory—but also the 18th consecutive time he has won in relief.

Narleski balked him out in the eighth, after a single, walk and Lemon's sacrifice had put runners on third and second with two away. Then he struck out pinch-hitter Gray Hatton and Jim Piersall. Narleski issued a walk but gave up a single to Billy Goodman, and Mossi had to hurry in to fan Billy Klaus on a 3-2 pitch.

The Yanks had no easier a time with the White Sox, who now have lost six of 10 games with New York that were decided by one run. Collins, who leads the league in clutch hitting with 109, gave the Yanks a four-run edge with his two clouts but in the end it was Yogi Berra's double that did it.

All three of the big blows were off Dick Donovan, who lost his seventh against 14 victories and departed on Yogi's smack in the seventh. Gil McDougald and Bob Grim finished up for the Yanks, cutting off two Chicago rallies. The Sox wound up with 10 men on base.

Detroit officially fell from the AL race with an 8-3 defeat at Baltimore. Kansas City split with Washington, losing 8-5 and winning 7-4 although Roy Sievers tied the Senators' home run record he set last year with his 32rd and 24th circuit blows in the nightcap.

In the N'ati'n a l, Brooklyn's champs staggered through a hectic doubleheader in Chicago after a pennant celebration the night before. The Cubs, who belted eight of the 13 homers in the twinbill, beat Don Newcombe in the opener 11-4, but lost the second 6-5. The Dodgers had just eight hits in the nightcap.

Newcombe, 20-5, has been beaten three times by the Cubs, who had two home runs each from Sam Fondy, Randy Jackson and Ernie Banks during the day. Banks now has 42. Don Zimmer hit a pair for the Brooks.

Milwaukee tightened its grip on second, beating Pittsburgh 3-1 on Hal Gilson's two-run homer in the seventh. Joe Nuxhall won his 16th for Cincinnati by four-hitting New York 3-0 while Wally Post and Gus Bell homered for the Redlegs. And St. Louis, led by Solly Hemus' two triples that scored four runs, fractured Philadelphia 11-2.

WINS LACROSSE

WINNIPEG (CP)—Manitoba All-Stars upset the favored Mount Pleasant, B.C., Indians 11-9 Friday night to win the best-of-three western Canada junior lacrosse final 2-0 in games and advance into the Canadian final against either Long Branch or Newmarket, Ont.

Toronto Leafs Move One Game Ahead of Havana in Playoffs

By The Associated Press

Havana manager Reggie Otero did some deep thinking on the plane taking Sugar Kings and Toronto Maple Leafs down to Havana for the resumption Sunday night of their International League semi-final playoff. The big problem is how to stop Toronto's middle-inning power.

Leafs clobbered Havana 8-4 Friday night to take a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven Governor's Cup play. A six-run rally in the fourth turned the trick for Toronto, just as an eight-run fifth the night before had brought Leafs an easy triumph, and Leafs have tallied 19 runs against Havana after dropping the first game of the series and 16 have been scored between the fourth and sixth innings.

Vincente Amor, who had the most success of any Cuban pitcher against Toronto during the season, winning two out of three decisions, was the chief victim of a 17-hit attack. Mike Fornieles turned in a route-going job for Toronto and he and battery - mate Lou Berberet paced the attack with three hits each.

CONTINUES TONIGHT

Playoff action continues tonight when the pennant-winning Montreal Royals, down two games to none, engage Rochester at Wingy's home park. Ken Lasorda, who shut out Rochester on the last day of the season, is Greg Mulleavy's probable pitching choice. He will be opposed by Cary Blaylock, possessor of a 3-1 season's record against the champs.

Teuton Terrors Continue Winning Streak in Local Ring Taking Flanagan, Leitler

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Whether it was the thought of his buddy, Whipper Billy Watson, lying in a Toronto hospital or just his general dislike of the ropes, Frankie Flanagan came up with one of the best performances seen in a wrestling ring here this year at Memorial Arena last night.

The only sour note of the evening was the fact that Fritz Von Erich and Karl Von Schober walked off with two of the three falls over the fighting Irishman and his replacement side-kick, Bob Leitler.

Flanagan announced before the preliminary that he had received word that Watson, scheduled to team up with Pat against the German duo, had just been admitted to the emergency ward of a Toronto hospital. Flanagan then announced that he would team 'up with the winner of the three-way windup match between Doc Gallagher and Bob Leitler at the first meeting. Leitler disposed of Gallagher in ten minutes with a series of body slams and a press and marched into the main bout ready for action.

OUT TO WIN

Patrick made it clear to Herrs Karl and Fritz that he was out to win the match in no uncertain manner from the minute the bell sounded. He charged across the ring and planted a drop kick on Schober before the latter's partner could turn around. The first fall was action all the way and the crowd loved it. Pat ducked blows, slipped out of the Germans' holds and in general had a field day.

At one point the four kingsize muscle boys charged about the ring in wild manner, that had reference here Bert Maxwell searching for a corner to hide his head. Pat finally bounced off the ropes and stood slugging it out toe to toe. Mr. Leitler had his foes here, dealing some powerful blows. Schober aimed a haymaker at Flanagan's head but Pat ducked and Maxwell caught the full force and went down like a brick bulldozer.

After fifteen minutes of this, Pat ended it all, catching Schober with several body slams off the ropes and finishing him off with a flying head lock that must have loosened the German bridge work. Yours truly did not attempt to get close enough to find out.

Erich and Schober went to work on Leitler to open the sandwich session. Erich strangled him until his lungs protested his shoelaces. We'll swear it on our press card. They ripped at his eyes, kicked his handsome face to a near-pulp and really worked him over while the spectators howled.

Flanagan finally tagged the German duo and worked over where he left off in the first fall. He fooled Karl and Fritzie for some time with his stalling manoeuvres and appeared to have the match in the bag when he handed out another series of drop kicks. Schober sidestepped one near the ropes however and Flanagan landed on his shoulder with the alert Schober applying a figure-4 knee drop to the neck and taking the fall in 13 minutes.

RETURNS TO FORM

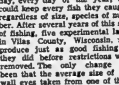
The third fall saw Flanagan again in fine form. He caught Erich in a beautiful flying leg-scissors in the early minutes. The two battled back and forth with Bob and Pat each taking an Erich flying head scissors and then Bert Maxwell informed them that only one was allowed in the ring at a time and since he was not the other team abided by this rule. He felt that it would be only fair if they did the same.

The referee raved about the ring waiting for a chance to strike. It came. They pulled Leitler into the Von Erich corner and resorted to their old habit of taking a man apart to see what makes him tick. And to when they're finished, he usually doesn't. That was the case again as Leitler fell on his face with Erich right on top for the fall and the match. It took nine minutes.

Needless to say the customers were not pleased with the outcome but certainly were treated to an action-packed match, all the way.

Sandy Scott and Firpo Zbyka were matched in a 30 minute draw in the first bout of the evening.

Rosewell Meets Seixas In Semi-Finals



TORREY HILLS, N.Y.-(AP)—Defending champion Vic Seixas meets his young nemesis, Ken Rosewall, in the top-seeded Tops Trabert goes against Lew Hoad today in the semi-finals of the U.S. tennis championship—the exact pairings of the Davis Cup challenge round two weeks ago.

In that one, the two 20-year-old Aussie stars as they pleased. They may win again this time. No one can deny that they've both played lights-out tennis in their march to the semis. But if they do, they certainly won't have it easy, for both the 32-year-old Seixas and power-hitting Trabert have been impressive.

Trabert has the kind of game that can blow over anyone in the world. Furthermore, Hoad, as was the case Friday when he gained his semi-final berth, has a tendency to forget the business at hand. He got past Dick Savitt, 6-4, 4-6, 7-5, 6-3 that way, but Trabert is a different matter.

Trabert never looked better in downing Herb Flam, an ex-guy from Beverly Hills, Calif., who was seeded eighth, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4.

SIZE INCREASED

Time went on and liberalized fishing was introduced. In certain water anglers could fish 24 hours a day, every day of the year, and could keep every fish they caught, regardless of size, species of number. After several years of this sort of fishing, the size restrictions were removed. The only change from then on was the size of the net and fishing as they did before restrictions were removed. The only change from then on was the size of the mesh in the wall eyes taken from one of these lakes is larger than it was in the days when fish laws were in vogue.

While the open-all-morning bass fishing in Pennsylvania still remain unchanged, liberalized fishing for eight or nine species now is in effect and it is quite likely that more seasons will be included. In other words, that young bait player was arrested for catching white perch may not be considered good conservation not so very many years hence.

In past years, arrests were made mainly for the breach of size regulations—fishing without a license, fishing during closed season, keeping undersized fish, exceeding creel limits, and using illegal gear.

Fishing licenses provide the money which pays for hatcheries, stocking, and fish management in general. The law should enforced. But the next three—closed season, small fish and creel limits—have been shown in a great many instances to be downright impractical.

REGULATE USE

In many waters of many states, the use of seines is illegal, yet in most of these same waters the control of rough fish is a major problem. Most fish laws are made with the idea of benefiting rod-and-line fishing. Seines are too efficient, but their use can be regulated not banned.

Consider the Pennsylvania law governing the gathering of bait. Seines not over four feet square can be used and bait must be taken any other way, save by seine and hook and line.

To gather helgramites, crayfish, and stone catfish, the easy and most economical way is to "finger" them. A man who knows his business can extract his legal quota of these baits from the riffles of a stream simply by lifting the large stones gently, picking up the bait from under the stones, and then replacing the stones in their original position. That is illegal.

Yet a man may take a screen or a net, wade in the same stream with a hoe or a rake, thus killing countless larvae, crustacean and small fish, and catch in his net what happens to drift away from the disturbance. By so doing he kills many times more small creatures than he catches. Yet that is legal. That law could stand some changing.

MEANT WELL

Actually, there are a great many laws on our books which were made by men who, acting in the best interests of the public, actually did not benefit it. Men were doing They meant well, but in the light of present-day developments in fish and game management, their laws not only are impractical but, in some cases, actually harmful.

The deer herds of certain of the states have been built unfortunate habit, now and again, of outgrowing the supply of available food and starving. It made up of doe deer, smaller than the bucks, and it is these that starve in winter. Yet it is illegal to shoot doe in the "buck states" unless a special season is declared.

Conversely, some states have the law on the books (New Hampshire etts) and the deer hunting stays closed year after year.

Other many years of rigid enforcement of the game laws having led to ill-will ruffed grouse, we now know that the gun is not a limiting factor with these birds. All restrictions could be removed without affecting the grouse populations, yet the laws governing their taking is still in force.

And so it goes, straight across the board. Loogfellow was right — the mills of the Gods grind slowly, but exceeding fine. So are the best interests of the hunters and fishermen of our nation.

Solmar Notes

Fish and Game Laws Reviewed

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT. (Noted Sportsman, Author, and Creator of Solmar Tables)

Longfellow once said that "the mills of the Gods grind slowly, but they grind exceeding fine." Of course, we can't say that the Gods would not surprise me if this quotation was coined in description of our fish and game laws.

A few years ago, two young men who then played on our local Junior League baseball team decided to go bass fishing. They knew little of fishing and less of the laws governing the sport, but they had the day off so fishing they went.

After many fruitless hours one of them actually did catch a bass. It wasn't much of a bass, as bass go, but it looked large enough to be legal, so he placed in in his creel. Within an hour's time, a fish warden had measured the bass, found it to be a fraction of an inch under the legal size, and placed him under arrest.

Both of these men are today leading citizens of their home town. And to when they're finished, he usually this day they have a keen dislike for doesn't. That was the case again as all the game laws and for all game wardens.

Needless to say the customers were not pleased with the outcome but certainly were treated to an action-packed match, all the way.

Sandy Scott and Firpo Zbyka were matched in a 30 minute draw in the first bout of the evening.

Two-Stroke Lead Enjoyed by Haas In Tourney

SCOTCH PLAINS, N.J. (AP)—Fred Haas, adding a sparkling 70 to his first round par 70 for a 137 total, took a two-stroke lead as the $50,000 Cavalcade of Golf tournament reached the halfway mark Friday.

Pressing the veteran Claremont, Calif., pro was diminutive Jerry Barber of Los Angeles, who had an excellent chance to tie Haas until he went over par on the 17th and 18th holes. He wound up with a 69 for a 139 total, good for sole possession of the temporary runner-up spot.

SURGOL TIES

Marty Furgol, one of the two pacesetters for the first round at 68, dropped to a deadlock with Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., at 140 as Walter Inman, Jr., of Augusta, Ga., tied with Furgol Thursday, blew himself to a 78 and a spot in the 1946 bracket.

Sam Snead, an early favorite, shot a 71 Friday to share the 143 bracket with several others. The disgruntled Saturday missed six putts of less than five feet, and took 35 putts for six rounds.

The 90 low scorers and ties will compete in the final 36 holes, including 18 Saturday and 18 Sunday. First prize is $10,000.

Vancouver Lions Will Pack Them in for Edmonton Game

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

They'll be cheering in the end zones in Vancouver tonight when the biggest crowd ever to attend a football game in Canada packs Empire Stadium in Vancouver for the game of the week in the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Vancouver Lions take on league-leading Edmonton Eskimos in a game that promises to produce a pile of thrills for the more than 30,000 fans expected. The record attendance mark of 28,103 was set in the stadium last month when Lions met Calgary Stampeders.

Stadium officials hung up the "sold out" sign for the 23,500 seats and have 5,000 standing room tickets for sale.

PASSING DUEL

In the East, it will be a passing duel between Sam (The Rifle) Etcheverry of Montreal Alouettes and Tom Dublinski of Toronto Argos in a Big Four contest in Montreal. In the second game this afternoon, Hamilton Tiger-Cats go against Ottawa Rough Riders in Hamilton.

Als manager, Vick Obeck, said back Cmck Hunsinger, who fell prey to Edmonton's Jackie Parker in last year's Grey Cup game, will sit it out on the injured list. Al also may fill the spot with halfback games to one Blackie Kincaid whom they bought from Tiger-Cats.

Ottawa may have two new men in the lineup for today's game in Hamilton. Bob Cunningham, hard running back of the 1953 season is back in the fold and may go. Ted Daffer, linebacker and guard from the Chicago Bears, will replace the injured Dick Barwegan, out with a bad leg.

Peterborough Trailermen Seeking Fifth Mann Cup

VICTORIA (CP) — Peterborough Trailermen, kingpins of Canadian lacrosse for the last four years, will be after their fifth straight Mann Cup here next week in a best-of-seven final series with Victoria Shamrocks.

Trailermen, who have won their third crack at upending the mighty Trailermen, who polled to the eastern championship this year with ridiculous ease.

"Rocks" were the victims last year when they won seven on six precedented fourth straight Canadian title in Peterborough, four years ago.

The series opens Monday night with the next three games scheduled for Wednesday, Friday and Saturday.

Both teams have essentially the same lineups as last fall and a tight battle is anticipated.

HEARST CHANGES

NEW YORK (AP)—William Randolph Hearst Jr. Friday announced his resignation as publisher of the New York Journal-American to devote all his time to his post as executive editor of all Hearst newspapers. He is being succeeded by Seymour Berkson, general manager of International News Service.

Argos, Ottawa Have Eight Imports Each

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Big Four Football Union hit the import deadline Friday with 24 new American players among a total of 40 permitted from south of the border.

Toronto Argonauts and Ottawa Rough Riders revealed the greatest number-eight newcomers each among the 10 allowed a club. Hamilton Tiger-Cats named five and the 1954 champion Montreal Alouettes only three.

In addition, Hamilton listed Nobby Wirkowski, who played with Argos last season, and Hamilton and Ottawa each put one newcomer and one holdover import on the disabled list.

ALS' NEWCOMERS

The Als strung along with quarterback Sam Etcheverry, ends Hal Patterson and Red O'Quinn, tackle Tex Coulter, guard Ray Ciarcia, centre Tom Hugo and halfback Chuck Hunsinger, out of whose hands the Grey Cup figurehead popped into the arms of the Edmonton Eskimos last fall.

The Als cut loose Jim Staton, tackle with the club since 1952. He was put on the waiver list.

Hamilton, runners-up to Alouettes last season, plumped for solid quarterbacking by anming both Wirkowski and Carl Garrigus of the University of Miami Fla.) Garrigus was a star in Hamilton's big victory over Argos following the Ti-Cats' shellacking in the previous game.

Yesterday's Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pitching—Joe Nuxhall, Redlegs, wrapped up his fifth shutout of the season in one hour, 44 minutes, driving just four hits, fanning five and walking only two for 16th victory in 30 decision over Giants.

Batting — Joe Collins, Yankees, belted two home runs good for four RBIs while getting three-for-four in 5-4 victory over White Sox.

Bobcats Score 11-8 Victory In Second Game of Series

PETERBOROUGH (Special) — Belleville Bobcats came through to victory: 11-8 over Stoney's of Peterborough Friday night in the second game of a best-of-three intermediate "A" O.B.A.A. playdown series. The victory gave Jim Ehlers's boys the set in straight games as Bobcats defeated Stoney's 5-0 in Belleville Monday.

Al Adams started on the mound for Bobcats opposing Lefty Paul Maloney but neither finished in the free-hitting contest, and Vic Allen took over for the Quinte nine, when Adams was knocked-out by a hard-hitting Stoney's crew in the sixth, while Terry Shaughnessy gave Maloney relief in the third as powder powered and one holdover import on the disabled list.

Belleville took a 3-1 edge in the first and held a 6-3 bulge to the sixth, but Bob Welsh's Stoney squad roared back to tie the score 8-8 on Paul Evans and Gerry Padgett. The Elmer men came strong for a four-run rally in the seventh, however, as, led by Stan Creegan, who had four hits in the game, including two triples, a homer and double and batted in four runs, Quinte lads took a lead they never relinquished.

Stoneys fought back strongly but were unable to quite make it in a close duel. Bobcats now meet a Toronto team in the finals.

Umpires — L. Carson (Belleville), E. Donoghue (Peterborough).

First Catch Gives States Tuna Title

WEDGEPORT, N.S (CP)—Little did Al Whitenart, 17, realize Wednesday that his first tuna caught in international competition would give the United States the title.

In the first hours of the 12th international match Wednesday, Whitenart hauled aboard a 585-pound tuna. His catch outweighed one landed by Venezuela the second day.

When Friday and Thursday went fishless, Whitenart found his fish was worth 1,185 points, more than enough to take the win for the United States.

Only two fish were caught in the three days. Carolos Behrens of Caracus, Venezuela, landed a 277-pounder which gave his country 477 points and the runner-up spot.

CATCH PROWLER

MONTREAL (CP)—A 24-year-old alleged night prowler who police said terrorized women in the city's west end for almost six weeks by invading their bedrooms has been arrested. Police said Thomas Cunningham, whose name was not disclosed, was grabbed in a lane at 4 the rear of a house.

Sam Snead's Golf School

In this front profile view of the address position, which you don't often see, note another thing.

First of all the arms comfortably hang almost straight down from the shoulders. Hands therefore are low and in close to the body.

Note also the slight dog-leg angle which the club-shaft and the arms. This is correct. Club and arms shouldn't form a straight line. Many people do so many players, particularly women, try to achieve.

Secondly, the clubhead is soled flat on the ground behind the ball with the club face squarely across the intended line of flight. The clubhead is neither drawn on the heel nor up on its toe. And it's not turned inwards or outwards either.

Another important thing to note is the fact that the weight is comfortably back on the player's heels while his body bends forward slightly at the waist. There is an appearance of good balance here with no sign of stiffness or tenseness.

Sport in Brief

THE BABE IMPROVES

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Doctors at John Sealy Hospital here said Friday that golfer Babe Didrickson Zaharias was "greatly improved" after she was released from the hospital early next week. The woman golfer has been undergoing treatment at the cancer research hospital since Aug. 4 when doctors told her a "small cancer lesion" had been found in the pelvic area.

Mustang Squad Will Have Strong, Adequate Line

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The University of Western Ontario football squad will have a strong and adequate line in 1955.

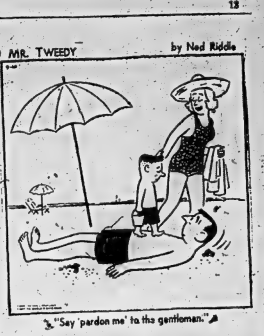
Despite the fact it is unlikely that any first-string linemen will make the Mustang squad this fall.

"This is the first year in a long time that we have come up with several good prospects among the freshmen," he said.

Among the last-year linemen he singled out for their showing to date were four graduates of London and district conference schools, Pete Maurice, an end from Beckwith Centennials of Perth; Ron Irwin from Sault Ste. Marie as future stars.

K-W Dutchmen In Tie for First Place in ORFU



KITCHENER (CP) — Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen moved into a tie for first place in the senior Ontario Rugby Football Union series by defeating Toronto Balmy Beach 23-11 here Friday night.

The Dutchmen scored a total of nine takes and fumbled frequently but managed to come through with a pair of converted touchdowns in the last 20 minutes after Toronto had tied the score early in the third quarter.

Lily Curtis scored two majors for the Beaches in the first and second quarter on a wide, flat pass from the Dutchmen five after Bill Ward tossing. He got his second from the Dutchmen one after a running of 25 yards with a screen pass in the third.

Billy Tonegusso scored two Dutchmen majors on wide sweeps from 6 and 12 yards out. Carl Totzke took a 15-yard Bob Celeri pass for a third and Cookie Gilchrist barged over from the Beach one for the final score. Billy Graham converted three of the four.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Monday, September 12, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Disregard of others' rights and hasty words are today's likeliest temptations, and could cause much havoc. Start with the will to be your best self, you will attain a great deal.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Be as thoughtful to those at home as to friends and acquaintances. This is no time to go to extremes or be self-willed. Be your practical, but also courteous self.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Look for the better things. Don't expect more than your share and you will be agreeably surprised at additional favors, assets. Don't let wrong influences mislead you.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — You may meet up with some annoying situations, some people who seem to aggravate more than usual. You be the one to hold that sharp retort or untoward act. Tact!

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Speaking in a careful manner to all will prevent many annoying situations. Today has especially helpful aspects for the willing, cheerful individual. Don't be fooled by pomp.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo) — Mind what effect you have upon others as you go along your own self-sufficient way. Expecting too much from some while catering to others is an old human fault; don't be guilty.

September 23 to October 22 (Libra) — Give more time to those matters that rightly demand more time. Don't waste any time on non-essentials or questionable people. Your talents are meant for the best use.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Examine your way and habits. Are you in any sort of rut? If so, step out of it with no misgivings. And deal with people who respect you as an individual; be careful of trouble-makers.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Avoid bickering, selfish motives and unhealthy associations. Be business-like but not sharp.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — If you work with anyone who is out of sorts, don't become irritated; rather, be more tolerant. Stay happy.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — Note others' dispositions and don't get caught in any trap. Keep in tune with wholesome ideas.

February 21 March 20 (Pisces) — Some tricky spots to watch out for, and some unscrupulous people. Make comparisons carefully. Enjoy the company of children.

YOU BORN TODAY have many assets. And a few faults! You have practicality, the ability to converse interestingly, can make friends easily, and you like to have attention. You could do well in the building or construction lines. As you grow older don't dwell upon dislikes too often or they will mar your happiness. You can work well in artistic matters, too, rebel at anything you do not like. Do not be one-sided in maintaining your way of procedure, and keep good humor on top-it averts many an unpleasant situation. Birthdate of Richard Gatling, inventor of machine gun.

19 Are Killed As Cairo Rocked By Earthquake

Most of Victims Children As 12 Schools Are Wrecked

CAIRO (Reuters) — A violent earthquake shook Cairo today killing at least 19 persons—most of them school children—and injuring scores of others.

More than 40 houses were demolished and skyscrapers trembled when the tremor hit the city at 8:15 a.m. local time (1:15 a.m. EDT).

Twelve schools in various districts of the city were wrecked and 63 children were injured, said a spokesman at the Egyptian Red Crescent (Red Cross) Society.

Eight children died when one school at Bab el Shaariya collapsed and three other children died later in hospital.

A police spokesman reported another eight persons were killed, bringing the death toll to 19.

CROWDS PANIC

The quake was rumbled through Alexandria and the Nile delta, causing a state of near panic in Alexandria's crowded residential districts as residents rushed from their houses carrying terrified children into the streets.

Hospital reports indicated the number of injured reached at least 120. Many of the victims were hurt in the rush to get out of the city as a result of the panic that followed it.

The quake struck as the country had returned to school from their summer vacation only Saturday.

Townsend Evades Question About His Romance

LONDON (AP) — Group Capt. Peter Townsend, whose name has been linked romantically with Princess Margaret, arrived from Brussels today to attend the annual conference of British air attaches.

He holds the post in the Belgian capital.

Asked to comment on a story in a mass-circulation Sunday newspaper that his reported romance with the princess has ended, the divorced father of two children said:

"I haven't read it. I never do."

He smilingly sidestepped all other questions.

Sunday the newspaper The People said it had received reports from circles close to the royal household that the romance was off.

"Townsend was told some weeks ago," the paper said in a front-page story today, "that in this authoritative report, that any expectations he may have entertained about marrying the princess cannot be fulfilled."

NO AGREEMENT REACHED ON MAIN SUBJECTS

Foreign Ministers To Report to Chiefs

MOSCOW (AP) — The foreign ministers of the Soviet Union and West Germany met for an hour and a half today, but a German spokesman afterward said no agreement had been reached on subjects dividing the two countries.

Felix von Eckardt, the West German spokesman, said the foreign ministers would make separate reports on today afternoon's meeting of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and Premier Nikolai Bulganin.

Foreign ministers Heinrich von Brentano and Vyacheslav Molotov met this morning to discuss "concrete proposals" to be presented later to Adenauer and Bulganin.

MORE OPTIMISTIC

While von Eckardt declared no progress had been made and that basically the talks were at the same place as when they opened last Friday, a somewhat more optimistic view was advanced by Alexandrov, a crowded residential Ilychev told reporters the foreign ministers had a sincere exchange of opinions and "judging from the fact they decided to report to their governments, in this case can judge that there were some results."

Von Eckardt said the two countries were still just as far apart on the question as the German war prisoners, reunification and peace treaty issues—normal relations.

The German delegation has tentatively scheduled its departure for Wednesday. A spokesman told reporters the next talks probably will show whether the talks are dead or not.

The outlook appears gloomy, with the positions of the two governments on the two main questions Chancellor Adenauer had posed—the prisoners and reunification—just as far apart as at the outset of the conference.

TRAVEL EASY IN

Premier Bulganin declared at the Saturday session that he considers the time is ripe to discuss the prisoner question, and that he wanted the East German regime to take part in any such talks. Adenauer reiterated that he regarded the prisoner problem a a stumbling block in the road to normal relations.

On reunification, the Russians also said that Adenauer must take over the East German regime. Adenauer has said bluntly that he does not regard the East German regime as representative of the people.

Coincident with the start of Adenauer's talks with the Russians, the Soviet Union announced that they and the Soviet Union had agreed on the "speedy release of most" of the captive Germans.

West German sources in Moscow said the Bonn government probably will hold talks about the prisoners with the East German regime, but that only low-level representatives will participate as no one will negotiate with the Red government.

TOASTED ADENAUER

Adenauer entertained Bulganin and other Russian guests Sunday with German food and wines at a luncheon in the luxurious ecclesiastical palace of Archbishop Doring the fete Bolganin proposed a toast to Russia could assist them to his host.

The luncheon apparently was designed to improve the atmosphere created by the heated exchanges during the previous session. Adenauer had said that after the German invasion of Russia "many evil things happened," but that after Russia's advance into Germany "many terrible things occurred too."

75,000 Commuters Delayed While Workers Paste Up Timetables

NEW YORK (AP)—Up to 75,000 Long Island Railroad commuters were late for work or departing because of 25 pieces of paper dealing with a one-car train on a branch line.

When the rush hour ended, 190 trains up and down the country's busiest commuter line were delayed an hour or more delivering their passengers to New York.

The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen said strict adherence to the Long Island's own book of rules was responsible. The railroad said it is slowdown and a "war of nerves."

There has been a long-standing dispute between the workers' conditions and various other union grievances.

What happened today was that the Long Island issued schedule changes dealing with a new one-car train between Riverhead and Montauk. The new train's five daily round trips require changes in parts of the railroad's master operations schedule.

Trainmen are required to paste the changes into their timetable and may do so on company time. The union official said the men were taking up to 40 minutes to read the new orders and insert them.

Polio Breaks Out Among Canadians at French Air Base

OTTAWA (CP) — Polio has broken out among Canadian air force personnel at Marville, France, the RCAF reported today.

Marville is the location of Canada's No. 1 fighter wing. It contains about 1,000 RCAF personnel and 1,100 of their dependents.

The air force said the outbreak was first detected three weeks ago. Since then 11 cases of polio have been reported. Six of the persons affected have recovered and have been discharged from hospital. A number of other persons are under observation.

Headquarters said it has no information as to whether the victims were men, women or children. The children were inoculated with two doses of Salk polio vaccine last June.

A health department official said 14 cases of polio out of a total of 2,100 persons in the area was "quite a high number."

All next-of-kin of those hit by polio have been notified, the RCAF said. No deaths have been reported, but headquarters had no information as to whether the outbreak has caused any actual paralysis.

MARVILLE, France (CP)—RCAF authorities today began a mass inoculation program at this Canadian jet fighter station to combat an outbreak of poliomyelitis.

Twenty-four cases of polio have been attributed to the station hospital in the last month. Seven cases proved to be paralytic and two of these have since been released from hospital. Seven non-paralytic patients also have been released. No new cases have been reported since Saturday.

Three children were among those affected. Other victims were male and female adults up to age of 27.

It is planned to inoculate all service personnel and their dependents at the station, 220 miles east of Paris, with gamma globulin, a blood-derivative serum which affords passive protection against polio for five to six weeks. The gamma globulin has been flown from Canada in civil and service aircraft.

In charge of the disease control program is Sqdn. Ldr. David Stewart of Scotland, staff officer, medical services at headquarters of the 1st Canadian air division, Metz, France. He is working with the senior medical officer at No. 1 fighter wing, Sqdn. Ldr. Peter Blakeknox of Ireland. Doctors and nurses have been brought to the station from other Canadian bases and the United States Air Force hospital at Weisloden, Germany, has offered full use of its facilities.

Part of the program to prevent the spread of the outbreak, both to other Canadian stations and to civilian communities, restrictions have been placed on all personnel entering or leaving the area. The station swimming pool has been closed and the opening of the station school for the fall term at Marville postponed.

More than 1,000 airmen and their families live on or near this fighter station, close to the French-Belgian frontier.

Earlier this year, the RCAF carried out a program of Salk vaccine inoculations for children of servicemen.

Brenda Fisher Ready to Start 32-Mile Swim Across Lake

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE (CP)—Brenda Fisher, 16-year-old British swimmer, says she will set out on her across-Lake-Ontario swim at 8 p.m. tonight.

The weatherman predicted clear skies and calm waters for at least another 20 hours after Brenda's plunge. A 25-mile northwesterly wind also is predicted.

The conditions are said similar to those Marilyn Bell had when she swam the lake last September.

Brenda, who has set seven British marks in distance swims in England, all in salt water, hopes to better Miss Bell's time of 20 hours, 56 minutes. Marilyn's route over the 32-mile distance took her almost 40 miles.

Meanwhile in Toronto Doreen George, 15, said she may attempt to swim Lake Ontario this year. She said on date, from there five miles in the lake near Port Credit today with the water a cool 66 degrees.

TWO SUFFER

Cliff Lumsden, who last Friday won the Canadian National Exhibition's 32-mile marathon, and his coach, Gus Ryder, today are both suffering from after effects of the swim. Cliff has a painful inflammation of the wrist. He has been ordered to keep his arms immobile for 10 days.

Coach Ryder woke this morning with severe back pains caused by strain and cold. Rest and heat were prescribed.

In Simcoe Dr. Bruce Rigg said Lumsden's wrist injury will not be able to swim again this year. He said Ryder's right arm were damaged by her 19-mile swim in Lake Ontario last week. He has ordered her to keep her arm immobile for six weeks.

Longshoremen In All Ports Are Called Out

Following a meeting with union leaders, ILA president William Bradley sent the following telegram to 400 locals along the coast from Canada to Puerto Rico:

"It has become necessary to call a general strike of our organization in order to preserve the ILA. You are hereby ordered and directed to stop work immediately and to call on our objectives. To be specific, this is a general strike."

Efforts of Govt. Praised By Publisher

TIMAGAMI (CP) — An Ontario newspaper publisher said Sunday governments may plan on matters of policy but intimate knowledge of local affairs and problems is needed to make possible an overall practical plan of regional development.

Robert D. Curran, general manager and publisher of The Sault Ste. Marie Star, said the Ontario government is encouraging regional organizations to help supply that intimate information. He was speaking at the Northern Ontario Associated Chambers of Commerce conference here.

"The Ontario government has been very wise in insisting upon active co-operation of boards of trade, chambers of commerce, municipal councils and town planning boards," Mr. Curran said.

"In fact, unless these groups are prepared to assist in every region, regional development cannot be formed. The government needs people situated in each region and familiar with the problems of their regions."

Trying to Settle Big U.S. Strike

CHICAGO (AP)—A special mediator today met individually with each side to discuss issues in the strike by 40,000 employees of the International Harvester Company in seven states.

However, there appeared to be no immediate prospect of settlement of the walkout which began 21 days ago.

Negotiations between the United Auto Workers (CIO) and company were broken off last Thursday. The union has rejected an offer of a layoff pay plan and 19-cent hourly wage increase. International Harvester estimates the average pay is $2.07½ an hour.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO. (CP) — Synopsis: Under the influence of a large high pressure area, which is moving eastward across the Great Lakes, skies will be sunny over southern Ontario today and Tuesday. Cloud is persisting over northern Ontario, and a few showers are expected today. Clearing is forecast this evening. Frost is expected over extensive areas of the province tonight. A warming trend will set in Tuesday with a return to southerly winds.

See Increased Pressure to Give China UN Seat

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON. (AP) — Signs of newly friendly behavior on the part of the Chinese Communists will increase pressure in the United Nations to give Red China a seat, diplomatic experts predict.

But American and British officials are expected to stand firm down on the issue, on which Washington and London are believed divided. It will be avoided again this year in the U.N. General Assembly meeting which opens next week.

However, even the most optimistic do not have doubts that the problem can be put off again next year if the Chinese continue to improve their relations with other countries.

LATEST STEP

The latest step was their agreement announced at Geneva Saturday that 11 American civilians still held in Red China, including those in prison, could leave. Assurance that Chinese in the United was a parallel, face-saving assurance that from what to do so may go to Red China. They have actually been free to return to do so, and many have.

Also, it has agreed that the Indian Embassy here may give assistance to any Chinese who does not wish to return. It could a fair deal from U. S. government authorities Similarly, Red China agreed that the British Embassy in Red China could assist Britons there.

The U. S. State Department said there are "no hidden meanings . . . no side understandings" in the agreement.

OTTAWA IN DARK ON REPORT RAF SEEKING CF-100's

May Have Negotiated Directly With A.V. Roe

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal officials said today they have no knowledge of any negotiations by the Royal Air Force to purchase Canadian CF-100 jet fighters.

The Toronto Globe and Mail says it has learned there are indications the RAF will place an order for "a modest number" of the planes because of a lack of all-weather aircraft overseas. Britain's own all-weather fighter, the Gloster Javelin, will not be ready for production for another year.

Officials said there have been no negotiations for Britain to purchase CF-100s through the Canadian government. However it was possible, they said, the RAF may have negotiated directly with the manufacturers, A. V. Roe (Canada) Ltd., at Malton.

D. C. MacDonald Hits Acquittal In Dresden Case

TORONTO (CP) — Donald C. MacDonald, Ontario CCF leader, said today last week's quashing of the conviction of two Dresden restaurant keepers accused of discrimination against Negroes by refusing to serve them "makes nonsense of the [Ontario] Fair Accommodation Practices Act."

In a statement commenting on the decision last Friday of the appeals by Mockey McKay and Mrs. Anne Evercrew, Mr. MacDonald said a Kent county judge's interpretation "not only violates the spirit of the act as spelled out by the government and all parties in the legislature but it also renders the legislation totally ineffective."

Judge Leverett Spence of Chatham ruled that the crown had not proved beyond reasonable doubt that service was denied because of color.

Mr. MacDonald said:

"Thus interpreted, conviction under the act becomes possible only if the proprietor uses out and bluntly refuses service personally. Otherwise, the proprietor can 'look, you black nigger, you're getting nothing here.'"

Series of Atomic Weapons Tests Being Prepared

LONDON (Reuters)—The third in Britain's series of atomic weapon tests will take place at the Monte Bello islands off Australia in April next year, the ministry of supply announced today.

The fourth test in the series will take place later in 1956 at an atomic weapons proving ground now being established by Australia in the central Australian desert, the ministry said.

The ministry spokesman declined to comment on the size of the next atomic weapon to be exploded. He also would not say if the bomb would be dropped and detonated on the ground, under water or from a tower.

Britain's first atomic weapon Oct. 3, 1952. The second exploded was conducted during 1953. Both tests were held in the Monte Bello islands.

Gas Price Raised

TORONTO (CP) — Imperial Oil today increased the wholesale price of gasoline generally by 1½ cents per U.S. gallon, effective tomorrow.

The increase was made necessary by higher operating costs.

"Large investments in equipment are necessary for improvement and are a major factor in the gasoline price change," said a company spokesman.

Wholesale prices vary in different districts according to grades of gasoline and other factors.

If You Think Success It Will Come Says Newly-Crowned Miss America

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—A teen-ager from Colorado who refuses to get flustered and yearns to be an actress donned her Miss America title from the hands of Miss Canada and Hawaii, declared that the crown goes to the girl who keeps cool, calm and collected.

Sharon said she had her eye on the Miss America title since she was eight years old. Now she plans to study at the Pasadena, Calif., Playhouse in an effort to make her dream of being an actress a reality.

Miss Canada—Dalyce Gail Smith from the Yukon—didn't make the finals. She won the Canadian beauty title at London, Ont., in July.

Eastern Canada Had 24 Violent Deaths in Weekend

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Twenty-four persons died accidentally in eastern Canada during the weekend, 16 of them in Ontario.

The death count in Ontario was headed by nine traffic fatalities. There were four drownings and three deaths from other causes.

A Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. EDT Friday to midnight Sunday shows that 12 persons lost their lives in violence in the eastern provinces. Five others were drowned and seven died from miscellaneous causes.

Besides the traffic fatalities and drownings, Ontario listed the death of a construction worker killed in Timmins when a loader he was operating flipped over, a man who died when he was hit by a falling tree and a 3-year-old boy who was strangled on a dog leash.

OTHER PROVINCES

Quebec had four fatalities—two in traffic and two gassings. Two children were burned to death in Nova Scotia. There was one traffic death and one drowning in New Brunswick. No fatalities were reported in Prince Edward Island or New Brunswick.

Ontario deaths:

Walter Frost, 33, St. Marys, when he hit his head on the scoop of a front-end loader at Toronto Gas Metallic Arc Ltd., where he was struck by a car at Winona.

Mrs. Dorothy Ann Lewis, 24, of Toronto, in a collision in Toronto.

John Henry Hammell, 30, St. Catharines, when his car hit a hydro pole near St. Catharines.

DROWNED

$575,000 Damage In Three Fires, 125 Jobless

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Fire caused an estimated $575,000 damage in three Ontario communities during the weekend and left more than 125 people jobless at one home.

A Sunday fire in Hawkesbury, 50 miles east of Ottawa, left more than 125 persons without jobs as it blazed for 6½ hours in a two-storey brick building occupied by two manufacturing firms.

The fire was believed caused by lightning.

In Vineland, near St. Catharines, a fire burned for more than three hours in a cannery and warehouse Saturday. Estimated damage was $250,000.

FRUIT DESTROYED

More than 2,000 cases of canned peaches and pears were destroyed in the blaze, owned by packers of Canadian Canners Ltd.

Firemen were called from Windsor to battle a $175,000 fire in a tire-storey warehouse in which for a time threatened the downtown area of Windsor Saturday night.

The fire swept quickly through the three-storey store, and when it appeared the flames might spread to other nearby buildings a call for more help went to Windsor, 20 miles northwest.

Lord Tweedsmuir Will Receive Queen's Degree

KINGSTON (CP)—Honorary doctorates of laws will be conferred on the Queen during her next month upon Lord Tweedsmuir, British parliamentarian, Adlai Stevenson, defeated United States presidential candidate in the 1953 U. S. elections, and Dr. W. F. Thompson, president of the University of Saskatchewan, it was announced today.

The degrees will be conferred at fall convocation, Oct. 15.

Lord Tweedsmuir, son of a former governor-general better known as John Buchan, was served with Canadian forces in Italy and northwest Europe during the Second World War. He rose to command the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment later becoming one of Field Marshal Lord Montgomery's personal liaison officers.

He was the Alma Mater Society lecture Friday, Oct. 14. That afternoon Dr. Douglas Library's John Buchan collection, presented by Col. and Mrs. John Buchan Laughlin Oshawa, will be opened.

THROWN FROM BOAT

SIMCOE (CP)—James Cahill, 31, of Brantford, was drowned Sunday when he was thrown from a motor boat making a sharp turn at nearby Inner bay.

The County of Toronto, a friend of Cahill, said the victim was sitting midships when he was pitched out.

CITY & DISTRICT NEWS

SWIM CLASSES START AT "Y"

About 60 boys reported for the junior boys' classes at the YMCA that got under way Saturday morning.

Jim Heffernan, the new physical director, had the boys go through a series of gym and track relay games and some aquarious work at the Y-built indoor pool. The practice-swim was then followed by each class.

Registration and continuing Swimming Instruction for boys will be on Tuesday, Wednesdays and Friday after school.

Girls' classes start this Monday.

CIGARET SETS FIRE TO CAR UPHOLSTERY

A cigaret which set fire to the upholstery of a car and smouldered all night was responsible for a run by the city fire department early Sunday morning to the corner of Sidney and Lewis streets. The fire in the car was noticed shortly before seven o'clock. Firemen used a booster tank to extinguish the flames.

Also on Sunday firemen were called to Herchimer Ave. for an over-heated stove.

TWO ARE CHARGED WITH ENTERING

James Acera, 30, of R.R. 2, Belleville, and Edward Lewis, 19, of Donald Street, Belleville, have been arrested by provincial police charged with breaking and entering two places of business on the Trent Road.

Police said an electric razor, small quantity of cash and cigarettes were taken.

Provincial Constable Doug Sears investigated.

Canadian Legion To Commemorate Battle of Britain

The Canadian Legion has planned a banquet and special program in commemoration of the Battle of Britain. This program, to be held in the Legion clubrooms on Coleman Street, Friday, September 16, is another in the series of special events held during recent years to commemorate particular battles or campaigns in which Canadians played a major role. Among previous programs have been those in memory of comrades who served at Vimy Ridge or in the drive through France and Holland in World War II.

The program will have a definite Air Force flavor but will be of considerable interest to all veterans. The speaker for the evening will be S/L J. G. Swerdfager, of the Trenton Air Station, who will use the title "The Battle of Britain" and relate his remarks to a film of the same name to be shown later in the evening. A second film "Wasp Wings" will also be shown.

Two City Men Named to OYLA Executive Posts

KINGSTON. (Special.) — Two Belleville men Saturday were named to the provincial executive of the Ontario Youth Liberals Association at that organization's annual convention at Sandy Beach resort, east of here.

Boyd Upper was elected vice president of the association, while John O'Flynn, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. O'Flynn, was elected treasurer. Mr. O'Flynn also was convention chairman.

Speakers at the convention were headed up by Hon. Lester B. Pearson, leader of the National Affairs, who Saturday evening address the Liberals from across the province at the convention's closing conference.

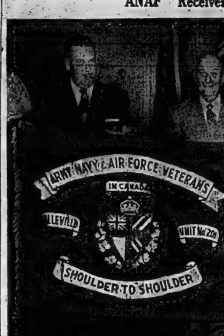
Earlier, Saturday, was heard Professor Arthur R. M. Lower of Queen's University, discuss Canada's foreign policy.

Roy Messervey New President Of Poultry Assoc.

Roy J. Messervey, poultry breeder of Quinte, has had a place at the biggest shows in Canada and the United States has been honored by the Ontario Poultry Association of which he has been a valued member for many years.

He was the unanimous choice of the Association for the presidency in the coming year. He succeeds C. P. Johnson of Toronto, who has held the position for the past year. The Association is the oldest and the largest of its kind in Canada and is most active and encourages better breeding in poultry, turkeys, rabbits and pigeons.

Mr. Messervey as usual was judge at the CNE this year and had charge of forty breeds. He recommended a cock bird, black Langshan for champion bird and the bird did win the champion of the show. This bird was judged by an independent judge after the judges at the show had made their recommendations.



In the Orpington class, Mr. Messervey, who is one of the noted breeders of this class on the continent, won the first prize for hen, second prize for cock, second prize for pullet and second prize for trio. This last class included two pullets and a cockerel or cock. The Orpington class was the biggest that has been shown at the CNE in some years. Mr. J. S. Walker judged this class.

ANAF Receives Banner

Bloat Conditions Affect Some Milking Cows

Recent rains have greatly improved pasture conditions in the Bay of Quinte area with a corresponding increase in milk production, but in some pastures are found having an adverse effect on many dairy herds.

Milking cows are gorging themselves on the fresh green pasture with result that many are being affected by bloat and a number of losses have been reported.

Belleville veterinarians today confirmed this report stating that cattle apparently were over-feeding on the lush alfalfa after pastures being very dry during the summer. Milking cows were said to be most affected by bloating conditions.

Boy Is Killed, Truck Turns Over Near Bancroft

A seven-year-old boy riding with his father in the cab of a pick-up truck was instantly killed early Sunday when the vehicle turned over in the ditch on Highway 28, west of Bancroft.

Killed in the truck was Terrance E. Twomey, of Ormsby. His father, Ervine Twomey, 32, was injured and was taken to Bancroft Red Cross Hospital.

Provincial Constable John Hawkins, of Bancroft, investigated, said the truck was eastbound when it struck the soft shoulder of the pavement and turned on its side in the ditch. The accident occurred on a dry, straight stretch of road.

Police Blotter

Two early Sunday morning accidents resulted in heavy property damage to the four vehicles involved.

On Bleecker Avenue a northbound car driven by Jerome H. Sheridan swerved to the left side of the road and crashed into a parked auto. The Sheridan auto had about $200 damage, while the parked auto owned by Wm. J. Atkins, Toronto, was damaged to the extent of about $250.

A break-in was reported at Ted Mowers' snack-bar on North Front Street. The amount of loss if any, was not learned.

Friends Present Farewell Gift

CAMPBELLFORD — Mr. and Mrs. Russ Emby were pleasantly surprised on Saturday evening when a group of their friends gathered at their cottage to bid them good-bye before they leave for Soest in Germany. The group presented them with a two-piece matching luggage set.

Pte. R. C. Emby of the Canadian Medical Corps has since returned to his base at Valcartier, Quebec, and will proceed later this month for Germany. Mrs. Emby and their three children, Ken, Carl and Sharon will sail in October to join him.

'World's Fair' Officials Call Off Their 'Big Swim'

With everybody getting into the swim these days officials of the Shannonville "World's Fair" were not to be found napping and as a special fair attraction had a swim all of their own scheduled.

The only trouble was that the big swim across the Salmon River failed to materialize, it being cancelled owing to unstated conditions.

Said listed among the would-be starters of the mythical swim were such stalwarts as Lee Grills, Kenneth Vivian, Lorne Lasier, Fred "Musty" Reid and Lionel Crawford, with late entries being Sid Fitzgerald and fair president Percy Moore. Quint "Bailey" Lloyd and Cec Holway were listed as swim officials with W. Harry Rollins as official starter.

The swim across the ankle deep Salmon River was scheduled for early afternoon but an "inspection" by officials proved conditions unfavorable and the event was postponed until seven o'clock. At seven time it seemed that all the entrants had withdrawn.

Former Hospital Administrator Held

RENFREW (CP)—A. Quinn, former administrator of Victoria Hospital in this town 80 miles northwest of Ottawa, has been arrested on a charge of theft arising out of the loss of $13,982 from hospital funds.

Quinn was taken into custody Saturday by Ontario Provincial Police and was released on $2,500 bail. He is expected to appear in court Tuesday.

FEAR "RED TIDE"

PORT ISABEL, Tex. (AP)—The mysterious death of many fish led to fear today that the "red tide" is in the gulf again. Workmen on the extreme southern tip of Padre Island reported seeing large numbers of dead fish there. They also reported smelling the acrid gas which is said to accompany the red tide—a mass of micro-organisms washed into the gulf from fresh-water streams.

U.C. Reports Big Increase In Membership

TORONTO — Membership in The United Church of Canada has increased from 1,029,729 in 1928 to 894,556 in 1954, a jump of 284,827, according to The United Church Year Book, released today by Rev. E. E. Long, D.D., Secretary of General Council.

During 1954, persons received into the church on profession of faith totalled 36,186, compared with 35,012 the previous year, and compared with 28,432 in the year following the 1925 union of the three communions which now form The United Church of Canada.

The United Church of Canada claims a membership of 649,953 families, while the total number of persons described as being "under pastoral care" is 2,200,543.

Growth in Sunday School membership from 605,573 in 1953 to 616,664 in 1954 is also reported in the statistics.

M. AND M. FUND UP

Givings to the Maintenance and Maintenance fund of the Church have increased from $2,315,855 in 1927 to $4,309,844 in 1954. The 1955 budget is $5,000,000.

Salaries paid to United Church ministers totalled $7,354,131 in 1954. In 1926 they received only $4,725,466.

The total value of church property is estimated at $237,193,352. In 1926 it was valued at $176,736,136.

Last year the Woman's Missionary Society raised $1,214,055. Sunday Schools raised $1,544,685. Woman's Associations raised $4,-568,494. Raised for all purposes last year was $38,735,641.

The United Church of Canada has 2,091 pastoral charges, 5,222 preaching places, 3,178 ministers, and 5,257 Sunday Schools.

Last year in the United Church 28,216 funerals took place, 19,506 marriages and 82,197 baptisms.

Safecrackers Get Considerable Sum Of Cash, Cheques

BANCROFT (Special) — An undisclosed amount of cash and cheques, said to be considerable, was taken from the safe at Hawley's garage in the village some time after two o'clock this Monday morning. The safe-crackers entered the building by breaking a rear window in the garage and proceeding to the front of the office, where the safe was situated.

The safe was sitting in full view of the front street behind a large plate glass window and it is remarkable that no one passed on the street while the thieves were working.

The burglars chiselled the rivets off the front plate of the safe and bending the plate back exposed the lock. A couple of turns of the combination tipped the tumblers and the safe was easily opened.

Provincial Constable Hawkins investigated and after sealing off the garage, searched for fingerprints or other telltale evidence, but no clues were discovered nor have the thieves been apprehended.

Frost May Hit Low-Lying Areas

Oh! But there's sad 'news tonight!

After the temperature took a low dip last night, the weather-man comes out with this one, which should start people digging into the cupboards for heavier clothing.

"Frost", is what he says.

His forecast for today and tonight promises that the weather bright with a few cloudy intervals. However, it will be cool.

Also, he goes on to say, there will be extensive areas of frost tonight in low-lying areas, the first widespread hint of Autumn that has hit southern Ontario as yet.

Low tonight in this area will be 35 degrees.

What diplomats privately emphasize now is that the more Red China co-operates "in lessening tensions" — for example, by failing to launch the feared attack on Quemoy and Matsu islands — the more she puts on the mantle of international respectability and acceptability.

The Chinese - American Geneva talks are due to enter their second phase this week. The U.S. is expected to press for information on almost 500 American soldiers who disappeared during the Korean war, some of whom Washington believes may still be alive in Chinese prisons.

But Peiping Radio said only Sunday that this idea "has been proved by facts to be pure fabrication."

Hail Damages Apple Crop

CALEDON (CP)—About 75 per cent of the apple crop in this district, 40 miles northwest of Toronto, was damaged Saturday when a "twister" accompanied by hail swept across farmlands.

Hail stones more than an inch thick were reported at nearby Erin. The wind tore the roof off a barn and whirled metal roofing 500 yards.

Tenders Called

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Hydro Commission today called tenders for construction of the Cornwall dyke closure and diversion of the Cornwall canal in connection with the St. Lawrence power project.

The work, in an area about two miles west of Cornwall, is to be completed by Nov. 1, 1957.

Weekly Paper Awards Made

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Barrie Examiner and the Grenfell (Sask.) Sun shared in top honors awarded here today on the opening of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association's annual convention.

The Sun was named Canada's best weekly newspaper with a circulation under 1,000 and won the Hugh Savage shield.

Runners-up in the picture award were the Pembroke Observer and the Courtenay (B.C.) Comox District Free Press.

BEST IN SPORTS

A special award for the best Christmas edition was won by the Virden (Man.) Empire Advance. Runners-up were the Oakville Trafalgar Journal and the Barrie Examiner.

Winners of the competition for the best editorial page in the 1,000-circulation class were: first, the Agassiz-Harrison (B.C.) Advance; second, the Elora Express.

Agile Hogs Escape Flames

MARKHAM (CP)—The agility of two hogs kept the bacon out of the fire here Saturday night.

They leaped three feet through a window into an enclosed pen in the yard. When the straw stack in the yard caught fire they scrambled over a three-foot fence and escaped uninjured into a field.

Mr. Frisby's barn was destroyed.

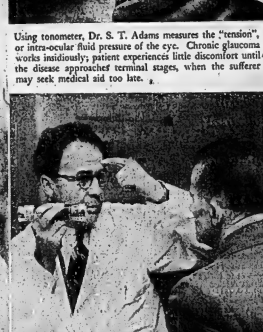
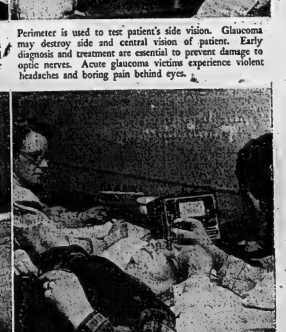
Montreal Glaucoma Clinic

Combat Main Cause of Blindness



Using tonometer, Dr. S. T. Adams measures the "tension", or intra-ocular fluid pressure of the eye. Chronic glaucoma works insidiously; patient experiences little discomfort until the disease approaches terminal stages, when the sufferer may seek medical aid too late.



Perimeter is used to test patient's side vision. Glaucoma may destroy side and central vision of patient. Early diagnosis and treatment are essential to prevent damage to optic nerves. Acute glaucoma victims experience violent headaches and boring pain behind eyes.

Glaucoma, a disease which causes an increase of fluid pressure within the eye, is the major single cause of blindness. Today, in clinics at Quebec, Montreal and Toronto, specialists are attacking the problems of diagnosis and treatment of this disease.

Caught early, treatment may be nothing more than drops in the eyes to assist drainage, while later stages may require surgery. Here Dr. R. J. Viger, of Montreal General Hospital's Glaucoma Clinic, checks for abnormalities in eye drainage mechanism.

Wirephoto Film Board Photos by Cicle Lund

On ophthalmologist's advice, patient is sent to clinic where Dr. Viger examines eyes for signs of abnormal pressure. Eye specialists are suspicious of glaucoma when patient complains of blurred or "smoky" vision in morning, halos or rainbows around lights, or eye pain after movies or strong emotion.

Dr. Adams does tonography to measure the rate of outflow of fluid. Method helps in locating early cases of glaucoma, when pressure within eye is still close to normal. Psychotherapy is important in glaucoma treatment to encourage patient to readjust to condition and persist in treatment.

RUSHING THE SEASON

If everything went according to schedule, Bowmanville's Memorial Arena commenced its "winter season" on Friday.

"The Canadian Statesman" of Bowmanville, in reporting plans for the opening, said that the arena "will probably be the first arena in Ontario opened for the winter season this year."

In one sense, this is not quite accurate. There are, we believe, one or two arenas in the province which run their "winter seasons" on a twelve-month basis. For instance, we believe there is a figure skating school which is operated at Schumacher, in Northern Ontario, during the summer vacation.

In the ordinary sense of the statement, though Bowmanville probably has the honor of being the first town to enjoy skating. It is a doubtful honor.

Far be it from us to throw cold water, and never greener than in the field of recreation or entertainment. When the sun heats the golden sands, many dream of the thrill of rushing down a snow-covered slope, of the swish of skis in the white drifts and the bite of cold air on the cheek. When the ducks are flying, thoughts turn to the chattering of a crane on the first day of the trout season. When the ice crisply cut into gleaming ice, the skater thinks of the pleasures of a yacht skimming over whitecaps now imprisoned by winter's cold grasp.

There is something about the start of any season which has a thrill all its own. We may be sure, for instance, that there were many canoeists and campers who were eagerly awaiting the opening of the arena, so that they might once again don the blades. There are never as many duck hunters throughout the season as there are on the first day, when crowding the marshes on opening day. On May 24 the pickerel see more minnows, worms and plugs than will be offered them at any one time during the remainder of the spring and summer.

In some cases the first day of a new "season" has a special attraction for another reason besides the mere fact that it is new. The hunter's chance of bagging ducks on the opening day, for example, is likely to be better than on another day during the season, because during the long summer days the ducks have been undisturbed and they have lost much of their fear of man.

There is no good reason, though, why skating should be more enjoyable in September than in January. We ought to start the season early can be understood in the cases of those who are skating "bugs", preferring this recreation to any other. We suspect, however, that many who would take advantage of early season skating will not be found enjoying this recreation regularly during the winter months. The same will be found true with respect to many other pastimes.

Even the more enthusiastic skaters will discover that their enthusiasm wears rather thin as the season gets older — and colder.

They will pay the price for that over-enthusiasm which resulted in an unseasonably early start.

There was a time when Nature curbed these enthusiasms, when each thrill had its season and when man had to wait for the appointed time to arrive in due course. Man, however, has been able to modify his environment in many ways, affecting many other activities besides skating. Even where this alteration of Nature's timetable has proven impossible, progress in transportation has offered man the chance of travelling to distant spots, where Nature keeps a different schedule.

Man is indeed fortunate that, in one all-important field, he has not discovered any way of outsmarting Nature. The toddler may wish he was going to school, the primary school child may look with longing at his older brother enjoying teen-age thrills, the teen-ager may dream of the days when school is over and he is his own master, the young man may long for the advantages of seniority, the mature man may dream of retirement as he looks forward to bringing the golden years — but they cannot hurry the pace.

Each experience comes in its season.

A SIGNIFICANT STATEMENT

Premier Leslie Frost has announced that Ontario will present a plan for full hospital coverage to the next session of the federal-provincial conference.

In making this announcement he made one very significant statement.

"We can and must not," he said, "do things which will add to our tax burden to the extent that we cannot do the things necessary for the development of the country and the increase of the productivity of our people."

That is a statement which all taxing bodies could well follow to advantage.

It is evident that Premier Frost does not believe the hospitalization plan which he proposes to adopt will violate this condition. Indeed, it might well serve to stimulate enterprise, by eliminating that threat of high hospitalization costs which hangs over us all, unless we have taken some steps to obtain adequate insurance coverage.

GREAT NORTHWEST

In the "Answers to Correspondents" column of an American newspaper the reply is given that Quebec with 523,860 square miles, is the largest province in Canada. That is true, but the area known as the Northwest Territories comprises 1,253,438 square miles, or more than one-third of the Dominion. Yet there are only about 25,000 people in that area, mostly Eskimos and Indians, plus some hardy white trappers and prospectors.—Fort William Times-Journal.

VACATION REPORT

Didn't go to England; didn't go to Spain;
Didn't take a steamship; didn't take a plane.
Didn't see museums, monuments or parks,
Had a nice vacation up at Pointe Aux Barques.

Didn't go to Paris; didn't go to Rome,
Thought I'd like it better staying in nearer home.
Didn't see Westminster; didn't see St. Mark's,
Did see friends I'm fond of up at Pointe Aux Barques.

Visited Fort Austin. Hasn't changed a bit.
Friends of mine still living. All were feeling fit.
Heard the golfers making still another par.
Lived like royalty, summers over up at Pointe Aux Barques.

Search the map to find it. Don't believe you can.
It is not the thumb nail. Yes, of Michigan.
Place that I'll remember till my soul escapes.
Days and nights were peaceful up at Point Aux Barques.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

Sept. 12, 1935

Thirty new fire extinguishers, purchased by the Board of Education, were placed in the city four public schools today by Fire Chief William Lynch and assistants.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Foste, Burnham Street, were married fifty years ago on Saturday last, Sept. 7 and on Monday evening they were entertained at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Foste, Dundas Street. It was a happy evening with relatives and friends present and the guests of honor were presented with numerous gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Foste have resided here since their marriage with the exception of a few years when they lived in Sault Ste. Marie. They have one daughter, Mrs. Joseph Chapman, of this city, and four sons, Mr. Frank Foste, Mr. Harry Foste and Mr. Ted Foste, all of this city, and Mr. Roy Foste of Sault Ste. Marie, Mr. and Mrs. Foste received congratulations and good wishes from many friends.

Mr. R. D. Arnott, barrister, Mrs. Arnott and their daughter have returned home after spending a vacation of three weeks in Muskoka.

Miss Stewart Masson of this city was among the fourteen students at the McGill Summer School in Physical Education who have completed the course just closed and have received certificates.

30 YEARS AGO

Sept. 12, 1925

Mr. F. M. Little of Campbellford won skith prize for July Queree at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto.

The picnic organized by Charles E. Hanna, M. P., and held at the Agricultural Park here yesterday was a great success. Prime Minister Mackenzie King was present and spoke on a great reception.

Mr. Cecil Facer has returned home from Bass Lake where he spent his vacation.

The Rev. Dr. T. E. Malott, Mrs. Malott and family have returned to the city after spending their vacation in Muskoka.

Bus service was introduced on the west side today. The service on the east hill is proving very successful. We always knew how they ever got along without it.

Mr. Wilfred Holmes, city clerk, is spending his vacation at Oak Lake.

From our file copy at this time in 1855: The excursion to the Montreal Fair per the steamer Alexandria promises to be well patronized. The return fare from here is $3.

40 YEARS AGO

Sept. 12, 1915

Sixty-one patients were admitted to the Belleville General Hospital during July and fifty-four patients entered in August. There are now thirty-three patients in the hospital.

Credit is due Mr. F. G. Mills as chairman of the Red Cross and Ward Patriotic League and Mr. Robert Bogle as secretary of the league for the success of the meeting which was held Friday evening in the pavilion and on the residence of Mr. W. H. Northrup, M. P., Bridge Street. These gentlemen were assiduous in their efforts to make the gathering the success which it proved to be.

Mr. A. Owen Ferry and family have returned home after a vacation which they spent at Chatham, St. Thomas, Niagara Falls, Buffalo and Cleveland. A very interesting day was spent at the studios of Elbert Hubbard's Boycrofters in East Aurora, N.Y. where such excellent and artistic work is done in printing, brass work, leather goods and many other articles which are a credit of art. It is here also where the popular little magazine the "Philistine" is produced. Mr. Hubbard was the author of the much read "A Message to Garcia", a small book of initiative. Mr. Herlihy's visit to the Boycrofters was a few months after the death of Mr. Hubbard; he and his wife perished in the sinking of the Lusitania on May 7, 95.

Sept. 12, 1905

Mrs. George Bergerson and family have left for their home in Holyoke, Mass., after visiting relatives here.

The Rev. A. M. Hubly of Emanuel Church here, in Ontario has attended the annual meeting of the Reformed Episcopal Church.

The Rev. Dr. MacTavish of the Presbyterian College, Montreal, is in Kingston and the call has been approved by the Presbytery. The Rev. R. S. Laidlaw, minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church here, has been appointed Interim Moderator of Deseronto during the vacancy caused by the departure of Dr. MacTavish.

Mr. Henry Carre, C. E., is spending a few days in Ottawa. Mr. E. Austin of this city is attending the Ottawa Fair.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

SELF-RETREAT

I have my little island retreat in Nova Scotia to background my happiness away from the noise and confusion of the city. Here there is no nature, only genuine tranquillity. No college ever had more knowledge than is open and concealed on these few acres of God's unimpoverished bit of earth.

It's a spot of unspoiled soil, just as it was left centuries ago. Now towering hemlocks, pines, maples, white birches, and other varieties of growth give beauty and substance to "Weskewenak." It is a natural retreat upon the face of a great body of water, the Bras d'Or Grand Lake.

In itself this island is a retreat, but it offers even a greater retreat—a retreat into oneself—a self-retreat. Here I can examine myself—in silence, and in self-communion. He knows little about all that we are as individuals, tossed into a world of doubt, mystery and questioning.

Every day here on my island is a day of wonder, beauty, and worship. There are shadows of God's sunlight. My feet feel the warmth of the colorful mosses as I tread the paths, worn by the feet of friends, and perhaps the deer in Winter. Here are created so many perfect and intricate designs as are here. It is a naturalist's playground!

Retreating into myself, I am not lonely, even when those with me and faithful helpers, who cook my meals, talk to my comfort, and give to me and my friends a bit of joy to carry home; as well as renewed health and strength for the tasks ahead. There can be so much more to life than any of us imagines! This place is a natural garden, in which one retires for a few weeks in which to find oneself. "It is so easy," said John Burroughs, "to get lost in the world."

He Wanted To Be Saint!

(By Harold Weir in the Vancouver Sun)

An awful hush fell over the living room when the little boy declared, firmly and distinctly, that he wanted to be a saint.

As the story was told to me, it happened in this wise:

There was a dinner party at the little boy's house and after dinner the company, a bit greasy as to lip and somewhat glassy as to eye, adjourned to the living room to dwell in that complacent repletion which in other places would have impelled them to get out and do something.

Nothing being readily available to kill, the aunts and uncles and friends and relatives felt that the next best aid to digestion would be to badger a little boy. So the little boy was sent for and subjected to those patronizing idiocies with which adults demonstrate their superiority to youth.

Uncle Fred, who has chronic trouble with his digestion, asked the little boy a brief and slightly tactless question in arithmetic. Aunt Sarah, whose exquisite mastery of the tender passion drove two husbands in the direct route to hell, recited the little boy on his love life and received a spirited reply in French.

And then a certain bruiser, who sponges on the family for his food and food, put the little boy through an inquisition about his plans for life. The little boy, put on the spot, said today, a policeman, an engineer, a merchant or what.

To all these suggestions the little boy shook his head. And then he burst his bombshell. He was going to be a saint.

Now I know this little boy in sort of a casual way and I'm sure that he's never been pressured into religious fanaticism. In fact, I'm certain I'd bet a pretty that about all the religious instruction he has ever heard around his home have been frivolous appeals to the Deity in the matter of stubbed toes and smashed thumbs and perhaps hangovers.

Moreover, this little boy, as I very well know, is neither a prissy nor a goody-goody. Just a simple dose of castor oil.

But there was no doubt that the little boy was in earnest. He was going to be a saint. And the more they argued with him, the more determined he became.

Finally, the aunts and uncles and friends and relatives gave up in disgust and left the little boy to be confused, at the moment, with the angels. His language is not celestial. His skill with words is distinctly human. He was the object of the bronzen window in which he figured without credit. In fact, he is almost as much a helper as many of our best saints were in their lonely years, which, of course, lends skin and substance to his intention.

Still it seems strange that among this household of mature and even educated adults that a little boy was the only one to sense the undoubted fact that much we do laugh at virtue and admire piety, achieved for the most reasonable objective in life and the career of saintHood the only beckoning one of noble minds.

The little boy's offhand declaration of intention might be said, in moderate language, to have loosed up the dinner party.

His father turned a dull and mulish red, but said nothing. Mother bridled. His mother drew him to her and surreptitiously felt his forehead to see if he was feverish. The most fairly giggled in embarrassment. And the bruiser, who prefers a doctorate, snorted. There was a general feeling that the boy was not turning away of faces and rather ridicrous and clumsy efforts to change the subject.

But it was no good. The little boy had read himself out of good society by saying the only sensible thing that had been said in his hearing for years.

Obviously, his parents felt the silliness of their position and were overwhelmed with humiliation. And no wonder. He was being drifted on one by one with such awkward attempts at ease that the most impressionable child would recognize the bonker, forgot his hat.

Later that night, when the guests were gone, there were no recriminations. I'm told, in fact, that the little boy's mother and father behaved with noble magnanimity.

No reproaches. No nagging. No more badgering. Just a simple

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

A Sinus Is An Air-Space In The Skull Bone

There is a pair of air-spaces in the frontal bones behind the brows, called frontal sinuses, each sinus being ventilated or drained by a small duct which connects the sinus with the nasal passage between middle and lower turbinates.

There's another pair of sinuses in the upper jaw bones which are also ventilated or drained into the nasal passages.

There's another pair of sinuses, called sphenoid sinuses, and ethmoid sinuses or cells. These are deeper in the base of the skull, but they drain or ventilate into the nasal passages farther back, and altogether these air-spaces in the otherwise solid bony area the skull or source of many, varied and interesting symptoms, but for the most average dumb layman the doctor or perferably, the specialist need say no more than sinus and the poor geek goes on his way rejoicing that such a difficult diagnosis has been made and all that remains is for the doctor to apply whatever the latest remedy or treatment may be.

To say one's ailment is "sinus" seems to be the modern version of the old humoral theory.

Infection and inflammation of one or more sinuses happen sometimes and in exceptional instances it requires opening through the bone, irrigation and drainage. In the maxillary sinus, otherwise called antrum of Highmore, in the upper jaw bone, may be thus opened for irrigation and drainage by making a hole through the wall of the nasal passage or by drilling through the floor of the antrum where the root of the canine or "eye" tooth bulges into the sinus.

Even the ever-ready operators have been constrained to keep out of the sinuses in recent years. No surgery is always the best necessary, but the prospective customers have friends who have submitted to such surgery only to regret it.

I mean to imply that "sinus," sinus trouble, chronic sinusitis, call it what you will, even "catarrh," is not a specific disease or condition and no particular medicine, diet, climat:, season or weather can be "good for" it.

I am interested in your advice of calcium and D for adult tetany," writes a Virginia reader. "My husband, recently returned from Japan, has complained of joint aches and seems to be unable to get over that nasal drip from sinusitis. He has been taking treatments for several months but still is coughing. Would the change from Japad to Virginia cause this?

Because the sinuses are all lined with tissue membrane continuous with that which lines nose and throat, passages, nose and throat infections (cri) spread into the sinuses as readily as into the middle ear through the Eustachian tube.

What the Virginia lady says between lines suggests that her husband's trouble may be mainly if not entirely due to calcium deficiency.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

WHAT DOES IT ALL MEAN?

What do you think of the present-day resurgence of religious interest?

It is almost unprecedented in the history of our country. Churches are crowded. Religious books sell like widfire. It has become fashionable to talk about God and be interested in religion.

Is it a great deal of this partakes of the nature of a movement. "Come on, folks, religion's great. Everybody worships. Join a good church now. If you want to be in the swim, you'll have to get religion."

This is the superficial aspect of it, and perhaps this superficial aspect may keep this phase of religious enthusiasm from becoming the world-shaking thing it should become. We may have to have another religious revival — into which this one will probably grow — before the religious boom gets the transforming sense of the term.

Behind this superficial type of religious interest today are two most encouraging factors. One is that people have had a bitter lesson in spiritual truth in the memory of anyone now living. Secondand encouraging factor is that the clergy today rank among the most thoroughly educated group of servants the church has known in all its history. Churches are passing by business opportunities to become ministers. The day of the stodgy, unadventurous parson is gone. The ministers today are desperately afraid about their work and decidedly on the ball.

Astronomers' Big Problems

(Hartford, Conn., Courant)

As might be expected when a bunch of astronomers get together to try to solve the mysteries of the universe, they don't do much. Marilyn Monroe. A group of them who attended the meeting of the American Astronomical Society at Yerkes reports that when not "entirely out of this world. One observer at the Carnegie Institute of Washington reports that he has been tuning in on Jupiter's radio waves for years. Another raised a ruckus by observing that Mars was probably barred of life.

But for the most part astronomers, however, are concerned with the everyday world, are kicking around like everybody else. Not all they would like to settle on a description of what the universe is like. How big is it? Is it finite or infinite? Is it curved? Is it flat?

The second part of the mystery they would like to solve concerns the precise method by which the universe came into being. Is it the result of a giant explosion, or five thousand years ago, or has it always been as it is now? The second theory supposes the continuous creation of matter to fill the spaces where, from the first theory would lead to the belief that the universe is running out.

Like the small fry, the astronomers are also toying with the idea of space ships. If they could get a telescope aimed at Mars, they could penal pull, and the distortion of atmosphere, they could see things much more clearly than they do now. It has been pointed out that a 22 inch telescope above the atmosphere could do the work of a 200 inch telescope on the earth's surface. Add, if these are maunder, Yoga is a dream world, consider the progress that has been made thus far in probing the inscrutable universe.

Pity Plight Of Informed!

(Hamilton Spectator)

On to the editorial desks of all and every newspaper these days there tumble a host of "releases" issuing from almost every country in the world. Religious books sell like widfire. It has become fashionable to talk about God and be interested in religion.

Is it a great deal of this partakes of the nature of a movement. "Come on, folks, religion's great. Everybody worships. Join a good church now. If you want to be in the swim, you'll have to get religion."

This is the superficial aspect of it, and perhaps this superficial aspect may keep this phase of religious enthusiasm 'from becoming the world-shaking thing it should become. We may have to have another religious revival — into which this one will probably grow — before the religious boom gets the transforming sense of the term.

Behind this superficial type of religious interest today are two most encouraging factors. One is that people have had a bitter lesson in spiritual truth in the memory of anyone now living. Secondand encouraging factor is that the clergy today rank among the most thoroughly educated group of servants the church has known in all its history. Churches are passing by business opportunities to become ministers. The day of the stodgy, unadventurous parson is gone. The ministers today are desperately afraid about their work and decidedly on the ball.

Day Before Vacation Best

(New York Times)

What is the best day of the year? Opinions on this will probably always vary, although after the dog-collection will go to the true one. It is not Christmas, a confusion of gifts and good cheer, nor is it the birthday, the wedding anniversary or the first day of school. All of them are fine, and not to be dismissed, but none is the best. That day is the day before vacation begins. That day has been the goal of the year written on the calendar page in deep purple ink like the superhighway of the road map, which will be followed tomorrow. Without thought there is no temptation to declare vacation's first day as the best, but that is not so. As each hour of the one passes — and at accelerated speed — the length of vacation becomes shorter. The increased joy the day before, nothing is lost. The best day is the one between the long hours of anticipation, and then when it is over the full fortnight of vacation rensdins.

Water Project Promising

(Windsor Star)

Prospect that water from Lake Huron, Georgian Bay and Lake Erie will be piped through Southwestern Ontario by 1962 has amazing potentials. It can prove a treasure-house for both urban and rural communities.

Southwestern Ontario is one of the best agricultural areas in the world. It can grow almost anything. Unfortunately, they don't anything else or often curtails yields far below the normal. None knows just how much the farmer loses by increased evaporation from the ground because with ample water for irrigation. Water from Lake Huron could be made on certain farms to show, however, it will be a great deal.

The scheme will have advantages for many urban communities also. Some run short of water for ordinary purposes during the hot, dry weather. Industrial development is impaired, as many modern industries require a great amount of water. Some won't locate where there

Large Crowds Enjoy Splendid Program at 'World's Fair'

"Another successful show", was the way which Shannonville fair directors Saturday night summed up the 1955 edition of the 'World's Fair'.

Favored by ideal weather the Shannonville "World's Fair" attracted its usual crowd of fairgoers who enjoyed a well rounded out program. Attractions ranged from the school parade which got things underway in the early afternoon to a long list of special events concluded by the crowd pleasing race for the greasy pig.

Interspersed was a colorful livestock show with emphasis on horses and cattle, a baby show and a South Hastings Baseball League playoff game which saw Cannifton even their series with Shannonville at three games each. The visitors won 10-6.

MANY EXHIBITS

The fair agricultural building was jam-packed with products of the farm, home cooking, needle work and school displays. Display booths of district women's associations were especially attractive.

School section No. 4, Mountain public school was judged the best in the school parade which saw half a dozen local schools competing. Second place school was S. S. No. 1 with S. S. No. 14 coming in for third place.

Headed by the Belleville Kinsmen Boys' Band, the parade lined up in the village and marched to the fair grounds.

The midway proved its usual attraction for the kiddies who were soon loaded down with souvenir gimmicks and be-smeared with candy apples. The various rides did a steady business all afternoon.

The baby show, under the direction of Dr. D. C. McVicker and Miss Mary Vivian, Reg. N., attracted a host of entries.

Winners in the 1-6 months class for girls were Mary Doyle, Carol Ann Maracle and Jerrelynn Putnam. In the 7-12 months class for girls Esther Brant, Ruth Hall and Judy Heisler were winners.

In the boys' class, 1-6 months, Michael Sager, Kerry Reid and Marlene Glenn Doyle were tops and in the 7-12 months class, Donald Cooke, Roy Asselstine and Earl Tugwood were the winners.

Horse lovers had a big afternoon and the heavy and light classes were paraded before the judge's stand on the race track. The horse show was under the direction of W. D. Reid.

HARNESS RACING

Three classes of harness racing were run as well as running races for saddle horses and ponies.

The special events program had a big following all afternoon with real contests being staged in step dancing, old time fiddlers and log sawing before winners were declared.

Largest family on the grounds was that of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sagritf who took the prize with their flock of nine children. Oldest couple on the grounds were Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, ages 78 and 74.

After at least three preliminary contests John Beadon took first prize in step dancing with Mike Whalen coming in for second and Dorothy Crawford third. Winners in the fiddlers' contest were: N. Sero, John Hart and B. O'Sullivan.

Proving themselves adept exponents in the art of manipulating the crosscut saw were M. Whalen and E. Freeman, of Tyendinaga township who came in for first money in a field of eight competing teams. Second prize went to brothers Pat and Ed McCormick.

The ladies' nail driving contest also saw a host of entries. With 20 strokes of the hammer Mrs. Bird sank her quota of nails to win first place. Mrs. Logan and Mrs. Lott were just four strokes behind to cop second and third place.

The boys' bicycle race of once around the track went to Bill Hill with Jim Maracle taking second. The dubious honor of having the most freckles went to Helen Walsh. Huron Brant had the honor of catching the greasy pig.

North Bay Girl Fails in Attempt To Swim Lake

An estimated crowd of 10,000 so jammed the government wharf to watch her that at times its huge timbers creaked under the strain.

Betty entered the water at Newman Island at 1:47 p.m. She was taken out unconscious at 7:40 p.m. after being in the cold, wind-whipped waters almost six hours.

She swam more than 11 miles although the distance from Newman Island to the government wharf is seven miles. Her leader, 16-year-old Morris Commanda, took the girl approximately four miles off course.

Coal Train Crashes

EDINBURGH (AP)—Thirty-two Scots miners were injured today when a coal train ran wild on a colliery incline and crashed near the bottom of the main shaft.

The small coal cars went out of control with 84 day-shift men being carried to work at the Newcraighall colliery.

ROLL, BUT NOT PAYROLL

NEW YORK (AP)—Driver Anthony Frangione had just picked up a $2,000 payroll for a wholesale meat firm Friday when a gunman hopped aboard his truck and seized the first box that came to hand. The bandit fled—not with the payroll, but with 48 cents worth of breakfast rolls Frangione had in his truck.

BEAUTY QUEEN

From the hardships of a Siberian labor camp to beauty queen is the simplified story of 17-year-old Wanda Kosdras, who has been chosen Miss Western Ontario of 1955 at Windsor, Ont. Miss Kosdras spent two years in the labor camp with her family before they could emigrate to Canada. The brunette beauty, who measures 34-23-34, won over 23 other contestants. She was entered in the competition as Miss Ridgetown, Ont. (CP Photo).

Holy Rosary C.W.L. Plans Activities

The opening meeting of the fall season was held recently in Holy Rosary Hall at 8.00 p.m., with 25 members present and Mrs. Eves presided.

Father Michael said the opening prayer and welcomed the members back, congratulated them on attendance at Holy Communion, and urged all to continue to set a good example for the parish. He thanked those who assisted with the July wedding and also for the prizes donated to the students attaining the highest marks in religion.

A catechetical prize for the senior grades will be given from the league to the students with the highest marks in religion.

Mrs. Schrieder reported 72 paid members and Mrs. Walsh said 125 hospital visits were made. Hospital visitors for the month are Mrs. Eves, Mrs. Bradden, Mrs. Laflin, Mrs. Walsh and Mrs. Brown.

Further plans were made for the roast beef supper to be held in October.

All were in favor of the card parties commencing on September 22, with Mrs. Daly's group in charge.

Mrs. Brown was appointed convener of the Christmas Festival, and conveners for the various booths named.

Further discussion took place on the raffle and it was decided to have following list of prizes, pop-up toaster, steam iron, basinette, turkey and Christmas cake.

Plans are under way for a League social to be on sale from the members before and at the Christmas Festival.

Father Michael closed the meeting.

Refreshments were served and a social time spent.

Women's Activities

TRINITY W.M.S.

MADOC—The members of Trinity United church Woman's Missionary Society were entertained at the home of Mrs. Ford Tumelty for their August meeting. The president Mrs. D. Carmen, opened the meeting with words of welcome to 19 members and one visitor.

The stewardship convener Mrs. Epper gave a talk on "The Power and Example of Stewardship Applied to You and Me" and closed with prayer for the missionaries.

Mrs. P. H. Nayler, treasurer, reported on the finances and the summer bazaar; the report was most gratifying.

An invitation was received from the Eldorado and Union W.M.S. to visit them on September 1st was accepted.

Mrs. Bennett was in charge of the program. The topic was "Questions on Christian Citizenship". She was assisted by Mrs. Epper, who gave a reading on "Prejudice—How do we Recognize it and What Can we do About it?" A poem, "Where Hate Should Die," was read by Mrs. D. Carman. Mrs. Bennett read the "Toiler's Prayer".

The September meeting was held at the home of Mrs. C. Whytock on Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Carmen in charge. For the opening she chose a poem "Happy Heart" by Patience Strong.

After business period was conducted, Mrs. A. Empey, Stewardship convener, gave a talk on "Allocations", and closed with prayer for the missionaries, Miss Kilpatrick in Japan. Friendship secretary, Mrs. Fleming reported on calls.

Mrs. B. Tanner conducted the Worship service assisted by Mrs. F. Dafoe, who read a poem "On a Sabbath Day".

Mrs. Mullen read the Bible story from Luke and Mrs. Tanner read comments on the theme "I Have Seen the Face of Jesus", and concluded with a reading and prayer.

Mrs. Carmen introduced the new study book No. 1 "Keeping Our Way", (The Church Greets the Immigrant); No. 2 "No Vanishing Race" (Referring to the Canadian Indian); No. 3 "Home Missions Digest No. 3". She gave an interesting talk on Book No. 1. Mrs. Empey then gave an interesting report on the leadership school held at Whitby recently, and mentioned in particular Dr. Telford's address on "Home Missions", which was interesting and informative bringing to the attention the fact that in so many places there are opportunities for missionaries and churches within this land. New developments are opening up all around and there is a need of workers. Time did not permit Mrs. Empey to finish and at a later meeting she will complete her report.

A pleasant half hour was spent with the hostess and Mrs. Dafoe, Mrs. Reid and Mrs. Moore serving refreshments.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DON'T GIVE KISSES TOO EARLY

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm 14, and have been going a boy of 19.

Last long ago, he kissed me good-night and my mother spied on us. So now she won't let me date him any more.

Do you think my mother is right, after she gave me permission to date him in the first place? And do you think there's any harm in one goodnight kiss after I have been dating this boy for quite a while? — V.H.

Dear V.H.

I can understand that your mother would not want you to kiss boys even though you have been dating them for some time, for I, too, feel it is too bad to give away kisses too early. At the same time, I don't think there is "any harm," as you put it, in one goodnight kiss, if it's just a friendly thing and not pro-

Perhaps if you told your mother you're sorry you did something which she doesn't approve, and that you'll promise not to repeat it, she would be willing to let this ban on dating this boy. Have you done what I asked, and written a letter to your mother? If you have not you might ask the boy to tell your mother he's sorry he led you into doing something so wrong, like and give his own promise that if she'll let you go out with him again it won't be repeated.

My own opinion is, though, that a girl of 14 is too young to be dating a young man of 19, and that it would be better if you dated boys in your own age group, and not go out too often even at that.

MAYBE YOUR LIVES NEED TO BE MADE MORE INTERESTING

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

Do you believe a man can say anything about his wife and children things like that, but you can all the time? And how long can a take things of this sort after living for 15 years to make a home, and being as decent and good as any woman could possibly be?

My husband has gone out with four or five women, and is such a sneaking way that his own mother wouldn't believe it. He even flirts with women when I am with him. If I don't say anything about what he does, we get along fine. If I do say anything, he gets madder than I do.

All this has wrecked my nerves until I think it has really changed me into a different person, because I have begun to believe that a man doesn't care anything about a wife who is good and decent, but would think more of her if she ran around like the women he goes with. I have plenty of chances to do him the way he does me, and I am getting to the place where I just don't care. I don't want to do it when he runs after other women, or driven to anything when he knows your heart doesn't care about you. — Florence

Dear Florence,

First, let me say that I don't really believe you think it would help matters any for you to go out with men the way your husband goes out with women. All you would be doing it for would be revenge, and revenge never yet solved any problems. It only complicates them. Would it solve anything to have two of you "running around" instead of one?

And what about your children? You don't say how many you have, or how old they are, but if you have been married more than 15 years, none of them can be old enough to have left home yet. So what kind of home would they have if mother were out "running around" instead of being a devoted mother to them?

It's perfectly understandable that you feel as you do. Everybody has the urge to hit back when they're hurt. But, as I've just been saying, where will that get you? Exactly nowhere. So why not put it out of your mind for good, as a possible way of trying to reform your husband?

And now let me answer your first question about whether or not a man can care anything about his wife and children if he pays attention to other women.

Will it surprise you if I say Yes, he can do this and still care about them? Because that's often the strange truth, and it's a very hard thing for women to understand since very few women are made so that they can be unfaithful to husbands they really love.

To your second question about how long a woman can take the kind of thing you speak of taking all these years, I just don't think a definite answer can be made.

"All One When in Swimming"

By Mary Moore

Did you ever actually watch a Boy Scout fry chicken legs?

I saw dozens of them frying hundreds of chicken legs. I even saw one cook boiling them in a pot filled with water to the brim. He was twelve. The young boy was testing the potatoes for doneness by speering one with the point of his Scout knife, holding it up in the air for his buddy to observe saying "Is this done?" The laconic answer was "I dunno."

It was wonderful fun packed with amazement at the boys' industry and grinning will to work well and the men's devotion to an ideal. Those leaders were bone tired but happily so.

One told us that more publicity had been given to the Eighth World Scout Jamboree than to the Queen's visit. No, no wonder. Sixty-seven countries were represented there. Lady Abel said when 23 countries but they are all one big family. Even the sun limit had to lake for their swim.

Perhaps the Jamboree Quartermaster's service I received a "Feeding Handbook for Patrols". It contained the quartermaster for camp cooking and to give you an idea of how carefully it and the whole feeding program were carried out I will list the supper menu which was in the interests of being prepared and eaten:

SUPPE—Saturday, August 27, 1955.

Read full instructions twice before starting

Food list—10 chicken legs and thighs, 5 lbs. potatoes, 1 pkg. cookies 1 loaf bread, 2 20-oz. cans peas, 3 pkgs. Instant Vanilla Pudding, 1 5-oz. Jar Jam, 1-2 lb. butter, 4 qts. milk.

Staples—shortening, salt, pepper, coffee, breadcrumbs.

Instructions — Fireman—one heating fire, one boiling fire, two frying fires. Cooks—1. Fix breadcrumbs with salt and pepper in paper bag. Moisten chicken. Shake chicken up in bag until each piece is covered with crumbs. 2. Heat 1-in. shortening in each of two pans. Fry chicken slowly brown on all sides, adding more shortening if necessary. Add 1 cup water. Cover the pans with lids and keep over a low fire to steam about 30 minutes until tender. 3. Make pudding according to directions on package. Put in dishes. Place spoonful of jam on top. 4. Boil potatoes 20 minutes in salted water. Drain. 6 and add 1 cup milk and 1-3 lb. butter. Mash. Heat peas. Set out bread, butter, milk, cookies, pudding. 7. Make coffee. Serve.

(Couldn't we women profit by "Reading all instructions twice before starting"?)

VIGNETTES

Two little Eskimo Scouts got so hot they were given respite in the shade of the igloo. Next.

The Indian contingent of fourteen Scouts, under the leadership of 78-year-old Shri Rani Bajpai, by plane to London, thence by motorcade, train to Hendon (where Mr. Bajpai was billeted with my cousin) and thence to Niagara-on-the-Lake by bus. With heart very full we watched the solemn ceremony of them lowering their pure silk Indian flag at sundown.

The French delegation, one thousand strong, were notable for their "frigidaire" with very deep oblong hole dug in the ground for their grub, with a cover on it that was lifted by a rope attached to a crude but effective 4-spoked wheel.

All that can be said on that point is that some women refuse to take it at all, and walk out, while others go on taking it indefinitely, year after year, sometimes because they keep right on loving their husbands too much to leave him, sometimes because they need support for themselves and their children, and sometimes for individual reasons of their own.

Having said all this, suppose I make a suggestion about what you might do other than try to get back at your husband by seeking friendships with other men.

What I suggest is that you seek other interests and widen your circle of women friends, so that you will have a lot of things to think about besides your problem. I am sure that a very great deal of your time is taken up with your children and your home, but don't you believe that, if you planned it all out, you could find an hour or two during the day, or at least on the same days during the week, when you could get out and join your friends in some interesting activity? Isn't there some organization in your community that could use your help, such as the Red Cross, or a youth club or other project for young people, club work in your church, your local hospital? Give this some thought, and see if there isn't something you could do for others around you. This always helps when we have trouble on our minds.

Then try and find things to do with your friends just for fun. Give a little party yourself, once in awhile. Suggest to your husband that you invite friends in some evening, and see if you can get him to help plan it. If you two could do more things together it might go far toward gradually solving the problem. Maybe there hasn't been enough going on around home, and with your friends, to make life interesting enough, and he got so bored he went out to find his fun. Naturally, I'm not saying he did right. But folks frequently make mistakes when life is dull, that they wouldn't ordinarily make at all.

Write and let me know what you think of what I've said, and tell me if you won't try out the suggestions. The time has obviously come when you must do something. Why not try to start with them?

BAYSIDE W. M. S.

WHITE'S DISTRICT—The September meeting of the Bayside Women's Missionary Society was held on Wednesday afternoon at White's United Church with the president, Mrs. Clifton Rush, presiding.

The meeting opened with all repeating, "Break Thou the Bread of Life" under the theme, "The Call to Discipleship", Mrs. H. Rutter read the Scripture Luke 8: 1-11, 27-39; Mrs. Alex Ide: Luke 19: 1-10; Mrs. L. Young, Luke 6: 12-17; 8: 1-3 and 6: 38-40; and Mrs. L. Hunt, Luke 8: 18-25.

Discussions of these passages followed.

The minutes of the combined meeting of Mission Band and Baby Band with the Bayside W. M. S. in July on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hockaday were read by the secretary Mrs. Walter Jones.

Mrs. H. Rutter read an article on "Home Missions" and Mrs. L. Hunt summarized "The Great Trek", from the Study Book "Coming Our Way."

Some business was discussed and it was decided to pack a box for Missions as soon as possible.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMIESON

A FACIAL—WITHOUT MASSAGE!

There is nothing quite so relaxing at the end of a long, hard day as a facial treatment. And don't say that you're even too tired to rub a little cream into your face because the treatment described for you today is truly relaxing and requires no massage or manipulation at all.

Here is the method: Your face should be thoroughly cleansed, of course. Wash it with a cloth, sponge or a complexion brush, using plenty of good soapy water. Lukewarm and scrub well, but without pulling your skin about. Dry your face and apply cream lavishly, working it in well. Now, instead of massaging as is customary, sit down at your dressing table with elbows propped on the table directly in front—elbows about six inches apart—and hands cupped about your jawline with fingers pointing upward. Relax and sigh.

Then, drop the head forward and "rock" so that the head is back of the face, beginning close to the nostrils and extending upward toward the ears, smacks against the heel of the hand.

When you have worked your way up to the hollows about the eyes, change tactics: Use the flat of the fingers as tiny hammers to pat the areas under the eyes; then, gently, but firmly, press the fingers over the eyeballs just under the eyebrow, beginning inside and working out in a series of press-release motions. Finish by dropping your head forward and using your fingertips in rotating motions over your forehead.

This is kind of facial that really makes you feel good because it leaves you with improved circulation, but thoroughly relaxed. Why not try it tonight?

CHILE LIFTS BAN

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — The Chilean government decided Friday night to lift the ban on shipments of Chilean nitrates to Iron Curtain countries. The ban was clamped down in line with Western decisions to withhold shipments of strategic materials to Communist countries. The Chilean government gave no reason for lifting the ban.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

SHOULD THEY WAIT?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

The other evening my brother and I went to a large dinner (some called it a "banquet") given at this resort by an organization to which my brother belongs. There was a speakers table with, I should judge, about twenty guests. The other guests were seated at tables for six or eight. My brother, who thinks seriously about courtesy, thought we should wait to begin eating until the guest of honor, the chief speaker at the speakers table, began to eat. Was it necessary for us to wait? — Gloria M.

At the large dinner of this kind, it was not necessary to wait. Those sitting at one of the smaller tables begin to eat when one or two of the other guests at the table have been served.

BRIDE'S FATHER DURING FIRST PART OF CEREMONY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Where does the bride's father stand during the ceremony? — C.

The bride's father stands at the left of the bride until he has taken his part in giving the bride in marriage. Then he takes his place with the bride's mother in the first pew on the left of the aisle.

WANTS TO RETURN TO NAME OF FIRST HUSBAND

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I had a most happy first marriage, and by that marriage had two children, a girl and a boy, now late in their teens. My first husband died six years ago, and two years after his death, I met a man who I thought would be a good husband and a good companion to my children. We were married, and alas, most unhappily. I am now about to apply for a divorce, and would like to ask permission to use my first husband's name, as my second husband's name is another one. I have talked this request over with my children, and they are most anxious to have this name-change brought about. Would it be considered proper?

Yes . . . this is sometimes done, and under your circumstances it certainly does make sense, particularly because this would mean your return to the name your children bear.

ABOUT BILL FOR WEDDING FLOWERS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

For the past two years our son has been engaged to a very fine girl whose parents are from a foreign country whose customs are not familiar to us. We have tried to go along with the customs as we know about them, but it has not always been easy.

Apparently their ideas differ from ours here in this country as regards those of the wedding expenses. From a hint our son dropped I judge that they thought he (the groom) was to pay for all the champagne and other beverages that were to be served at the wedding, and I judge our son explained to them that this expense was their responsibility. But everything was done on a most elaborate scale, and there was a bill for the flower decorations, both in church (very graced "arrivents" on the ends of the pews) and at the reception.

Today, two weeks after the wedding, we received an itemized bill from the florist for all the flowers: bride's bouquet (with a white orchid centerpiece which she used as her going-away corsage); my corsage and the bride's mother's corsage; all the boutonnieres for the men; all the bouquets for the attendants; and all the flowers for the church and reception decoration. Quite a sum! What do you advise that we do—send it to the bride's father enclosing a note explaining that wedding flowers are the responsibility of the bride's family and that the groom's family are not supposed to pay for them? — Groom's Mother

You should, I advise, wait for your son to return and let him straighten out this bill directly with florist. . . . for several of the flower-fives are his responsibility, and if he doesn't want to pay for the decoration-flowers (which he certainly should) he is expected to do, he asks the florist to send this part of the bill to the bride's father, explaining that he has already paid his part of the flower-bill.

Gruenther Pays Last Visit to Canadians in Germany

Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, at left, supreme allied commander of Europe, is greeted upon his arrival at Gutersloh airport by Brig. W. A. B. Anderson, Canadian Brigade commander. The occasion was a visit to the First Canadian Infantry Brigade at Soest, Germany, during which time General Gruenther inspected all units of the brigade. A demonstration of their weapons was followed by a march past of the unit led by Brig. Anderson. This is a farewell visit to the First Canadian Infantry Brigade for supreme allied commander, as they are scheduled to return to Canada after two years' service in Germany. They will be replaced by the Second Canadian Infantry. (Central Press Canadian).

Little Benny's Notebook

I was on my way downtown with ma to get some necessery clothes and a special event I meet with my initial on it, and I kind of stumbled, and ma said, For land sakes, that's the 3rd time in 3 minutes you've stumbled your nothing.

Well heck, ma, it must of been something, it have to be an accident to stumble over nothing. I said, and ma said, Then you're an accident.

Being a compliment with out meaning to be, and pritty soon I kind of tripped again, and ma said, There you go again, was there anything to stumble over that time?

Sure there was, ma, a kind of a little thing was sticking up, I said, and ma said, What little thing?

A little thing like a crack, I said, and she said, Goodness science must be getting wonderful when a crack can stick up. You dont see me stumbling over every Tom Dick and crack, do you? she said.

That's because you have to be exter careful because you know it's twice as dangerous to trip in high heel shoes, I said. Oh boy, if I had a pair of stilts to walk on, I'd have to be so careful I bet I'd never stumble again. Will you buy me a pair of stilts, ma, just to prove it? I said.

You letter prove you're a normal human beas in normal possession of your normal equalibrium, ma said. If you want that sweet shert, that's my advice to you, she said.

The result being I took it.

False Teeth Often Have a Certain Odor!

Polident is the specially designed cleanser that keeps false teeth—and bridges—clean and fresh always. Follow these simple rules.

1. Never use a brush on dental! Your dental plates are much softer than natural teeth and can be ruined when fitting ridges no longer show.

2. Never use soap or tooth paste! They are too harsh—like those which collects bacteria and food particles, a major cause of offensive "Denture Breath."

3. Use a soaking-type cleanser made for false teeth only . . . Polident! Polident is the denture cleanser recommended by more dentists than any other. No brushing, no handling of soapy plates that can slip and break. Polident gets where a brush can't reach. Best of all, Polident always leaves false teeth odor free. Get the world's largest selling denture cleanser, Polident, at your drug counter.

Former King's Party Wins Cambodia Vote

PHON PENH, Cambodia (Reuters)—Former king Norodom Sihanouk and his popular Socialist Community party won all 91 seats in the National Assembly in general elections in this Indochina state, official sources said today.

The Democratic party, pledged to replace the monarchy, was routed.

The other principal party in the Indochina state's election was the Communist-led People's party, appearing in the open for the first time.

The election was the first to be held in accordance with last year's Geneva agreements ending the ending the eight-year Indochina war. Another Indochina state, Laos, votes in September, and elections to reunite North and South Viet Nam are due in July next year.

PICTON

Fair Attendance Equal to That Of Last Year

PICTON.— Sunday night, the curtain rang down on the 102nd annual Prince Edward County Fair. Attendance of around 22,000 for three days equalled that of last year as Saturday's attendance exceeded all records and made up for a small crowd on Friday. With both tomato and corn picking at its height during the week, farmers were forced to wait until the last day in order to visit the fair.

The fair was fortunate in the weather, all days being bright and sunny until 11 o'clock, Saturday night when rain fell.

INTERESTING FEATURES

The three day event was packed with interesting features. The horse races, two days, were excellent. In the Black and White show, 101 Holsteins were paraded before Judge Orvan Chambers of Wilfred Monfa Farms, Wellington, and the grand champion bull with reserve to J. Alexander of Hillier, Curtis Dease had senior and grand champion female, with reserve to Monfa Farms. Alexander had junior champion female with reserve to John May and Sons.

In the first Hastings-Prince Edward Yorkshire club show, James Alexander, Hillier, won the top awards.

700 BIRDS SHOWN

There were more than 700 entries in poultry. The large collection of bantams, pheasants and game birds was of special interest. Leading winners were W. P. Marvin, W. Willis, H. Caldwell, Mrs. Tom Fox, Walter Miller, Alex Miller, Allan Hamilton.

Saturday night's wrestling show in the new Agricultural Centre drew 800 fans. Due to illness Whipper Watson was unable to attend and his place in the feature bout was taken by strong man Doug Hepburn who took two straight falls from villain Doc Gallagher.

Variety show Friday night drew a large crowd to the grandstand. Doug Romaine was master of ceremonies. Singers, musicians, acrobats and an animal act pleased the crowd.

The popular Kansas Farmer was present Saturday and entertained afternoon and evening.

The new Centre provided better display for small products. The agricultural exhibits won high praise from W. M. Mullen, Federal Dept. of Agriculture fieldman. Quality was exceptionally high.

President W. Sills and secretary-treasurer Phil Dodds, stated that the Fair had lived up to all expectations. The busy season had prevented a larger attendance but it is expected that the Fair will be a financial success as well.

Came Close to "Losing His Head" in Russia

Rep. Joseph F. Holt, Republican, of Van Nuys, Calif., who just recently returned to U.S. from Russia, demonstrates in Washington how a Russian army lieutenant felt about Americans in Moscow. The Red, who apparently had not heard of the latest era of good feeling toward the US held a cocked pistol to Holt's head, and only intervention by a Russian colonel prevented an international incident. The state department has filed a protest. (Central Press Canadian).

Hail Does Damage

MEAFORD (CP) — Hailstones an inch thick covered the ground like snow, smashed more than 1,000 panes of glass and heavily damaged fruit crops Saturday in this southern Georgian Bay area.

Residents said hundreds of bushels of apples were "cut to ribbons" by the hail. The storm covered an area about two miles square.

DAUGHTER FOR SINGER

Cherry Brandy Too Strong For Khrushchev

MOSCOW (AP) — The Germans have finally found a drink too strong for Russia's convivial Nikita Khrushchev. A cherry brandy produced in Germany's Black Forest region.

At Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's lavish luncheon for Soviet leaders Sunday, the Soviet Communist party secretary took a gulp of the stuff, known as kirschwasser.

A member of the German delegation said Khrushchev—an old vodka hand—choked and spluttered: "This stuff is for exen. I never in my life drank anything that burned my throat so much."

Husband Held After Wife's Body Unearthed

PENTICTON, B. C. (CP) — Search started when an unattended lawn sprinkler aroused a father's fears has led police to a shallow grave holding the body of a young housewife. Her husband was held for questioning.

RCMP said the search began last Tuesday after Mrs. and Mrs. George Kramer drove away from their fruit farm at nearby Summerland in the interior Okanagan valley.

Mrs. Kramer's father, Rudy Klix, who lives near the Kramer farm, said the lawn sprinklers were left on, indicating the couple was not planning to be away long. When they did not return, he called police.

RCMP found the grave holding the body of Ruth Kramer, 22. Half an hour before the finding of the body police, acting on a tip from a motorist, picked up George Kramer, 28, the husband.

They said he was found wandering in the hills near Okanagan Falls, about 24 miles away from the location of the grave. He is being held for questioning.

Russian Sees Red Over Chinese Delegate to U.N.

Efforts to reach a settlement of the Israeli-Egyptian border crisis hit a temporary snag when Arkady A. Sobolev, at right, Russian delegate to the United Nations, challenged the right of Nationalist China's Tingfu F. Tsiang to preside at an emergency session of the U.N. Security Council in New York. Sobolev, shown talking with Egyptian delegate Omar Loutfi, raised his challenge when the council began discussion on a U.S.-French-British resolution for enforcing the truce in the Gaza border region between Egypt and Israel. The Russian demanded that the National Chinese delegate, who's council president for September, give up his seat in favor of the Chinese Communists. He was ruled out of order.

Mexico Is Fast Growing Up, Life Is Easier All Round

By LAURANCE F. STUNTZ

MEXICO CITY (AP) — After more than a century of almost constant internal disturbances which slowed her development, Mexico is growing up and life is easier all around.

Mexico, settled by Europeans almost a hundred years before the rest of North America, has always been overshadowed by her bigger, richer neighbor. Her industry and trade are modeled on the United States (although her banks and elder retail stores follow French customs).

Despite terrific cultural pressure from the north, Mexico has remained a Latin, Roman Catholic country. Lengthy and late lunch hours are still the custom. Mexico has its own movie industry and its best films are good. Politics are noisy, not notoriously honest. Newspapers still publish poetry.

But new roads and airlines have reduced the hills. Water running off them has been turned into electric power. New crops have made the valleys more productive.

LIFE IS BETTER

In 15 years Mexico has increased her population by 40 per cent. But her national income, the total value of all farm and factory goods, has doubled in that time. That means that 40 per cent more people are sources of dollars.

And that means that everybody is eating more, dressing better and spending a little more on luxuries.

Basically, the reason for all this improvement is political. Mexico is enjoying the longest period of internal peace in her history. She has gone longer without a successful revolution than any other Latin American state.

Irrigation has increased cotton production, now the chief dollar-earning export, with coffee close behind. Internal peace also has given Mexico a terrific income from tourists. The 400,000 North Americans who visit here every year are one of the country's chief sources of dollars.

HEALTH A PROBLEM

Health is still a problem. The death rate in childbirth is still high. Too many Mexicans are still drinking contaminated water. There are too few doctors.

Education is still insufficient. Illiteracy is still around 40 per cent despite the government's best efforts.

There's another dark cloud on the Mexican horizon—inflation. The value of the peso has dropped from 22 cents in 1939 to eight cents now. Every time the trade balance goes against the country, the government has dropped the value of the peso again.

British Isles Pictures Shown At Riggs School

MADOC — On Wednesday evening, Miss Marilyn Parks of Cooper, showed films on her recent tour of Scotland, England and Wales to a capacity crowd at Riggs school.

Miss Parks was one of the four rural young people from Ontario chosen for the annual tour sponsored by the Department of Agriculture, the Ontario Junior Farmers and 4 H Clubs.

Children and adults alike showed keen interest and were grateful to the Hartrigge Women's Institute for sponsoring the evening.

Mrs. Leonard Trotter led in community singing accompanied by Mrs. Allan Franks.

Miss Parks was presented with an English bone china service plate by Mrs. Trotter, on behalf of the W. I. members. Refreshments were served.

27-Pound Muskie Landed At Moira Lake

MADOC — Moira Lake, which has been famous for its excellent September muskinonge fishing, is living up to its reputation, and during the past week the lake has given up some excellent catches.

Gordon Pigden heads the list for the big fellows with a 27-pounder. After playing the fish for two hours Gordon, who was fishing alone at the time, called for assistance. Mac Woods went to his aid and took part in the final kill.

Ralph Porter, of Furterville, Pa., who was fishing with W. Meyers, is second on the list with a 26-pounder, while Mr. Meyers brought in a 20-pounder.

Ed. Armstrong, who won the KKIkanis trophy last year, while fishing with Murray Mason, landed a 20-pounder.

G. H. Fowlie, of Niagara Falls, while fishing with Jim Watson, caught two 16-pounders and a 14-pounder.

Ladies were also among the successful anglers. Mrs. W. Meyers caught a 14-pounder, and Mrs. R. Curry of Falconbridge, while fishing with her brother, Ed. Arbic, caught one weighing 13 pounds.

Mr. George Garner holds for the record for theh most fish. He hooked eight muskies last week, landing four. The largest weighed 15 pounds.

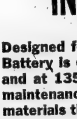
RCAF ENTERS FLOAT IN FRENCH FESTIVAL

When the French Mirabelle festival was celebrated this year, members of No. 1 RCAF Air Division headquarters in France entered a novel float, showing a miniature jet aircraft, plums and branches, and a map of Northern France. The float was divided into two sections with Leading Aircraftman Claude Violette of Iroquois, N.B., shown "piloting" the jet, assisted by two French damsels. The other half of the float showed "Jacques Cartier" meeting a Canadian "Indian." The three-day festival marks the harvesting of the Mirabelle plum, famous in the Metz-Moselle district. Slogans on the float read: "The French discovered Canada 1534—Canada discovered Mirabelle 1953."

What's news at Inco?

Fleet experience suggests that savings in battery inspection, and maintenance costs are as important as the long life, temperature and power output characteristics of this new Sintered Plate Nickel-Cadmium Battery. Because this battery does not fume it can be located inside the truck cab or in the back of the bus. Once a year water is added. Holds its charge in storage. No damage if discharged. The full story is below, and should interest every fleet operator.



NEW BATTERY LASTS 15 YEARS! INCO NICKEL PLAYS IMPORTANT PART

Designed for tough conditions, the new Nickel-Cadmium Battery is capable of successful service at 65° below zero and at 135° above. It has extra starting power and low maintenance costs. Inco aided in development of the special materials that made this remarkable battery possible.

Here are Facts About the Sintered Plate Nickel-Cadmium Battery

Ques. Will it operate in extreme cold and heat?

Ans. Types are available which will start an engine at 65° below zero F. Can be charged at 65° below zero F. These batteries will not freeze until the temperatures drop below 75° below zero F., and will not be damaged even if they are frozen. At the other extreme these batteries will operate successfully at temperatures as high as 135° F. without damage to the battery.

Batteries are compact because thin, flexible nylon and plastic separators are used.

Ques. What type of battery is it?

Ans. The new Nickel-Cadmium Battery is an alkaline battery, employing potassium hydroxide, rather than acid, as the electrolytic compound.

Ques. What is the Nickel-Cadmium Battery suitable for?

Ans. The Nickel-Cadmium Battery can be used in any type of service where the conventional type of storage battery is employed. No modification of the charging system or of the electrical system is required.

Ques. How about storage?

Ans. The Nickel-Cadmium Battery can be stored either charged or uncharged without damage. If stored charged, it will hold its charge for a very long time. At low-temperatures there is practically no loss of charge. This means that the battery can be left out all winter and it will be ready for work in the spring. With this battery, fleet operators need no "battery room". Cycling of batteries in stock is eliminated.

Ques. How does it compare in size and weight with other batteries?

Ans. In a truck or bus a Nickel-Cadmium Battery half the size of a conventional battery will give twice the starting power at low temperatures and is much lighter.

Ques. Does it give off fumes?

Ans. The Sintered Plate Nickel-Cadmium Battery does not give off noxious or corrosive fumes. It can safely be installed under the rear seat of a bus, away from the damaging effect of salt and gravel.

Ques. Can heavy-duty types be obtained?

Ans. They are giving good service starting railway diesels and operating railway signal systems and in many tough jobs.

Ques. Will they soon be available in Canada?

Ans. Canadian-made batteries are already available and in use in limited quantities in Canada.

Urges West Deal Cautiously With German Question

MONTREAL (CP) — Arthur Dodds-Parker, British parliamentary undersecretary of state for Commonwealth relations, said today the Western nations would be wise to move cautiously where Germany is concerned.

Mr. Dodds-Parker, who arrived here Saturday by plane for a four-week eastern Canada tour, said in an interview:

"Chancellor Adenauer, of course, is definitely pro-West, but Germany has traditional economic ties to Russia in the East.

"It is the old struggle between the Teutons and the Slavs. Only the fact that neither will allow the other to rule the household prevents a grand alliance against the West."

Mr. Dodds-Parker also said the West should beware of Communist China—"a nation not nearly as dominated by Russia as people would think."

28 Westinghouse Plants Closed By Strike in U.S.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Twenty-eight American plants of Westinghouse Electric Corp. were hit today by a strike of 43,000 members of the International Union of Electrical Workers (CIO) which stemmed from an efficiency plan.

There was no immediate indication that the company's other 30 plants, employing about 70,000 workers affiliated with other unions, would be affected.

The CIO-IUEW, headed by James Carey, ordered the walkout to begin on schedule only a few hours after the company had announced that Carey had "initialled an agreement" to end a five-week strike at Westinghouse's east Pittsburgh plant "and cancel a threatened national strike."

The strike at the east Pittsburgh plant began Aug. 7 when 2,200 crane operators and service employees walked off the job in protest of a company plan to make a time study as an efficiency move.

Local 601, representing the east Pittsburgh plant, said the time study violated the contract. Denying this, the company said it was entitled to manage its own operations.

Conservatives Meet in Ottawa In January

OTTAWA (CP)—Annual meeting of the Progressive Conservative Association of Canada will be held in Ottawa next Jan. 16, 17 and 18, George Hees, national president, announced today.

The meeting was originally scheduled for mid-November. Mr. Hees attributed the postponement to the length of the last session of Parliament, which ended in late July, and opposition leader George Drew's cross-country tour for this fall.

Object Report Not Released

TIMMINS (CP)—The Porcupine area council of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) has asked Miles Minister Kelly to receive a union delegation to discuss the case of Dennis Burke who was involved in a mine accident last March 23.

Leo Bebie, area representative of the union, said a report from W. E. Bawden, chief inspector of mines for Ontario, to the arbitration board hearing the case on July 20 had not been released when prepared as the Ontario Mining Act says it should have been.

Burke was brought before the board after an accident in which a trolley-locomotive, a battery-locomotive and 16 cars fell down an elevator shaft from the 2,075-foot level causing a two-week halt in production.

Puss'n Boots—made from fresh whole fish—gives your cat sparkling health and beauty!

These fresh-caught fish are rushed from Canadian coastal waters into sanitary canneries, where the whole fish is processed into Puss'n Boots Cat Food.

CATS GROW AND THRIVE ON NATURE'S LIFE BALANCE IN WHOLE FISH!

THE secret of a cat's health and disposition is in its feeding. According to biologists, the best single food you can give your cat is whole fish. Not just any part or scrap of fish. There's an important scientific reason for that word "whole". It's really an exciting story for any cat owner who wants a healthy, contented and good-looking pet.

Only Whole Fish has Life Balance

In a living fish there's a balance of those mysterious elements which nature uses to sustain a healthy, thriving organism. When whole fish is prepared for cat food, those elements are retained intact, just as they were in the living fish. The filets supply rich proteins. The liver and glands yield precious vitamins. The bone structure provides calcium and phosphorus. From various parts of the fish come iron, vitamins, calcium, manganese and all those vital food elements which nature uses to sustain full vitality. That's why cat food made from parts or scraps of fish is not enough. While almost any part supplies something valuable, your cat needs all those nutrients, in nature's own life balance. Only the whole fish supplies them all.

Puss'n Boots is made from Whole Fish

Our business is cat food. Puss'n Boots is not made from parts of fish or scraps. We process whole fish, with nature's balance of nutritive elements intact as they were in the living fish. Valuable cereals are added for flavor and all round nutrition. You couldn't duplicate the food value in Puss'n Boots whole fish even if you went to endless trouble buying and cooking complicated meals for your cat. But all you have to do is open a can of pressure-cooked, ready-to-serve Puss'n Boots.

YOU CAN GIVE yourself a pleasant surprise by feeding Puss'n Boots regularly to your cat. In three weeks or less you'll see a more frisky pet, with a livelier step, a sleeker look, a more contented purr . . . more of all those lovable qualities you want in your pet. Try it!

Compare your cat's food with Puss'n Boots. Only Puss'n Boots is so well balanced . . . nourishes so completely!

Faure Prepares to Tackle Cabinet Opposition to Deal For Home Rule in Morocco

NORWEGIAN ENVOY

Arne Christian Gunneng, 40, is Norway's first ambassador to Canada. He was with the Norwegian NATO delegation in Paris before coming to Ottawa and has served in Stockholm, Warsaw and Washington. (CP Photo).

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN

PARIS (AP) — Premier Edgar Faure today tackled the most potent political opposition at home to his new deal for Morocco as President Rene Coty summoned the full cabinet to pass on the home rule agreement worked out with the pro-nationalist former sultan, Mohammed Ben Youssef.

Across the Mediterranean, the North African protectorate uneasily awaited the outcome of the cabinet session. The French showeved the Arab quarters of the chief cities with leaflets, bluntly warning that they would permit no repetition of the August uprising in which more than 1,000 died.

Heavy detachments of troops patrolled Casablanca and other major cities to counter any violence which might be touched off by one nationalist group's call for a general strike.

Faure was determined to get cabinet approval for his Moroccan settlement today, the target date he assigned himself a month ago. However, some right-wing cabinet ministers were expected to oppose at least some portions of the accord.

GOVERNMENT INVOLVED

The rightest opposition involves not only the future of Morocco but that of Faure's government as well. Although Socialist votes probably will ensure the National Assembly's approval of the settlement, a walkout by the right-wing ministers could virtually force the premier to resign when Parliament reconvenes next month.

Faure and the rest of his "committee of five" ministers who have been handling the Moroccan problem Sunday night endorsed the agreement which their special envoys, Gen. Georges Catroux and Henri Vienot, negotiated last week with Ben Youssef in Madagascar.

The accord provides for replacement of Sultan Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafa by a three-man regency until his right to the throne is finally settled, and formation of a representative Moroccan government to negotiate a new political, economic and cultural partnership with France.

There has still been no indication that Moulay Arafa will leave the throne voluntarily. Resident-General Pierre Berger de Latour conferred with the old man at his palace a Rabat again Sunday, but the nature of his counsel to insist he had no intention of quitting.

FIGHT POLICE

In Paris, some 400 air force students were called up for North African duty battled military police at a railroad station for more than two hours Sunday to prevent being shipped to Marseille, their port of embarkation, for duty in Morocco.

Reinforcements finally were taken by truck to a suburban air base. The 400 air force infantry of the men will be flown to North Africa while their insubordination is investigated.

The air ministry said some civilians on the station platform were seen encouraging the demonstration, but no civilians have been arrested. Families and friends of the men recalled to duty had been admitted to the station for farewells.

Archbishop Is Challenged On Statement

LONDON (AP)—The Archbishop of Canterbury Sunday was challenged "on theological grounds" from a pulpit in St. Paul's cathedral—one of the best known churches of the Anglican faith he leads.

Canon L. J. Collins, precentor of St. Paul's, took issue with statements attributed to the archbishop, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, about his African tour.

Dr. Fisher was reported as saying in Nyasaland in April that though all men are equal within the love of God, they are not within the sight of God.

Canon Collins said that "on theological grounds we must challenge" the remarks of the archbishop.

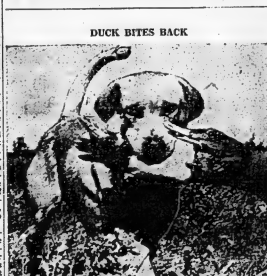
"In the context of the Christian gospel just as we must say all men are equal in the love of God,'so we also say all men are equal in the sight of God.

"In Christ there is neither Greek nor Jew, neither bond nor free, neither black nor white . . . to the quality of men in God's sight and the quality of men in God's love is, with man's judgment, to create God in the image of man."

TWO KILLED IN LANE

DETROIT (AP)—A civilian air patrol instructor and a 16-year-old student were killed in the flaming crash of a two-passenger plane in suburban Plymouth township Sunday. The plane crashed in a vacant lot in a new residential area. It came within some 30 yards of hitting a home. Killed were Frank Capcrill, 35, the pilot, and Daniel Butler, 16, of Detroit.

LOOK ALIKES



They may look like identical twins but they're not—in fact they come from different countries. At left is Major Allistair Ritchie of the Scots Guards and his look-alike is 2nd Lieut. Desmond Arthur of Ottawa's Governor-General's Foot Guards. Maj. Ritchie is in Ottawa with a group of touring players from Scotland. (CP Photo).

The U.S. air force has made it plain that it intends to keep operating its "torture school" in the Nevada desert despite assertions that trainees are subjected to "brutal" treatment. Hotly defending the 17-day escape and evasion course at the Stead air force base near Reno, commandant of the school, Col. Burton E. McKenzie — seen at left with Major John Oliphant, director of instruction at the base—told a news conference at the Pentagon in Washington, that the rigorous conditioning to which his students are exposed is necessary and will be continued. One of the many torturous techniques employed on GIs include the one seen at right which shows an airman confined to a deep hole. Other will-breaking tactics include a 38-hour interrogation session, punctuated by personal insults and electric shocks. Purpose of the course is to toughen the men to Communist brain-washing techniques.

World Bank Report States Production Drawing Ahead In Race With Population

ISTANBUL, Turkey (Reuters)—Throughout most of the world living standards are rising and "in the vital race between population and production, production is drawing ahead."

This optimistic picture is drawn in a report for the year 1954-55 issued by the World Bank and submitted today to the annual session here of the board of governors of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

The report declares that, given an adequate measure of economic and political stability, the prospect in the world as a whole is for "further expansion in economic activity and improvements in living standards."

Eugene Black, American head of the 56-country world bank, declared in his presidential address that the bank hopes its new international finance corporation will start in January. About 50 bank members had indicated that they would join the corporation, which would aid the growth of productive private enterprise, particularly in less-developed areas.

SEPARATE TALKS

At other meetings today, finance chiefs of the 56 countries discussed plans to strengthen the economic and financial position of the non-Communist world.

R. A. Butler, Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, held separate talks with the finance ministers of the Commonwealth on economic developments in the sterling area.

The World Bank report for the 12 months ended June 30, 1955, pointed out that the rosy picture of steady progress did not apply everywhere, "in a few countries inflation increased, bringing serious balance of payments difficulties."

"Although commodity prices were generally stable, the fall in coffee, rice, wool and certain other prices had adverse effects on the terms of trade and balance of payments of some exporting countries, and required adjustments in internal consumption and investment."

Says Electrical Guns Downed Huge Balloon

FOWLER, Ind. (AP) — An air force man may have disclosed accidentally the existence of an American "secret weapon" after he parachuted to guard scientific instruments on a huge balloon shot down by a C-119 weather plane.

One of the parachutists told bystanders that the balloon, launched five days before at Denver, was brought down Sunday with electrical impulse guns." Then he refused to elaborate.

In Washington, the air force refused to comment immediately.

Winzen Research Corp. at Minneapolis suggested that the "electrical impulse guns" probably were radio remote control devices for letting gas out of the balloon.

TO RELEASE ITALIANS

LONDON (AP)—Communist Albania says she is going to release "immediately" 12 Italians she has been holding "for crimes committed during the war as well as following the liberation." Tirana radio announced Sunday night that "every possible facility" will be given for repatriating them.

Auto Workers Plan to Boycott Board Hearings

HAMILTON (CP)—International union representative John Eldon says some judges have the "brass" of a sandpaper wheel when it comes to charging for arbitration services.

Mr. Eldon, a representative of the United Auto Workers (CIO-CCL), said Sunday many unions are embarrassed by the high cost of arbitration, 50 per cent of which must be paid by them.

Some judges, he said, are granted a $50-a-day allowance when sitting on arbitration cases and then add travelling time and sundry expenses to stretch their fees.

Mr. Eldon made the comments at a meeting of the UAW's District Council 26. Delegates reiterated their intention of boycotting any future three-man conciliation board hearings.

They endorsed the stand of George Burt, the union's Canadian director, who has twice walked out on conciliation board hearings in disputes with General Motors of Canada Ltd.

REPORT CRITICIZED

Pass, chairman of the three-man board hearing disputes involving 17,000 workers at five GM plants had shown "arrogance and ignorance." In his final report, Judge Anderson recommended that unions should be decertified if they walk out of hearings.

Delegates endorsed a resolution recommended at a meeting last Friday of union heads at Ford of Canada, Chrysler and General Motors of Canada. The resolution asks that conciliation-board steps in negotiations be eliminated.

Delegates also recommended that money now spent on political action should be diverted to providing political education through pamphlets, literature and lectures.

During the weekend workers at three GM plants took strike votes, as in Toronto members of Local 303 at the Frigidaire plant recorded a 96 per cent vote in favor of strike action, if necessary. More than 1,000 workers are involved.

At the General Motors diesel plant in London, Ont., a 88.5 per cent vote of the members of the 520-member union favored strike action if necessary.

Members of Local 199 at McKinnon Industries Ltd. at St. Catharines have not completed their vote. It is expected to be finished tonight.

Union Officials Want to Know Why Mine Closed

COBALT (CP)—A small local mine employing 42 men closed down Sunday and union officials said they would seek an investigation by the Ontario department of labor.

Manager Allen Morgan of the mine and mill operated by Cobalt Mines and Refineries, Ltd., said the mine and its mill were closed for repairs and maintenance.

Kitch Banastayne, regional official of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.), said it was closed out of discrimination against company employees who voted Friday to have the union become their bargaining agent.

THREE FIRED

Harvey Murphy, union vice-president, said the company had fired three men Friday when it was learned the union would apply for certification.

Mr. Morgan said the firings were caused by insubordination, drinking and old age.

He said the company had spent much money on the mine. Work on repairs would begin at once and it would reopen "some day."

$50,000 Stolen From Montreal Private Home

MONTREAL (CP)—Nearly $50,000 in cash and jewelry was stolen from a private home in Montreal sometime Saturday night, police reported Sunday.

Detectives said thieves entered the home by forcing open a door and escaping nearly $25,000 in cash, and jewelry of the same value was stolen.

Catholic Labor Will Wait Year On Merger Issue

QUEBEC (CP) — The Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor will wait at least another year before it takes an official stand on the question of a possible merger with other Canadian unions.

Archbishop Paul Picard said in his annual report to the opening of the CCCL convention Sunday that the time is not yet ripe for the CCCL to take an official stand on the possibility of a merger with the Canadian Congress of Labor and the Trades and Labor Congress. He said preliminary discussions on the question have been held recently himself and other top union officials and it was decided to postpone decision another year.

Delegates today prepared to tackle almost 100 resolutions submitted for adoption. The resolutions, submitted by affiliated and local federations throughout the province, will be voted on today and Tuesday, after study by the committee reports which will take up the rest of the week-long convention.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. A. V. Smith's pride and joy was the knotty canvas wood ceiling in the living room of her home. Lightning struck the house Sunday, and left every knot out of the ceiling but doing little damage otherwise.

JOINS SONS AT SCHOOL

LANDIS, N. C. (AP)—Mrs. J. C. Beaver got lonely when her twin sons started school last year. So this year the 39-year-old mother has decided to go to school with them, finishing the last year of high school, which she had passed up to get married.

Waterfront Strike Called Off Briefly Sunday Continues Crippling Grip on New York

NEW YORK (AP)—A waterfront strike, called off briefly Sunday night, today continued its crippling grip on the port of New York.

The International Longshoremen's Association (Ind.) whose long-standing conflict with the waterfront commission of New York harbor led to the strike six days ago, early today withdrew a recommendation that the men go back to work. But union officials added that some men might return to their jobs anyway.

The union had called off the strike after what Patrick J. Connolly, executive vice-president of the ILA, called a reported promise that the union's claimed grievances against the commission would get a hearing before a joint legislative committee on industrial and labor conditions.

MELTED AWAY

This basis for ending the strike melted away when the committee chairman, State Assemblyman John Dunleavy announced in Schenectady that he had made no such agreement.

The union has long chafed under regulations of the waterfront commission, which has only two years ago by the states of New York and New Jersey to license dock labor here.

The ILA, which was thrown out of the AFL for allegedly failing to clean out racketeer elements, strongly objected to what it called denying work permits to men with long criminal records. It also claimed the commission was too strict, and interfered with collective bargaining.

The commission has denied any abuse of power, saying the union's bitter resistance to its regulations was "just plain lawlessness." It has urged the union to file specific grievances and said it would give them a fair hearing.

BACKS COMMISSION

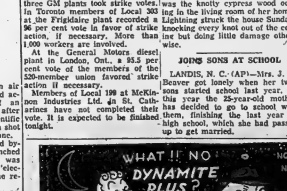
Ostrander's disavowal of any agreement with the union backed up the waterfront commission. He said the committee will not be a forum for any organization that defies "the administrative authority of a legally constituted body nor will it provide an excuse for cessation of an illegal act."

The union is under a court order to end the strike by 4 p. m. today. Leaders face citation for contempt of court and heavy financial damages. In addition, the shipping industry, with which the union has a no-strike contract, has announced that it will sue for $10,000,000 in damages.

Named Bishop

OTTAWA (CP)—Appointment of Msgr. Laurent Morin, 48, as auxiliary bishop of Montreal was announced Sunday by the Canadian Catholic Conference.

The conference said announcement of the appointment of Msgr. Morin as auxiliary to Archbishop Paul Emile Leger was released this morning by Most Rev. Gioacchino Pasico, apostolic delegate to Canada.



Seek New Contract

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP) A conciliation officer will be sought to negotiate a new contract between Local 240 of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union (Ind.) and Lakeshore Mines Ltd., and Kirkland Lake Gold Mining Company, Ltd., if it was announced Saturday.

The union asks a 44-hour week, against the present 48, an automatic cost-of-living-bonus pay; a 10-cent-an-hour increase in pay at all grades; shift premiums for afternoon and night work; two additional statutory holidays; two weeks holiday after two years service instead of after five, and three weeks after 15 years.

Catches Youngster Falling Off Elevator

BRANTFORD (CP)—Pat Sherrad, 12, today was said by police to owe her life to a flour mill employee who saw her falling down a deep elevator shaft Saturday and caught her at the bottom.

Four youngsters were playing on the elevator—consisting of a heavy moving belt, with wooden footrests, and handles to hold.

BLEAK ISLAND

This is the sandy face of Sable island, 190 miles off Nova Scotia. Battered and shifted by swirling tides and crashing waves, it is known as the Graveyard of the Atlantic. Seals congregate on the lonely island. Only 29 people, a herd of wild ponies and 500 sheep live on the narrow, 24-mile-long strip of land. Ships that have foundered up more than 300 ships and 10,000 men. (CP from National Defence).

Research Professor Recording Physical Changes of Sable Is.

By STEWART MacLEOD

Canadian Press Staff Writer

HALIFAX (CP) — The bleak, sandy face of Sable island, battered and tossed by tides and waves, is being studied by a research professor who is recording its physical changes.

The shifting sands wash around the coast of the "graveyard of the Atlantic" in fierce tides, piling up around natural breakwaters and sliding away from open beaches. Now, for the first time, the island is getting a scientific study.

Prof. H. L. Cameron of the Nova Scotia research foundation has just completed an aerial photographic survey of the island, 180 miles off Nova Scotia. This will be compared with a similar survey he made three years ago. The comparison will show exactly what has happened to the face of the island during the three years.

OCEAN TRAP

The dangerous sands have always been mysterious. Since records were first made, more than 200 ships and 12,000 men have been swallowed up in Sable. Some ships have been known to disappear in two days. Only eight were ever recovered.

The 27 people who live on the lonely island—all of them transient port department employees and dependents—occupy a small cluster of houses away from the crashing waves and tentacle-like sandbars. But when high winds sweep across the 24-mile-long island piles of sand drift up like snow. Some houses have had to be moved because of sand banks and ground movements, and one lighthouse has been shifted five times since 1873.

The sand washing off one side of the island, piling up on the other is said to be moving Sable at the rate of one-eighth of a mile every year. The long finger of land is less than a milewide for its entire length.

After heavy storms, pieces of old wrecked ships are heaved from the sands that trapped them. Buried timbers and waste, enclosed in the sand for centuries, are still being freed. Most of these pieces are tacked on the walls of an old barn, flame-plates of dozens of ships hang in the building.

The residents who operate a weather station and radio posts spend much of their spare time hiking around Sable's hills and hollows. A herd of wild ponies, descendants of animals that came to the island more than 200 years ago, are other residents. Nobody knows for sure how these animals got there, but historians say they were either victims of a shipwreck or put there for use by shipwrecked sailors. There is also a flock of 200 sheep.

Most employees on the island are stationed there for one period and usually come home when their time is up. There have been several years when they stayed for another term, and a few other occasions when the quarters were filled. One man got so disgusted three years ago that he jumped in a dory and began rowing to Nova Scotia. He was picked up by a passing trawler and got to Halifax without difficulty.

RICE HARVEST

Indian harvesters use a canoe to reap wild rice in shallow lakes and marshes in eastern Manitoba. The Indians call September the Moon of Wild Rice. Pickers are paid 25 cents a pound by dealers. The rice is sold on the Chicago market at approximately $110 a bushel. Indians in the canoe glide through towering rice stalks. The one in the bow guides the canoe while the other kneels amidships and bends the grain stems over the side of the canoe with a long picking stick. With a second stick held in the other hand he gently taps off the rice heads into the bottom of the craft.—(CP from National Film Board.)

Indians Paid 25 Cents Pound For Wild Rice, Sells for $110 Bus.

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Indians call September the moon of wild rice. It's the month they gather on the shores of shallow lakes and marshes in eastern Manitoba to begin the annual harvesting of Mahnomen or wild rice.

Two Indians in a canoe slowly glide through the towering rice stalks. One sits in the bow guides the canoe while his companion kneels amidships and bends the slender grass-like stems over the side of the canoe with an 18-inch long picking stick, while with a second stick held in the other hand, he gently taps off the rice heads into the bottom of the craft.

Finally, the rice-laden canoes return to their shore where the women slightly roast the green rice in battered basins and old pots to loosen the hulls.

"DANCE THE RICE"

Then the men and young boys "dance the rice" in a hole dug in the ground, holding one to a buckskin bag and chanting a monotonous rhythmic tune while jiggling up and down on the rice in moccasined feet to remove the hulls. The rice is then cleaned off chaff, and ready for cooking.

Bill Williams of Pointe Du Bois harvests wild rice in the modern style. He's been at it since 1917 when he pioneered the processing and marketing of this little known, but highly-prized Canadian cereal.

Williams built a submarine harvester which looks not unlike a surrealist binder mounted on a 32-foot scow. On either side are beater arms which gently tap the rice heads, knocking the kernels onto the tables below.

The kernels are carried by rakers to the boat where a helper scoops them into sacks. The scow is propelled and steered by two large paddle wheels operating independently and powered by an 83-horsepower engine. The paddle wheels, by stirring up the mucky bottom of the marsh, cultivate the rice beds in the same way that a plow prepares the grain fields.

This strange contraption floats over 300 acres of marsh land on Lac Du Bois which Mr. Williams leases from the Manitoba government.

Mr. Williams loosens the rice hulls by a system of engine-driven drums revolving over a low fire. Hulling is done by modern machinery.

FINEST IN WORLD

Manitoba's wild rice fields, judged the finest in the world, are located between the 49th and 54th parallel, but to the east side of Lake Winnipeg where conditions are most suitable.

Rice fields are administered by the lands and forestry branch of the Manitoba government which collects 15 per cent of the cash value of the rice when the fields are located in accessible areas and 7½ per cent when they are inaccessible and planes must be used to freight it out.

Large rice areas in the Whiteshell district are also auctioned off to the highest bidder for harvesting.

Gourmets prize Manitoba's wild rice, used for stuffing for wild duck. It can be served with venison or any wild game or as a stuffing for peppers or combined with tuna fish or chow mein.

However, it is not seen on many housewives' shelves; It retails at $2.35 a pound. White rice sells at 25 cents.

Life in New Que. Mining Town Mixes Big City Conveniences With Reminders of Frontier

By FORBES RHODE

Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHIBOUGAMAU, Que. (CP) — Life in this new northern Quebec mining town misses big city conveniences with a reminder that the frontier calls for courage.

There was the recent case, for instance, of a woman who planned to go across the hospital for the delivery of her child by Caesarean section, but who found she had waited too long.

If there were a hospital in Chibougamau, said youthful Dr. Bernard Paul Brisson, the case would have been relatively straight-forward.

BORN IN SHACK

In the circumstances he felt he must try to get the patient to hospital at Roberval, 170 miles away, mostly over gravel highway and pretty rough in places.

Not many miles out, however, the woman's condition allowed no further delay and a roadside shack became the delivery room.

Dr. Brisson carries some $4,000 worth of equipment in his car, including a resuscitator and x-ray equipment.

Pointing to his modest-sized office in his home, he remarked:

Last Saturday I had four stretcher cases on the floor here, victims of a motor accident."

Often he plays both doctor and nurse to injured patients who must spend the night with him.

He concluded: Don't think I'm griping; I was never happier; I'm staying here."

RETHER A FACTOR

Critical medical or surgery cases are often flown to outside hospitals but weather conditions, especially in the break-up and freezing seasons, frequently forbid flight.

Arrival next year of a railway from Beattyville, 128 miles to the southwest, will help remedy much of today's isolation, as will telephone service, expected in December.

In any event Chibougamau, which was established in 1950, is one of the fastest-growing small towns in the country.

Last fall population was 900, today it is around 2,500, and ultimate population of 5,000 to 10,000 is forecast.

Campbell Chibougamau mines, a copper-gold producer, last year built 75 fine new homes whose brightly painted exteriors give a cheerful and prosperous look to the town's approaches.

The town proper is a mixture of handsome new buildings and some dilapidated-looking structures dating from rushed construction of early days. Three bank buildings took cornerstone at one another in the centre of town to form a miniature of Toronto's King and Bay streets.

300 AT SCHOOL

Recounting growth, Rev. Marcel Hotte, parish priest, said:

In 1952-53 we had 22 school children; in 1953-54 we had 82; and in 1954-55 there were 290. We expect about 300 this September."

In addition to Chibougamau's 1,500 people, another 700 or so live in bunkhouses or new homes at various mines and they help crowd Chibougamau on Saturday nights for beer, hotel scenes and other festivities.

Chibougamau will have neighbors and perhaps rivals. Townsites have been laid out at the properties of both Opemiska Copper Mines and Chibougamau Explorers and building is well under way. To the southwest about 75 miles lots will go on sale next spring for a townsite at Bachelor lake, a new and promising mining area.

H. J. McConnell Ltd., Montreal contractors who built the 150-mile highway to Senneterre, Que., from Chibougamau and cleared the townsite, operate a large camp 12 miles outside the town from which construction men range out on various projects.

Chibougamau, though it gives the impression of the north, is at about the same latitude as Winnipeg.

NORTHERN WILDERNESS

All around it, however, is the wilderness of Canada's Pre-Cambrian shield—hills and mountains, lakes, rocks, forests of spruce and jackpine, at times undulating and at times beautiful, but with never a hope of a grain field.

Conflicting continental and ocean weather currents are often unkind to it. Winter lasts from November to April with heavy snowfall. Normal cold-weather temperature is around 20 to 30 degrees below zero and last winter the mercury dropped to 65 below. However, not a child missed school because of the cold.

The name Chibougamau is applied to the town, to the big surrounding mining area and to a nearby lake. It is an Indian word meaning meeting place of the tribes and the nomad Indians who fish and trap in the area think the white men who delve into the earth for treasure are the craziest tribes who ever met there.

The town is built on a flat sand belt, but fertile black soil is being trucked in 150 miles from the Lake Saint John area to get the first lawns started, and a park is being built along Lake Gilman, the small lake on which the town fronts.

Mrs. George Carlisle attended an executive meeting of Belleville Presbyterial W.M.S. in Wellington.

George Sutherland injured his thumb at Napanee fair grounds on Monday while unloading horses.

Mr. W. E. McMurray, Sarnia, is holidaying with Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Clancy, 6th concession.

Miss Ruth Sharpe, Mount Pleasant, Rawdon, has been awarded a student aid bursary valued at $350. She passed with Upper School papers at King George High school departmental examinations in June. She is now enrolled at Queen's University, Kingston.

PLAN COMMISSION

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — The four nations guaranteeing border peace between Ecuador and Peru plan to send a commission to investigate current tension on that frontier, a diplomatic source said Friday. Brazil, Argentina, Chile and the United States were named guarantors in the 1942 treaty settling a previous boundary dispute between the two nations.

BBC to Throw Million Pounds Into Battle Against Commercial TV Starting on September 23

By STANLEY GODFREY

LONDON (AP)—The BBC has loosened its purse string and thrown a million pounds into the battle against commercial television which starts here Sept. 23.

The state-owned BBC brought out its extra funds in a determined bid to keep top shows and stars from deserting its advertising-free programs.

Fighting strongly against the rival attractions of ITV (the Independent Television Authority), the BBC said it plans to bolster its light entertainment programs.

"We don't intend to lose out because of money," says the BBC's television program chief, Cecil McGivern.

He said the extra cash will be spent in the first six months of the tussle between the BBC channel and the new programs paid for by advertising.

LOSING STARS

The BBC announced it had thrown open its coffers to McGivern and his program planners with only just over three weeks before ITV-day. But already the ranks of the BBCs favorite stars and shows had been thinned drastically by the lure of more money, bigger billings—and the novelty of appearing in a new medium.

With many of its big names drained away by the sponsored shows, the BBC is concentrating on winning the top sporting events for its cameras.

Already the BBC has signed contracts for the big Football Cup final match for the next three years, the Ascot race meetings, the Oxford-Cambridge boat race and the classic lawn tennis championships at Wimbledon.

None of these events so far is exclusive to the BBC—but their men got in first "and we have the best camera positions," McGivern says happily.

HIDDING FOR OTHERS

He said negotiations are still going on about the Derby, the Grand National and the big cricket test matches—probably the program with the biggest following.

But perhaps the biggest feature announced by McGivern is the scrapping of all the current panel games, with the exception of "What's My Line." And even this is switched from its present peak position on Sunday evenings to a quieter spot on Mondays.

Also out are the vaudeville-type variety programs, with acts of equal weight following one another. Like sponsored TV, the BBC is going over to the use of "one program-one personality," with big name shows built around a single player.

TIME BOOST

The number of programs will also be boosted—from 70 to 85 a week—a total time on the air will be upped from 36 to 50 hours a week—the limit for both BC and commercial programs.

There will also be more give-away shows, with money and presents to audience participants, although not on the same scale as commercial TV.

The BBC draws its only revenue from the annual 13 licence needed to own a set "and we don't feel it right to give away too much licence money," McGivern said.

Other attractions planned are more "Eurovision" programs, to which the BBC links up with TV stations on the continent, more plays and longer viewing time for children; recreational fishing have evaporated. As a result, he probably comforts himself in his frustration by falling back on the old saw!—they're not biting this month anyway! Or he partially offsets his impulse by fishing for some more accessible, lesser quarry.

It's tough, but that's the way it often works. But, friends, it's all wrong. Speckled trout do bite in July and August. We've proven it to our own satisfaction time and time again. Why don't you try it?

CONSERVATION

Ketch's Korner

by the ROVING SECRETARY of the CARLING CONSERVATION CLUB

We've often noticed a sort of unwritten "taboo" against fishing for speckled trout in Ontario during July and August. This probably stems from inexperience on the part of the anglers who give voice to this prejudice. Often a complete fallacy, with regular repetition, gains the stature of truth. Perhaps this is what has happened here — and no doubt it's mainly due to the fact that nobody has taken the trouble to dispute it.

We honestly can't understand the reason for the prevalence of this notion. It is particularly confusing to us since our own experience over the years, man and boy, is quite the contrary. It doesn't matter to this Korner if it's May or August. To pique our interest, just mention "speckled trout". And it doesn't matter if the spot referred to is close at hand or not — we're off in a cloud of dust, and we'll do our darndest to get there. And almost invariably we return with at least a little evidence to illustrate our success.

This business of "no trout fishing in mid-summer" has intrigued us for so long that we've tried to get at the real reason for it. The only valid basis we have come up with is one which, paradoxically enough, has little or no bearing on whether the trout bite in the summer months, or not!

Most week-ends in May and June, the avid trout angler is hard at his favorite occupation—trout fishing. During these months, usually, you don't have to work too diligently at your fishing to obtain a reasonable bag. An added incentive is that the kids are still at school — no problem there. The good wife isn't too concerned and likely appreciates a week-end free from the encumbrance of preparing meals for a husband who would normally grouse all day anyway because he couldn't get out to his favorite trout stream. In all likelihood, with the kids around, she's glad to get him out from underfoot. That's in May and June.

But July and August present a totally different picture. School is closed, and after the first week or so Mother is pretty well distracted. The cottage is beckoning — so away they go, bag and baggage, to enjoy their holiday in the peaceful quiet of some beautiful Ontario lakeside. Dad, the trouter, slaves away at the office all week, and week-ends delivers to the campers all the food and other supplies which were forgotten the first trip up. By the time the old man has had a chance to put his feet up and cool out, all he ends up doing is begging for a chance to lie down somewhere in the shade and relax . . .

Meantime, demands for the services of the old breadwinner are piling up — things to be fixed — from clotheslines to screen doors — and everything else which has gone awry over the winter or during the previous week. By this time, all the plans he might have had for sneaking off to do a bit of fishing have gone by the board.

Now, of these events so far is exclusive to the BBC—but their men got in first "and we have the best camera positions," McGivern says happily.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GARRY ALEXANDER

A pair of healthy, muscled athletes lounged about the cottage of Mr. Lawrence "Larry" Egget on Saturday morning, enjoying the last few days of the holidays before doning the flashing blades for another season of National Hockey League action.

Leonard "Red" Kelly, all-star defenceman for the Stanley Cup champion Detroit Red Wings, and Metro Prystai, his former team mate and now with the Chicago Black Hawks, were visiting at the Egget home at Roosmore. By the time this column reaches your living rooms, both these players will have opened training in preparation for their ninth years in the National Hockey League.

Yours truly and co-reporter Harry Mulhall were welcomed by Mr. Egget, his family and the hockey stars, although we arrived in time to interfere with Mr. Kelly's breakfast of four eggs and a stack of toast.

• • • •

The Egget home is always open to NHL players, a personal friend of Detroit's Mr. Hockey, Jack Adams, he enjoys yearly visits from many of the Red Wings. Among others who have fished, swam and enjoyed the cool comfort of the Bay of Quinte at Mr. Egget's home this summer, are Gerdie Howe, hailed by most as the greatest hockey player of the present era and Johnny Wilson, another ex-Detroiter, now with the Black Hawks.

• • • •

Both boys appeared to be in excellent condition and if their bosses are worried about extra pounds, they can forget it. Kelly says he is about five pounds lighter than his best playing weight but figures to be "just right" long before the schedule opens on October 6th. Prystai says he too may add a pound or so before the first whistle marks another year of Canada's top sport under way.

"Red" and Prystai, referred to as "Meatball" or "Meat" by his buddies, were co-operative and friendly from the word go. Kelly appears to never be without a smile, laughing and joking, the kind of fellow who makes you feel right at home. Metro is more on the quiet side, low speaking but just as likeable as Kelly. Neither man would know what to say when I'd've talked about a "twaggart" and yet you can sense their ability by merely speaking to them or even being in the same room.

Kelly spent the summer months working on his father's farm at Simcoe, climbing out of bed with the sun in the morning. "I got up at 5.30 a.m. most of the time but you don't mind when you're doing it for your dad," he added. Prystai quipped that "the old redhead got in his share of golfing and fishing."

The Chicago left-winger was in Yorkton for most of the summer and coached a junior baseball club there. Both said they were anxious to get back with the boys again in hockey camp.

• • • •

We opened up a lengthy discussion when we asked opinions on the big player trade between the Red Wings and Black Hawks.

"I hate to see some of my teammates leaving," replied Kelly, "but Adams is the boss and he knows what he's doing. It's always been his policy to try and improve the team, any chance he can get and so far it's paid off with league championships and Stanley Cups. Jack said he expected the Wings to be 25 percent better this year so I figure we did all right."

"I think it will help both clubs," added Prystai. "Chicago has had the scoring power before but the opposition always seemed to score more goals. Skov and Tony Leswick will make a big difference in that department, both being hard checkers."

Kelly and Prystai agreed that Lerwick was one of the best checkers in the league.

"Sandford should be a big help to the Wings," Metro claimed. "Yes," agreed Kelly, "he's always had the potential there to be a real kick scorer and we figure that he will find himself this season and sink a barrel. The three of us played in the same junior league together, you know, and even went up to the big time in the same year."

"Yes, I think both clubs benefited by the trade but the only way to be sure is to wait and see," said Metro.

• • • •

Kelly was asked which club he thought would give the Wings their toughest battle for league honors and he named Montreal. "They've always set a fighting club, but I think you'll have to watch Chicago this year, too. I would be willing to bet they'll make the playoffs. All the teams are tough but I figure we have a good a chance as any to take the works. McNeil will be a big help to Montreal this year."

Questioned on his biggest thrill in hockey, Kelly said: "Just playing in the NHL, I guess, although it was great when we won all those games at the end of last season, and then went on to win the Stanley Cup. Things didn't look too good for a while but it was nice beating the Canadiens."

• • • •

The big question in hockey today is whether Gordie Howe is a better hockey player than "Rocket" Richard. "I would have to pick Gordie because of his all-around style of play," was Kelly's answer to the question. "Gord is a two-way player and always returns to his own end to check after a rush. I think he will break the Rocket's scoring records, too, if he plays as many years as Richard has. Richard is great inside your blueline, though. He and 'Meat' here are both mighty tough to stop there."

• • • •

Kelly's favorite city to play on the road is Montreal, while he finds Toronto's Harry Lumley the toughest goalie to beat. "I'll be running into Sawchuck this year though and he and Harry are both good. My favorite ice to play in Detroit. "You've got a lovely ice surface there," he remarked to "Red." Sawchuck and Lumley are the best goalies in Metro's books, too, but he added, "they all have to be good or they wouldn't be up there. Rollins can give you plenty of trouble too."

Cleveland Indians Widen Gap In Loop Race by Winning 3 of Four Games Over Weekend

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Time was when Cleveland Indians took the rap for choking up in the pennant drive. But no more. Now it's the New York Yankees —the club with a reputation for winning the big ones—who find it tough to stay loose.

The Indians winning 11 of their last 14 were held to just four hits by southpaw Tommy Byrne in a 5-1 first game defeat at New York Sunday. But they bounced back to come from behind and win 3-2 in the pivotal nightcap.

A loss of the twin bill would have dropped the Indians from first place in the American League race. Instead they ran all back and rest while the AL takes a day off today holding a 1½-game lead with 11 to play. Second place New York has 12.

Bobby Avila with eight hits in his last 14 at bat and reliefer Don Mossi kept the tribe alive in the second game but in the end it was a wild pitch by Whitey Ford, New York's ace, that let the go-ahead run score.

It was the second game in two days the Yanks let slip away. Saturday they blew a 5-1 lead and lost to Chicago 9-8 in 10 innings.

TRIBE WINS SERIES

The victory gave Cleveland the season series with the Yanks 13-9. It's the first time since 1951 the tribe has whipped New York over the year although they split even in the 22 games, while snapping the Yanks' five-year pennant reign last season. It is the first time since Casey Stengel who became manager of the Yankees in 1949 has lost a season series.

The doubleheader split also left Cleveland 3½ games in the third place Chicago, which divided a pair at Boston. The White Sox won the second 7-2. Boston, six games back took the opener 4-3.

Avila hitting .272 after winning the '54 batting title had four hits in the doubleheader and stopped his second homer of the day to tie it at two-all in the eighth inning of the nightcap. Until then Ford (17-7) had a three-hitter.

Mossi came in relief with a double, advanced on a walk and a force-out, then scored as Ford bounced a pitch in front of the plate.

Mossi, in relief of rookie Herb Score, scattered three hits over the last three frames for a 6-3 record. Every pulled him out of his only possible jam making a diving catch of Elston Howard's liner for the final out with the potential tying run on base.

SIX BIT DUST

Score, giving four hits and both Yank runs, struck out six before giving way to a pinch hitter in the seventh that upped his strikeout total to 228, one short of the major mark set by Grover Cleveland Alexander in 1911.

Byrne was the victor as he won his 15th in the opener, fanning five and walking only two. Yogi Berra knocked in three runs and Joe Collins swatted an inside-the-park homer off loser Early Wynn.

Avila had two of the hits off the 35-year-old lefty, a home run and a single. The White Sox bats on as Connie Johnson and Millard Dixie Howell, although rapped for 11 hits, tightened in the clutch and left 13 Boston stranded. Frank Sullivan won his 18th in the first game with a five-hitter while Norm Zauchin drove in three runs.

Detroit split at Washington in a pair of long starters. Billy Hoeft won his 16th in the firs tgame 8-0 and Ned Garver (7-7) reluctantly picked up the nightcap 2-0. Washington had 14 hits in the second game but didn't score off Rookie Frank Lary until Mickey Vernon singled with the bases loaded in the ninth.

Kansas City and Baltimore also split a pair. The A's won 4-3, then lost 4-2.

In the National, Cincinnati's John Klippstein one hit Brooklyn, Pee-Wee Reese's single in the sixth with one out in the ninth for the spoiler as the Redlegs won the first game of a twin bill 4-0, then made it a sweep with a 5-3 decision. Ted Kluszewski banged out his 45th homer in the opener.

Milwaukee paddled its runner-up spot beating Philadelphia twice, 5-4 and 9-1. Chicago's Ernie Banks and New York's Willie Mays each hit home run No. 43, while the Cubs beat the Giants 6-5 on Banks's two-run double in the eighth. In another game Rookie St. Louis edged Pittsburgh 6-5.

Vancouver Lions Again Break Attendance Mark

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Put the Grey Cup champions at the top of the league, send them into a new football low, give the home club some success and shake well. What have you got? A Canadian football attendance record.

British Columbians had Empire Stadium bursting at the seams Saturday night, as 29,503 fans turned up to see Edmonton Eskimos come from behind to nip B.C. Lions 13 in their first appearance of the season in the Western Interprovincial Football Union game at Vancouver.

The crowd was nearly 1,500 more than the previous Canadian attendance mark of 28,013 set in the same 45,000-seat stadium two weeks ago when Lions defeated Calgary Stampeders in their opening game.

For the Grey Cup champion Eskimos, the triumph was the fifth in five outings this season and kept them two points ahead of Saskatchewan Roughriders, who defeated Calgary Stampeders by a single point, 24-23, on Regina Saturday night to move alone into second place.

Saskatchewan turned out in a force of 12,000 to watch Riders win their fourth in five starts.

Riders got another chance to outstrike Eskimos tonight when they invade Winnipeg to meet the winless Blue Bombers while Edmonton is home against fourth-place Calgary.

Third-place B.C. has a night off.

South Hastings Baseball League

A five-run Shannonville up-rising in the bottom of the eighth inning fell short on Saturday afternoon as Canniffon scored a 10-6 win to even their four-of-seven South Hastings baseball league finals at three games each. The deciding game is slated for Wednesday evening at Belleville's Exhibition Park at 5.00 p.m.

Canniffon set the pace all the way, taking a 4-0 lead by the 3rd frame, netting one in each of the sixth and seventh and finishing strong with four in the eighth. Shannonville plated one in the 4th and exploded for five in the bottom of the eighth.

Oliver and K. Foster hurled for the winners, allowing 12 safeties while fanning eight. Shannonville used five pitchers, Hill, Green, Joby, Reid and finally Lou Reid. Green threw five frames and whiffed five.

Hugh Petrie spearheaded the victor's attack with three singles and a double while Cole had a trio of one-baggers. Jim MacDonald poled a double and single while "Shaker" Bates poked a brace of singles. Sheffield and Marner doubled with Moore and Harder also hitting.

Lineups:

Canniffon: Harder, Petrie, Sheffield, MacDonald, Cole, Marner, Moore, Baker, Oliver, Foster.

Shannonville: Barberstock, L. Marscle, L. Reid, Sero, Bennett, Lewis, Stuart, Howard, Hill, Joby, Reid.

An exhausted Cliff Lumsden is lifted from the water at the end of 32-mile marathon swim along Toronto's waterfront which started out with 30 contestants in the water and ended with Cliff the lone participant. Cold Lake Ontario had forced all but one to quit the race, and although the 34-year-old veteran of long-distance swims almost gave in a couple of times, his fighting heart kept him going on to win the $15,000 first prize money put up by sponsors, Canadian National Exhibition, and some $10,000 given by private individuals.

Fatigue also caught up on coach Gus Ryder, who is seen here after he collapsed at the end of the swim. The 56-year-old customs broker, who trains swimmers in his spare time, had spent 20 hours in Cliff's boat, too overwrought to take nourishment. Weariness and hunger caused him to keel over after Cliff had been pulled out of water at the end of swim. He was taken to CNE hospital and treated for fatigue. Just 12 months to the day of Cliff's victory, the world famous coach guided another of his many proteges Marilyn Bell, across the then unconquered Lake Ontario.

The New Toronto swimmer said the last mile was the easiest "because I knew I was going to make it. I knew nothing worse could happen to me than what I had already been through. Next year I'd like to try the English Channel." It took Cliff 19 hours and 48 minutes to swim 32 miles, which were divided into laps and during that time he had to fight off cold water, weariness and cramps in his legs. Top swim trainers have acclaimed Lumsden as the "world's greatest all-time long-distance swimmer." (Central Press Canadian Photos.)

Argos Valued at $300,000 But on Field Team Beginning To Look Like Folly of Year

(By The Canadian Press)

On paper, Toronto Argonauts are valued, at between $250,000 and $300,000. On the field the Big Four club is beginning to look like the football folly of the year. The double blues took their worst beating of the year Saturday when the Alouettes smacked them down 42-11 at Montreal. The triumph, and Hamilton Tiger-Cats' 23-13 decision over Ottawa Rough Riders, unsnarled a four-way tie among the Union's teams.

Now it is Montreal and Hamilton with four points each on two victories and a loss in three outings and Argos and Riders with two each.

Team manager Harry Sonshine probably is wishing that he had remained on the sidelines instead of climbing down from the stands after last season to revamp the once-proud old Toronto club. All that he has received so far is a lot of newspaper ink and a big headache.

The team was supposed to give the Als, defending Big Four champions, a bit of a battle Saturday. Before Argonauts knew what hit them, Montreal powerhouse rolled for three first quarter converted touchdowns and that was the game. The Als allowed the Toronto club a third-quarter touchdown by Bucky Curtis and another touchdown in the fourth, with Whitmer Wade going over and kicking the convert.

Apart from these brief outbursts, Argonauts were pallies for the Als and Pat Abbruzzi, a comparative unknown from Rhode Island State.

The four-foot-seven import drove head-on into and over the Toronto line for a three touchdown performance and personally ground out 101 yards in 20 carries.

Tiger-Cats had no pushover with Riders at Hamilton. The Rough Riders had a 12-7 lead at half time but two touchdowns by fullback Bucky McElroy in the last 30 minutes spelled the margin of victory for the mauling Ti-Cats. Hamilton's attack was directed by Carl Garrigus who kept play mostly on the ground.

Booth's Shade Oshawa 3-2, Tie OASA Series

Netting one run in the top of the seventh, the Booth Radio-TV's tied with their OASA post wee series with Oshawa at one game each on Saturday afternoon odging the Motor City crew 3-2.

The third and deciding fixture will be played in Colbourg on Tuesday or Wednesday but neither date is definite yet.

Malloy went the distance for Bellevilles, giving up six safe hits, all singles. He nailed three on strikes and was charged with eight walks while Turner did the receiving.

Yahn and Pope formed the Oshawa battery, Yahn touched for five hits. He whiffed nine and walked five. His mates played good ball, erring only once while Bellville bobbled on three occasions.

Stu Muirhead paced Leo Culhane's team with the wood, slamming a home run and a single. Wilson, Blaker and Gaffney had the other singles. Davis and Hemlig were tops in Oshawa effort, each pounding a trio of singles to account for all Oshawa hits.

Booth's were in front 3-1 entering the sixth frame but the homesters sent a single marker across to set the stage for Belleville's last-frame marker.

Bantams Win Eastern Ont. Softball Title

Elliott's Regents of Belleville, captured the Eastern Ontario OASA bantam championship on Saturday by shading Oshawa 5-4 in the second game of their series at the CNRAA Park. They will now meet Toronto West York, but no date is available at present.

Dick Clapp was the hero of Saturday's game, the young catcher drawing a base-on-balls in the seventh and final frame and stealing home with the deciding marker. This run climaxed an uphill battle after Oshawa took a 2-0 lead in the first inning.

Locke started on the hill for Belleville, going three frames with four strikeouts and five walks. Ted Hook took over then and fired shutout ball the rest of the way. He nipped one on strikes and passed four.

Peters toiled the route for Oshawa, tagged for six hits while fanning 10 and walking three.

Locke of the winners had the only extra-base hit of the game, a home run. One single each went to T. Hook, Locke, Morreau, McGuire and Keller. The losers managed only two singles, one each for Fargon and Teno.

Both clubs were treated to a luncheon at the fireball after the games by Belleville sponsor, Bill Elliott and the fire department staff.

The line-ups:

Oshawa—Cummins, March, J. Zedic, Peters, Fargon, Goldsmith, G. Zedic, Teno, Wilson.

Belleville—Keller, McGuire, Morreau, Locke, J. Hook, Scringham, T. Hook, Lewis, Dever, Langbeer, Clapp.

NO SURVIVORS

TOKYO (AP)—The United States air force today said there were apparently no survivors among 12 men missing in their B-29 Superfort since Thursday night. An unopened parachute found 80 miles south of Miyard island belonged to the missing American plane. Unopened rafts and oxygen bottles were found Friday in the same area.

Wellington Wins First Game In Midget Series

Johnny Mowatt's Wellington Midgets traked to Allliston on Saturday and whipped the Allliston midgets 17-13 in the first game of their two-of-three OBA first round playdown series. The second game is scheduled for Wellington next Saturday afternoon at 3.00 p.m.

A strong wind whipping across the diamond hindered the pitchers and caused loose play on both sides resulting in the high score.

The home club had fought back after Wellington led 5-0 in the initial frame and were out front 12-9 over Mowatt's boys going into the eighth innings. Wellington suddenly found the Alliston pitcher's slants to their liking however and poured across eight big runs.

Craig Platt opened on the hill for Wellington but gave way to Tom O'Halloran in the fourth. They fanned five between them and passed 10 while Carson caught. Jack Scotland went all the way for the losers, tagged for 14 hits, whiffing seven and walking 10. McDonnell was his battery mate.

Bryant led Wellington at the plate with three hits in as many tries, Purtelle, Platt and T. Foster each added a brace of hits. The Alliston pitchey led his team at bat with three hits in three official times at bat.

Wellington	502 020 080—17	14	4

Charlie Boswell Wins Blind Golfers' Tourney

WINDSOR (CP) — Charlie Boswell, famed United State blind golfer, added another title Saturday to his growing list of winnings.

Boswell, 36-year-old star backfielder for the 1932 University of Alabama Rose Bowl football team, won the second annual international blind golfers' championship with a record 36-hole score of 213.

The Birmingham, Ala., player, who lost his sight in the Battle of the Bulge, had rounds of 107 and 106. Last year's winner, Joe Lazaro of Waltham, Mass., who won the title at Toronto Lambton Golf Course with 220, carded a two-round 227 Saturday.

Another player stepped into the spotlight along with Boswell at the Beach Grove Course. Claude Patemore, 22, a cafeteria employee in a Hamilton steel plant, became the first golfer in the tournament's short history to break 100.

Patemore carded a sensational 99 over the final 18 and finished in the runner-up spot with 223.

His great round also won him the Canadian individual championship, five strokes better than another Hamilton man, Charlie Tooth.

Patemore's tournament score was also a Canadian record, betering the 227 mark held in by Nick Genovese of Hamilton last year.

The 15 blind golfers played the par-73 course under official regulations, receiving assistance from their coaches who directed their stances and positions with the ball.

lowed the golf tournament, Jack Hornell of the Toronto Globe and Mail was elected secretary treasurer, succeeding Fraser MacDonald of The Canadian Press who resigned. Other officers are first vice-president, Wg. McKnight-CFRB, Toronto; second vice-president, Harry Elsen, London Free Press; third vice-president, Len Taylor, Kitchener-Waterloo Record; executive, Jim Vipond, Toronto Globe and Mail; Gordon Campbell, Toronto Star; Gordon Walker, Toronto Globe and Mail.

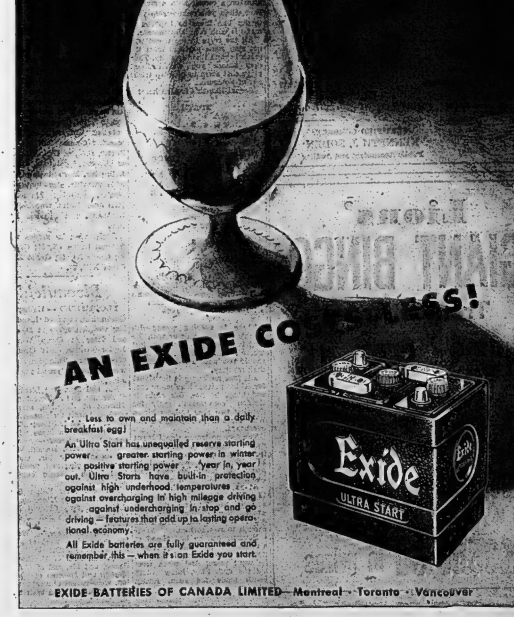
Toronto Just One Game Away From International Finals

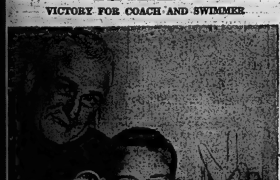
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Toronto Maple Leafs were just one victory away from the finals of the International League playoffs today after beating Cuban Sugar Kings for the third time in four games.



Leafs won the fourth game of the best-of-seven semi-final in Havana Sunday when Mike Gollat homered in the 10th inning for a 2-1 triumph.

The Montreal-Rochester series, in which the Red Wings lead 3-1 was rained out at Rochester.



Gollat, who had failed to hit three times, slammed Pat Scaulebury's first pitch over the left field wall to decide the issue. Pete Castiglione's double and Lou Morton's single propided Leafs' first run in the first frame. But the Cubans tied it up in the second on three successive walks off started John Heidt and Angel Scull's perfidocity. That's the way it remained until Gollat hit his homer.

The fifth game of the set will be played tonight in Havana. Royals and Wings also resume their series at Rochester with Duke Markell due to hurl for Rochester and Tom Lasorda for the pennant-winning Royals.

Royals, who were down two games, improved their chances Saturday with a 3-0 win over Rochester.

VICTORY FOR COACH AND SWIMMER

Cliff Lumsden (right) and his coach, Gus Ryder, signal victory after Lumsden became the only person to finish in the Canadian National Exhibition 32-mile marathon swim at Toronto. Lumsden showed a remarkable immunity to Lake Ontario cold water which proved too much for 29 other starters. Both Lumsden and Ryder collapsed at the finish of the swim which lasted 20 hours. Lumsden stands to receive winnings of at least $26,500. (CP Photo).

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON

The Kibitzer

When partner at bridge is a venturesome wretch he goes to a slam on a hunch with a stretch. And when you remonstrate with tactics like these he happens to make it with consummate ease.

All the rules in the world will not stop some partners from the reach beyond their capacity. Then they amaze you with brilliant plays that seem to pick up tricks out of nowhere.

	♥Q 2
	♣6 4 3
WEST		EAST
♠10 8 6 5 4 2		♠9
♥K J		♥8 7 6 5
♦K 10		♦8 7 6 5
♣K Q 10		♣9 8 7 2
	SOUTH
	♠K Q J 3
	♥A 10 9 3
	♦4 3
	♣A J 8

The bidding went like this:

South	North
1 Spade	2 Diamonds
2 No-trump	3 Diamonds
4 No-trump	6 Clubs
6 No-trump	Pass

There is nothing wrong with south's first two bids or with the first two responses by north. But where south got the idea that 6N should reach for a slam is still a dark mystery.

His four no-trump is the signal for asking partner how many aces and kings he has. Six clubs is Gordon convention reply for showing two aces and no kings. With three kings missing he was overboard.

The four no-trump signal is not used with abandon. It is intended for use only by a player who sees 12 tricks, knows what will be trump, and has in his own hand two aces and a king or better.

At no time did south discover 12 tricks in the pair or learn of a satisfactory trump suit. No wonder, then, that he found himself in a small slam with leaks enough to swamp him.

Nevertheless, he had aimed at a small slam in no-trump. It was now too late to hold his fire. So, he went there. And when west led the club king, know what? South made the slam. Lucky stiff.

CAMPBELLFORD

High School Has Record Enrollment

CAMPBELLFORD — A record enrollment was reported at Campbellford High School this season with 271 pupils.

As well as pupils, there was a record number of new teachers, seven in all they are: Mr. Lawrence Breen, B.A., from New Hamburg, a graduate of the University of Ottawa, teaching science; Mr. E. C. Druland, B.P.H.E., of Ajax, a graduate of the University of Toronto, teaching Physical Education; Mrs. Carl King, B.A., of Brighton, a graduate of Queen's University, teaching English; Dorothy Klingston, B.A., of Campbellford, graduate of University of Toronto, teaching Commercial; Mr. David Porter, B.A. of Elgin, University of Toronto graduate, teaching Latin; Mr. Howard Wilson, B.A., of Hagersville, a graduate of Mc-Master, teaching Mathematics; Miss Joan Little, teaching Home Economics and Physical Education.

Registration by grades was as follows: Grade IX, 85; Grade X, 93; Grade XI, 42; Grade XII, 30; Grade XIII, 21.

Bloomfield

BLOOMFIELD — Kathryn McQueen has returned home from her vacation spent at Doe Lake and later at Camp Wapomeo, Taylor-Sinatien Girls' Camp, Algonquin Park. This year Kathryn won her bronze medal for swimming.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stephenson, of Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Vincent of Kingston spent the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Allison; Richard Vincent returned home with his parents, after holidaying here.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Walters accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Taylor and family, attended the Exhibition exhibition last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Savage spent Tuesday in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Pooley enjoyed a week's holiday in the U.S.A.

Mrs. C. H. Greer, of Wellington, spent the week-end with Mrs. Hubert MacDonald.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Brown of Barrie, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Morden and Norman of Wellington, were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Walters.

AT THE CAPITOL — Dennis O'Keefe and Abbe Lane star in Columbia Pictures' "Chicago Syndicate," featuring Paul Stewart and Xavier Cugat and his orchestra starting tonight at the Capitol Theatre. Film exposes the inside story of a ten billion dollar coast-to-coast crime network. On the same program an exciting laughable spy story featuring Oscar Homolka with an all star cast. Both hits are first Belleville showings.

Sam Snead's Golf School

I believe that many high handicap players would improve their golf simply by taking a slower backswing. Most players who hurry their backswings also rush their downswings. This causes all kinds of troubles such as starting the down swing before the backswing is even completed, throwing the club from the top with a premature uncocking of the wrists, or getting the hips and shoulders turned too far ahead before impact. The whole idea of a good swing is to develop smooth-flowing power by use of perfect rhythm and timing. The faster the backswing the more difficult this task becomes for the average player. During practice you can help "groove" a slow rhythmic backswing by counting to four. After you have acquired correct timing your game should improve. Remember—swing back 1-2-3-4, 1-2-3, start down 1-2-3-4!

Hurricane Hilda Is Discovered Off Puerto Rico

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hilda, eighth tropical storm of the season, was discovered today in the Atlantic northwest of Puerto Rico and about 600 miles southeast of the tip of Florida, the weather bureau reported.

The first advisory issued on the storm advised the eastern Bahamas islands of the possibility of gale to hurricane winds tonight and Tuesday.

Hilda, not yet a fully developed hurricane, had winds of 75 miles an hour or higher blowing in heavy gusts around the centre.

The storm was moving westnorthwestward at 13 miles an hour and was expected to continue in that direction at about that forward pace for the next 24 hours, increasing in size and intensity.

8TH GATT MEMBER

TOKYO (AP)—Japan today became the 25th full member of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, 30 days after a favorable two-thirds majority vote of other members. The feat climaxed three years of effort. Japan applied in July, 1952, and has been a non-voting associate member since October, 1953.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Tuesday, September 13, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — This is one of those periods when the old adage: "the better the deed, the better the day" is strongly pertinent. You should find many opportunities and leads which could consolidate previous gains.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Some restrictive influences; some very suspicious ones. The latter encourage familiar matters, work and other affairs for which you have training, knowledge. You can save in spending; avoid debt.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — You can achieve best results if you restrict yourself to essentials. Plan your schedule for the week ahead and check where you can improve. Sound judgment stressed.

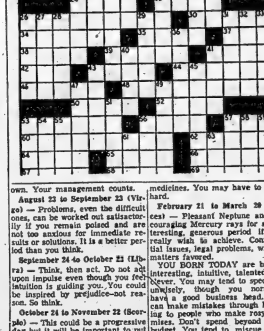
June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Don't dally or put off urgent tasks but do take time to study problems and propositions to be solved and managed. There will be no need to retrace your steps or make needless errors if you think, then act.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Do not neglect your obligations. Some matters may need extra attention, more effort; other affairs will glide along almost on their own. Your management counts.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo) — Problems, even the difficult ones, can be worked out satisfactorily if you remain poised and are not too anxious for immediate results or solutions. It is a better period than you think.

September 24 to October 22 (Libra) — Think, then act. Do not act upon impulse even though you feel intuition is guiding you. You could be inspired by prejudice—not reason. So think.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — This could be a progressive day but it will be important to put forth your best efforts. Don't be haphazard about anything; calm and thoughtful judgment will be needed.



November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Splendid indications for mental work, study, teaching, research, medicine, chemistry, inventions to save labor, improve conditions. Good rays on the whole.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — This can be satisfactory day, though not a spectacular one, perhaps. Routine affairs, activities you understand, smart selling and buying can advance notably.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — Stick to essentials, urgent duties, and matters pertinent to your family's welfare. Fine influences for travel by water, handling beverages, chemicals, medicines. You may have to work hard.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Pleasant Neptune and encouraging Mercury rays for an interesting, generous period if you really wish to achieve. Confidential issues, legal problems, written matters favored.

YOU BORN TODAY are bright, interesting, intuitive, talented and clever. You may tend to speculate unwisely, though you normally have a good business head. You can make mistakes through listening to people who make rosy promises. Don't spend beyond your budget. You tend to miscue your energies, dissipate health when you should be regaling your days evenly—doing well, but not overdoing. You are helpful to others, talkative; you like intelligent associates.

Two Boys Found Hidden in Store

TRENTON (Special) — Two 13-year-old boys were caught redhanded in the act of stealing a sum of money and a large quantity of hardware from the House and House store here. William House, Jr., surprised them while making his regular evening check of the premises.

After Mr. House entered the store through the front door at 8.00 p.m. he heard a noise. Investigating, he caught one of the youths crouching down behind the counter and the other hiding on the stairway to the second floor. Further investigation revealed that the cash register had been forced and $108 kept on hand to make change and a quantity of stamps were missing. The money and stamps were recovered.

The youths, who apparently planned to make a big haul, had gathered together rifles, ammunition and other articles worth nearly $1,000. They gained entry through a window at the rear of the premises.

Det. Sgt. J. J. Rutherford is in charge of the investigation.

Car Collides With Locomotive, Greatly Damaged

TRENTON (Special) — Douglas Armstrong, 20, of Batawa, escaped injury yesterday when the car he was driving was in collision with a diesel locomotive on the CNR Trenton Street crossing.

Police Sergeant Gordon Steenburg, investigating the accident, calculated that the damage to the Armstrong car would exceed the $1,500. The whole right side of the car was crumpled as the engine dragged it along the crossing.

Armstrong was driving south on Trenton Street on his way downtown to work, running late the time and he later told the police that he had his windows up and car radio playing.

As he came through the subway the driver observed the diesel on the crossing and applied the brakes causing the car to slide into the side of the train, moving slowly east and almost over the crossing. According to the report the train flagman had just got back on the engine when the car hit.

Crew of the train, all Belleville residents, comprised conductor J. W. Garrow; engineer W. Davison; fireman Bud French and brakeman M. J. Burke.

The investigating police officer estimated it would cost $10 to repaint the right side of the engine scraped by the car as it was dragged.

Mishap Causes Car to Run Into Side of House

TRENTON (Special) — Hazel Walker, of 34 Scott Street North, damaged the corner of her home when it rammed into the side of a neighbor's house on Saturday. It all happened when the driver feeding a helping hand to a fellow citizen reached over to open the door on the right hand side. Her foot slipped off the clutch at the same time causing the car to lurch ahead over the sidewalk across the lawn belonging to a neighbor and came to a halt when the right front fender against the house.

The result of this unplanned trip—one cellar window broken, and some of the cement blocks around it pushed in; the fender and headlamp of the car in need of repairs.

FIRE DAMAGES EMBASSY

Britain Will Exclude Japan From Trade Pact

GENEVA (AP)—Britain and 23 other members of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade will exclude Japanese trade from the provisions of the agreement despite Japan's admission to Gatt, it was announced today.

Japan formally became a member of Gatt Sept. 10—the required 30 days after members of the agreement decided to accept Japan's three-year-old application for admission.

The Gatt secretariat disclosed today that all 34 members voted in favor in Japan's admission in a postal vote, but 14 of them gave notice that they would apply an escape clause—Article 35 of the agreement—to exclude their trade with Japan from the benefits of the agreement.

The number of countries applying Article 35 was larger than had been expected and meant that Japan would obtain the benefits of Gatt from just over half the members of the agreement. Britain, Australia and France have led a move to block Japanese membership in Gatt because they feared it would lead to a revival of Japan's pre-war dumping practices.

Little Benny's Notebook

I was watching ma pealing potatoes, and I said, Hay, ma, did you know Eskimy Martin is going to move?

Goodness, no, this is the first I've heard of it, ma said, and I said, His whole family is going to move.

Well naturelly, ma said. You'll be sorry to lose your old time playmate, she said, and I said, Sure, ma, all the fellows are sorry. We held a meeting about it, I said.

There's not much you can do about it, I suppose, ma said, and I said, Sure there is, ma, we decided to give him a goodbye party.

Well, how nice, ma said, and I said, We decided to give the party in his own house, so we can say goodbye to Eskimy and his house too. So you dont need to be afraid I'm going to ask you to let us have it in our house, ma. All you're suppose to do is make a cake for your share, I said.

I went right doing that, I'm sure, ma said. But dont you think Mrs. Martin will be too busy packing to be bothered with a party? she said, and I said, Oh, she wont have to worry. We decided to wait till they're all moved out and then have the party in the empty house so we can have all the fun possible without breaking anything. I bet it'll be one of the swellest parties we ever had, I said.

Goodness, even an empty house can be dammaged, ma said. Are! Oh my goodness for land sakes, they moving far away? she said, ma said.

Oh, not so very far. Just down to the next block, I said.

What every Father should know...
A father (especially a new one) must know a lot of things. Among them, how to stretch the budget to make room for the latest addition to the family. Right here is where he gets an "able assist" from Mom. She has long realized that the best way to make her dollars go further, is to know who's selling what and for how much, around town, before she spends a nickel. To this end, she carefully studies the ads in this newspaper. She knows that here is where most stores put their best "buys" forward. Dad is quick to see that this makes sense. Man-like, he even claims it was his own idea in the first place. Now both start ALL their shopping in the pages of this newspaper. Negro Washerwoman Becomes 'Queen of Gospel Singers'

CHICAGO (AP)—A Negro washerwoman who became the "queen of gospel singers" is the story of Mahalia Jackson. The story isn't finished yet, for her fame is still spreading.

Her religious song records have sold in the millions. She once filled London's austere Albert Hall with her untrained contralto voice. She is star of her own Chicago CBS Sunday evening show, "Mahalia Jackson Sings."

She is loved by thousands of all races and religions for her religious conviction and method of singing gospel songs "with a bounce."

NEVER HAD NUTHIN'

Mahalia Jackson, 44 and 220 pounds, "never had nuthin" as a child.

She was born in a three-room shack on the Mississippi river levee front in New Orleans, the third of six children. Her mother, Charity, died when she was six. Her father, John, was a stevedore by day, a barber by night and a Baptist preacher on Sunday. He died two years ago.

Her childhood idol was blues singer Bessie Smith. Mahalia played Bessie's records over and over. That was her only music education. Formal schooling stopped when she was eight.

On her 13th birthday Mahalia was working steadily as a washerwoman. By her 16th birthday she was living in Chicago with two aunts.

She sang in the choir of the Greater Salem Baptist church. She worked in private homes and hotels. One night while the Baptist congregation was singing a hymn, the assemblage stopped to listen to Mahalia sing. That was a turning point in her life.

Mahalia probably is best known for her recording "Silent Night." She made her first recordings in 1934, but did not win wide recognition until 1945. She first sang in Carnegie Hall, New York, in 1950, and won France's "academy award" in 1951 for the year's best recording, "I Can Put my Trust in Jesus."

In a two-month tour of Europe in 1952 she sang to sellout audiences in England, Denmark and France. In Copenhagen tickets were sold out almost as soon as they were put on sale.

Mahalia's records have hit the million mark four times with 'Just Over the Hill," "Move up a Little Higher," "Even Me," and "In the Upper Room."

WHITE'S DISTRICT

Student Pastor Welcomed By Congregation

WHITE'S DISTRICT — On Wednesday evening, the congregations of Wesley, White's and Centenary Churches united at Wesley United Church to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Percival and family to Bayside Pastoral Charge.

Mr. W. Tummon of Foxboro, chairman of the Belleville Presbytery opened the meeting and all joined in singing a familiar hymn. The Rev. R. F. Davis, of Foxboro United Church, read the Scripture and led in prayer.

Mr. Reginald Edmondson, of Centenary, secretary of the official Board of the Bayside pastoral charge, conveyed a welcome to Mr. Percival, Mrs. Percival and children on behalf of the three congregations and hoped that all would give them their support.

Mr. Tummon also addressed the gathering and welcomed Mr. and Mrs. Percival and family. He read a short receptive service and called on Mr. Edmondson to bring Mr. Percival forward to accept the charge. Mrs. Percival was also asked to go to the front of the church.

Mr. Percival closed the service. Refreshments were served and a social time was enjoyed.

25TH GATT MEMBER

TOKYO (AP)—Japan today became the 35th full member of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, 30 days after a favorable two-thirds majority vote of other members. The feat climaxed three years of effort. Japan applied in July, 1952, and has been a non-voting associate member since October, 1953.

Inject New Note In Moscow Talks On 'Decisive Day'

Postpone Morning Session After Leaders' Private Talk

By STANLEY JOHNSON

MOSCOW (AP) — Chancellor Adenauer and Premier Bulganin conferred privately today as the Soviet-West German negotiations went into what a German spokesman called their "decisive day."

After the two leaders had talked for an hour and 45 minutes with only their chief aides present, it was announced that a plenary session scheduled for this morning had been postponed until afternoon.

Postponement of the plenary session apparently indicated that there was new note being injected into the talks. Whether it came from the Soviet or German side was not known.

TALKED WITH AIDES

The German spokesman declined to discuss details of the meeting with Bulganin, but said the German delegation hoped today's plenary session as "the decisive day" of the four-day negotiations.

"It is my impression," he added, "that the talks will end today," he added. "At least, we hope so."

The chancellor had a long talk with Bulganin and Soviet Communist Party boss Nikita Khrushchev, Monday night at a glittering banquet the Russians gave for West German visitors.

ON INDICATION

Up to this morning there was no indication that any sort of agreement would result from Adenauer's visit to the Soviet capital.

After the Kremlin reception Monday night the only delegation member from the West German Socialist opposition, Carlo Schmid, told reporters that the results of the conference were "absolutely zero."

Bulganin, however, said during the banquet exchange of toasts that the delegations had "exchanged views" on an exchange of opinions.

The Russians invited Adenauer to Moscow to discuss establishment of diplomatic, economic and cultural relations between their governments. The conference bogged down at the start last Friday as the issue of German reunification and German war prisoners still held by the Soviet Union.

Some western sources were heartened by the results thus far and declined to be quoted by name, said:

"Adenauer has won this round hands down. He has not yielded an inch."

Three Mothers Are Accused Of Killing Children

LONDON (AP) — Three mothers appeared today in British courts within a few hours of each other, accused of murdering their children.

At Glasgow, 25-year-old Helen Mains Kerr was charged with murdering her three baby boys by allowing gas to escape. Police said she was found unconscious in a gas-filled room with her children, ranging from six months to 2½ years, dead beside her.

In London, Mrs. Barbara Karjankovic, 32, was charged with strangling her five-year-old daughter. Police said that when they went to her house after a telephone call, Mrs. Karjankovic told them the girl "got on screaming and screaming."

The third mother was 41-year-old Mrs. Dora Wheatley, accused of murdering her two-year-old son John in a house just around the corner from the Harrow police court in north London.

Increased Duty On New Zealand Cheese Is Urged

HUNTINGTON, Que. (CP)—Gilbert McMillan, president of the Dairy Farmers of Canada, today called for increased duties on New Zealand cheese imported to Canada.

He was commenting on a Montreal announcement that Canadian importers have purchased almost 1,300 tons of New Zealand cheese, their second sale to Canada within a year.

Mr. McMillan said the current duty of one cent a pound on New Zealand cheese—"lower than for other countries"—was set in 1951 at a time when cheese sold for about 12 cents a pound.

Prices now are more than twice that figure and the duty is "clearly not equitable," he said. "What is equitable then is not equitable now."

Mr. McMillan described the import as a "mistake—we should have plenty of cheese in Canada to take care of Canadian needs."

RECEIVES AWARD

QUITO, Ecuador (AP)—A neutral commission has started an investigation of the border dispute between Ecuador and Peru. The foreign ministry said Monday night. Military attaches from Chile and Peru of the United States, Argentina, Brazil and Chile first report the boundary on Sunday after Ecuador expressed fear of invasion from Peruvian army forces. Peru denied the charges.

Today's Chuckle

Two camels trudged along side by side in a caravan crossing the burning desert. Finally one of them looked around furtively and spoke: "I don't care what anybody says," he whispered. "I'm thirsty."

THE WEATHER

TORONTO. (CP) — Synopsis Warmer weather is expected today and Wednesday in Ontario with light winds freshening slowly from the southeast. Tonight the southerly winds will bring enough warm air that there will be no frost in southern Ontario although in northern and eastern counties frost is again possible. Early this morning temperatures at four feet above the ground were reported below the 32 mark at Muskoka and Killaloe. Tonight any frost in the north and east would be much lighter than Monday night. Clear skies today will be followed by some cloudiness and a few isolated showers tonight in eastern counties but Wednesday will see the sun breaking through once again.

FINANCE MINISTER SAYS ECONOMY EXCEEDS HOPES

Gross Product Up Over First Quarter Four P.C.

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — Finance Minister Harris says Canada's economy now is healthier than his first federal budget last April predicted it would be.

In a speech to the Maritime Boards of Trade Monday he released a few as yet unpublished bureau of statistics figures on Canada's gross national product—total goods and services produced. He said the figures show Canada's economic activity rose to a record $26,000,000,000-a-year level in the second quarter of 1955.

He said it appears, therefore, that if the level of production in the second quarter is reasonably well maintained during the second half of the year, the forecasts I made at budget time for the size of the national income in 1955 will be considerably surpassed." Mr. Harris added.

BY FOUR PER CENT

The finance minister said statistics—to be published by the bureau in a few days—show that the gross national product rose in the second quarter of 1955 by four per cent above the first quarter rate of $25,040,000,000.

Mr. Harris said the level of Canada's economic activity for the second quarter is "rather more than $26,000,000,000, measured on annual terms," or nine per cent higher than the 1954 gross national product of $2,000,000,000, he said.

Mr. Harris pointed out that his first budget speech last spring he forecast that the gross national product would average some $25,250,000,000 for the whole of 1955, rising during the year to a rate of $26,000,000,000. On this basis he had predicted a deficit of $100,000,000.

Heated Election Campaign Seen In Temiscoata

RIVIERE DU LOUP, Que. (CP) — A son of Prime Minister St. Laurent, who is Liberal candidate in a forthcoming by-election Sept. 26, faced Temiscouata riding voters Monday night in the first of a series of appearances "a lesson they'll never forget."

Jean-Paul St. Laurent, 43-year-old lawyer, told a campaign rally in the Quebec city's downtown town, 120 miles east of Quebec, that the "Progressive Conservatives have made up their political fight in the riding with "insults."

Mr. St. Laurent said he says what insults were flung at him during the campaign, none of the most heated in years in this area and now in its second week.

"I am going to reply to personal attacks because voters are not interested in that kind of campaign," he said.

"You will show these third-class politicians that you are more intelligent than they think and give them a lesson they'll never forget. . . ."

FIRE DESTROYS PLANT

SIOUX CITY, Iowa (AP) — A spectacular fire which hurled flames 30 feet in the air Monday night destroyed the old Cudahy packing plant here. The blaze quickly spread to a smaller plant structure nearby. No injuries were reported. The plant had been shut down.

Two Children Burned to Death Near Alliston

ALLISTON (CP) — Two young children were burned to death Monday in a fire which destroyed the barn of Lorne Dunstan, three miles east of here.

Linda Dunstan, 3½ and Dale Doward, 3, a son of a neighbor, were seen by Mrs. Dunstan playing around the barn shortly before she noticed the blazing barn.

Hurricane Hilda Picks Up Speed, Bahamas Likely to Get Full Force

MIAMI, Fla., (AP) — Hurricane Hilda, a small but growing tropical storm, picked up speed today as it churned through the Atlantic today and was due to deliver a head-on blow to central Imaguana Island largest of the Bahama islands, about 1 p. m. EDT.

Hilda offered a potential threat to both Cuba and the Florida east coast as she churned along a course toward Great Inagua, southernmost island of the Bahamas.

Great Inagua, about 650 miles southeast of Miami, is the site of a big plant where coarse salt is extracted from sea water and shipped to countries around the world. The island's population of about 2,500 is mostly native.

Hurricane force winds of 75 miles an hour covered only a small area near Hilda's eye. On the turbulent north side of the storm, gale winds reached out 125 miles from the centre.

Forecaster Walter Davis of the Miami weather bureau said weather men are still waiting for some definite sign as to whether Hilda will continue her present west-northwest course or turn northward.

"We hope to see the light some time today," Davis said.

If Hilda pursues her present course, she will skirt the north coast of Cuba tonight and possibly move inland.

Hilda was reported gradually increasing in intensity as she moved along at a speed of about 12 m. p. h.

Hilda, the eighth tropical storm of the season, was born Monday about 940 miles east southeast of Miami.

VANCOUVER FIRE LIKE A-EXPLOSION

Vancouver residents saw what looked like a miniature atom bomb explosion in this $1,200,000 fire at a warehouse in which steel girders and aluminum sheets were melted to run like hot butter. Eight firemen were injured, none seriously. In four hours a fireboat, the H. J. Carylye, poured 1,000,000 gallons of water into the blaze. (Central Press Canadian).

Mystery Woman in Blue Tells Of Friendship With Police Chief

By BRUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—A story of mystery, a diamond ring, uncut jade and a carved Chinese seal were told Monday by a mystery woman in blue.

She said she accompanied the chief on a police convention trip to Montreal in 1948 and on the return journey they stayed in Toronto and Port Arthur, two days at each city.

Miss Douglas said she broke with the chief in 1949 and had not heard from him again until he telephoned her.

"He wanted to know if anyone had been getting in touch with me," she said. "I said no. One of the conversations was to do with this diary. He asked me if I still had it and I told him I had destroyed it."

Under cross-examination she said she knew the chief was married and knew the law frowns on "keeping company."

She said the chief came to her Burnaby home, near the eastern boundary of the city—sometimes walking, sometimes in the police car and sometimes in a police car.

For nearly two hours she was subject to close cross-examination, then she began to cry. She combed herself and continued.

G. L. Murray, counsel for Flash, Toronto weekly tabloid, asked if Miss Douglas still had the gifts the chief called Mulligan gave her. She said "Yes."

The farm, which she said the chief told her to buy "to have for him," she said she kept for some years.

"Then he told me to sell it and keep the money. I did." She said she got $500.

She said that she "got the impression" that the money he used for her gifts "did not come from his salary."

British Employers' Group Warns of Economic Crisis

LONDON (CP) — The British Employers Confederation has warned that wages, bosses and government must co-operate to save Britain from an economic slump.

It is the gravest warning from the confederation, which represents two-thirds of Britain's employers—since its 1931 crisis shook the United Kingdom.

The 5,000-word statement, coming at a time of growing anxiety about Britain's economic problems, calls for drastic action to end rising and halt inflation. It urges workers to hold back wage demands, employers to reduce prices and the government to eliminate unnecessary spending.

The confederation boldly says the present state of "full-employment" is not helping to keep costs down.

TOO MANY JOBS

"Our wish is to see full employment as distinct from over-full employment. . . . The evil is that there are jobs chasing men. You do not want to have men chasing jobs or jobs chasing men. We want to find a balance."

In bringing the employment issue squarely into the public eye, the confederation was saying what some economists have argued privately, that now one per cent of Britain's working force is out of a job, and there are two vacancies for every unemployed person.

The Churchills Celebrate 47th Anniversary

WESTERHAM, England (AP) — Then I married and lived happily ever afterwards."

Sir Winston and Lady Churchill Monday celebrated their 47th wedding anniversary, just as much in love as when the young politician wrote those words in a biography of his early years.

Churchill, now in his 81st year and virtually retired from politics, said his 71-year-old wife made plans for a new Thursday day a holiday on the French Riviera.

FRENCH CABINET BACKS FAURE'S MOROCCAN PLANS

Sultan Says Only God Able to Dethrone Him

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN

PARIS (AP)—The French government was believed taking steps today to ease Sultan Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafa off the Moroccan throne, even as the embattled North African ruler issued a statement saying God would have to remove him.

Premier Edgar Faure's plan for giving Morocco a measure of self-rule was approved unanimously by the French cabinet Monday night. It is reported to call for removal of Monday's crisis was establishment of a three-man regency. A spokesman said the program would be put into effect immediately.

Morocco was generally quiet today as nationalist nationalist leaders urged their followers to be patient. There was no sign that martial victory was at hand. Terrorists had called for a general strike Monday, but it was only slight.

PRIMARY CONDITION

The ouster of Moulay Arafa was the primary condition laid down by Moroccan nationalists for any settlement in the stormy North African protectorate. French officials gave no indication of how they expect to get the sultan out of the palace in Rabat.

Despite the reported unanimous agreement, it is known that the Faure proposals are highly explosive when the National Assembly reconvenes next week.

In addition to the removal of Moulay Arafa and the establishment of a regency, the plan pre gram provides for:

1. Appointment of a new Moroccan government representing the main political movements in the protectorate.

2. Negotiation of political, economic, strategic and cultural accords between the new Moroccan government and France.

3. Transfer of former Sultan Mohammed Ben Youssef from exile in Madagascar to France.

Japanese Police Smash Protest Over U.S. Base

The police had armored cars, tear gas and fixed bayonets if necessary, but they did not use even their clubs and steel helmets as they waded barehanded into chanting, yelling lines of 4,000 Japanese farmers and supporters from nearby Tokyo. At least 74 were injured, 20 of them in a series of jarring clashes.

The incident was touched off by the Japanese government's latest attempt to start surveying Sunakawa's area for the 8,000-foot concrete runways for the American air base as already planned.

The lengthening of Tachikawa's runways to handle new-type stratobomb carriers is the first of five such scheduled expansions.

No Americans were involved in today's dispute.

Intercontinental Projectiles of Ice Could Be Used in Tests Is Claim

ALBUQUERQUE AP)—A prominent meteoricist says a "shrewd opponent" could use the intercontinental war with intercontinental projectiles made of ice.

The object of the ice missile would be to determine effectiveness of range for a missile of the type.

Dr. Lincoln La Paz, director of the University of New Mexico's Institute of Meteoritics—the only one of the kind in the western world—said:

"In range-testing intercontinental ballistic missiles in peacetime, a shrewd opponent for obvious reasons would seek to employ test objects leaving no tangible trace of their existence or use.

"It is for this reason that since 1948 representatives of the Institute of Meteoritics have, behind-the-scenes, cooperated with the yellow-green fireball observers in reporting those luminous phenomena whether they be pieces of ice or drops of water were detected falling from them at the time of the luminous incident."

Some observers have reported drops of water. But another, meteoricist, John Davis Buddhue of Pasadena, Calif., says he has observed in California which came from the sky either wet or moist, some or may have been an "ice meteorite." The existence of ice meteorites seems to be established in the southwest United States during the last few years, he says, in the nearly certain proof.

The fireballs made no sound as they zoomed through the sky and no portion of a fireball ever has been recovered—if they landed.

La Paz said an ice projectile could be shot from a plane at high altitude many miles away. Melting rapidly at the altitude of the atmosphere, it would be photographed or traced by radar.

Brenda Fisher Out After 12 Hours; Park Still Swims

Hamilton Man Is 5 Miles From Toronto at 1 P.M.

TORONTO (CP)—Lake Ontario today defeated Brenda Fisher, veteran British professional swimmer, who trained and waited long for perfect conditions in her bid to become the second woman to conquer it.

She was pulled out at 11:52 a. m. EDT after more than 12 hours out and only 12 of the 32 miles left at finish.

But Tom Park, Hamilton-born swimmer now living in Lakeside, Calif., was reported shortly after 1 p. m. at five miles off the lakeshore, swimming strongly for suburban Mimico. Park dived into the lake at Youngstown, N. Y., at 8:39 p. m. EDT Monday night.

WATER TEMPERATURES

Water temperatures were about 64 degrees.

They were the 28th and 29th person to make the bid since Marilyn Bell of Toronto became the only person to swim the lake, in record water Sept. 9, 1954. Marilyn's time was 20 hours, 56 minutes.

TIRED MAT GO

Shortly after Park and the 27-year-old Brenda made the plunge, Jim Leishman, 30, of Bay Muench of Windsor, Ont., who failed in his first attempt Aug. 31, set off again. However, several hours later Muench was finally bundled aboard a motel in Niagara-on-the-Lake, just across the river from Youngstown.

Muench said he intended to start with the others Monday night but his manager advised him against it. He said he may go today if weather conditions are favorable.

At mid-morning both swimmers were reported having trouble with the heavy swells.

Park slowed his stroke to 50 a minute during the morning as he battled through heavy seas. He also was drifting westward and at one time was about three miles off course.

HAS TOUGH TIME

Brenda said from the water she is not racing against Park but she is after Marilyn Bell's record. "This is not much a race because she's swimming under International Marathon Association rules which permit one.

Park plans to land at Sunnyside and Miss Fisher is heading for Scarborough, several miles to the east.

Trapped by Fire, Six Are Rescued By Aerial Ladder

TORONTO (CP)—Minutes away from "sure death" six persons were rescued from the top floor of their flaming home here today by firemen on an aerial truck.

District chief William Sproule said 18 persons who had to flee the three-storey house are being cared for by the Salvation Army and the Red Cross. He said the fire was caused by careless smoking.

Chief Sproule said the six trapped persons had to jump to the ground, could only watch the flames come closer to them.

Flames were within a few feet of Mr. and Mrs. Mike McQuaig, Mr. McQuaig's brother, Mr. and Mrs. A Milan, and Mrs. Milan's sister, when firemen reached them by ladder.

Several persons on the second floor were rescued by ground floor tenants who put a ladder against the window. The ladder would not reach the third floor. Firemen estimated damage to the house at $6,000.

Scarborough Council to Set Terms of Probe

TORONTO (CP)—The council of suburban Scarborough decided in a stormy session Monday night to establish a three-man probe Wednesday evening the terms of reference of which are to be decided later.

A local construction firm is alleged to have sent $500 cheques to the Scarborough reeve, the township clerk and its director of planning.

Lumsden of Toronto—finished third 32-mile grind.

WEATHER FAVORABLE

After weeks of waiting, water conditions were considered favorable for the 132-pound Brenda Mockridge. The last time she tried to swim, Shaw went out eight miles from the lake and gave up ahead.

He reported that water was calm for two miles and that it was only choppy for the last three-quarters. Weather forecasts held out for continued good conditions, with winds up to 15 miles an hour and an increase in water temperatures until tonight.

Shaw said Brenda's main object was to beat Marilyn Bell's 1954 cross marathoner holds the women's record for the 21-mile English channel swim.

Park, who now lives in Lakeside, Calif., has twice been spoiled for United States citizenship papers as he has been a prominent long-distance swimmer the last two years.

CITY & DISTRICT NEWS

NEARLY $315 TAKEN IN I.O.D.E. TAG DAY

The Argyll Chapter of the I.O.D.E. wishes to thank all those who supported its recent tag day, and also those who tagged.

The sum of $314.25 was realized. This money will be spent on welfare work in this city, to care for widows, orphans and dependents of service men; to forward every good work for the betterment of the country and people; to assist in the progress of science, art, and literature, amongst the students, not to provide clothing and food for those in disaster areas.

FOUR PEACH TREES NOW BEARING FRUIT

Rev. J. F. Everson, 95 Station street, brought to our office today two peaches that measured eight-and-one-quarter inches in circumference. The peaches were picked on Monday from one of four trees which Mr. Everson has in his garden which came up from pits casually dropped. The trees have been bearing for two years and this year yielded seven baskets of fruit.

Three of the four trees bear free stone peaches. The trees are small. The fruit on them out of the four trees was picked from the ground, without the use of a ladder.

Council Asks Thurlow Twp. To Pay Half of New Sidewalk

Belleville city council is prepared to build a new sidewalk on the south side of Cannifton Street from the Quinte Secondary School to North Front Street—providing Thurlow township pays fifty percent of the cost.

This was the decision reached Monday night by council at their first regular meeting since the summer recess. After a lengthy discussion on the matter council turned down a motion for the city to build the sidewalk at its own expense, then gave unanimous approval to the motion for construction of the walk on a fifty-fifty basis.

All councillors were in agreement that the sidewalk was needed to relieve a hazardous traffic condition at the new school, the only sticker being whether the city was to pay the entire bill.

"My interests are with the city," declared Alderman Ben Safe as chairman of the public works committee. "Our original agreement with Thurlow was that the cost of widening College Street would be on a fifty-fifty basis and that included the sidewalks."

But Alderman Hugh Graham took a different view of the matter, noting that as the proposed walk would be entirely within the city the cost was the city's responsibility. He argued that if the city paid the cost of this sidewalk, Thurlow would be expected to pay 75 per cent for a sidewalk on the north side of the street.

AGREED WALK NEEDED

General agreement that the walk was needed was reached at a special meeting of the Bay of Quinte High School Board and members of Belleville city council and Thurlow township council members which was held at the Quinte Secondary School a week or more ago.

At this meeting it was agreed the season was now too late to begin a road widening program, but City Engineer Charles Mott said a sidewalk could be built, which would take the students off the road and protect them from splashing in wet weather.

Alderman Reginald Tyrie felt it was only fair that Thurlow should assist in paying for the sidewalk.

"If there were no school there we city would not even be considering it," he said, "and the only reason there is a school is because there is the Bay of Quinte High School district. Therefore Thurlow should be prepared to pay."

The same attitude was taken by Mayor J. Bush, who noted that a large percentage of the students attending the school were from the rural area.

MOTION DEFEATED

On a recorded vote council defeated 10-3 the motion for the walk to be built at the city's expense.

Favoring the motion were: Aldermen Tyrie, Forrester, Sprenger, Keegan and Tice. Opposing were: Mayor Bush and Aldermen Argue, Graham, Safe, Hepburn, Sprenger, Hyde, McCabe, Moxam, Safe and Smith.

The motion calling for the walk to be built with the city and Thurlow township sharing the costs was then carried unanimously.

Tenders for the construction of the walk will be asked following completion of arrangements for payment between the city and the township.

New Dog Pound Sought by Group; Action Promised

A new city dog pound to provide comfortable accommodation for stray dogs and cats is the ambition of a group of humanitarians who now have designs on building to stand in the way of their goal.

Leaders of the group waited on city council Monday night to announce the "deplorable" conditions existing at the present dog pound on Coleman Flats and to request that council take some action in assisting to provide new accommodation for the stray cats and dogs.

And council action was promised with a special committee to be appointed to investigate thoroughly and make a report back to council.

Appealing to council as spokesman for the group, Mrs. William Gardiner declared that the present dog pound was "nothing but a barn," and was "unsanitary and terrible. There was no water at the building for human needs and in winter the animals suffered greatly from the cold, she said.

Alderman Frank Graham also brought in the recommendation calling for the appointment of a special committee from council to investigate the dog pound problem.

He declared that dogs and cats were the city's responsibility, yet it had been left for humane society worker Charles Thorn to provide accommodation for them and feed them at his own expense.

Alderman Reginald Keegan said it was deplorable that the city did not have a proper building at its own. He said Belleville was fortunate in having an animal lover such as Mr. Thorn to act as dog catcher.

Aldermen Douglas Moxam and Effie McCabe also spoke in action with respect to providing a proper dog pound as did Alderman Tice.

"It must be getting near election time," observed the latter council member. "Everyone wants to do something for dogs." The matter was fully discussed, last spring but nothing was done.

Council passed the recommendation calling for the appointment of a special committee and also voted to purchase the dog catcher a uniform.

Rotary Members Shown Progress In Phone Field

Seventy-five years of Canadian progress lay scattered in bits and pieces on a table in Hotel Quinte yesterday.

However, even the oldest pieces in the ensemble, though lying down on the tabletop, were very far from dead, as Leslie Sadler, goodwill representative of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, demonstrated to the Rotary Club.

They represented the steady growth of communications in the Canadian scene, from an outward looking tube in the cradle to the well-oiled giant it is today.

Mr. Sadler and his equipment pointed up that fact and turned it into a practical demonstration, when he set about getting the pieces into running order.

One of the most pieces of equipment he utilized was a "coodle box affair with mouthpiece, popular in the 1880's, which the company was still in its infancy. His powers of clear voice transmission compared with the modern dial telephone where the voice sent a little closer to the bell, was something like comparing the capacity of a banana boat with the submarine Nautilus.

One of the greatest contrasts in the little exhibition was in sizes of the equipment used in the early days of the 'phone, as compared parts doing the same job today.

For instance, that of an example of the first loading coils—a device used to clarify and power voice transmission. The device used today would fit easily into a vest pocket—but it has come a long way from the size of a respectable doughnut.

This, said Mr. Sadler, is demonstration of the theory: "The smaller they are the harder they work."

"We are looking for equipment that is not only more efficient but more compact," he added.

He also briefly discussed the new direct-dialing long-distance service, which will allow subscribers on a continent-wide basis in five to six years.

Referring to the possibility that such automation might result-in unemployment, he said: "I don't expect this equipment to keep us working harder than ever." The steady demand for service provided, the more calls will be placed and the more business transacted by the company.

"If it isn't used it is useless," the telephone there could not have been the number of operators available for long distance calls today," he added.

Joe Cox was elected president of the Belleville YMCA Weight Lifting and Body Building club, at last night's meeting of the club at the YMCA—other officers elected are Ken Carr-Brait as secretary-treasurer, Bill Hepburn as coach and instructor and Don Cryer as assistant coach and instructor.

The members discussed at length and decided to hold their Kingston vs. Belleville team championship in Belleville on October 29, and their annual Belleville athletic championship on December 10. This championship will be open to all interested in body building. Exercise displays will feature both championships on the same nights.

Another decision of the club was to give special instruction in body building to YMCA Leaders members every Tuesday and Friday evenings starting at 7:30.

The body building room at the YMCA which has been recently enlarged by another 12 feet to accommodate the increasing number of members, is also to be painted and re-decorated by the members of the club.

Northern Electric Holds Golf Play

Val Smith took top honors with 1st low gross with Pete Jones coming in second. The 1st low net prize went to Carl Woods while Dave Jones was second.

The best golfer with 36 handicap was Carl Woods and the most honest golfer was Bob Stanton.

In the women's section, Lib Gladney was the low net winner while Barb Wardhaugh was the most honest golfer.

Quinte Tennis Club Wins League Title

Belleville's Quinte Tennis club captured the Bay of Quinte tennis league championship and the Canada Cement cup trophy for the second consecutive year, final standings of the league disclosed.

Quinte took a commanding lead early in the season and was never front all the way, finishing with 44 points. Each team played ten games with Point Anne taking second place with 31 points followed by Trenton 28, Batawa 26, Quinte-Northern Electric 13 and RCAF, 8.

The four top teams will now clash for the championship trophy held last year by the Point Anne Tennis club.

Quinte meets Trenton while Point Anne takes on Batawa in the semi-finals, both sudden death series, with the playdown meeting for the Corby Trophy, emblematic of the league title.

Belleville Girl Greatly Enjoyed Visit to Yellowknife, N.W.T.

It is always interesting and refreshing to get first-hand information concerning Canada's far-flung territories. Last Saturday, Miss Grace Turner, College Street, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Neil Greer and family in Yellowknife, N.W.T., for the past month, returned home, bringing with her some interesting facts and observations made during her stay there.

In a short interview with The Ontario Intelligencer this morning, Miss Turner described Yellowknife as a whole is very rocky and hilly. Yellowknife, which is 540 ft. above Sea level, is almost an isthmus being surrounded nearly completely with water, and is but 32 miles in length. It is a mining centre with a population of 2700; has one combination school which includes both the public and the high school. The classes are held in the rooms which Miss Orser visited were most modern and well equipped.

In summer recreation takes the form of swimming, baseball (with only two teams playing ball!); outdoor winter, badminton, tennis, basketball and curling are enjoyed in the school gymnasium.

SAND EVERYWHERE

"The trees around Yellowknife," said Miss Orser, "are pathetic, but the fact that everything is sand also they become lovely and lush, as there is more moisture; but in the dry weather, when the sand dries, streets are sand, packed hard on the underlying rock; away from the streets the sand is free-flowing."

She found the people most friendly and cordial. Their homes are quite small, in frame structure, having from three to four rooms. They do a little gardening, but when they do, the loam must be brought in because of the poorness of the top soil. Vegetables and the usual garden truck are grown sparsely, and flowers are almost an absent quantity. However, in some gardens there are to be found wild raspberries, blue berries, and some strawberries, but in small quantities, because of the shortness of the summer; the ice breaks up in June, and the cold sets in in September.

Miss Orser's mother remarked that the people use canned milk for the most part, as there were no cows except those of one resident who imported eight. The unpasteurized milk sells at 80 cents per quart, and the pasteurized at 85 per quart.

She also stated that her son, Mr. Neil Orser, who resides there, was enthralled when he visited Belleville market to see the bounteous supply of fruits displayed as in contrast to the lack of it in Yellowknife, save that which is imported either by air or by rail—the only means of egress or ingress. The only point of interest by car is to the airport.

At Yellowknife is a gold mining centre. There is little other employment, except for those who have a business in the town.

When asked if Miss Orser liked the country, she remarked that at first she was not too fond of it, because of its sand, and its dearth of trees, but that as time went on, she became so impressed with the clear atmosphere, the kindliness of the people that she would have no hesitation in recommence her high school education there.

Market Produce Moves Slowly

Trade was slack on the local market this morning, with produce moving slowly on a poor demand.

Marking the change of season are the ever-increasing supply of McIntosh apples, selling this morning from 50-75 cents a basket, Lawrence also 50 cents a basket and Wolfe Rivers 40c. Bartlett pears sold downwards from 25c a basket, while crabapples were 50c. Blue grapes were 75c and white grapes 60c, while peaches brought 70c for six-quart baskets and $11.00 for 11 quarts. Mixed plums were 60c a basket, while canteloupes sold at 25c and 35c apiece and watermelons 20-80 cents. Tomatoes were 75c a basket, greengages 65c.

Hubbard squash, in another section, sold for 3c a pound, according to size, while butternut squash was 10-15 cents and pepper was 10 cents a dozen. Corn continued to range from 35-40c, while beans were 50c per six-quart basket. Crisp celery was 15-20c, according to size, while beets were 10c a basket. Cabbage was 10-15c with red cabbage 15-20c a head. Broccoli was 15c a bunch and pencilped beans 20c a quart secon. Dug potatoes were sold for 10c each and potatoes 50c a basket. Cooking onions were 75c a basket and cucumbers 5c apiece for slicers with dills selling from 50c a basket and gherkins up to $1.50 a basket.

IN MEMORIAM

THORN. — In memory of our infant son, Robert Eugene Thorn, who passed away on September 13th, 1954, aged 2 days.

I am thinking of you today, Robert, dear,
I'm lost in nothing more
I thought about you yesterday
And the day before.
I will think of you tomorrow
And the days through the year
I think of you forever
For to me you're always here.

Sadly missed by mother, father, sisters and brothers.

JACKSON — In loving memory of Joseph Jackson, who died suddenly away suddenly September 13th, 1953 at Belleville General Hospital.

Two years have passed
The smile that won so many friends.
The sun is shining
One of the best the world could hold,
Your cheerful ways
Are sadly missed
Always a good, unselfish and kind.
What wonderful memory you left behind.

Sadly missed and ever remembered by wife Nellie.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The market encountered mild but fairly well-selling during first-hour trading on the Toronto stock exchange today. Sales to 11 a. m. totalled a moderate 1,248,000 shares against 1,142,000 Monday.

Industrials led the decline with financial institutions, utilities and papers lower. Golds and base issues were mixed. There was irregular support from manufactures and steels. A few individual issues performed well including Canada Wire and Cable B, up four points to 89, and Aluminium, ahead 2 to a high of 118. Algoma Steel was also in the new peak with a ¾ gain to 81¾.

Most senior base metals moved off a fraction. Opemiska was unchanged at 10¾ after touching a new high of 10¾. Eastern Smelting touched a new top value of $7.70, adding 10 cents.

Most uraniums traded lower. Gunnar warrants were an exception, adding 20 to $6.85.

Only western oils recorded any improvement. Canada Oil Lands, Commonwealth and Federated Pete added three cents and 15 cents as the best performers.

Changes among golds were limited to a few cents. Bralorne and Sullivan were firmer. East Malartic moved down.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO (CP)—Top grades of steers sold steady to Monday's advance of 50 cents a hundredweight at the Ontario stockyards today. Top grades of heifers and fed yearlings also were steady. Calfgrading medium and down met narrow demand; cows steady to good heavy bologna bulls steady with common and medium light bulls 50 cents a hundredweight lower.

Hog prices: grade A 28.50, one load 29; sows 19.25 dressed; stags 15 dressed.

Lambs steady to Monday's advance of 50 cents a hundredweight at 19.50 for good handyweight ewes and wethers. Bucks discounted 1 a hundredweight, heavy lambs 2. Common and medium lambs 13-17; light sheep 2; common light and heavy sheep 3.

Chadwick Postpones Swim Until Sept. 24

DOVER, England (AP) — Long-distance swimmer Florence Chadwick today called off her planned non-stop round trip of the English channel until Sept. 24.

The American swimmer had hoped to start out from the English coast early today, but bad weather ruled that out. She now has to wait until Sept. 24 for favorable tides. She has been waiting in Dover for suitable weather conditions for about two months.

Police Blotter

Police last night spent a relatively quiet time on the city's night watch.

Charged with theft of a purse was William Bigelow, no fixed address, who was picked up by police on South Front Street, with the purse in his possession.

Mrs. Lauder, guest at a city hotel, also reported the theft of a cigaret lighter and watch from his room some time during the evening.

Charged with driving an automobile with no brakes was Lawrence Crossen, 203 North Front Street, after police reported he collided with a car driven by Robert Hall, Willowdale, Toronto, at the north end of Front St.

Theft of three bags of potatoes from a garage on Stokes St., also is being investigated.

Longer Term for Debentures For Local Improvement Work Both Advocated and Opposed

A request that the approval of the Ontario Municipal Board be sought to allow increasing the life of debentures for local improvements and thus ease the annual tax burden of new home owners was heard at city council Monday evening.

The request was made by Alderman Ralph Graham who urged that efforts be made to have the life of sidewalk debentures increased to 20 years.

"There is nothing we can do to lower high local improvement charges, high taxes and high interest charges, but we can extend the life of local improvement debentures and thus reduce monthly payments," urged the alderman.

He said that many new home owners, especially in the new additions of the city, were carrying heavy loads in mortgage payments and anything that could be done to lower payments would be appreciated.

In opposition to Alderman Graham's request, however, Mayor J. Both and Alderman Ben Safe noted the danger of long term credits which in the end cost more money.

SAID NOT PRACTICAL

"It sounds good politically, but it is not practical," said Alderman Safe. "In the long run we would not be doing the taxpayer any favor."

Alderman William Argue noted that in their petition to have walks built, taxpayers had agreed to a specific term for debentures to run. Against this Alderman Graham said taxpayers were told what the life of the debenture would be when they petitioned and this was accepted.

"If they had the opportunity of paying for walks in 20 years instead of 10 years they would jump at it," declared Alderman Graham.

Alderman Keegan noted that on two different occasions he had brought this matter up in council with the hope that it would be discussed at the mayors' convention.

MAYOR SEEK POSITION

The position of city manager advertised during the summer by the city of Belleville has drawn a great many applications, councillors were told following an inquiry by Alderman Jane Forrester, who asked what progress had been made regarding an appointment.

"That's a good question", said Mayor Both, noting that the committee had examined a great number of applications and also had had interviews with a number of men.

"Such things are not done overnight," he continued, "and we are most interested in getting the best man for the job."

As a member of the special committee appointed to screen applicants for the job, Alderman William Argue said that at least four or five meetings had been held. The committee had kept in mind the salary scale which the city could pay and had weeded out many of the applicants. "Some were all right, interviews to be had," he said.

Other committee members, Aldermen Grandame, Smith and David, also spoke briefly on the matter.

ZONING QUESTION

Alderman Keegan asked that the request of South Front street property owners for a change in zoning for waterfront property from the present industrial category be not forgotten by the committee under whose jurisdiction this matter came.

The alderman also wanted to know what action was being taken in respect to the opposition of Mrs. Foster Pringle to the new lumber yard established on South George Street, City Solicitor R. A. Pringle said the committee still had not been able to interview officials of the C.P.R. which owns the property in question.

Alderman Ben Safe notified the council that he had cancelled the order for a new street flusher. When the equipment had been ordered delivery was promised in three or four months.

"It is now three or four months later and there is no use having new equipment lying in the barn all winter, so I cancelled the order," the alderman said.

The alderman also noted that street repairs in the Bayview Heights section had been completed and he had noted the acceptance order authorizing payment to the H. J. McFarland Co.

CANNOT BE ON BACKLOG

Councillors caught up on a backlog of business which had accumulated during the summer recess with requests for a subway under the railway on Frank Street and for the construction of a new gasoline service station at the corner of Sherry Front and Harvey Streets being referred to the public works committee for report.

An appeal from William Ashline asking relief from the action of the medical health officer in closing his Station Street lunch room owing to lack of washroom facilities was referred to the board of health.

A request from residents on the south side of Hastings Drive for a sidewalk from Edward St. to Monigomery Blvd. was received by council. The walk will be built by the contractor now doing sidewalk construction in the city.

A 10-year lease at $10 per year was granted to Al Reynolds for certain city owned property which is occupied by Mr. Reynolds' Coleman Street gasoline service station. The lease gives the city the right to give six months' notice to vacate should the property at any time be required by the city.

REPORTS ON CONVENTION

Mayor J. Both gave a brief report on the Union of Ontario held recently at Saskatoon.

Theme of the convention had been the heavy burden of municipal taxation of which the cost of education formed a big part. Cost of education was a provincial responsibility, was the convention feeling.

"It was agreed that something must be done to relieve the tax burden on the property owner," Mayor Both said.

He said that the matter would be up for discussion at the forthcoming meeting of the mayors' federation with government officials.

Mayor Both expressed the hope that some suggestion would be forthcoming which would offer some relief to the municipalities.

Bancroft Area Visited by Heavy Wind, Hail Storm

Hailstones "as big as doorknobs" fell in the Bancroft district Saturday night as a miniature cyclone passed over the area leaving considerable damage in its wake.

A Belleville insurance adjuster said he had been called out to investigate a total of 24 claims from the area over which the storm passed. Damage ranged all the way from broken windows to roofs ripped away, while one man had his one-car garage picked up and deposited in a shambles some distance away.

Tunisian Premier Quits to Prepare For Home Rule

The resignation was a formal step to pave the way for a new government, which would be the first for the North African protectorate since conclusion of agreements with France granting a measure of home rule.

Govt., Civic Leaders Will Open Bata's Housing Project

TRENTON, (Special)—The Bata Shoe company's new housing project west of the present establishment will be officially opened Labor Day evening when government and civic leaders gather to participate in the ceremony. Senator W. A. Fraser the only speaker of the evening will deliver the main address since he played an important role in bringing the big shoe manufacturing development to this district nearly 20 years ago.

Plans have been made in touch of a huge beacon fire as a symbol be the future development and growth of the progressive community five miles north of Trenton. The public has been invited to attend the ceremony.

Officials invited to attend the ceremony include: Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Ontario Minister of Municipal Affairs; Frank S. Pollwell, M.P., South Hastings; H. J. MacFarland, mayor of Picton; Ross M. Burtt, mayor Trenton; Harry S. Morrow reeve of Sidney township; George Montgomery, reeve of Frankford; Dr. J. G. Faludi, J. Lewis of Town Planning Consultants, Toronto; Col. Roscoe Vanderwater, Alex. Edmison, vice chancellor of Queen's University; Kenneth J. Couch, former mayor of Trenton; Judge J. C. Anderson and Jack Both, mayor of Belleville.

Bata officials to be present include: Thomas Bata, president; T. E. Cowell, acting general manager; Dominik Cipera, director; W. W. Percy, Q.C.; and Anthony Cavalla, director of technical research.

No Indication of Election For Mayoralty or Council

TRENTON (Special) — Prospects of above average interest in the forthcoming municipal election are slim according to a local man who asked to remain anonymous for personal reasons.

In fact there is no indication there will be an election for either the mayoralty or council.

One citizen in high position predicted, the present administration will be returned by acclamation. Ex-mayor Kenneth J. Couch pointed out about his intention remarked: "I have no mayoralty or political aspirations whatsoever at the moment." He has withdrawn his name from the nominating list each time during the past several years after earlier statements that he was deciding whether to stand.

At present there is no other aspirant looming on the local political horizon. Neither are there records to show Trenton voters have rallied to the side of a dark horse. The well-known citizen with former council experience has invariably gotten the nod from the local voters.

Performance of the 1955 administration while not spectacular has been consistent. Because no new industries have located in Trenton in the last 12 months present administrators look to the near future for their hopes to materialize. Mayor Ross Burtt and his council are confident that one of these days a new official industrial team of Senator W. A. Fraser and reeve K. J. Couch will be making an encouraging statement concerning talks in progress for several months.

Certainly Trenton has grown and prospered in the last year. Nevertheless observers maintain this period of good fortune is the direct result of the industrial boom that started in 1952 and continued unabated through to 1954.

Railway Union Leaders Gather To Draft Demands

MONTREAL (CP)—Union representatives of 160,000 railwaymen met here today to draft new contract demands that are expected to include requests for wage increases and a welfare plan.

Spokesman Frank Hall declined to make any definite prediction on what the demands will be. The 105-member general conference committee of the rail unions was scheduled to meet twice today.

Represented at the meetings are 16 non-operating unions and three running trades groups.

Earlier reports indicated the unions will seek a wage increase of 25 cents an hour as well as a welfare plan. Another probability was that the unions will call for a federal subsidy to the railways to compensate them for low freight rates on grain traffic, thus placing them in a better financial position to bout pay.

CANADIAN HOG QUALITY DECLINES

Ever "lived off the fat of the land?"

Now how did that phrase originate, anyway? Who wants to live off fat? Not many Canadians. And not many Americans, either.

Which is the reason that the report that Canadian hogs are getting fatter is bad news.

Top quality hogs mean lean bacon. Canada Packers, in its current annual report, states that for several years the quality of Canadian hogs has been declining. Since 1950 the drop has been particularly sharp. Until then the proportion of grade A hogs was well over 30 per cent; today it is almost down to 25 per cent.

Grade A hogs produce lean bacon. During the war years, special stress was placed on producing hogs of this type, because Canada was supplying the British market, which is especially particular about the quality of its bacon. At that time the British did not have any choice in the matter. The Nazis were in control of Denmark and Holland which, before the war, had supplied much of Britain's bacon. It was apparent, however, that if Canada produced the type of bacon which Britons liked, Canadian farmers would be able to retain a large share of the British market after the war ended.

Our Canadians did a fine job in producing grade A hogs —but Canada nevertheless lost the British market. The Financial Post, commenting on this fact, says that we have gotten ourselves out of this market, but adds that we may be very glad to have some of that British market back some day. We will not get it back until we produce lean hogs, which will provide top quality bacon.

That is one reason why the decline in the number of Grade A hogs gives reason for concern. But there is an additional factor which should be considered. Canadians, the British, like lean bacon. Thus the Canadian consumer is not today getting the kind of bacon he prefers. Unlike the Briton, he cannot easily turn to an alternative source of supply. It is not possible that consumers are finding some substitute for bacon, when a large proportion of it is too fat?

"Even for our own domestic market to the United States, higher quality is important," says the Financial Post. The average American hog is bigger and fatter than the best type of Canadian hog. This is partly because Americans prefer fat bacon, but because in the U.S. most hogs are fed on corn, a fattening food. If more Canadian hogs were of grade A type, higher quality would result, and we could meet the American market even with the handicaps of duty and higher freight costs, says the Post.

So, we can see, fat of the land is not helping us! Nor is it any adequate answer to argue that too many people prefer lean meat and too many scorn fat. The preference for lean meat may be unreasonable in respect to some meats, but the proper proportion of fat is essential if the meat is to be tender and capable of being properly cooked, but the majority of consumers do not like fat bacon. The fat had fries away in the pan. That is why lean bacon is a good buy—and why the housewife, of any nation, is only practising economy when she consents to pay a premium price for it.

STIFLING DISCUSSION

Prof. Gilbert Kennedy of the University of British Columbia told a recent meeting of the Canadian Bar Association that he had been invited by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation to discuss divorce reform, but the program had been cancelled at the request of the Bar Association. Prof. Kennedy is professor of law at UBC and the Bar Association feared his remarks might be regarded as reflecting the views of the Association.

"This seems to us a breach in freedom of speech which is always to be deplored," says the Kingston Whig-Standard.

Most Canadians will agree.

If no lawyer is permitted to discuss proposed law reforms lest it be said that his remarks were intended as reflecting the views of the Bar Association, then intelligent discussion of needed reforms is going to be extremely difficult. For, although the Bar Association's action in this case may cause some doubt on the belief, it is probably still true that lawyers know more about law than anyone.

As for the CBC one wonders why it acceded to the Association's request without reference to Prof. Kennedy or the friend with whom he was scheduled to discuss the subject.

PARLIAMENT SHOULD DEBATE THIS

Reports from Montreal state that a committee representing seventeen railway workers' unions will press for government action on the proposal by Mr. Justice Gordon M. Sloan of the British Columbia Appeal Court that a subsidy ought to be paid to the C.N.R. and C.P.R.

Mr. Justice Sloan made the suggestion when he was named umpire in arbitration proceedings last year when non-operating unions threatened to strike. His argument was that the low statutory Crownest Pass rates deprived the railways of potential revenue and that this loss should be borne by the federal treasury.

The union-company contracts based on Mr. Justice Sloan's report expire on December 31. By the end of the year, therefore, the country may face another railway strike crisis. Before that time arrives Parliament should consider Mr. Justice Sloan's suggestion. A full-scale debate by the elected representatives of the people would appear in order.

DOWNWARD TRIPS

At last he rose to wealth and fame,
But found it lonely at the top,
For no one uninvited came,
Or at his doorway thought to stop.

So frequently he wandered down
To be with friends he'd left in town.

He missed the ones he long had known
With whom he used to sit and chat.
He didn't like to dine alone;
Said he: "I've had enough of that.
It's lonesome in a place like this.
The fun I used to have I miss.

"No one comes now to tell a jest
Or thinks a need of mine to share.
That life would change I never guessed
When I was still among them there.
So down, from time to time,
I go,

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

40 YEARS AGO

Sept. 12, 1915

Mr. and Mrs. George Wright observed the 50th or golden anniversary of their wedding at their home in Marmora recently and relatives and friends gathered at the house to congratulate the event. They were married in the Presbyterian Church in Stirling on Sept. 8, 1865. They resided in Marmora township for fifty years and since that time they have made their home in Marmora. Mr. Wright is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wright, pioneer settlers in Rawdon township, and Mrs. Wright, prior to her marriage was Miss Lena Pickel. Both families are late Frankiln Pickel and his wife Elizabeth Bell of Murrar township. Of a family of ten children the following survive: Mrs. Mary Jane Mr. A. Kent, Mrs. C. Gray, Mrs. S. Rogers, Mrs. Albert Dunn, Miss Hattie Wright, Mr. Harry Wright, of Niagara Falls, and Mrs. A. Reynolds of Marmora. A son George, a member of the 21st. Battalion, was killed at the Somme on the 15th of July. There was the first reunion of the family in twenty years.

Mrs. E. Cooley and Mrs. R. Bateman were like the Misses Lena Pickel, Lizzie Pickel, Annie Franklin Pickel and his wife Elizabeth Bell of Murrar township. Of a family of ten children the following survive: Mrs

500 Children, Parents Open Sunday School

MIDDLETON PARK — An attendance of nearly five hundred children and parents marked the opening of the Middleton Park Protestant Sunday School on Sunday, September 11th, at 2 p.m.

An open service was held for parents and children of Middleton Park at the Breadner School. Wing Commander Cunningham, the Sunday School superintendent, addressed the service and welcomed old faces back as well as saying hello to all newcomers to the Sunday School. Mr. Cunningham made a request for more teachers—a shortage having developed because of postings during the summer holidays.

The service was officially opened with the singing of the Sunday School's theme song, "Heavenly Sunshine," and then Padre White, of No? 6 Repair Depot, offered the opening prayer.

After the singing of two children's hymns, "Jesus Loves Me," and "Jesus Bids Us Shine," Flight Cadet Cook told a story about the use of monies sent to missionaries up north.

The Scripture lesson, read by Padre White, was the 23rd Psalm.

The feature of the opening service was a film called "Fujita." It was the true story of a Japanese Christian, from his babyhood, through childhood and until the time he became a missionary to a town in Japan.

Something new for Middleton Park Sunday School was the introduction of a projector for slide films. With the use of this projector it is planned to teach the popular hymns to the children.

Next Sunday, the 18th of September, will be another "Open Session," with another film and classes will be formed on Sunday, the 25th.

Newcomers To Station

Residing at 45 McGill Avenue are LAC and Mrs. J. F. E. Dion. The Dions have three children, two girls, Marion who is five and Yvonne, who is four years old, and their little brother, Paul, who is one year old.

At 46 Nassau Drive are LAC. Harry Seymour and Mrs. Seymour. The Seymours have three children, Marie, 8 years old; Joseph, three years old, and Stephen, who is one year old.

Harry, who reported to the Armament section at South Station, served twelve years in the Royal Navy before transferring to the RCAF.

He is a philatelist at heart and spends much of his spare time at this hobby.

WINDSOR (CP) — Ford Motor Company of Canada Monday announced production of its 2,000,000th V-8 engine. The engine was painted with gold and silver to mark the occasion.

RAWDON

Carmel Folk Visit Former Pastor, Family

RAWDON. — Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pyear of Carmel, and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Pyear, of Peterboro, returned home recently having spent a delightful week-end in the northland covering 1,160 miles.

They left by motor Friday afternoon, September 2, and arrived at North Bay at 10 p.m. Saturday morning they journeyed to Cochrane for their noon lunch and found a bad stretch of highway from there to Smooth Rock Falls, where they were guests of the Rev. and Mrs. A. E. Baker, at Trinity United church parsonage, for the week-end.

DIVINE SERVICE

On Sunday morning, they attended divine service and heard a message by Mr. Baker and enjoyed Mrs. Baker's junior choir.

Mrs. Pyear voiced greetings from the friends at Carmel United church as the pastor's wife formerly in charge of that pastorate. Mrs. Pyear also brought greetings from the Hastings and Prince Edward W.A. organization as she is president of that group.

Following the church service, the party drove to Remi Lake, where Mr. and Mrs. Baker entertained their guests to a delightful fish dinner at a special tourist inn, where the slogan is "The fish you eat today slept in the lake last night."

The group then visited Kapuskasing where an addition is being made to the United church as that town and where the weather was in charge of a teeming rain. They also visited the species of loyal suite at Kapuskasing Inn and then back to Smooth Rock Falls to the Baker car.

After supper, they bid the Bakers adieu and journey to Haileybury. On Monday they travelled via Algonquin Park, visiting Lake Simcoe, and home by Orillia, and all enjoyed a delightful holiday.

CLOSES PASTORATE

Mr. Baker is forced to close his pastorate at Smooth Rock Falls the end of October and will enter Toronto hospital for a skin graft on his hand which was injured in the Battle of Vimy.

While in the north at his suggestion, several lovely trees have been planted on the church grounds for beautification.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker have secured an apartment in the new housing area in Central Toronto and the Rev. W. S. Irwin has been in occupancy for some time.

This new modern housing development has been built in central Toronto with the Ontario government, the Dominion government and the city of Toronto, each assuming one-third of the cost. The former slum area of Cabbage-town was demolished and 40 new apartments erected. Those who are privileged to live there are chosen on their merit and the superiors received 2,000 applications for 40 apartments.

The Bakers will have a lovely heated apartment with built-in electric stove and refrigerator and their many friends in this area hope that Mr. Baker will have a successful operation in November.

WALK OFF JOB

TORONTO (CP)—Nearly 800 employees at Avro Aircraft Limited in nearby Malton walked off the job for an hour Monday. While company officials said they are "at a loss" to account for the walkout, a union spokesman said it was staged as a demonstration against delay in negotiating a new union contract.

RAWDON

Young Couple Presented With Purse, Gifts

RAWDON. —Springbrook Orange hall was filled to capacity Friday evening when folks from all over Rawdon township and as far north as Eldorado gathered to honor Jack Sharp of Wellman's and his bride, the former Noraine Kesting of Marmora.

Mr. Frank Cosbey was master of ceremonies and spoke briefly.

Misses Marion and Shirley Broadworth contributed a vocal duet, and Miss Carol Sine gave an accordion selection and Miss Doreen Broadworth gave a piano solo.

At this time, the Smoky Nelson orchestra of Frankford, delighted with two selections. Miss Gertine McFaul sang and Mrs. Percy MacMullen contributed two readings, one being described in full detail "What the Groom Wore." Harold Earle rendered two piano solos and Mr. John Morrison spoke briefly.

Jack and Noraine were given seats of honor on the platform, the bride lovely in her wedding dress of white embossed nylon over net and taffeta.

ADDRESS READ

Rt. Wor. Fred Bateman, Past Grand Master of Ontario East, Orange lodges, read an address of appreciation and best wishes, mentioning Jack's loyalty to his lodge. Mr. Arthur Broadworth (a life-long pal) made the presentation of a substantial purse of money and a table filled with individual gifts from other relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Sharp each voiced grateful thanks for the evening planned in their honor, and the program and gifts. They invited their friends to visit them in their new home at Mount Pleasant.

Refreshments were served and the orchestra furnished music for round and square dancing till the wee small hours of Saturday morning.

RCAF Hopes Polio Epidemic May Be Tapering Off

MARVILLE, France (CP) — RCAF officers expressed hope today that the outbreak of poliomyelitis among personnel and dependents at this Canadian fighter station may be gradually tapering off.

In the last 24 hours no new cases have been reported. An RCAF spokesman said this fact, coupled with the protection given by an immunization program, may indicate that No. 1 fighter wing is "over the hump."

At the same time, medical officers acknowledged that the proportions of the outbreak—there have been 34 cases in a month-appeared to warrant the use of the word epidemic. Seven patients have been paralytic. Nine have been released from hospital.

No firm theories have been advanced about the origins of the disease, but there is some speculation that it may have been brought in from outside the camp. This might account for the large number of cases reported, since Marville is something of a closed community with a considerable intermingling among servicemen and families.

About 1,400 persons have been inoculated with gamma globulin so far in an immunization drive launched at the weekend. This affords protection for five or six weeks. Earlier, children in the 5- to-7 age group received Salk vaccine.

Deseronto

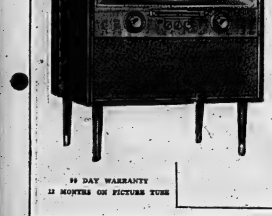
DESERONTO.—Miss Nora Fox is holidaying in Rochester, N.Y., the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. M. Fox. Sorry to report that Mrs. Mabel Moon is a patient in Belleville General Hospital. All wish her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Pearl Delaney of Oakville, and Mr. Jack McKeown, were week-end guests of the latter's daughter, and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Gordanier and family.

Sympathy is extended to Mr. Anson Lord and family in the loss of his sister, the late Mrs. Aleda Knapp, who passed away suddenly last week.

Mrs. William Perry has returned home after holidaying with relatives in Toronto and Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordie Burley of Oshawa, were week-end guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Dawson and family and of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Burley and family.



Mr. Bill Barker is a patient in Belleville Hospital.

St. John Ambulance Resumes Fall Course

St. John Ambulance, Nursing Division No. 150, is resuming its fall training this evening at 8 o'clock, commencing with a supplementary course in home nursing and first aid for civil defence. This course is open to divisional members and graduates of home nursing classes in Belleville and district, Trenton and Middleton.

The course is in charge of Mrs. Rita Henning, Reg.N., nursing officer of the division.

Arrangements have been made for special lectures by Mr. C. Leggett, Mrs. Thea Wheeler, Miss Eleanor Newman, Reg.N., who have all specialized in different aspects of the civil defence training program. There is no charge for this course.

Young Couple Honored By Community

On Friday evening, approximately 70 friends and neighbors assembled at the school house, and concession of Thurlow, when Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Clapp, recent bride and bridegroom, were honored by a miscellaneous, community shower.

The evening was spent in a fine sing-song of favorite selections, under the direction of Mr. Fred Pritchell, after which Mr. Bill Flemming read an address and made the presentation of a deluge of lovely gifts. The young couple and their attendants were in bridal array, carrying ribbon nosegays.

After the gifts had been opened, and the givers thanked for their kindness, bounteous refreshments were served.

Presentation to the young couple of a walnut coffee table and two matching end tables, was made by the Black Diamond Cheese Company, also a presentation by the staff and employees of two table lamps and china centrepiece.

Weddings

CLAFF—MONK

St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Belleville, was the setting for a lovely wedding on Saturday, August 27, at 2.00 p.m., when the Rev. W. H. V. Walker of Stirling united in marriage Miss Christine Monk, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Monk, to Charles Frederick Clapp, also of Belleville, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Clapp.

Pastel shades of gladioli, interspersed with ferns formed a lovely background for the ceremony.

Mr. Egerton Boyce, church organist, presided at the console of the organ, and accompanied Mr. Alex. Carmichael, who rendered "The Lord's Prayer," and "I'll Walk Beside You."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Mr. John Monk, was radiant in her floor-length gown of French lace fashioned in fern over satin, with matching lace jacket having a Peter Pan collar, and fitted sleeves ending in points over the wrists. Her full-length veil of tulle illusion edged with wide French lace, was held by a banneau of mother-of-pearl flowers, and she carried a bouquet of white gardenias, stephanotis with white satin streamers.

Mrs. H. D. Crozier, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, and Mrs. George Foster and Miss Barbara Ann Clapp, as bridesmaids, attended the bride. The matron of honor was gowned in pastel shade of lemon tulle over taffeta with jacket of scalloped French lace having three-quarter sleeves. She wore matching shoes and headdress of mauve glamellias and carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of mauve glamellias. The bridesmaids, wore similar gowns, the former in pastel blue tulle over taffeta with lace jacket with three-quarter sleeves, and headdress of yellow glamellias, matching shoes and carried a pastel yellow, crescent-shaped bouquet of glamellias, while the latter, was in pastel mauve tulle over taffeta with matching jacket, and headdress of yellow glamellias and similar bouquet.

Mr. Robert Aitken of Belleville, was groomsman, while Mr. Norman Clapp, brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. George Foster, of Belleville, were ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors, where the bride's mother, in a yellow sheath dress with cocoa-brown shoulder coat, with her accessories and corsage of yellow tea roses and adiantum fern, received the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Harry Grills, of Belleville, assisted, wearing blue and grey nylon with pale blue accessories, and corsage of pink roses and adiantum fern.

For the wedding trip to northern points, the bride donned a navy sheath dress with navy cotton duster coat, navy and white accessories, and corsage of pink glamellias. Mr. and Mrs. Clapp are residing in Belleville.

Prior to her wedding, the bride was honored by showers given by Mrs. Doreen Mulley and Miss Jean Wood.

WARREN—BROWN

On Saturday, September 10, at 2.30 p.m., a pretty late summer wedding was solemnized in Trinity church, Shannonville, when Anita Marguerite Brown, Belleville R.R. 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Brown, became the bride of William Frederick Warren, of Sharbot Lake, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Warren. The Rev. L. A. Page, rector of St. Margaret's-on-the-Hill, officiated before a background of pink and white gladioli.

Mrs. Evans, church organist, rendered the wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Miss June Reid, who sang, "O Perfect Love" before the ceremony and "O Promise Me" during the signing of the register.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a charmingly gowned in white net over taffeta. Her lace bodice and matching jacket, having long, fitted sleeves ending in lily-pointed over the wrists. She wore a shoulder-length veil and corsage studded with seed pearls, and carried a white prayer book crested with red roses and stephanotis. She received a bouquet of white gardenias, matching the gift of the bridegroom, completed her ensemble.

Mrs. Gordon Akey, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, was attired in mauve net over taffeta with lace jacket and matching seed pearl headdress. Miss Gail Stuart as bridesmaid, was in yellow net over taffeta with matching net jacket and yellow net halo headdress. Both attendants carried nosegays of late summer flowers.

Little Gail Akey, niece of the bride, as flower girl, was frocked in green nylon trimmed with pink. She wore a matching pink halo headdress and carried a tiny basket of white and pink flowers with rainbow colored streamers.

The wedding reception was held at the Orange Hall, Point Anne, where the bride's mother, attired in royal blue with pale blue accessories, and corsage of pink carnations, received. The bridegroom's mother, wearing grey ensemble with navy accessories, and corsage of pink carnations, assisted.

For travelling to points east and the United States, the bride chose a powder blue suit with beige accessories, and corsage of red roses. They are residing in Belleville.

Guests were present from Kingston, Perth, Sharbot Lake, West Huntingdon, Rossmore, Foxboro, Point Anne, Shannonville and Belleville.

The bride's gift to her bridegroom, tie bar and cuff links; to her attendants, compacts, and to her flower girl, a locket; the bridegroom's gift to his attendants, tie bars.

Prior to her marriage, the bride was the guest of honor at showers given by Mrs. Gordon Akey, and at a presentation when she was the recipient of an electric tea kettle from the Mesd Johnson Company, of which she is an employee.

BROUGH—KENNEDY

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the Thomasburg United church parsonage on Saturday, September 10, when Edna M. Kennedy, became the bride of Arthur W. Brough with the Rev. C. R. Chapman performing the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack E. Baxter of Canning, N.S., were the witnesses.

The bride chose a dress of champagne brocaded crepe and wore a corsage of yellow Sweetheart roses with white stephanotis.

Mrs. Baxter's suit was of pink wool with a corsage of cream Bettertime roses. Her accessories were in black.

Following the wedding dinner at the Dinah Mill Inn, the happy couple left on their honeymoon, which will be spent in western Ontario and the United States. They will reside in Thomasburg, where the bridegroom is postmaster and owner of the village's general store.

Free Methodist S.S. Holds First Session

The first session of the Belleville Free Methodist Sunday school was held on Sunday, with 25 present, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Greatrix, Parker Street. After the lesson, the pastor, Rev. F. L. Chase, brought a short message.

It is expected that the basement of the church, which is being erected on Herchimer Avenue, will be ready for services some time in October.

Family Clan Commemorates Anniversary

A social, family gathering was held on Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Blake Kelcheson, Moira, in commemoration of their golden wedding anniversary, which they celebrated recently.

The immediate family of the esteemed couple felt that they could not let the occasion pass without a gathering of the clan, and the evening was spent in a social get-together, with the addition of a brief program, which included singing many old time songs; making of brief speeches revealed many humorous and interesting stories of the last 50 years; of the many changes that had taken place in that period and also the many good times that had been enjoyed in the long ago.

At the close of the evening, Mrs. Jim Detlor, cousin of Mrs. Kelcheson, made the presentation to the bride and bridegroom of a golden-hued chenille bedspread as suited to the occasion, for which Mr. and Mrs. Kelcheson voiced their appreciation.

After the singing of "Blest Be the Tie that Binds," and "Auld Lang Syne," best wishes to the diamond anniversary were tendered to the guests of honor.

Refreshments were served.

Mr. Texas' Opens U.F.C. Fall Program

A goodly number of people gathered in the Collegiate auditorium, on Friday evening, to see the Billy Graham film "Mr. Texas," sponsored by the Youth for Christ group.

The service opened with "The Queen", followed by a song service led by Mr. Douglas Trumble with Mrs. Bev. Foster at the piano.

Mr. Jim Blackwood of Bowmanville, and newly appointed director for Belleville, made several important announcements during the course of the evening. He particularly emphasized the necessity to pray for the Billy Graham campaign, to be held in Toronto, and made an urgent appeal to all present to get their tickets now for the special train to hear him next Wednesday. Mr. Blackwood went on to say that there would be a number of disappointed people arriving in Toronto, unable to attend the service due to improper seat reservations.

Mr. Bill James, H-I school club director of Brantford, also spoke to the high school students challenging them to begin to pray and witness to their school chums of the saving knowledge and power of the Lord Jesus Christ. He also taught the theme chorus of Keswick conference, "Stand Up and Shout it If You Love My Jesus."

Following the showing of the film, Mr. James gave an invitation to those who would like to take the Lord Jesus Christ as Saviour. One young man responded to the invitation.

BEAUTY

HABITS WHICH DETRACT FROM CHARM

Running a comb through the hair in public is high on the list of habits which detract from a woman's charm.

What price a pretty face and a lovely figure if a girl has acquired little habits which drive men to distraction and send them fleeing the moment they see her coming over the horizon?

Most times these sins against charm are committed unconsciously and it is for that very reason that it's time to check up time and then. So let's check today and see whether the verdict is "guilty" or otherwise.

Tops on all masculine lists of "horrors" is girdle hitching. And don't say that nice girls never tug at their girdles in public for I've seen it done in some of the very best places and by some of the otherwise most attractive women.

One cure for that habit is to make sure that your girdle is correctly fitted — neither so short that it must be continually hauled down to its full length, nor so long that sitting in it causes wrinkling at the waistline. Another cure is the realization that, no matter how furtive your tugging gesture, someone is bound to see you and, no matter how pretty you are, you'll become the object of criticism and ridicule.

Another masculine complaint revolves about women who "run a comb through their hair every five minutes." This habit, especially at a restaurant or nightclub table, they label as one of women's unlovellest habits.

Then, there's the age-old masculine scorn over women's purses. It is said that "A woman never empties her purse until the stuff starts to burst out of it." Men, they claim, make it a nightly habit of going through their pockets and tearing up scraps of memos, letters, bills, etc. But women carry these odds and ends around until they are in shreds or fall out and get lost. This point is well taken, as most of us know. So why not a nightly check-up of the handbag?

Another habit men deplore concerns smokers who "blow their cigarette smoke into your face. If a woman smokes, she should learn to handle her cigarette so that it does not offend others."

Constant chatter, the flagrant insincerity of women in her conversations and the eternal habit of being late for dates are also high on the list of habits that detract from charm in a man's estimation.

Go over your particular set of tricks and try to see them as others do. You might be surprised at list of "little things" which keep you from being the glamour girl you'd like to be.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

LET THIS MAN PROVE HIS SINCERITY

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I am a married woman 32 years old, with three children, a girl 10, a boy 7 and another girl of 4.

Because my husband does not earn quite enough to take care of us all, I have been working as a secretary (the work I did before I married) for the past two years, while my mother, who was living with us, looked after the children.

To put my problem as briefly as possible, I fell in love with the man for whom I worked, and he returned my love. He is also married, and the father of four. I had not been getting along very well with my husband for some time, and this other man told me that he and his wife were also having trouble.

Suppose it was because we were in sort of the same boat that we were drawn together.

Anyhow, this man and I became very close, although there never was anything wrong between us. We talked things over many, many times, and finally decided that we should get divorced and then marry. I took the children and left my husband, my mother going with me so that I could keep on working to support us, and possibly find a suit for divorce. Soon I will be free to remarry, but now something unforeseen has come up.

This is, that the man I love tells me that his wife refuses to give him a divorce. He admits that he has "no real grounds on which he could divorce her, but he has thought that, since they were having so much trouble between them all he time, she would be perfectly willing to have him take the step. Instead, she says she will never let him go, and he now says that since she feels that way, he is reluctant to press the matter. He says but if we wait awhile, she may, in time, change her mind and be reasonable about it.

Do you think I should keep on seeing this man, hoping that, as he says, everything may work out as we want it to in time, or should I stop seeing him? Or, rather, should I try to stop seing him, because I don't know whether I can or stop or not.

Mrs. Mary L.

Dear Mrs L.

There is an old saying to the effect that you should "Look before you leap," which seems particularly applicable to the woman who falls in love with a married man who promises to divorce his wife and marry her. For, in such a case, it is wise to make sure, before burning your bridges behind you, as you did when you divorced your husband, that the man's divorce will definitely be forthcoming. I am sorry to say that there are all too many instances of your sort in which married men encourage girls to become involved with them on a promise of marriage, without having any real intention whatever of divorcing their wives. Then, when the inevitable showdown comes, and the girl makes it clear that she is relying on that promise, the men fall safely back on their existing marriages as an excuse for failing to get a divorce.

Possibly this man friend of yours was entirely sincere. But I think

Pack Your Children Adequate And Nourishing Lunches

By Mary Moore

If you hold up a piece of pink tissue paper to the light you could see through it just about as well as you could see through a piece of flavor-killed cooked ham.

That's the wafer-thinness of a slice of ham you get when you buy ham sandwiches at a lunch counter—coolly wrapped in an inch-thick insulation of white bread.

That's how lunch counter operators make money. They fill up the aching cavity in your stomach without giving you much nourishment.

My dearest dream is to know that folks that read this column actually know what is genuinely nourishing and what to feed their children so that they will have abundant health to be the sound foundation for healthy bodies in the future.

You and their father and their grandparents and uncles and aunts have a huge lifetime prejudice against any kind of bread that is not white but do you have to pass on that prejudice to your children? That isn't fair.

When you pack their school lunches this fall make their sandwiches of whole wheat bread spread liberally with butter and use 1-4 inch thick slices of meat. School lunches, simply because they are carried, do not have to be starch meals. The carried lunch should be a protein meal.

You may think that I am being too protein-eager if I say to not only make your sandwiches of whole wheat bread (which is an incomplete protein but high in minerals and vitamins) with thick slices of meat (a complete protein) —but also to add a hard-cooked egg or large piece of cheese or bag of nuts to that lunch box.

Here are some sample lunch box menus that you could and should pack for those lunch-toting precious children of yours. They squander their energy every waking moment and that energy must be replaced with high quality proteins.

MENUS FOR CARRIED LUNCHES

No. 1 — Whole wheat bread sandwiches with thick slice roast beef and lettuce; carrot strips, 1 peach, 1 pear; Butterscotch Brad cookies, whole milk.

NOTE:

Chocolate milk is made of skim milk and is too high in sugar for me to recommend here.

No. 2—Whole wheat cream cheese and bacon sandwiches; hard-cooked egg; celery hearts; 1 apple, 1 banana; date-oatmeal cookies; whole milk.

No. 3—Whole wheat salmon sandwiches with lettuce; 1 tomato; 1 orange, 1 plum; honey cupcakes; whole milk.

No. 4—Whole wheat chopped hard-cooked egg sandwiches with parsley or watercress; piece of cheese; radishes; bunch of grapes, 1 peach; graham wafers; whole milk.

No. 5—Whole wheat peanut butter and bacon sandwiches; cucumber and green pepper strips; package of nuts; 1 large pear, coconaut macaroons, whole milk.

NOTES:

(1) If lunches must be packed at night store them in the refrigerator overnight. (2) Protect all lunch box foods with neat adequate wrap of wax or transparent wrap paper. (3) Protect cork of thermos with round of wax or parchment paper, and have children make a habit of rinsing out their thermos bottles with cold water as soon as they have finished eating.

GOOD MANNERS

HOW BENEFIT CHAIRMAN SHOULD SIGN APPEAL-LETTERS

I have been appointed chairman (chairwoman?) of a committee in our organization which is to give a benefit for a hospital service in which we are very much interested. Several of us are to get together to draft the letter that is to be sent out. I volunteered to type these letters, and of course I'm to sign them. But I'm not at all sure how I should sign them to "Mrs. Henry Browne" or "Mrs. Edith Browne" or just how? (Most of the people to whom we will be sending these letters I won't know very well, some of them not at all.) Thank you for your help.

E. H. B.

A correct signature for these letters is:

Sincerely yours,
Edith Ross Browne
Mrs. Henry Browne
Benefit Chairman

Other correct forms for your signature: (1) Edith R. Browne; or (2) (a form not very often used) Edith Browne.

Note 1: You should never use the form "Mrs. Henry Browne" as the direct signature to a letter, any kind of letter . . . even a business letter or a letter to someone you know very slightly or, not at all. Your signature in a letter is your informal name, as I have indicated above: Edith Ross Browne or Edith R. Browne.

Note 2: You must never sign a letter, any kind of letter, "Mrs. Edith Browne." As a matter of fact, in any social contact, you should never use the taboo form "Mrs. Edith Browne."

Note 3: In these letters you type, write your signature (Edith Ross Browne or Edith R. Browne); and under your signature, type your formal name as I have indicated above, with Benefit Chairman underneath (Chairman, not Chairwoman).

CORRECT FOR FATHER TO GIVE HER IN MARRIAGE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am a widow, 35 years of age. My first wedding was a large, formal church wedding, and my father gave me in marriage. Since my husband's death, I have lived with my mother and father, and we have always been deeply devoted. Edith Brown is to be married for the second time, a small, informal wedding in our church. I would very much like to have my father give me in marriage this time, too. Would this be at all correct?

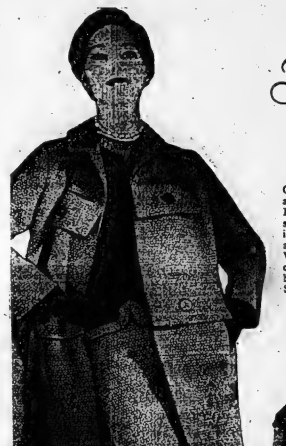
Mildred S.

Yes . . . entirely correct for your father to give you in marriage, even though he did so at your first marriage.

THANK-YOU NOTES ON INFORMALS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My informals, engraved with my formal name in the centre of the first page, and my address in the lower right corner are of the largest size I could find. I like to use that way! Would it be correct for me to write thank-you notes on them, for example for pressing from intimate friends? — C.G.



Yes.

DO NOT SEND PRINTED THANK-YOU CARDS

Dear Mrs Beeckman:

Aren't there some occasions on some presents for which it is correct to send printed thank-you cards? — M.

No.

Call to Service Still Attracts Many Nurses

By GERALD FREEMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ST. ANTHONY, Nfld. (CP)—This wind-chilled town at the top of Newfoundland is almost a monument to Dr. Wilfred Grenfell, the great British medical missionary whose call to service still attracts women like Phyllis Baird from distant cities.

Dr. Grenfell died in 1940, but his personality is even yet a powerful humanitarian force in northern Newfoundland and up and down the coast of Labrador.

The hospital he began in this fishing village in 1902 became headquarters for other missions in bleak Labrador, and for the mission school and orphanage here.

BUSY NURSING STAFF

Phyllis Baird left Ottawa, where she was raised and trained as a nurse, to come to St. Anthony five years ago. She's 30 now, blue-eyed and slender and head nurse at the hospital.

She and the five or six other nurses who work with her are kept busy up to 12 or 14 hours a day looking after their charges: whites, Indians and Eskimos stricken in the wilderness and brought to St. Anthony by boat, aircraft or dog team.

The hospital has its own flying ambulance—a yellow pontoon aircraft acquired this summer and kept anchored in St. Anthony bight.

Even in summer St. Anthony doesn't offer the nurses many distractions, but they didn't come to be amused. In winter the waters of St. Anthony bight freeze solid, blizzard after blizzard piles snow deep over the land, and the girls don't get much farther than between the hospital and the mission house where they live.

CLEVER SURGEON

The long evenings give Dr. G. W. Thomas, the superintendent, a fine chance to show his home movies. "They're quite good, too," says Miss Baird.

"Dr. Thomas is a terrific surgeon," she says. "So many of the patients have to be operated on when they come in, and he's got only two or three since he's been here—that's about 10 a year now."

Most patients are brought in suffering from tuberculosis and walk out healed, with gums and healthy.

Eighty of the hospital's 130 beds are in the sanatorium wing but tuberculosis victims often overflow into the general wards.

COSMOPOLITAN SPOT

St. Anthony manages to be cosmopolitan despite a population of not much more than 2,000. Ministers and social workers often come from other parts of Newfoundland. Miss Baird's nurses usually include English or Welsh girls. Teachers and students come from as far as New York and Philadelphia in the summer to pitch in at the hospital or orphanage.

Dr. Thoms' attractive wife is an occupational therapist. She has handicraft classes outside the hospital, and masterpieces ranging from carved ivory to needlepoint crowd a special room at the orphanage. She also has a COTT group.

What brings a girl like Phyllis Baird to an outport hospital?

"I thought I'd like it, and I do," she says simply. "I wanted to get away from cities. In a way I'd like to go back to Ottawa, though. But I'm going to stay another year. I've been here five now. That's almost enough."

REDS FLY HOME

NEW YORK (AP)—Eleven members of the Russian agricultural delegation boarded a plane for home Monday night after a two-month tour of the United States and Canada. Their leader, Vladimir V. Matskevich, said: "The most memorable impression was that of the hospitality of the American farmers. They tried to show us everything on the farms and all their methods."

RED-HAIRED MISS WINS BEAUTY TITLE

Red-haired Sharon Kay Ritchie of Denver, Col., is crowned Miss America, 1955, at the annual beauty contests at Atlantic City. She will receive $50,000 in prizes and personal appearance fees as a result of winning the title. She is five feet six inches, weighs 116 and measures 35, 23, 35 in bust, waist and hips. Canada's entry, Dalyce Gail Smith from the Yukon, did not make the finals. (Central Press Canadian).

'The Fourposter' Fine Climax To Quinte Players' Season

Theatre in this city last night tackled a play, granite-like in problems, and came up with something of a milestone.

With the Quinte Players' presentation of Jan de Hartog's "The Fourposter" at Tobe's County Garden, Belleville's summer theatre-going is ending in an atmosphere as refreshing as spring.

Starring Jim and Wilma Alexander of Trenton, the play undoubtedly is the plum of this year's season and one of which it is well worth taking stock.

For the two characters — a husband and wife, and it portrays different phases of their life together from their wedding day; it has a single set, from which the play draws its name — being dominated by a huge fourposter bed. But, although it is set in a bedroom don't go expecting a boudoir comedy. You'll only fall asleep and it will serve you right.

For this is a comedy with a difference.

SIMPLE SITUATIONS

Hartog does not reach very far for his comedy —he finds it in the simple situations and utterances that go to make up the human being in all of us. To quote his own lines: "There is not a single thing we have said today that we have not said before."

Adhering to these lines, he captures a warmth and intimacy in his comedy that can strike a light laugh, or one deep down in the breadbasket, and in the next instant bring a catch to the throat. However, there is no catch to the catch, as Hartog has steered clear of sentiment that cloys.

Too, his play does not set out to create a problem that must be solved in time for people to catch the last bus home. There are six scenes in this play and, with the possible exception of the first, they are almost entities in themselves.

They are more akin to a series of sketches hung on a theme that men are the weaker sex.

ALEXANDERS EXCELLENT

The Alexanders did it beautifully!

Playing husband and wife, as they are in real life, they had the stage to themselves for nearly two hours and made the most of it. Convincingly they passed through 25 years of married life without a hitch. You never see their family or friends, but are always aware of them as the Alexanders fight over them, disdain them and love them.

Wilma Alexander was a joy to behold. Her enunciation and presence were perfect and, with her fluid motions, she reacted smoothly to every situation. So good was she, that since there only are two characters onstage, Jim Alexander must needs show up in more delicate contrast than usual. However, the contrast is a relief.

Despite some slurring of dialogue in the more rapid passages of the play, Mr. Alexander was a perfect mate. His movements though, as with most mere males in such a situation, were less natural at times than those of Mrs. Alexander, particularly in the first scene.

WELL DIRECTED

With "The Fourposter" Elaine Jardine rounds off her job of directing the entire history of this year's stock offering with her professional touch well in evidence. Her light handling and smooth direction of the play wedded the pace of the play with the production to a T, and with nothing poor in its makeup.

It is a play that moves through several periods, the costumiers of the production tackled and overcame one of the banes of amateur presentations. The costumes were colorful and, in almost every instance, painstakingly correct.

Bill Gardiner's set was clearcut and well in tune with the presentation, while its lighting also was competently executed.

Take a trip to Tobe's to see this one. You'll like it not find it as delicious a thing as was ever served in that name. The play ends tonight, with tomorrow night's presentation bringing down the curtain on this year's season.

Bulkier Hats Will Be Style This Season

TORONTO (CP)—Fashions this fall will give the lady a crushed head and the gentleman, a roving eye.

Monday's opening of Toronto's two leading department stores' annual week-long fashion show suggested women wear "bulkier" hats emphasizing a long, lean and curvacious silhouette.

Regardless of fabric, the new, narrow-as-a-needle look was desirable for every costume of the day.

In dresses, it was achieved by tunic bodices and sheath skirts; in suits and coats, by a straight-from-the-shoulder line.

SOME FULLNESS

Formal wear provided some fullness for skirts but the bodice stayed slim and narrow. Woolens, tweeds, silks, satins and velvets were sheared to the finest degree. A bit of bulk was permitted by fur trim on coats and suits.

All suits emphasized jackets extended below the hips with sheath skirts. Colours ranged from bright to light with off-shades giving way to the natural look.

For added interest this fall's simplicity will depend on more elaborate hats or jewelled designs woven into the fabric or clustered at the hip or waistline.

CWL Council Asks Increase In Allowances

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Council of the Catholic Women's League Monday called upon the federal government for increases in family allowances scale — proportionate to the rise in the cost of living index—at the annual convention here.

The convention also urged that children be taught to recognize a seal of approval on comic books which the comic book industry has undertaken to acknowledge.

Other resolutions called for provision of improved institutional care for mentally retarded children and endorsed the program of the water safety division of the Canadian Red Cross Association. The council also undertook to encourage the formation of community swim associations to promote safety.

Officers elected:

Mrs. H. J. Donahlee, Cornwall, president; Mrs. Earl Knope, Port Credit, and Agnes Grant, Peterborough, vice-presidents; Mrs. G.V. Davis, Toronto, secretary; Mrs. Denis Bergin, Ottawa, treasurer.

LOOK THEM OVER

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Buenos Aires taxi drivers look their passengers over carefully these days. Five cabbies have been strangled to death on the job in the past month. At least four others were attacked, but lived. Stories told by survivors indicate the assassins are the same group of sometimes two, sometimes three, men.

TO VISIT BRITAIN

LONDON (Reuters)—King Frederick and Queen Ingrid of Denmark will spend a week's private visit in Britain when they accompany their 12-year-old daughter Princess Margrethe next Saturday, a Danish embassy official said Monday. Princess Margrethe is to attend school in England.

REDS PAY INDEMNITY

BRUSSELS (AP) — The Soviet Union has paid 500,000 francs ($10,000) to the Belgian widow of an airlines pilot shot down by a Russian MIG fighter over Austria last year, Soviet Consul L. G. Podgorny now handed the cheque recently to Mrs. J. Clauwaets, whose husband was killed June 3, 1954, when a MIG attacked the Sabena freighter he was flying near Graz. Clauwaets was ferrying a cargo of pigs to Yugoslavia.

Numerous New Safety Features On '56 Chryslers

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP)—Chrysler Corporation's 1956 model cars, introducing push button automatic drive control, numerous new safety features and a new ultra-modern body design concept were displayed at a press preview today.

The showing disclosed that Chrysler, like other car makers, has been carrying on extensive safety tests.

Particular emphasis has been given to a new type door latch, designed to prevent doors from popping open in any but most unusual crashes. They will be standard on all Chrysler Corp. cars.

The push button drive, to be standard on all Plymouth, DeSoto, DODGE, Chrysler and Imperial models equipped with automatic transmissions, will be controlled from the instrument panel, left of the steering wheel. The selector unit consists of buttons for neutral, low, drive and reverse which are illuminated for night driving.

AWAY FROM CHILDREN

Chrysler emphasizes that left-of-the-wheel installation keeps the buttons out of reach of children. It noted also that shifting with the new device is as gentle as operating a push button radio.

Offered as optional equipment are safety seat belts and a newly designed vacuum-operated brake system with automatic transmission installations.

A major optional installation for 1956 models is a record player developed for all five Chrysler lines by CBS-laboratories.

Some specific details of the new cars were withheld for later announcement separately by each of the divisions. Prices of the new cars also are being withheld until the public introductions.

Republic Agrees To License Films For TV Showings

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A crack in Hollywood movie studios' stand against putting their feature films on TV came Monday with announcement of an anti-trust consent judgment against Republic Pictures Corporation.

The United States attorney's office here said the New York corporation and its producing subsidiary here, Republic Productions Inc., agreed:

1. To offer for licensing for TV within 90 days 80 per cent of the studio's feature films produced between Aug. 1, 1948.

2. To negotiate with the Screen Actors Guild towards making available TV films produced since the 1948 date.

3. Within two years after successful completion of such negotiations, to license for TV at least 25 per cent of its feature films three years after they have been released for national theatrical showing.

4. To offer for TV licensing in each calendar year thereafter at least 50 per cent of the films released by the company three years earlier for U. S. theatrical distribution.

10 OTHER DEFENDANTS

The decree involves 16-millimeter versions of feature films. The government's complaint, filed in 1952, charged that Republic and 10 other defendants concertedly refused to license the exhibition of 16-mm features in any number or place that would compete with 35-mm (theatrical) exhibition.

Trial against the other defendants is set for Sept. 20.

The other defendants are 20th Century - Fox Film Corporation; Warner Brothers Pictures Inc.; Warner Brothers Pictures Distributing Corporation; RKO Radio Pictures Inc.; Columbia Pictures Corporation; Screen Gems Inc.; Universal Pictures Company Inc.; United World Films Inc.; Films Inc., and Pictorial Films Inc.

ICE HOLDS SHIP CAPTIVE OFF GREENLAND

The Norwegian ship, Jupeter, an 850-ton seal catcher, is shown in this aerial view hemmed in by ice packs, which have held the ship captive since Sept. 2. A U.S. air force helicopter, operating out of Mesterwvik, Greenland, evacuated 26 persons from the ship on Sept. 8. The captain and crew elected to stay aboard awaiting the arrival of a rescue ship. Man-Eating Sharks, Giant Turtles, Deadly Tropical Fish Seen in North Atlantic Waters

By STEWART MacLEOD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HALIFAX (CP) — Man-eating sharks, giant turtles and deadly tropical fish are gliding through chilly North Atlantic waters, searching swimmers close to shore and keeping scientists puzzled.

Once known mainly for its cod-fish, the North Atlantic now is turning up fish that a few years ago were almost exclusive to Caribbean temperatures. Scientists are having a field day trying to find out why.

Deadly rays have been harpooned off Cape Breton Island, huge sharks have been snagged around the Nova Scotia coast, tarpons have been hooked in Halifax and two giant turtles were captured just recently. On top of this the once-stable codfish appear to be moving North.

UNKNOWN FACTORS

All this is believed caused by a gradual warming of Atlantic waters but just why the water temperature is changing is not known. Scientists are studying coastal currents, prevailing winds and other related factors in an attempt to come up with a concrete explanation. Weather officials say there has been no change in the Gulf Stream but steady winds from the south may be the reason.

In the last eight years the average temperature of Nova Scotia coastal waters has increased by two degrees. Officials say another two degrees could drive the cod away from these coasts.

Many explanations have been offered in connection with climatic changes, but scientists say investigations are still incomplete. In the meantime, they are not guessing.

The tropical and temperates didn't draw much comment from fishermen until they hooked, early when a 25-foot killer shark, nicknamed the Pouch a Rammer, 13, severely injured when they crashed a fishing boat, drowning one man. After that there was growing concern.

Since then, rays, tarpons and turtles have been picked up around Maritime shores. One turtle caught off Cape Breton weighed 1,400 pounds. Another one caught off Halifax was nearly 700 pounds.

The fact that cod are reported moving farther north hasn't been to worry fishermen yet. There are still enough in these waters for economical fishing. But with new types of tropical killers lurking around, fishing is not quite as it used to be.

Catholic Unions To Debate Merger

QUEBEC (CP) — Delegates to the annual convention of the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor here Monday named a special committee to draft a new resolution on the question of a possible merger with other Canadian unions.

The new resolution is to be submitted for debate today.

During Monday's session, Mr. Picard personally rejected the idea of a merger with Canada's two big labor unions. Answering questions from the floor, he said vegetable unity of Canada's labor bodies would mean a "further intrusion" of the United States into Canadian labor affairs.

The Canadian Congress of Labor and the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, about to ratify merger proceedings, are affiliated with the Congress of Industrial Organizations and the American Federation of Labor, respectively.

Woman Is Killed

TORONTO (CP) — Mrs. Florence Hobbs of nearby Richvale was killed today and her son Murray, 13, severely injured when their car crashed a fishing boat, drowning one man. After that there was growing concern.

Police said Gordon Bell of Toronto, 21, was driver of the second car and was detained.

They said Bell's car sideswiped one car and then rammed the Hobbs' from behind.

Labor Council Urges Province Appeal Dismissal

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto labor organization has asked provincial authorities to appeal a judge's dismissal of charges that two restaurant owners discriminated against Negroes.

The Toronto and Lakeshore Labor Council said Monday night Judge John Greech should not have been allowed to try the cases arising out of incidents in Dresden because he once supported a discriminatory restrictive covenant.

The restaurant owners had been fined $50 in magistrates court but the verdict was set aside by Judge Greech last week.

Harry Waisglass, assistant research director of the CIO United Steelworkers, said the judge was one of those who supported an appeal to have an area known as the Beach o' Pines on Lake Huron restricted.

NOT SATISFIED

In his judgment the judge said he was not satisfied that the crown had demonstrated that the persons concerned had been denied service because of their color.

A report from the joint labor committee for human rights presented to the council said in part:

"Judge Grosch's decision implies that a business operator must . . . tell a customer that he is denying him service because of his race before the courts will believe he is practising racial discrimination.

"It would be folly for anyone who is violating the fair practices laws of his province as several business operators in Dresden are probably doing right now, to openly admit what is being borne a witness."

BASED ON FINDINGS

Judge Grosch said from his home:

"My decision in the Dresden case is based on my findings in the case, not my sentiments. It is a straight matter of appeal and they have a perfect right to do so."

Social Credit Wins B.C. Vote

SQUAMISH, B. C. (CP) — Social Credit increased its standing to 28 in the 48-seat Columbia legislature Monday night, wresting the Lillooet riding from the Liberals.

Don Robinson, 35-year-old locomotive engineer operating out of Squamish, B. C., 40 miles north of Vancouver, won the seat after a bitter, name - calling by-election campaign in which the provincial heads of four political parties took part.

Mr. Robinson won 1,398 votes; J. Gordon Gibson, Liberal, 1,215; Jack Thomas, CCF, 892, and Ben Cherry, Progressive Conservative, 193.

House standing now is: Social Credit 28 seats; CCF 14; Liberals four; Independent one and Labor one.

The by-election was precipitated by Mr. Gibson, who resigned his seat in protest against Social Credit forest policies, charging that "money talks and has talked."

EXPRESSES REGRETS

ATHENS (AP)—Turkey's envoy here expressed his government's profound regret Monday for violence to Greek persons and property in Istanbul and Izmir last Tuesday. Foreign Minister Stephen Stephanopoulos said the Turkish charge d'affaires promised in a 20-minute conference that "the guilty will be punished and those who suffered compensated."

Tailors Advised to Emphasize Color in New Designs for Men

By ALVIN STEINKOFF

LONDON (AP)—London tailors, who regard themselves as the world's best, are being advised to emphasize color in their new designs for men.

The tip comes from the tailors' trade magazine, Tailor and Cutter, which said color is on the way in, and that while conservative designers may shudder, they can not stop it.

The demand for brightness comes, it added, from the man who ultimately gets his way—the man who buys the suits.

The Edwardian look, on which smart British tailoring thrived for a number of years, is on the way out, Tailor and Cutter added. It said that in the shorter jacket and more orthodox styling. Neatness and simplicity becomes the keynote and instead of relying on detail, the trend now has a chance to switch to color for effect. We can definitely expect men to start turning toward lighter colors for suiting."

In accessories, especially shirts and ties, the trend toward color is well advanced, Tailor and Cutter said.

"Solid colors in shades that have come to be known as 'Italian' are arriving," it continued. "The white shirt is taking the knock from the yellows, the pinks, the blues and the pale mauves; the bright tie is being produced, not primarily in the American sense—that is jazzy contrast of colors within the tie itself—but bright and strong in its own right and contrasting boldly with the shirt shade."

Color encroaches on everything and men's eyes can't escape, tailors were told. Combinations which 10 years ago would have been regarded an inartistic riot are becoming acceptable.

"Look at nature and see where bright greens are pressed against dull greens, reds and purples, against bright scarlets and ultramarines," the magazine said. "No one shudders at the juxtaposition of yellow and purple in an iris. Twenty years ago an iris was presumably in bad taste. But can nature be out of fashion?"

Mother of Dead Heiress Is Found Unfit to Stand Trial as Accessory

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The district attorney's office has arrested a couple in whose apartment a wealthy heiress died, accusing both of causing her death by criminal abortion.

District attorney Samuel Dash, in a generally unexpected move at the end of a day of dramatic developments in the case, swore out warrants Monday night against Milton Schwartz and his wife, Hecelle, charging them with committing an illegal operation to the death of Mrs. Doris Ostreicher, conspiracy and perjury.

The Schwartzes were held in jail for a while, then released on bail of $5,000 each to appear at a hearing Thursday.

They will appear in the same small courtroom where Mrs. Gertrude Silver Monday afternoon was found not competent to face charges of being an accessory to the death of her daughter.

Mrs. Silver was freed on $1,500 bail, with the recommendation that she be placed in a mental hospital until she is fit to face her accusers. Her lawyer and physician agreed to the recommendation.

Three psychiatrists, two of them appointed by the state, agreed at the hearing that the 43-year-old mother of Mrs. Ostreicher, foodchain heiress who married a policeman, was in no state of physical or mental health to testify.

Mrs. Ostreicher, a bride of two months and kicking only a few days of turning 23, died on the night of Aug. 24. At an inquest the city medical examiner said that death was caused by criminal abortion.

Two months earlier the daughter of Herman B. Silver, president of a big supermarket chain, had married Earl Ostreicher, member of a well-to-do Chicago family who chose to work as a motorcycle policeman in Miami Beach, Fla.

They eloped, breaking the news to their families later. Ostreicher said that his people rejoiced, but that his bride's family, especially her mother, bitterly opposed the union. Two weeks before her death Mrs. Ostreicher came back to Philadelphia alone—hoped, her husband said, of reconciling her parents to the marriage.

Commandos Man Road Barricades In Cyprus Town

LIMASSOL, Cyprus (Reuters) — British commandos manned road barricades throughout the night in this Cyprus town, stopping and searching cars after quelling demonstrations by stone-throwing youths.

The town was quiet, but commandos guarded the homes of British families after Greek-Cypriot youths Monday night demonstrated in front of the British Mediterranean island colony's union with Greece. Some 30 arrests were made following the disturbances. About 300 British commandos who arrived in Cyprus during the weekend moved in when the youths stoned a police car and smashed a police telephone booth and the windows of a bar.

A policeman was attacked as the demonstrators ran through the town shouting slogans. The troops were stoned as they moved in.

Sir Robert Armitage, British colonial governor, arrived back Monday night from the London conference on Cyprus. Another 400 British Army troops arrive today.

SUBJECT OF DISCUSSION: BUGS

Of interest to farmers in all sections of Canada is the fifth annual convention of the Entomological Society of Canada in Fredericton, N.B., on Oct. 19-20. The entomologists will exchange views on the year's activities on various bugs, rusts and whatever else plagues crops and stunts growth of agricultural products. Hon. C. B. Sherwood, New Brunswick minister of agriculture, appears amused by the poster designed for the meeting. (Central Press Canadian.)

RCAF Officials Take Mystery Out of Object

OTTAWA (CP)—RCAF officials quickly took the mystery out of an object reported flying over Ottawa. The object, they said, is a weather balloon.

Local newspapers and weather offices received several phone calls about the object seen at 9 p.m. and 5 p.m. EDT Monday.

Because of its great height—estimated at up to 100,000 feet—it could possibly be the same balloon reported visible in the Belleville area, almost 300 miles distant, one official said. Strong winds and jet trails would move it great distances.

SAME, HIGH UP

The estimate of its height was made when jet planes from Uplands airport reported the balloon looked no larger than 45,000 feet than it did from the ground.

Similar weather balloons are sent up daily from various points in Canada, one official said. They contain radio equipment for broadcasting temperature, humidity and air pressure information.

A strange circular object was reported in the sky Sunday over the Beaverton-Orillia district. Lorne Lewis dabbed around Lindsay, 40 miles farther east.

Early Monday persons in Fort Erie spotted the balloon and later police and weather officers in Hamilton were flooded with calls.

Monday night it was spotted at Belleville, seemingly about 5,000 or 6,000 feet in the sky, looking about the size of a soccer ball.

Observers said it had a bubble-like projection on one side and a ridge on another. It appeared to be slightly pointed on the side nearest the earth.

New Copyright Convention Comes Into Force

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (CP) A universal copyright convention protecting the works of authors, composers and artists will come into force Friday, it was announced Monday.

Twelve countries, including the United States, have ratified the convention sponsored by the UN Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization. Thirty other countries, including Canada, Britain and Australia, have signed but not yet ratified the agreement. None of the Iron Curtain countries participated.

Under the agreement, signed in Geneva in 1952, states will afford the same protection to the works of foreign authors, composers and artists as to their own nationals. Literary, scientific, musical, dramatic and cinematographic works are included as well as paintings, engravings and sculptures.

Protection is offered for a minimum of 25 years either from the time of the work's first publication or from the death of the author. Under existing conditions protection extends from three years to twenty.

Fire Loss $5,000,000

CUMBERLAND, R.I. (AP)—Five big industrial buildings on the banks of the Blackstone river were destroyed Monday night by flames that roared uncontrolled until, firemen said, "there was nothing left to burn."

Loss was estimated unofficially at $5,000,000.

A general alarm was sounded to bring firefighters and equipment from all over northern Rhode Island, and many parts of southeastern Massachusetts to combat the wind-whipped flames.

Ten Candidates Nominated To Contest Four Federal By-Elections on September 26

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A total of 10 candidates will contest four federal by-elections Sept. 26.

Liberal and Progressive Conservative party nominees had filed papers in all four by-elections—three it Quebec and one in New Brunswick constituencies — when nominations closed Monday.

One independent and one Social Credit candidate will also contest the by-elections.

The by-elections were called following the appointment of two members of Parliament to the Senate, appointment as ambassador to Argentina and the death of the fourth.

STRAIGHT RACE

It will be a straight two-way race between the Liberals and Conservatives in Temiscouata and Bellechasse ridings.

Jean-Paul St. Laurent, 43-year-old son of the prime minister, is Liberal candidate in Temiscouata. Also contesting the seat is Jean-Paul Berube, Progressive Conservative candidate. Both are lawyers.

Two lawyers will also be the only contestants in Bellechasse where Ovide Laflamme of Quebec was named by the Liberals and Jules Pare of Montmagny, Que., by the Conservatives.

The Restigouche - Madawaska riding will be contested by John Bugold, Liberal; J. C. Van Horne, Conservative; and Social Credit candidate Frederick L. Prickett. Both Mr. Bugold and Mr. Van Horne are Campbellton, NB., barristers, Mr. Prickett, a contractor, is from Squaw Cap, N.B.

The New Brunswick seat was held by the late J. G. Boucher, Liberal member of Parliament.

The Quebec South seat, held by Hon C. G. (Chubby) Power until his senate appointment, will be contested by the wartime air minister's son, 35-year-old Frank Power, civil engineer Vvon Tasse and lawyer Jean-Louis Plante for the Liberals and Conservative, and Mr. Plante Independent.

RAWDON

United Church D.V.B.S. Attended by 100 Children

RAWDON — For the third year in succession, a most successful Vacation School was held the last week of August in Mount Pleasant United Church hall and church, with a varied staff from Rawdon circuit and an attendance of 100 children.

A special "At Home" and display for parents and friends was held the last evening at the hall with a large attendance.

The Rev. W. G. Fletcher, pastor of the circuit, was master of ceremonies and the service opened at 8.30 p.m. The pastor cordially welcomed the parents, friends, boys, girls and leaders.

The juniors and intermediates massed on the stage, sang "That Sweet Story of Old." The primary children then took their places and sang "Deep in My Saviour's Love," with motions, followed by a two-part song.

KINDERGARTEN GROUP

Mrs. Raymond McConnell voiced thanks to all the various helpers. The class started with 23 and there were 28 children the last three days. Eighteen of these had perfect attendance. The certificates were given out by her helpers, Mrs. Stanley Williams, Mrs. Jack Dudham and Mrs. Irvine Potts.

Mr. Raymond McConnell manipulated the stage curtain during the evening.

The primary group was led by Mrs. John Mulheron and her assistants were: Mrs. Herbert Smith, Mrs. Ross Jeffs, Mrs. W. G. Fletcher and Mrs. Burton Morton.

STORIES OF JESUS

This group began with 27, and for three days there were 29, and the last day 30 children were present for classes. Their central theme was stories and pictures of Jesus and the children were also taught favorite Bible stories. They gave in group dialogue a brief story of Old Testament men: David, Abraham, and Samuel, and a combined story of "Jesus and His Life."

Miss Gizella Figyouth, of Bethel, sang a hymn in German. The group gave as their closing number "There is Room in My Heart for Thee".

The offering of $16 to defray expenses of the school was gathered by Ralph Carlisle and Jackie Bailey.

A pantomime of "Ruth" was presented in three acts under the direction of Mrs. Burton Morton and she outlined the series in story form. First, "The Land of Moab," with Ruth and Naomi journeying to Bethlehem along the hilly road. Second scene, "The barley fields on the property of Boaz." Third scene, "The house of Naomi."

The junior group had an average attendance of 22 and were under the leadership of Mrs. Kenneth Weaver. Her assistants were: Mrs. Burton Morton, Mrs. Archie Bailey, Mrs. Burton Sharpe, Mrs. Harvey Coish and Mrs. Clayton Thompson. The latter taught leathercraft each day.

The intermediates contributed two songs, "I Love to go to Sunday School" and "Faith, Hope and Charity." This was under the direction of Mrs. Stewart Hoover and Miss Betty McConnell.

The assistants were: Mrs. Carleton Potts, Mrs. Jim Pollock, the Rev. W. G. Fletcher, Mrs. Lorne Watson.

Mr. Ray Sharp taught woodworking one day and Mrs. Clayton Thompson taught leathercraft and hammered aluminum to the class.

There were 20 people who gave of their time and talents for five afternoons and these were given in ovation and a vote of thanks.

The boys who were making windmills gathered at the church hall the following Tuesday evening to complete their project.

Four long tables held the various displays of handwork. The kindergarten group had fans, candy boxes, bunnies, marshmallow figures, booklets, entitled "A Happy Home," leather purses and various other articles of interest.

The intermediate group displayed plastic belts, hammered aluminum plaques and trays, bird houses, booklet, "My Bible a Guide Book," with various guide posts, book marks and "Learning to Live Together."

The juniors displayed model airplanes, pictures, Bible story booklets, leatherwork and plaques.

The primary group made cute book marks engraved with "God is Love," plastic woven articles in variegated colors, wall plaques, Bible pictures with eagles, novelty boats with Bible verses on each oar and mottoes, "Help the Weak," "Be Kind to One Another," "A Friend Loves at All Times," "Make Love Your Aim" as Jesus said "Love One Another."

Project. The Vacation School project was to send books printed in various languages with "The Stories of Jesus." The children's offering each day totalled $20 and this amount purchased 240 books to send to other lands as a missionary project.

The school was a wonderful success with 100 children registered and an average attendance of 90.

Children were in attendance from the three appointments on Rawdon circuit, Mount Pleasant, Bethel and Wesham's also visitors from Springbrook, Stirling, Eggleton, Carnes, Hoards, and other points.

A final meeting of the Vacation School committee was held on Wednesday evening and plans laid for a larger and better school in August, 1956.

Conciliation Meeting Called by Louis Fine

TORONTO (CP) — Louis Fine, Ontario's chief conciliation officer, Monday called on Canadian Raybestos Company of Peterborough and the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) to meet with him here tomorrow in an effort to end a strike of 130 workers.

The union struck Aug. 29 to back demands for a two-cent-an-hour increase in the basic hourly pay of $1.20 for men and $1.21 for women. It also sought other benefits.

The workers walked out after nine months of negotiations and after a conciliation board report recommended that no wage increase be granted and that washup periods and some rest periods be eliminated.

MONTREAL LIVES UP TO EXPECTATIONS AT THE EXPENSE OF TORONTO ARGOS

Over the week-end in Montreal, the Alouettes backed up the contention by some that they are still the best team in Eastern Canada by rolling to a 43-11 win over the Toronto Argonauts, one of the worst defeats for the double blue. With Pat Abbruzzi, a hard-rock from Rhode Island, leading the way at left with Dick Brown, centre, and Gil Maine in pursuit, the Larks went for 354 yards via the overland route and the grid machine which Harry Sonshine spent $250,000 to build was unable to stop the onslaught. The Ottawa Roughriders also did some backing up of their own against the Ticats in Hamilton. A week ago they served notice they were going to cause plenty of trouble in the Big Four league and they did just that to the Tiger Cats before yielding to a 23-13 defeat. They threw a bad scare into the opposition, leading by a touchdown and a half at one time. At right, Hamilton's Paul Bischoff, almost hidden, and teammate Hal Waggoner arrive in time to ruin Ottawa pass meant for Bones Taylor. (Central Press Canadian Photos.)

U.S. Winner of Blind Golfers' Tourney Shares Honors with Canadian

Charlie Boswell, U.S. winner of second annual International Blind Golfers' championship, held at Windsor, Ont., had to share tournament glory with a 38-year-old Canadian, Claude Pattemore, seen at left, who came from nowhere to card a sensational 36 over the final 18 to finish in the runner-up slot with 223. A cafeteria employee in Hamilton, Ont., Patternore's great round brought him the Canadian individual championship and the honor of being the first blind golfer to break 100 in the international. Boswell, 38-year-old resident of Birmingham, Ala., who carded a record 36-hole score of 213 is seen at right receiving trophy from Merle Schneckenburger while Sam Jaffe, who also coached him to victory in recent U.S. blind golfers' tournament held in Philadelphia, looks on. Kennedy's Sweater Will Take Some Filling

While packing up his trunks in preparation for hockey Leafs' departure for training camp now under way at St. Catharines, Ont., trainer Tim Daly comes across Ted Kennedy's old sweater No. 9. His puniement over who will fill it this season is no doubt causing King Clancy.Hap Day combination some concern, too. A star centre for the Leafs, "Teeder" retired at the end of the season last year after having been with the Toronto team 12 of his 30 years. (Central Press Canadian).

ORFU Will Not Be Weak Sister Says Coach

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—If the new coach of the Sarnia Imperials gets his wish the Ontario Rugby Football Union won't be any weak sister in Canadian football wars.

Speaking to a service club here Monday, coach Bob Friedlund said club officials "intend to build this thing up until we have a kind of football that won't take a back seat to any played in the country."

The native of Galesburg, Ill., and veteran player and coach for U.S. college and professional teams, is getting his first taste of Canadian football this year and commented: "All in all I like it." He said he felt the Canadian game placed "the onus on passing," and developed better and more accurate kickers.

Plans for Buying Buffalo Bisons Are Revealed

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Preliminary plans for the purchase of Buffalo Bisons from Detroit Tigers were revealed Monday.

John C. Stigmeier and Harry Bligter, two of the local sponsors for a community-owned club, and general manager Hillman Lyons of the Bisons conferred on details.

They revealed that an attempt would be made to raise $150,000 to close an option granted by Detroit for the purchase of the International League franchise. The option expires Oct. 8.

Incorporation figures will be set at $275,000 and stock certificates will be placed on sale at $1 a share. Purchases of each dollar share also will be pledged to include $8 additional to cover purchase of five tickets for season games.

Argonauts Will Soon Have New Men in Lineup

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Argonauts have started a move to correct weaknesses in their Big Four Football Union club.

It began Monday with the arrival of Ed Fauch, a six-foot-three, 240-pound tackle who was cut by Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League.

Argo team manager Harry Sonshine said Fauch, if he is accepted by Toronto coach Bill Swiacki, will be used Saturday in Argos' game here against Ottawa Rough Riders. At least two more United States imports are expected to arrive here within the next few days.

The need for an Argonaut patching job was evident after they lost 37-12 to Hamilton Tiger-Cats last Monday and 43-14 against the Alouettes in Montreal Saturday.

Sonshine said he has been assured that Fauch has been released. Fauch played at the University of Southern California last season.

EDMONTON WINS

SASKATOON (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos won the Western Canada Baseball League playoff championship and the right to represent Canada at the global world series in Milwaukee by defeating Saskatoon Gems 5-1 in 13 innings Monday night.

Some 3,000 fans saw the seventh and deciding game of the best-of-seven final.

Worth $25 To Shake Hand Of Ted Williams

BOSTON (AP)—"It was worth it," said Charles A. Kwedor, 20, of Cambridge as he paid a $25 fine in district court Monday for shaking the hand of Red Sox slugger Ted Williams.

The hand-shaking occurred during the Boston-Cleveland game last Saturday when Kwedor and a companion sprinted from the stands onto the field to shake hands with Williams.

Kwedor's companion got away. Kwedor, who was nabbed by park attendants, was charged with disturbing an assembly.

Kitchener Boy Wins Golf Title

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Shooting a six-over par 78, 16-year-old Gary Cowan of Kitchener Rockway became the first winner of the J. Bevan Hay Memorial Trophy and the first annual Western Ontario junior golf tournament at the Thames Valley course Monday.

Cowan, competing in the 17 and 18 year age group, put together a 36 on the out-going nine and came home with a 42 on the last nine, for his tourney winning score. His only birdie in the 18 was on the par four 360-yard sixth hole.

Bob Bell of Brantford carded a 77 to take honors in the 14 and 16 age group.

Phil Brownlee of Toronto, who was a teammate of Cowan's on the Ontario junior team that played in Washington, D.C., recently, captured the 13 and 14 age group with a 78.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Lee Lucoles's Belleville Skellston, women's, Eastern Ontario softball champions will see action again soon after a long layoff. Their next series will be the semi-finals against the Western Ontario winners and will open here on Saturday, September 24th.

Their opposition will be one of four teams, either Florence, Fort Erie, Goderich or Fergus, and the first game will be played here, likely at the CNRAA Park at 4.00 p.m. The return game is scheduled for Wednesday, September 28.

Meanwhile the Point Anne Cementmen will have another three weeks to rest up from their tough series with Peterborough Seabrookes before entering the Industrial league.

A Toronto team and Waterloo are battling it out in the semi-finals at present but no results are available. Point Anne meets the victors, with the first game in their two-of-three series scheduled for the Point on Saturday, October 1st. The long return trip will come on the following Saturday, October 8th, and if a third game is necessary it will be played on Wednesday, October 19th, likely on neutral grounds.

There is a slight chance that this series will get under way sooner should Waterloo or Toronto take their series in two straight games and be willing to come here earlier.

While the Cementmen will get a rest from OASA playdowns, they will keep in shape with their city championship series against the Belleville Orfuns.

Their best-of-five tiplar match opens at the CNRAA Park this evening at 6.00 p.m., with the Bill Ott trophy at stake. Pat Marsolo will likely start on the hill for Point Anne while Bill Spafford can counter with either Bob "Lefty" Green, or his right-handed son, Bob Hunter.

MINOR CLUBS

Turning to minor ball, Belleville's bantam and peewee OASA representatives are travelling along at a fast clip in their quest for championship honors.

Joe Adams' Elliott Regents have already captured the Eastern Ontario title with victories over Peterborough and Oshawa. They had an easy time with the Littlock City crew, taking the series in two games, both by large scores. Oshawa, too, bit the dust in two games, but put up a much stronger battle. Elliott's pulled out a 5-4 win here on Saturday, scoring the winning marker in the last frame with catcher Dick Clapp stealing home.

They now meet Toronto Beaches Orfuns with the first game in Toronto tomorrow night at 8.00 p.m. The return game will be here on Saturday.

In the peewee series, Leo Culhane and his Booth Radio-TV's are battling it out with another Oshawa club in their initial playoff.

They dropped the first game of the series at home a week ago but came back to tie the series in Oshawa on Saturday. It was a tight pitcher's duel all the way with Malloy of Booth's allowing six hits and the Oshawa hurler five.

The clubs were tied 3-3 entering the final frame but Belleville squeezed across one run to even the series. The third game will be played in Cobourg, either tonight or Wednesday.

The players of both these clubs play some fine softball as well as learning sportsmanship from their coaches and the attitude of the fans at the ballpark. They would appreciate a little support, so how about catching their next games?

RETURN OF THE AUSSIE

The hardrock from down under, Fred Atkins, returns to the Belleville wrestling ring this Friday night when he hooks up with Doug Hepburn against Karl Von Schober and Fritz Von Erich.

Atkins will be remembered here as a nasty villain from a year or so back when he bulled his way to victories over the best Mr. Tunney could send his way. The fans hated Freddie's tactics then but you can bet your life they'll all be rooting for him this time.

Hepburn needs no introduction to the local crowd. One of the strongest men in the world, Doug will make a perfect teammate for Atkins, but the two will have their hands full. Schober and Erich have dominated the wrestling here this summer, using every trick possible to subdue their opponents. Never has a pair of meanless earned such hate from both the spectators and wrestlers alike as these two.

They've beaten nearly all the top boys of the circuit but when they run into someone like Atkins, who plays their brand of ball, it may be a different story.

Two other bouts will fill out the card. Ilio Di Paola clashes with Pat Fraley in the preliminary while two popular boys, Billy Stack and Bob Lattler, meet head-on in the opener at 8.45 p.m.

SPORTSMANLIKE GESTURE

The Frankford Merchants, one of five teams in the Belleville and District Softball League this season, wish to express thanks to the Belleville Orfuns and a couple of fellows in blue suits.

Herb Rankin, veteran player, ex-coach and manager of the Merchants, broke his leg in an OASA playdown game not long ago. The Frankford club wanted to arrange an exhibition benefit game for Mr. Rankin.

They got in touch with Bill Spafford, coach of the Orfuns, who quickly agreed to go to Frankford and play the Merchants at no charge, donating the entire gate to Rankin.

The game was played Saturday night with Mike Whalen and Bernard "Crabby" Bennett giving their time, also free, for umpiring purposes.

Over $100 was raised and turned over to the veteran player. If anyone's interested, the Orfuns were leading 11-9 when rain halted activity in the top of the eighth.

Washington, Cleveland Open Crucial Series With Twin Bill, Senators Hold Season's Edge

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Can Cleveland's 1½-game lead survive the Washington jinx? That's the next question in the American League pennant quiz—and the flag may be riding on the answer.

The Indians look like they may have packed away the pennant when they came from behind to earn a doubleheader split Sunday against the second-place New York Yankees, but Tribe manager Al Lopez remains cautious. He's not predicting a thing "until after tonight's two games at Washington."

"If we get by Washington," says Lopez, "we ought to be in an excellent position, although it still won't be a cinch. I still think it will be real tough all the way."

It's a crazy race that puts the spotlight on a three-game set between the leaders and the ninth place club. But that's the way the race has been since the all-star game break—just plain crazy.

HAVE TAKEN THEM

The Senators, a whopping 20 games behind, somehow have managed to take five straight from the Indians while whipping them in 12 of 19 games so far. No other club has an edge over the Tribe this season.

Washington's eager for this series. "The boys figure they'll knock the Indians out of first," said Clark Griffith, Washington vice president, "it's a matter of revenge. We lost 18 of 22 to them last year.

Oddly enough, another second division club, Detroit Tigers, also threatens the Indians, who have lost seven games less than the Yankees with 11 games to play. Detroit fills up six of the remaining dates.

The Tigers also could raise a fuss with the Yanks as they wind up the '55 series against New York with a two-game set starting this afternoon.

OTHER DOUBLEHEADERS

Third-place Chicago, still hopeful though 3½ games back, has twinnight twinbills at Baltimore tonight and Wednesday. And fourth-place Boston, reduced to a spoiler's role with six games remaining against New York, plays an afternoon doubleheader against Kansas City.

Lopez again is throwing his best against Washington, choosing Bob Lemon (17-8) and Mike Garcia (10-12) tonight. Early Wynn and Herb Score have started 15 of the 19 games to date and have come out with only a 4-7 record.

Lemon knew what it was all about Score (on June 14) were the only Cleveland hurlers to manage complete games against the Senators, who have had nine complete pitching jobs against the Tribe. Manny McDermott (9-9), who teams with Bob (10-10) Porterfield tonight, has four of them in five starts for a 3-2 record against the Tribe.

The Yankees, who with Chicago have 12 games remaining, go behind Bob Turley (15-13) today against Detroit's Bob Miller, a 22-year-old bonus guy just back from the majors.

HAS TWO READY

Chicago has Jack Harshman (10-7) and Virgil Trucks (15-7) ready for the last-place Orioles. They'll face Ray Moore (7-10) and Ray Feller (5-5).

White Sox manager Marty (Nothing shocks me any more") Marion figures "we could take four games at Baltimore and be in a wonderful position to win the pennant." Marion thinks his Sox must win 10 of their final 12 to take the flag. They have 10 left against Kansas City and Baltimore—plus two against the Indians.

Only one game was scheduled in the majors Monday and Pittsburgh won it 9-3 at St. Louis. Dale Long broke it up with a three-run homer in the fourth. Stan Musial had two of the six hits off winner Lino Donoso—a pair of homers that gave him 100 or more runs batted in for the eighth time in his career.

Toronto Team Refused to Play Any Overtime

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Ukraina has been awarded the eastern Canada soccer championship after Toronto Ulster United refused Monday night to play overtime or replay the game to break a 0-0 deadlock.

Toronto took the first match of the three-game series Saturday by defeating Montreal 1-0 but was downed 3-1 by Ukraina Sunday.

George Anderson of Winnipeg, secretary of the Football Association of Canada, awarded the deciding game to Montreal after the Toronto club turned down his offer that a deciding game be played tonight.

Anderson's decision was made in Winnipeg after a lengthy discussion by telephone between him and officials in Montreal.

Montreal Ukraina will meet the winner of the western Canada series between New Westminster, B.C., and Winnipeg's Institute Provoda in the Dominion final beginning Sunday in Toronto. The three-game western Canada series begins today in Winnipeg.

Referee Bill Searle, who officiated, at the first two games, was replaced Monday night's contest by Herb Yarnell. Two linesmen were also after the first two games were also replaced.

BEFORE THE GAME

Yarnell said he told both team captains before the game that if the score was tied after the regulation 90 minutes, two 15-minute overtime periods would be played. But the teams had taking different ends of the field each period.

Toronto argued, however, the rule change should have been informed and refused to play the overtime.

Ulster United had the edge in the first 10 minutes of the game but Ukraina took over the rest of the first half.

The second half the Toronto team had control of the game until the last five minutes when Montreal took the initiative by firing shot after shot at the goal of the visiting club.

Trailermen Take First Game In Lacrosse Finals by 15-12

VICTORIA (CP)—Peterborough Trailermen took their first step towards a fifth consecutive Canadian senior lacrosse championship here Monday night by downing Victoria Shamrocks 15-12 in the first game of the seven-game series for the Mann Cup.

More than 4,200 fans turned out to watch the East and West championships race through a goal-studded game.

Peterborough, the pre-game favorite, trailed the Rocks on several occasions, in the last two years, Victoria has been knocked off by the easternars four games to one in the finals.

More strength in the goal finally paid off for Peterborough in an up-and-down game in which neither club could get more than two goals ahead until the last seconds of the final quarter.

Ike Hildebrand, a sharpshooting annoyby who led the Ontario Lacrosse Association in scoring this year, led the winners with seven goals. Bob Allan, runnerup to Hildebrand during the season, was the only other Trailerman to score more than once, getting two goals in the fourth quarter.

BOTHERED PLAYERS

A slippery floor bothered both clubs. Shamrocks held an edge in the early going but Moon Wootton got in on a hot streak in the first quarter and blocked 10 or 12 shots to give his team a 5-3 lead. Pete Peles counted twice in four shots.

It was 6-4 for Victoria at half time and play seesawed in the third quarter until the score reached 10-9 for Victoria. Trailermen wasted no time going ahead in the final 15 minutes, Hildebrand getting his sixth goal to tie Art Harry Wipper and Lou Nickle barging their way through at 2:30 and 4:15 to put Petes ahead 12-10.

Pee Wee Bradshaw topped Victoria, scoring with four goals and an assist. Referees Joe Murphy from Minico, Ont., and Roy Burton of Vancouver kept the game in hand by handing out 56 minutes in penalties although play was not particularly rough.

The second game goes Wednesday.

N.Y. Rangers Get Flying Start In Preparation for Hockey Season Opening Next Month

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The New York Rangers, hoping there's some truth in that old saying about the early bird and the worm, have taken a running start in preparation for the National Hockey League season which opens next month.

Rangers started ice workouts at their Saskatoon training camp last Friday. Four other NHL clubs started getting the kinks out Monday and Toronto Maple Leafs will completed the roll call today when they report at St. Catharines.

Coach Lynn Patrick of Detroit Red Wings has begun a general overhaul of the club which brought him a league championship and the Stanley Cup last spring in his first season in charge. He faced up to the chore when only nine players from the high-powered squad checked in at the Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., training camp. Forwards Ted Lindsay, Gordie Howe, Earl (Dutch) Reibel, Alex Delvecchio, Marty Pavelich and Bill Dineen and defencemen Red Kelly, Bob Goldham and Marcel Pronovost.

WIFED IT OUT

Two wholesale trades with Boston Bruins and Chicago Black Hawks wiped out the rest of the Red Wing machine.

New wearing Boston uniforms are Terry Sawchuk, last season's Toronto Maple Leafs goaltending star and forwards Vic Stasiuk, Marcel Bonin and Lorne Davis. In return Detroit received Norm Ullman and Warren Godfrey and forwards Ed Sandford, Real Chevrefils and Dave Creighton.

Taking over in the Detroit net will be Glenn Hall, called up from farm club Edmonton Flyers of the Western Hockey League and looked upon as a capable replacement for the brilliant Sawchuk. Top rookies at the Detroit camp appear to be forwards Norm Ullman and Johnny Bucyk, also with Edmonton last season.

ADAMS' COMMENT

Said general manager Jack Adams of the newest Detroit team:

"I finally have my kind of team. We've got more depth than ever before."

Fifty-six candidates turned up at Montreal Canadiens' camp at Verdun, Que., and ultimately they'll sell largely to Canadiens and Montreal Royals and Shawinigan Falls Cataracts of the Quebec Hockey League.

Indications are that Canadiens won't be little changed from the squad that went to the Stanley Cup final last season. Jean-Guy Talbot, with Shawinigan Falls previously, is given a good chance of catching a defence berth.

LEAF HOPEFULS

Twenty-nine players checked in at the Maple Leaf camp. Nine were juniors, the rest Toronto regulars of last season and players up from the farm club Pittsburgh Hornets for tryouts.

The only regular not working was veteran centre Teeder Kennedy, who retired last spring. Bill Harris, who scored 37 goals and 29 assists with Toronto Marlboro juniors last season, is regarded as his most likely successor.

Two other high-scoring juniors, left winger Dick Duff (Toronto St. Michael's) and right winger Barry Cullen (St. Catharines Tee-Pees), rate high among the Leaf prospects.

SCHMIDT BUSY

Boston is training at Hershey, Pa., where coach Milt Schmidt is plugging holes with the players the Bruins received from Detroit. Their top rookie appears to be defenceman Don Cherry, brought up from Hershey Bears of the AHL during the Stanley Cup playoffs last year.

Highlight of the New York camp is the play of forward star Wally Hergesheimer, apparently fully recovered from a leg fracture suffered early last season. He rammed up 27 goals in his first three seasons with Rangers.

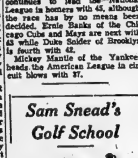
The New York Rangers are operating for the first time under Phil Watson, who has replaced Lynn Patrick now the club's general manager.

Batting Champs Will Not Come From Top Teams

NEW YORK (AP)—Unlike last season, the major league batting champions this year probably will not be members of the pennant-winning teams.

As the campaign heads into its final two weeks, Al Kaline of the fifth-place Detroit Tigers paces the American League with a .340 average while Richie Ashburn of the fourth-place Philadelphia Phillies leads the National League with .332.

In 1954, Willie Mays of the New York Giants and Bobby Avila of the Cleveland Indians captured the batting crowns while helping their clubs finish in first place.



ONLY THREE

Kaline slumped eight points in last night's games, collecting only three hits in 20 at bats. However, Ashburn, the major league Most Valuable Player of Knass City, Kaline's closest pursuers, are well in back of the pacesetter after a tie at .312.

Roy Campanella of Brooklyn, in second place in the National League, lost considerable ground to Ashburn last week. He dropped seven points to .327 while Ashburn gained five points with 11 safeties in 25 trips.

Ted Kluszewski of Cincinnati Reds, third in the National League is homers with 45, although the race has by no means been settled. Duke Snider of the Chicago Cubs and Mays are next with 42 apiece, while Gordon Coleman is fourth with 42.

Mickey Mantle of the Yankees leads the American League in circuit blows with 37.

Every golfer should learn to club. That is, get to the point where it is so automatic that he doesn't have to think of individual actions or parts of the swing at all. Once the swing has become automatic, then the most important factors in good golf become analysis and concentration. That is an ability to figure out exactly what must be done on each shot and how best to do it and the power of concentration to carry out this plan of action. A good shot to practise with self-discipline in mind is the run-up shot under varying conditions. This shot calls for careful analysis each time. Judgment of direction and distance are involved. This shot requires good golf habits—particularly analysis and concentration. Your decisions regarding how far and how to be made is exactly the same way and executed in the same relaxed manner without forcing.

Edmonton Eskimos in Driver's Seat Being Unbeaten in Western Union

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The first-place Edmonton Eskimos scored their sixth straight win and the last-place Winnipeg Blue Bombers their fifth loss in the Western Interprovincial Football Union games Monday night.

Eskimos controlled an all-out passing attack of quarterback Don Klosterman and unleashed a well-balanced ground attack to whip Winnipeg 34-13 in Edmonton.

The Bombers shellacked the second-place Saskatchewan Roughriders 25-0 in Winnipeg to earn their first two points in the standings.

Victory gave the Eskimos 12 points and a hefty four-point margin over the Saskatchewan club, while Calgary remained in fourth spot with a two-point margin over Winnipeg. The idle B.C. Lions remained in third place two points behind Roughriders.

Five interceptions by the Eskimos took the sting out of the Calgary passing attack, although Klosterman, cut by the Toronto Argonauts, completed 19 out of 28. STARS AGAIN

Quarterback Jackie Parker, former Mississippi State star, combined with Don Getty for the most successful passing display this year, in the Eskimos' 266 yards along the ground compared to only 58 for the Stampeders.

Halfbacks Earl Lunn and Earl Lindley and linebacker Bill Briggs smothered the Bombers' touchdown, while the kicking of former Maryland star Bob Dean accounted for defending Grey Cup champions nine points on two field goals and three converts.

Klosterman, passed to end Don Laft and fullback Bob Meyers for the Calgary touchdowns.

The teams were tied 6-6 at the end of the first quarter, but the Eskimos moved into a 19-13 lead in the second period and added another converted touchdown in the fourth.

The game was rough, but the only individual casualty was Edmonton end Bob Heyenfeldt who was ejected early for talking back to officials.

TWO TOUCHDOWN PASSES

In Winnipeg, quarterback Buddy Leaks completed 13 of 34 passes, including two touchdown tosses. Halfbacks George Elliott and Dud Lewis, end Brad Grant and second string quarterback Billy Ray Locklear scored the touchdowns, and Leaks converted them all.

Half Tom Casey scored the other point when halfback Harry Lunn conceded on his kick into the end zone.

Veteran import tackle Buddy Tinsley sparked the hard-charging Winnipeg line as it held the Roughriders usually powerful on the ground, to only 76 yards. The rushing line continually closed in on Saskatchewan quarterback Frank Tripucka and he connected on only nine of 20 passes for 109 yards.

After a scoreless first quarter, Bombers went wild in the second. They clicked for two converted touchdowns and a single in the third quarter and added another converted touchdown in the last quarter.

Tackles Bud Tinsley of Winnipeg and Martin Ruby of Saskatchewan were bounced from the game early in the fourth quarter for slugging.

Leafs Oppose Canadiens In N.H.L. Opener

MONTREAL (CP) — The 39th season of the National Hockey League will open Oct. 8, earliest in the league's history, and end March 18.

Four clubs will see action on the opening night, Toronto Maple Leafs at Montreal Canadiens and Chicago Black Hawks at Detroit Red Wings.

The Hawks have their first home game the following night, Oct. 7, against New York Rangers. Toronto's home opener is Oct. 8, against Detroit. Canadiens open the Boston Bruins' home season in Boston Oct. 9. New York Rangers, traditionally the last team to open at home, have their curtain-raiser Oct. 19, against Toronto.

WILL PLAY 70

Each club will again play 70 games, 35 at home and 35 away, in the 210-game schedule.

The 1955-56 schedule, released today, shows teams will play on successive nights 124 times, compared with 122 "doubleheaders" last season. Toronto Leafs have the most, 24. New York and Boston have 22 each, Detroit 21, Montreal 20 and Chicago 18.

Chicago Black Hawks have again allotted several home games to St. Louis and Omaha, cities not in the league. The Hawks play three home games in St. Louis and one in Omaha.

Harris Names Unknown To Take on Yanks

NEW YORK (AP) — When 21-year-old Bob Miller was announced as the Detroit Tigers' pitcher for today, most of the New York Yankees looked at each other: "Who's he?"

Tiger manager Bucky Harris, clean out of capable starters, nominated the 21-year-old lefthander to open the two-game series that could spell the final break in the dreams of the American League pennant.

They're a game and a half out with only 18 games to play. They've only broken even in 20 games with the fifth-place Bengals, so they don't rate a favorite.

"We're not giving anything away," said Harris when eyebrows were raised at the thought of seeing a boy on what looks like a must game. "If I think Miller doesn't have it, there will be a full bullpen ready to pitch. I won't waste any time getting him out of there."

"I remember him," muttered manager Casey Stengel of the Yanks as though he had more than enough things on his mind which he does.

Miller pitched a couple of innings of relief against us early in the season. He had good control for a kid. Looked like a prospect."

2 Ex-Champions Out in First Round of Tourney

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Two rowdies whose names never will appear on the tennis record books have made a deep impression on the upset-riddled national amateur golf championship.

They are Conde and Diane, a couple of hurricanes that dumped tons of water on the Country Club of Virginia's par three course last month and left the greens an enigma to the 200 competitors in the amateur, which began Monday.

As a result, the first round was a daze. Johnny Lipon, Yo-Yo Devlin and Joe Cunningham reeled off three double plays. The Leafs prevailed, however, on the strength of fine pitching by Curtis Blake and Ray Shore and clutch hitting by Lew Morton, Joe Delbrew and Lou Limmer. Morton and Jethroe delivered run-producing triples and Limmer drove in another with one of his three base hits.

Leafs Eliminate Havana While Royals Are on Brink

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If's do or die tonight for the Montreal Royals, and the International League's pennant winners are going down the line with their ace lefty Ken Lehman.

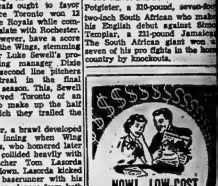
With his club trailing the Rochester- Red Wings three games to one as a result of the Winged 4-1 triumph Monday night, manager Max Mallaney has called on the 22-game winner after only two days rest. Lehman shut out Rochester Saturday as the Royals' only victory in the semi-final series. He will be opposed by Rochester's Col Deal.

Toronto will be an interested onlooker to tonight's activity, the Leafs having eliminated Havana Monday night with a 4-2 triumph to wrap up their semi-final series in five games.

Going strictly on the season's record, the Leafs ought to favor Montreal, which won 90 and lost 62 of 22 from the Royals while compiling a 91-61 slate over Rochester. The Leafs, however, have a score to settle with the Wings, stemming from manager Lolo Sarsfield's contest that Wing manager Dixie Walker gave his pitchers orders against Montreal in the final games of the season. This, Sarsfield claims, deprived him of an opportunity to make up the half game Montreal was behind Rochester's pace.

At Rochester, a brawl developed in the first inning when Wing Howie Phillips, who homered later in the game, collided heavily with Montreal pitcher Tom Lasorda during a scramble. Lasorda kicked back at the baserunner with his spikes and then players from both teams rushed out to the field. Manager Walker and Chuck Neal of the Royals also got into the act as a large scale fracas was averted by the umpires and police. No one was ejected.

Markell meanwhile moved steadily for his second playoff triumph, both five-hit, one-run jobs. He walked four, fanned four and was touched for four double plays to ease him out of jams.



As a result of eight double play artists, Johnny Lipon, Yo-Yo Devlin and Joe Cunningham reeled off three double plays. The Leafs prevailed, however, on the strength of fine pitching by Curtis Blake and Ray Shore and clutch hitting by Lew Morton, Joe Delbrew and Lou Limmer. Morton and Jethroe delivered run-producing triples and Limmer drove in another with one of his three base hits.

Valdes Favored To Win Fight Over Don Cockell

LONDON (AP) — Cuba's Nino Valdes was a 5-4on choice to beat Don Cockell of England tonight in a 10-round battle of comeback heavyweights at White City Stadium.

A crowd of around 30,000 is expected to see some 18 heavyweight bouts totalling about 3,000 pounds in all.

The tallest and heaviest is Kurt Potgieter, a 210-pound, seven-foot-two-inch South African who makes his English debut against Steve Templar, a 231-pound Jamaican. The South African giant won a seven of his pro fights in the home country by knockouts.

Sinatra Gives Version of Why He Is Not Doing 'Carousel'

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Frank Sinatra says he is sorry to miss doing "Carousel" on the screen, "but I just don't work that way."

He referred to the making of the film in two processes. He walked off the Bootbhay, Me., location when he discovered the musical would be made in cinemascope and another wide-screen method. Twentieth Century-Fox replaced him with Gordon MacRae and sued Sinatra for $1,000,000.

"I would have been insulted if they had sued me for less," remarked the crooner-actor. "They haven't got a case. I never even signed a contract for the picture."

The studio declined comment on Sinatra's remarks, but cited its statement at the time the suit was filed: that making films in two processes is common practice in the movie industry.

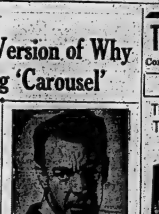
GIVES VERSION

Sinatra gave this version of the incident:

The "Carousel" deal happened suddenly. The studio had the script written, but hadn't acquired full rights. When Sintra was called, he agreed to do the film, provided he could mesh with his other plans.

These included a three-day date in Las Vegas last weekend, an NBC spectacular of "Our Town" Sept. 23 and also a film, Otto Preminger's "The Man with the Golden Arm," late this month. It was agreed that Sinatra would do the Mainz location work, then finish the "Arm" for the Preminger project.

"When I got up to Maine, they sprang this two-process gimmick on me," he declared. "I just don't work that way. I would have meant getting a shot, then refighting, getting the marks and doing the scene all over again. It would have meant five or six weeks more work."



WANTED PICTURE

"I stayed on the location hoping they would get it straightened out. Nothing happened. I even waited in New York. Money was no object; they were paying me well ($150,000) and you can't keep it forever.

"Somebody printed that I didn't intend to do the picture anyway. That's a lot of nonsense. If I didn't want to do it, would I have gone all the way to Maine? Would I have worked like the devil on the prerecording there?

"I have wanted to do 'Carousel' for seven years. It broke my heart to miss it.

There's nothing indecisive about Sinatra. He is packed with a multitude of plans. Besides his records, TV and films, he's activating his own production company in December with a western. That's right—Frank Sin is a western. There is nothing the guy won't attempt."

Slams are as temperamental as prima donnas were reputed to be. Times are when they require special handling. In bridge play, the usual methods of handling are known as coups.

There are trump coups, the Bath coup is probably the easiest to complete and for some the Vienna coup is probably the most difficult. It is possible to run into both in the same deal.

Take what happened with the spread you see here:

NORTH
♠A 7
♥Q 4 3
♦A Q J 9 2
♣K 10 5

WEST — EAST
♠10 8 6 5 4 3 — ♠9
♥K J — ♥8 7 6 5
♦K 10 — ♦8 7 5
♣K Q 10 — ♣9 8 7 2

SOUTH
♠K Q J 3
♥A 10 9 3
♦6 4
♣A J 8

South went deep into enemy territory to become the declarer at six no-trump. When he saw what dummy has he should start making in his tempos. The lords are enough to send him to the poor house.

Opening lead from west was club king, which south refused to take; the Bath coup. If leader continues clubs, south will take two tricks in that suit. But west switched to a spade.

On four spades, dummy dropped a club heart. A diamond was successfully finessed. South got in again with a heart to the ace. He threw three more diamond tricks south shuffled two hearts.

This set up in west the best spade and a best heart for purpose of squeezing them out of that hand. It is an operation known as the Vienna coup; of which here there is two.

On the fourth diamond trick the final spade was squeezed out of west. That hand now still held club Q 10 and heart king. South was with A J of clubs and 10 of hearts.

With heart queen, a diamond, a club, dummy was now on lead and sent forth the fifth diamond on which south dumped his last heart. This put the squeeze on west in a very decided way.

If he gives up heart king, dummy has the queen and south still has club son. If west jettisons a club, south gets ace and jack of that suit. Something had to give.

Parents Aged from 20 to 39 Do Most Viewing on TV

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — A lot of people say that the longer you own a television set the more TV you look at it. But the American Research Bureau, reporting on a survey, says that people who have had their sets the longest look the longest.

Families of four or more members, with the parents aged 20 to 39, who have owned their TV sets for the average of 43 months, do the most viewing. Such families keep their sets on an average of 56 hours a week—an average of 8 hours a day when that set is turned on.

Not too long ago it was a great American Sunday afternoon sport to sit in the parlor and look at panoramic scenes of Niagara Falls and the Grand canyon through the old stereoscope.

Beginning Oct. 16, if NBC-TV has its way, the great American Sunday afternoon sport will be looking at panoramic scenes on television. "Wide Wide World" has acquired sponsors and will come to the screen every other Sunday afternoon through next June 3.

Theme of the first hour-and-a-half show is "A Sunday in Autumn." To present that American panorama 50 cameras will traverse 30,000 miles and shoot from the air, on the ground, under water, from the deck of a boat and a moving cable car.

ties later with three fast ones while the All-Stars were shorthanded.

The western Canadian champions put on a short rally of their own in the dying minutes of the frame but the All-Stars' counters were not enough to erase the lead. They failed to score in the final quarter while Monarchs' Gene Petroff scored the final goal of the game.

Both teams played a rough, long Branch received six penalties, including a 10-minute misconduct to George Kapasky.

Pul Henderson was the scoring star of the contest. The Monarch forward fired four goals, three in the third quarter.

Long Branch Wins First Game In Junior Finals

TORONTO (CP)—A third-quarter scoring outburst that produced five goals in eight minutes led Long Branch Monarchs to a 9-3 win over Manitoba All-Stars Monday night in the Minto Cup lacrosse finals.

Monarchs took advantage of two Manitoba penalties to win the first game of the best-of-seven Canadian junior championship series.

With the score 4-3 in their favor, Monarchs scored two quick goals and sewed up the game a few min-

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Wednesday, September 14, 1955

March 21 to April 20 — (Aries) — A substantial planetary setup. It may not be particularly overstimulating, especially where personal desires are concerned, but industry, trades and matters concerning the public are highly favored. Be patient.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Very friendly rays for study, research, written matters, journalism, etc. Those in artistic professions may need to exert more effort. Laborious work honored.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Splendid Mercury and Saturn aspects augur for a sound, productive day in manufacturing, building, mechanics, architecture and all mental work. This can be your day.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Avoid oversensitiveness and don't fret about personal matters. Go ahead with day's plans and tackle difficult situations philosophically. This can be a responsive day.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — On the whole this period augurs well for successful attainment in many fields, particularly in mechanics, mining, road - building, handling tools, machinery of lumber. Mental work also favored.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo) — This should be an interesting, productive day both for everyday affairs, and for unusual and new matters. Don't overwork but do enjoy day's benefits.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — Try to open new channels for advancement. You should be mentally keen and alive to the latest methods and inventions. Follow your original plans, but also keep in step with progress.

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio) — Avoid extravagance, heavy spending generally, but make improvements where it will better your business, home and other interest. Writers, journalists, scientists favored.

November 23 to December 22 — (Sagittarius) — You may do better, achieve more if you stay within your own sphere of activity now. Your keen mind should be doubly inspired today. Don't waste time on fads or fancies.

December 23 to January 21 — (Capricorn) — Keep on with original plans, but make changes where they are essential to improvement. Auspicious influences from your Saturn. Try some new activity that may increase income, benefits.

January 22 to February 20 — (Aquarius) — You can expect assistance from superiors, employees and family if you display initiative and stick-to-it-iveness in important affairs — both business and personal. Conserve energy.

February 21 to March 20 — (Pisces) — Start — and keep up with, faith and cheer. The vibrations are not entirely favorable for work or professions, even for purely personal pursuits, but they are good for spiritual gain.

You born today have steady, dependable, likeable qualities, and talent for the artistic and scientific. You may have unusual mechanical ability; can keep a confidence. Be a loyal friend. You have a critical nature but are innately just and will be as analytical of yourself as of those you love and wish to help. You can take a great deal of mental punishment, often without retaliating. Shun those who are not honorable. You are linked fair, unselfish. Spend time and capability improving your station, family interests. Great possibilities for accomplishment in your chart.

Worry of FALSE TEETH Slipping or Irritating?

Don't be embarrassed by loose fals teeth slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, talk or laugh. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. Holds them firmer so many say they feel natural. Helps check acid and security by holding plates more firmly. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

Martin Hopes For Progress At Arms Talks

COBOURG (CP)—Health Minister Martin said Monday he is cautiously hopeful that further progress toward world disarmament will be made at talks opening today in New York.

He said he bases his hope on recent developments on the international scene, including new proposals advanced by the Big Four powers at the recent Geneva conference.

Mr. Martin made the statement as he unveiled a cairn of peace erected to commemorate the first world plowing match here two years ago. After the ceremony he returned to New York, where he is heading the Canadian delegation at meetings of the committee of the UN's disarmament commission. The statements were included in the text of a speech issued to the press before delivery.

Offer to Rehire 80 Strikers As 'New Employees'

ATIKOKAN (CP) — Steep Rock Iron Mines Monday offered to rehire 80 ore truck drivers who went on strike last Wednesday on a "new employee" basis, but the proposal appeared to have been rejected.

The company, in a bulletin circulated throughout this northwestern Ontario community, said that employees involved in the "unlawful work stoppage commencing Sept. 7 are considered as having had their employment terminated as of that date." The strike resulted in a halt of production at the big mines which take about 800 employees.

The United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) in a letter dated Sept. 10 but tended to the company Sept. 11, repudiated the strike as an action which contravened the terms of its contract with the company but said "we are opposed to any penalties on anyone as a result of this stoppage."

Little Benny's Notebook

Ma was eating her grapefruit diet and toasting toast at breakfast and pop said, I have a big surprise for you, my dear.

Do you been a pleasant surprise or a wonk? ma said, and pop said I cant think of anything more agreeable. I'll give you 3 guesses, he said.

I dont want to guess. I want to know, so what is it, William? me said, and pop said, I'll make it easy for you. I'll give you just one guess.

Now William, I dont want any guesses, why should I have to suffer? ma said, and pop said, I'll give you a hint. It's something you are always clammering for but seldom receiving, he said.

Why William, that's wonderful, you're going to take me out for dinner, ma said. Now how did you possibly divine that I have sutch a hankering for a meal that I'm tired akreddy just thinking of how I'm going to be? she said, and pop said, Wrong, I'll stretch a point and give you one more guess.

William Penn, you'll either tell me what you're going to tell me, or I'll leave this table never to return, ma said, and pop said, Stick around by all means. I'm going to take you to a movie tonight and waiting for you to ask me, he said.

Now that is a terrible mean trick. It seems like absolutely the happy end of the world, for some particular picture? She said, spoke it's the exclusive television showing of the picture.

The result being pop had to cure his disappointment in by persuading to eat dinner on the Avenue and then take her to a real movie after the 25c picture.

Blaze Damages Almonte Church

ALMONTE, Ont. (CP) — Fire swept through the Almonte United church Monday night, causing damage estimated at more than $100,000. It was blamed on defective wiring.

Flames broke out in the belfry of the 94-year-old grey stone building and spread down through the roof. Volunteers saved some furnishings and were able to cover the pipe organ with canvas before the roof fell in. The organ was damaged by water, however.

Rev. J. R. Anderson said his congregation of 485 families will attempt to rebuild the church.

ADENAUER WINS RELEASE OF PRISONERS

Ontario May Foot Part Of Huge Gas Pipeline Bill

Would Only Assist in Leg Across Northern Portion

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Ontario may put up about $40,000,000 for a proposed $120,000,000 federal-provincial crown company to finance construction of the tough, expensive northern Ontario leg of the planned all-Canadian natural gas pipeline.

Premier Frost said Tuesday after a conference with Prime Minister St. Laurent that the province is willing to pay one-third the cost of the Ontario leg, providing the terms of the deal are economical.

Both governments, he said, have long felt the whole 2,200-mile, $350,000,000 project is a "national necessity" for Canada and therefore Ontario is willing to "co-operate, collaborate and participate" with the central administration in the project.

Before Ontario gives its approval a federal-provincial body of experts is to begin an immediate "intense" study of the financial plan to bring Alberta gas to eastern Canada. The study, Mr. Frost told reporters, may take about 30 days.

FURTHER TALKS?

A further top-level meeting with federal officials may be necessary at that time, he said, but Mr. St. Laurent, emerging later from the office, said he anticipated early agreement with Ontario and did not believe another conference with Mr. Frost on the subject would be necessary.

"We are dealing with something that everyone wants," he said. "I am optimistic and realistic."

Finding finances to pay for the expensive section of the line from across the top of the Great Lakes was one of the major hurdles facing Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd., the private enterprise builders.

The crown company idea—agreed to in principle by the Ontario and federal administrations — would mean the governments would put up the costs of the Ontario leg which likely will be leased back to Trans-Canada on a basis which would amount to the government's investment.

AS NECESSARY

Mr. St. Laurent said the crown-financed northern Ontario section would stretch from the Ontario-Manitoba border east as far as is necessary. Some informants have suggested it may run to Kapuskasing. Both Mr. St. Laurent and Mr. Frost indicated that was not firm. The line may run closer to the United States. The cost has been estimated roughly at $120,000,000, about one-third the cost of the entire 2,200-mile line.

While the Ontario problem appears largely solved, Trans-Canada still faces hurdles before it can move ahead towards prospects of construction during the spring of 1956.

Chief of these is the need of approval by the United States Federal Power Commission for a contract between Trans-Canada and Tennessee Gas Transmission Co. of the U.S. for the export across the border of surplus Canadian gas for U.S. markets. The contract is due for a FPC hearing Nov. 1. Trans-Canada also has an application before the board of transport commissioners, to be heard here Thursday, for permission to build its Toronto-Montreal pipe.

The company—which earlier this year struck financing difficulties in raising the estimated $350,000,000 required for the whole line—also needs contract commitments from suppliers and purchasers before it can get go-ahead signals from the Canadian and U.S. pipe-

Lawyer Held On Theft Charge

TORONTO (CP) — Chester C. Macdonald, 43, a lawyer in the office of the public trustee of Ontario, Tuesday was arrested and charged with theft of about $9,500 from an estate.

Police said the theft occurred last May from the estate of the late Henry Walton. They said other charges may be laid.

Macdonald, employed four years in the office, was arrested Tuesday.

Bail was set at $10,000. Police said the arrest followed a two-week investigation. They said Macdonald was assigned to look after the estate after Walton died without leaving a will.

line-governing bodies. Mr. St. Laurent has already expressed optimism that these hurdles will be overcome, looking towards a start on the line next spring.

Here's how the construction schedule may shape up:

1. Trans-Canada would complete by next fall a line carrying Alberta gas to and through Winnipeg to Emerson, Man., where it would sell gas to Tennessee.

2. By late 1956, Trans-Canada may complete a line from Toronto to Montreal to serve eastern Quebec metropolis with gas imported from Tennessee in the eastern U.S. This would be in exchange for what Tennessee gets in the west.

3. The all-Canada line, intended from Winnipeg, would reach Toronto by the fall of 1957. Trans-Canada then would shut off imports of U.S. gas in the east and feed Alberta gas into the Ontario-Quebec market.

WANTS RUSH

Mr. Frost said the project is "big business" and involves a lot of money. For that reason he wanted a thorough study of the economics of the deal because he did not want to "pour public money down the drain."

"We've got to get down to an immediate, intense study of the whole complicated proposal," he said.

At the three-hour conference were Trade Minister Howe, Finance Minister Harris, Provincial Treasurer Dana Porter and A. R. Crozier, Ontario fuel board chairman. The board likely will set the consumer rates for gas in Toronto and by 1956 expects to be in the pipeline and bottled gas business.

Replying to Close-Flying Charge, Godfrey Claims He Just Saluted

By VERN HAUGLAND

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arthur Godfrey, accused once again of an air-safety infraction, says emphatically that he is innocent of any misbehavior.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration said Tuesday it is investigating a formal complaint that Godfrey's plane passed "too close" to an Ozark Airlines plane after taking off from Chicago's Midway airport. The complaint Godfrey denied it.

The only notation from customary flying practice in that incident near Chicago last Wednesday was that I dipped my wings in salute at the other plane," the 52-year-old radio and TV personality told a reporter.

"As I passed him I rolled my wings back and forth the way we used to do in the old-days as a salute.

"There was absolutely no danger of a collision."

In a written complaint filed with the CAA, the pilot and co-pilot of the Ozark twin-engined DC-3 said that a plane overtook them shortly after departure from Midway airport and made a left turn so close across their course that they had to reduce speed to avoid the slipstream.

The CAA identified the plane as Godfrey's plushly outfitted blue and white DC-3. It said it is investigating to determine whether there has been any violation of flight rules.

Godfrey still recalls with anguish the six-month suspension imposed upon him by the CAA for buzzing the Teterboro, N. J., control tower a few years ago.

Godfrey said he remembered the Ozark airliner "because it's the only one because the other plane was from an airline new to him, and because I like to look at airliners and study the airport for his (Godfrey's) benefit."

Godfrey, commenting that Midway is generally rated the busiest airport in the United States, said both he and the Ozark airliner were cleared by ground control to take off.

"The tower cleared the plane ahead, and immediately afterward cleared me on to the runway and cleared me for takeoff," Godfrey said.

"My course was to Moline (Ill.), which meant a long left turn all the way around. The DC-3 ahead of me obviously was bound for the east.

FISHER, PARK FAIL TO MAKE LONG LAKE SWIM

Both Pulled Out Nauseated and Tired

TORONTO (CP) — As biting autumn weather prevails an early end to Lake Ontario's marathon madness, the little slip of a girl who helped start it all looms more and more as a giant among swimmers.

Marilyn Bell still reigns today as queen of the lake, whose fickle moods she mastered with every attempt to dechone her.

A man and a woman, whose past performances made them look like contenders to crack the 17-year-old Toronto girl's record, tried Tuesday and both failed.

Florence Chadwick, Calif., his strength eroded by winds that lashed the surface of the foam, quit when he was but two miles short of Toronto after covering 30 miles in 13 hours, 55 minutes.

Brenda Fisher of England, 22, who had been a pre-race favorite for the English channel, succumbed to the buffeting of heavy waves after 23 miles.

AS CLOSE AS ANY

Park's try, along with the earlier attempt of Shirley Crabtree, 19-year-old Fergus, Ont., stenographer, was about as close as any of 30 or so swimmers has come to matching Marilyn's feat.

Here's how the construction schedule may shape up:

That made it look like a doubtful proposition. Forecasters said Tuesday's clear weather might be the last for a week. Water temperatures hung at 70 degrees below the level of human endurance.

Right up to the end of his heartbreak bid to swim Park, 21-year-old former wrestler, appeared as though he might become the first man to whip the lake.

He finished first in the Atlantic City swim this summer, later swam the English channel and holds the record for the Catalina channel crossing off California.

When he was pulled into his escort boat Tuesday in view of the Toronto waterfront, he had been in the water only 12½ hours. Marilyn's crossing, made from youngstown last September when she was 16, took her 20 hours and 56 minutes.

Miss Fisher, who twice swam the English channel in faster time than Marilyn's channel conquest this summer, had been in training all summer for her attempt on the lake.

She originally came as an entry in the Canadian National Exhibition's intended cross - lake race, later scrubbed off for safe reasons. She did not enter the substitute circuit race off the CNE lakefront.

Marine Corps Captain Wins $64,000 Jackpot on TV Show

NEW YORK (AP)—A marine corps captain, epicure and cook-for-fun who has hit the jackpot on "The $64,000 Question" for the biggest prize in the history of radio and television.

Capt. Richard McCutchen, 32, won the CBS television bonanza Tuesday night with an amazing knowledge of foods and cooking. His father, a retired navy captain, served as aide-de-camp as the overseas voices answered the complicated final question.

Experts figure roughly that McCutchen will be able to keep about $35,000 of the prize after income taxes.

McCutchen, who has a wife and three small daughters, said the money will go "right in the bank" and added: "I've got an idea of what I'm going to invest it in."

McCutchen won the biggest giveaway of all by declining seven items of the menu served at a dinner given at Buckingham Palace March 31, 1953, by the queen, president and his wife. Master of ceremonies Bill Cullen named the courses — soup, fish, vegetable, sauce, dessert and two wines. He called on McCutchen to describe them.

The young captain appeared confident in the soundproof booth on the TV stage. But he nervously screwed several times in whispers with his father, Capt. John C. McCutchen.

McCutchen could have called it quits and walked off with the $32,000 he had won step by step in four previous weekly appearances on the program. He had chosen food and cooking as his category and start because they are his hobby.

—When the quizmaster asked what he did for relaxation, McCutchen replied: "I've known my decision for a long time."

"I belong to a very proud organization, and the answer is Paris."

The studio audience roared approval.

McCutchen thus became the first contestant to win the $64,000 question. Three others reached $32,000 and quit. If McCutchen had missed, he would have received an attractive automobile as a consolation prize.

McCutchen chose his father as counsel under the contest rule that each contestant may try for the grand prize may have the help of any expert he selects.

The young captain, who once flunked a Boy Scout second-class cooking test, won an ovation in the studio, where he was joined by his parents and wife, Betsy.

Another contestant on Tuesday night's program was a 66-year-old weird grandmother—gave the correct answer to the $16,000 question but lost $8,000 on the next.

She is Mrs. Myrtle Power, a Beverly Hills matron, who got over the hurdle by identifying Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Jimmy Foxx, Mickey Cochrane and Al Simmons as five sluggers who were struck out in succession by Lefty Grove Hubbell during the 1934 all-star game.

New York Dockers Cheer, Approving End of Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—New York's ILA's tradition of kicking over the longshoremen today called off a protest strike that has played havoc with the world's busiest shipping for the last eight days.

A meeting of more than 3,000 dockers stamped a cheering okay on a plan designed to let them air their grievances over the citizens' committee.

The action means an end to a multi-million-dollar tie-up of cargo movements. The strike was limited not only New York but also ports throughout the east and south where they are loaded or unloaded. It walked out in sympathy Tuesday. The International Longshoremen's Association's ire was aimed not at employers but at the New York Port Authority, which runs Manhattan's crossing, made from youngstown last September when she was 16, took her 20 hours and 56 minutes.

Miss Fisher, who twice swam the English channel in faster time than Marilyn's channel conquest this summer, had been in training all summer for her attempt on the lake.

She originally came as an entry in the Canadian National Exhibition's intended cross - lake race, later scrubbed off for safe reasons. She did not enter the substitute circuit race off the CNE lakefront.

Details of Vast Red Espionage Network Outlined in Report

CANBERRA (CP) — Australia today gave to the world details of a vast Soviet espionage network conducted by Moscow through the Russian embassy here, worming deeply into Australian life—from the external affairs department to the man in the street.

The plan was revealed in a 100,000-word report published today by a royal commission set up after Vladimir Petrov, third secretary of the Soviet embassy and head of the Soviet secret police here, defected to Australia, and his wife, Evdokia, fled the embassy and were given asylum in April, 1954.

The report, tabled in the House of Representatives by Prime Minister Menzies, said that in Australia Russia had set up three main organizations. One conducted covert naval, army and air force espionage mainly from the other two concerned with other espionage. Both were headed by military officials who could claim diplomatic immunity and were thus known as "legal apparatus."

In addition, the Russians were trying to set up a third organization independent of the embassy which in case of war and the closure of the embassy could carry on espionage and fifth - column activities. This would be known as an "illegal apparatus."

But the report said that so far as the commission was concerned neither of the two espionage organizations headed by embassy officials operated after Petrov's defection.

The report conceded that Russian spies had some success in getting confidential information from the external affairs department between 1943 and 1949, but since then there had been no trace of any such leakage.

All the espionage organizations were controlled directly from Moscow by a foreign centre which conducted its operation with secrecy and ruthlessness typical of the Soviet foreign office and the ambassador.

The report named Australian Communist party organizer, Walter Seddon Clayton, as an "active agent" of the Soviet spy ring.

It also deals at length with Australian atomic bomb tests and information to the Russians, but concludes that because of loopholes in the laws regarding limitations or admissibility of evidence, no prosecutions may be warranted.

The Australian espionage case became the first cracking of the spy ring in Canada. The Canadian case began similarly, with the defection from the Ottawa embassy of code clerk Igor Gouzenko, and also was dealt with by a royal commission.

However, a dozen prosecutions were launched against Canadians involved, and several penitentiary terms were handed out. All the Canadians imprisoned have since been released.

GM and UNION WHEEL IN BIG GUNS FOR TALKS

Workers Set Sept. 19 Deadline for Strike

TORONTO (CP)—With a strike deadline set for Sept. 19, Representatives of General Motors of Canada and the United Automobile Workers (CIO-CLC) are holding last-ditch talks here.

Two sets of negotiations covering more than 17,000 workers at five GM plants in Ontario opened Tuesday and both the company and the union wheeled in their big guns.

Swelling the ranks of company negotiators was Louis G. Sexton, director of labor relations for General Motors in Detroit.

Leading a strength in Carroll Coburn, chief adviser on the Canadian implications of the guaranteed annual wage the union is seeking, and Wm. G. Livingston, chief of the union's GM department in Detroit.

Ira. Sexton and Mr. Livingston took part in negotiations in the United States earlier this year in which GM workers in the U.S. were awarded a guarantee of 26 weeks of partial pay.

FINANCIAL ADVISERS

Indicating its intention of sticking to its guns, the union has imported a pair of financial advisers who will consult with financial secretaries of the locals involved to make arrangements for strike-pay provisions.

Announcing the Sept. 19 deadline, the UAW-Canada director, Geo. George Burt, said the aim of the union is to work for a satisfactory settlement, but if the deadline is reached without that there will certainly be a strike."

The 10,000-member Local 222 in Oshawa voted by 98 per cent of the attendance at its meeting more than a week ago to support strike action if necessary.

Northern End of Great River Road To New Orleans Opened at Kenora

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KENORA, Ont. (CP)—More than 200 representatives of provincial and state governments of Canada and the United States gathered in this northwestern Ontario resort town today to officially open the northern end of a 3,500-mile highway - in - the - making from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico.

Dubbed by President Eisenhower as the Great River Road, the highway will run eventually from the international border here to the southeast of Kenora, down the Mississippi river valley to New Orleans.

The ceremonies will be highlighted by the unveiling of a seven-ton cairn and plaque erected at the junction of Trans-Canada highway and Highway 71.

Officiating this afternoon will be representatives handed over the Planning and Development Minister William Nickle, representing Premier Frost, Ontario Travel and Publicity Minister Bryan Corbett and Lieutenant-Governor J. Alan Blatnik of Minnesota. The cairn will be dedicated by the Rt. Rev. Ralph, Anglican Bishop of the Keewatin diocese.

Today and Thursday, Canadian representatives will take part in the annual meeting of the Mississippi river parkway planning commission.

The commission is made up of 10 delegates each from the states of Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana.

The Great River road was the dream of A. P. Greensfelder, of St. Louis, Mo., contractor. As pilot of the commission, he organized the 10 states into setting aside funds and allocating routes for the scenic highway. He died at the age of 75 last October, 16 years after he began the idea.

A successor will be named during the current meeting.

Bulganin Promised Prompt Action to Free Germans

By STANLEY JOHNSON

MOSCOW (AP) — Chancellor Adenauer flew home today with an agreement to establish diplomatic relations between the Soviet Union and West Germany and the Kremlin's promise to return all German's still held in the Soviet Union.

Before taking off, the 79-year-old West German chief gave Russia's Premier Bulganin an informal invitation to visit him in Bonn.

There was no apparent progress made on the other key issue raised by Adenauer in the five-day conference—the reunification of his divided country.

A joint communique signed by Adenauer and Bulganin said only that the agreement to exchange ambassador "will further the settlement of pending problems affecting the whole of Germany, and must thus help the solution of the principal national problem of the German people — the re-establishment of the unity o the German democratic state."

SET UP COMMITTEES

The delegations also agreed to set up committees to work for development of German - Soviet trade.

In an exchange of letters with Bulganin at the close of the conference, Adenauer also put on the record what he called "German rights which are therefore reliquish." In his letter he insisted that the fate of Germany's final border must be done only in a final peace treaty, and that his representatives were taking no claim to speak for all of Germany.

Truce Supervisor Begins Talks With Egypt

CAIRO (Reuters)—Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada, chief United Nations truce supervisor in Palestine, today began talks here with Egypt's director of Palestine affairs, Col. Salah Salem, on the Gaza border situation.

Diplomatic sources said the talks, which concerned early implementation of the recent UN Security Council resolution calling on Egypt and Israel to establish a physical barrier and demilitarized zone along the Gaza demarcation line, were of a "purely military character."

An Egyptian spokesman said here today that the first official reply proposal by Burns to ease the Gaza situation, he would not allow Israel to make political gains from the talks.

Norwegian Ship Is Abandoned In Ice Pack

COPENHAGEN (AP)—The 680-ton propellerless Norwegian sealing vessel Isbjorn was left unmanned in the east Greenland ice pack late Tuesday, it was reported from here today.

Capt. Knut Nakken, five of his crew members and two passengers who had stuck to the Jupeter when it was abandoned by the popular ship Rista Dan.

According to international law Jupeter now is a "dead ship" and might be declared a prize by anyone daring to penetrate the pack ice. It is, however, most likely that this prize will be claimed only by the finder.

Light Standard On Upper Bridge Is Broken

A metal light standard on the Upper Bridge was broken some time Tuesday night with damage estimated in the neighborhood of $500.

The party responsible for breaking of the standard failed to report the accident and police are investigating a report that a large highway float carrying equipment with an over-hanging boom was seen passing up the street a short time before the light standard was found broken.

A night watchman at a downtown building spotted the damage as he was on his way to work shortly before midnight.

Officials Decline to Comment On Import of N.Z. Cheese

Officials of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Marketing Board here declined to comment today regarding the recent announcement that 2,900,000 pounds of New Zealand cheese would be shipped into Canada this fall.

"We prefer to make no comment until our board has assessed the situation carefully," C. W. Heath, secretary of the marketing board said.

Although they had heard rumors that New Zealand cheese could be expected to arrive in Canada, Mr. Heath said his board was a bit surprised when the announcement was made.

He said his board had met with trade officials on August 26, and with government officials on August 29th and it had been given to understand there was sufficient cheese in Canada to take care of domestic demands.

"It was felt that there was no; too much room for New Zealand cheese," he said.

Referring to the statement of Gilbert McMillan, president of the Dairy Farmers of Canada, in Huntington, Que., on Tuesday, that the one cent per pound duty on New Zealand was too low, Mr. Heath said he carefully assess the entire situation.

Shopping Made Easier At Canadian Tire

Canadian Tire Corporation for many years has carried on their business on a cash basis, but to keep pace with modern shopping habits, they have inaugurated their own Credit Budget Plan. The highlights of this plan are that a customer may purchase any merchandise or service over this plan with no down payment and weekly payments as low as $1.

On accepted accounts there is no waiting. Immediate delivery of any goods can be secured. Under this new scheme there is no outside interviews or references required.

As it is all of Canadian Tire Corporation activities, they have been successful in setting up this plan with a minimum cost to the consumer. Carrying charges are much below most other companies.

Albert College Freshmen Routed Out of Beds

Freshman students at Albert College proved themselves good homing pigeons early today when, after being routed out of their beds before daylight they were herded downtown and left stranded at the Upper Bridge.

The early morning parade was the annual initiation of Albert College freshmen and the pre-dawn tweeky roused residents of the town from their slumbers.

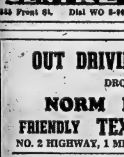
With many of the freshmen still in their pyjamas, the newcomers to Albert were led by the sophomores down Bridge street hill, and along Cedar and Everett streets to the upper bridge. Then the freshmen were left on their own to get back to Albert as best they could.

All told about 150 college students including 70 freshmen took part in the early morning shenanigan.

Football Coach Believes Loops Will Amalgamate

Possibility that both eastern and western Canadian football leagues may amalgamate was voiced here yesterday by a football coach.

One of the reasons for this could be the folding of Ottawa Roughriders and maybe Hamilton Tiger-Cats and the Big Four League, according to John Edwards, assistant football coach of Queen's University team.



Edwards was replying to questions which were put to him by football fans at the Kiwanis Club meeting yesterday, where he took time out from practice on the Kingston turf to give club members an insight into the rudiments of the game.

Financially Ottawa just can't hold their own with these other teams, he said afterwards. They have not the gate nor the people. Unless Hamilton comes up with a good team this year, he added, and it looks they might, and in that case people might keep coming—unless they produce a good field the gates will drop off.

"I can't see people satisfied with a, second-rate league in Hamilton said Ottawa," he opined, answering a query whether these teams could drop out of the Big Four loop into a cheaper league.

The coach armed with a piece of chalk and blackboard, explained battle tactics of football to the club for nearly 45 minutes. He was introduced by Stu Robb and thanked by Lorne McDougall.

New United Church Planned For East Section of Belleville; Several Committees Formed

Another new church is in the making! East Sunday saw the first chapter in the fulfilment of a great need and a great dream. Over a hundred adults and children attended the first service of Belleville's new United church, which is planned to serve the religious needs of that section of the city east of MacDonald Ave. Despite difficulties and setbacks, both the unique dream and also the extension committee formed by the Belleville congregation of the United Church of Canada had forged ahead until now a new congregation is in the process of formation.

The informal service held on September 11, in the Masonic Temple was under the direction of Mr. Linton Read, Assisting him and Mr. Raymond Gunsolus, the Rev. W. J. Platt, Mr. W. E. Tummon, chairman of Belleville Presbytery and Mr. Ralph Wightman the Sunday school superintendent for the new church. Mrs. C. White was pianist and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Ralph Wightman. During intermission the congregation was registered and prospective church workers enlisted. The Rev. Harry Davis of Bridge St. United brought greetings from the three Belleville United churches.

INTERESTING HISTORY

Already the new congregation has an interesting history. The need for establishing a new church in East Belleville has been fully demonstrated since the end of as 1949 when four new subdivisions had been opened in the area, the Presbytery of the United church gave consent to have Sunday school and services there organized and a committee was appointed to "canvass" prospects and help promote a new cause in the area. During that same year two lots on Bridge St. across from MacDonald Avenue were purchased by various groups as a possible church memorial fund.

However nothing further was done until a survey authorized by Presbytery was made in April 1954, covering the area from MacDonald Avenue to the eastern city limits and including all new subdivisions. The survey as reported to Presbytery revealed 179 families interested in a new United church, 305 children whose parents indicated they would have their children attend Sunday school and 384 adults who wished to have a new congregation organized. Unfortunately the survey cards were mislaid or lost and a second survey was deemed advisable. This was made last June.

The committee appointed by Presbytery two years or more ago to supervise the surveys and assist in the promotion of a new congregation had power to add to its members. This was done and now there is in existence an East Belleville Extension Committee of about 18 members most of whom live in the area. The late Rev. L. S. Throop was chairman and gave excellent leadership. He was deeply interested in the work. Now the Rev. George Miniely of Trenton is committee chairman.

FIND MEETING PLACE

This committee meets frequently to conduct the necessary business related to the new project. Among other matters the following have been dealt with: (1) In order to secure a place in the area to meet to begin a Sunday school and church services the Board of Education was approached twice and each time refused permission for use of the Queen Elizabeth school. It has been found necessary therefore, to go outside the area for accommodation. The Masonic Temple Corporation kindly consented to allow the new congregation the use of their building for worship. This will be the meeting place for the present. (2) In reviewing the situation from every angle past, present, and future a majority of the extension committee after much deliberation and by a majority vote taken at a meeting of all interested at the Queen Elizabeth school it was deemed in the best interests of all concerned to offer the present lots near MacDonald Avenue for sale and purchase a larger site on the northeast corner of Bridge Street and Herchimer Avenue. This has been agreed to by the Presbytery.

(3) The Committee then recommended to Presbytery that the capital fund of John St. Church Memorial Fund amounting to $10,000 be transferred to the new congregation when organized and suitable plans for the new church presented to Presbytery. The Presbytery gave consent to this recommendation and passed it on to the annual Conference last June. The Conference agreed to this recommendation.

(4) The extension committee proceeded step by step towards the organization of the new congregation. Committees have been appointed and are being appointed for various duties. Mr. Ralph Wightman has been appointed and has accepted the position of general superintendent of the Sunday School to be organized. A service or services of interest for both adults and children will be planned and in due course the congregation will be organized and request made for a minister.

The interest is growing. Many are finding it a worthwhile and somewhat thrilling experience to be associated in undertaking which will be consummated in due course in a new church in the rapidly developing area of East Belleville. Meanwhile the new congregation will continue to meet each Sunday at 9.30 a.m. in the Masonic Temple.

MONTREAL (CP) — The U.S. dollar was at a discount of 1¼ per cent, the Bank of Canada reported at noon EDT, today, Tuesday's noon rate 98 25-32 cents. Pound sterling $2.75⅛, against $2.75¼.

London Woman's Trial for Murder Is Continuing

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The murder trial of 32-year-old Edith Mary Flynn, charged in the butcher knife death of 33-year-old Victor Thomas Spence continued in Supreme Court here today.

Tuesday, during the first day of the trial, Dr. Fred Luney testified that "considerable force" was necessary for the nine-inch knife wound that killed the transient worker whose body was found in the woman's apartment July 17.

A former landlord testified Edith Flynn greeted him hysterically that day in front of her Maple street home and said: "Mr. Paul I killed a man."

TITO'S VISIT DELAYED

PARIS (AP) — The prospective visit of Yugoslavia's president Tito to France has been delayed until next year because of the rash of current international meetings, the foreign ministry said Tuesday. The visit had been set for next month but will now probably take place some time next year.

RETURN TRUE BILLS

WINDSOR (CP)—An Ontario Supreme Court grand jury Tuesday returned true bills on charges laid against five persons. They included Simon Casey, 53, Windsor, charged with murder in connection with the July 22 slaying of his wife, Ida, 57.

PASSENGERS IN DARK

NEW YORK (AP)—A Long Island railroad train stalled in the East river tunnel Tuesday night, forcing about 2,000 passengers to sit in darkness for nearly two hours. The motor failure that stalled the train and another one behind it also sent acrid smoke billowing through the tunnel. Blowers were turned on and no one was seriously affected.

Woman Injures Hotel Guest In Fatal Plunge

NEW YORK (AP) — A young woman crashed through the glass roof of the Biltmore Hotel's fashionable Palm Court at the end of a fatal 14-floor plunge Tuesday, landing in the midst of 150 persons having cocktails and a late lunch.

The falling woman hit and seriously injured a man sitting with his wife in the lounge. Ten other persons were cut by flying glass.

The woman was Miss Mary Merkle, about 27, of Cleveland.

The young woman dropped from the bathroom window of her suite on from a fire escape outside, police reported.

Police said Miss Merkle had been despondent after a nervous breakdown and was in New York on medical treatment.

Wildlife Tragedy

A tragedy of wildlife was revealed to a local resident a few days ago. Mr. Leonard Sweet was driving along a Hungerford twp. road when he saw a raccoon walking toward him. As Mr. Sweet stopped the car the animal reared up and placed its paws on the door and it was then the grieved saw that the coon's face, mouth and one paw were filled with porcupine quills.

It seemed as though the animal was seeking help but it was beyond that. Thin and in pitiful condition there was nothing to be done but to put it out of its misery as mercifully as possible.

Police Blotter

City police spent a comparatively quiet night with little more than routine matters coming to the attention of the department.

A Grove street woman complained of window peepers, while the department was alerted to be on the lookout of a 1938 model car reported stolen at Trenton.

A Boswell street girl complained that her purse had been stolen while she was enjoying a game at a local bowling alley.

AVA'S CAR OVERTURNS

MADRID (AP) — Movie actress Ava Gardner had a narrow escape when her car overturned Tuesday near Madrid. She was uninjured. Miss Gardner was driving alone at high speed en route to the Barajas airport where she was to greet American friends. The car skidded on a curve and overturned twice.

Judge Rules Statement Given Is Admissible

WINDSOR (CP) — More crown witnesses were scheduled to be called today at the murder trial of Simon Casey, 53, continues. He is charged with the murder of his wife Ida, 57.

At the opening session Tuesday, Ontario Supreme Court Judge W. F. Spence ruled admissible as evidence a statement given police by the accused shortly after his wife's battered body was found July 21. In the statement, Casey told police he started to "fight and argue" with his wife shortly before she was found dead.

Costable Alexander Whiteford testified Tuesday that Casey told him a fight started because his wife "hollered and swore" at him. Casey said he left the house for several hours and returned, the constable testified.

Const. Whiteford said Casey, who is illiterate, told him his wife picked up a bread knife and pushed it against him.

"I hit her and she fell and knocked her head against the fridge and the bottle broke. I pick up the glass and wash the blood off the floor and off my wife's face. She made me very mad."

THREE DIE IN CRASH

VERONA, N. Y. (AP) — Two women motorists from Rochester, N. Y., and a highway worker were killed Tuesday when a huge tractor-trailer truck hurtled into a car stopped on the New York State Thruway. The women were Joan Donovan, 22, and her sister Mary. The highway worker, Leslie Lohr, 34, had tried to wave them through when they stopped near a work crew on the high-speed highway.

Large Peach

Not to be outclassed by the East Hill in the matter of growing peaches, a West Hill resident brought in a fine specimen to the editor today. This peach measured ten inches in circumference and was of excellent flavor. This is the second year the tree has yielded a crop and this season two five-quart baskets have been picked. The tree is a seedling and is seven or eight years old.

FACE-LIFTING

PANAMA (AP) — A giant face-lifting job on the Panama canal designed to end the threat of a rock fall into the big ditch was completed Tuesday. The work of blasting 2,475,000 cubic yards of rock and shale off the face of contractor's hill was completed without any interruption to shipping.

Drew to Visit With Earl Rowe At London Fair

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—National Progressive Conservative leader George Drew arrived in London this afternoon for a brief rest before he begins a cross-Canada tour scheduled to end Nov. 16.

Main event of his visit is to see the fair and his long standing friend; Hon. Earl Rowe, MP for Dufferin Simcoe.

Mr. Rowe is racing four trotters at the fair. They will be driven by his son, William L. Rowe.

Mr. Rowe was one-time party leader in Ontario. During Mr. Drew's recent illness, he was acting national party leader.

Tuesday night Mr. Drew attended an informal dinner for about 145 western Ontario provincial MP's and other guests.

THE FIFTH AND SIXTH ESTATES

The Canadian Chamber of Commerce, in the August issue of "Field Service News Round-Up," makes the claim that "the Business Community, as represented by its constructive spokesman the Chamber of Commerce movement (is) truly the 'Fifth Estate' in the modern era."

In an earlier period of British Parliamentary history, says "News Roundup" the three estates of the realm were proclaimed as the "Lords Spiritual," or archbishops and bishops of the Church of England who were given seats in the House of Lords, the "Lords Temporal," the titled peers of the realm, and the "Commons," the House of Commons. Then, years later, Edmund Burke rose in the British Commons and, pointing to the reporters' gallery, exclaimed "Yonder sits the fourth estate, more important than them all!"

To these four estates the Chamber of Commerce now would add a fifth, itself.

There is considerable justification for this viewpoint. "In continental Europe, the Chambers in countries west of the Iron Curtain wield considerable influence in economic affairs. They are in fact the voice of a quasi-governmental nature," says "News Round-Up." "In Canada, the United States, Great Britain and several other countries their influence vis-a-vis the public authority is manifestly greater because of their completely independent nature and the broad 'public-interest' concept by which they are guided in expressing the viewpoint of organized business."

If, however, we grant the "News Round-Up" argument that the Business Community has become the Fifth Estate, then it is the logical we must admit the existence of a Sixth Estate also, that of organized labor, which wields enormous influence, particularly when an election is in the offing.

Consideration ought to be given, too, to the right of the legal profession to recognition as the Seventh Estate. Although their influence on public opinion may not appear to be as great as that exercised by Commercial Commerce and the labor congresses, lawyers play a very important role by reason of their predominance amongst the members of the House of Commons.

Seven Estates form a rather formidable array of groups which must be satisfied before the consent of the governed can be obtained to any measure. Perhaps many of the difficulties of democratic government in the conduct of our national affairs can be traced to the existence of so many influential groups with conflicting interests.

At the same time it is true that, since the days when the three estates of the realm were proclaimed in Britain, there has been a vast change in the powers of these groups. The "Lords Spiritual," the archbishops and the bishops of the state church, no longer wield their former great influence in Britain and are non-existent in Canada, where there is no state church. But the church, as that community of common interests and ideals shared by all shades of the Christian faith, is extremely influential. In that sense, this Estate still exists. The "Lords Temporal" lost their power in Britain three and a half decades ago, defeated by Asquith and his Liberals, while not even the staunchest friends of their Canadian counterparts, the members of the Senate, will claim that they wield power comparable with that of organized labor or the business community.

The Fourth Estate, too, has seen its power dwindle. Perhaps the most vigorous exponent of organized labor is growing support to a party which the mass of the voters distrusts or dislikes.

The Fifth Estate, the Commons, on the other hand has seen its power vastly increased. Only so far as it must consider the reaction of various sections of the public as represented by the Fifth Estate and the Sixth Estate of business and labor, and only insofar as it must therefore be guided by their own status in the community, as in the case of lawyers, is the Commons subject to any effective counterpoise.

AN OUTSTANDING EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM

In six weeks' time the National Farm Radio Forum will commence another season.

This Forum is an outstanding achievement in adult education.

Some 15,000 rural residents, meeting in neighborhood groups across the country, will hear a wide variety of important subjects debated and will then discuss these subjects amongst themselves.

Although primarily for rural people, the National Farm Radio Forum frequently deals with subjects of interest to urban residents and has on occasion invited them to participate.

If there were not many individuals, in cities and towns across Canada, who make it a point to tune into the Forum every Monday evening, the Commons individual would gain much from the discussions broadcast; the major benefits, though, are certainly dependent upon the formation of neighborhood groups and the consideration of these subjects by the members of these units.

"Why is there a rural teacher shortage? How can it be overcome?" "What important questions are to be considered at the first Forum meetings on October 31?" other subjects during the season which may be of interest to urban as well as rural residents are: "Is Local Government Effective?"—Nov. 14; "Planning Against Disaster"—Dec. 12; "New Canadians"—Jan. 2; "Who Benefits From Price Supports?"—Jan. 9; "Paying for Our Health"—Feb. 7; "Trade and Tariffs"—March 5.

JUST FOLKS

WISDOM

You've wisdom, pass it on.
Never keep it in your head.
From this earth it will have gone
Just the minute you are dead.

To your heirs you may have willed
All the money you have earned,
But when once your voice is stilled
None can share what you have learned.

What's the use of being wise
If you keep it to yourself?
Like a good book closed, it lies,
Left unused upon a shelf.

Knowledge never try to save.
Here below it while you can.
When he's carried to the grave
Wisdom passes with the man.

Mr. W. H. Reed, who has been manager of Stroud's tea and china store here for some years, will leave shortly to reside in Edmonton where he will enter retail business.

Fathers, Sons In Parliament

(Ottawa Journal)

Mr. Jean Paul St. Laurent, son of the Prime Minister, has been nominated as Liberal candidate in the forthcoming Federal byelection in Stadacona.

In the event of his election, although unlikely, we shall have the interesting spectacle of a prime minister and his son in the House of Commons at the same time.

But it will not create a precedent. Hilaire Tourangeau not only sat in the House with his father, Sir Charles Tupper, but was actually solicitor general in his father's ministry. And Hugh John Macdonald sat in the House with his father for six months before Sir John's death in 1891.

And there have been cases of father and sons in the same Parliament; Mr. Hughes Lapointe, (still in the House), sat with his father, the great Ernest Lapointe, and Senators Turgeon and King were active in the Upper Chamber while their sons were prominent in the Commons. Senator King used to sit in the gallery of the Commons and watch his son as Minister of Public Works guiding through his estimates (the son himself went to the Senate later, became its Speaker, and died only recently).

There have been fathers and sons sitting at the same time at Westminster, indeed in Lloyd George's case he had the privilege of sitting with a son and daughter — Major Gwilym Lloyd and Megan.

The most notable father and son team in British House, however, was the great Joseph Chamberlain and his son Austen.

Joseph Chamberlain by that time had broken with Gladstone over Home Rule and their relations were strained, often bitterly. But when, years later, Austen Chamberlain who had entered the House on his father's arm, delivered his maiden speech, it was Gladstone who arose to say that is was "a speech that must have done my friend refreshing to a father's heart".

Yet to Joseph Chamberlain's biographer Julian Amery, that "Mr. Chamberlain's face quivered as he heard these generous words",

Local Call For Texas

(Philadelphia Inquirer).

Texans, of whom there are hundreds in the province, are not amused by the latest Texas story going the rounds in Washington. As the story goes a Texan, visiting in Chicago, put in a long distance call and asked the operator to report the charges.

"Your call, sir," the operator reported, "was $3.45."

"Wait!" exclaimed the outraged Texan. "Why in Texas I could call the devil for $3.45."

"You must be mistaken sir," the operator purred, "in Texas the devil is a local call."

Swims Become Crazy Fad

(Montreal Gazette)

A year ago, Marilyn Bell, after a gruelling test of physical and mental endurance, became the first person to swim Lake Ontario. The feat was worthy of high praise when received with cheers and applause.

This year, the endurance swim idea seems to have broken all sensible bounds. Scores of swimmers, some of them apparently good, have been sliding into Lake Ontario at all points of water from the West Coast to the Maritimes, evidently with some belief that fame and glory await them.

No less than 30 swimmers entered the marathon at the Canadian National Exhibition, yet all but one have failed. This gives a handy railing of how many of three attempts are being made by qualified entrants.

A truly admirable victory, such as Marilyn Bell's, is quite inspirational, if only because it helps restore human confidence in human abilities—in a world increasingly mechanized.

This year, the idea has become a fad, a craze. It has become ridiculous, a modern counterpart of the flag-pole sitting of the Thirties.

Montreal could do Canada a national service by putting an end to it. It could simply done, let's stage a Giant Marathon Swim across Beaver Lake.

TV Revives Riddle Fad

(Brantford Expositor)

The men who rack their brains to find something new to sell to shows often spend months developing a novelty when all the time a good idea is at their elbow. Louis G. Cowan, who masterminded "The $64,000 Question," has told how he hit it.

He started with that familiar phrase "The $64 Question", then in a flash he saw that he needed a $2 question. Multiply it a thousandfold and he would have a $2,000 question. Every Tuesday night nearly 50 million people in Canada and the U.S. follow this show, and the sponsors are madly hunting for something to top it. Cowan and partner Mr. Cowan has come up with "The Big Surprise" as a contest that can win $100,000. It makes its debut on Saturday, Oct. 8.

There's no need to be morally new or surprising about "The Big Surprise". It's as old as Egypt. It was 25 centuries old and may even go back to the Egyptians 4,000 years ago. But it's always with a fortune a participant has to answer a riddle to win a fortune, and who does not remember those TV'ers clustered Wednesday when crows were knitted over such posers as, "When is a door not a door?" to which the answer is, "When it's ajar."

The prize is going to get $100,000 for anything as easy as that. For an idea how those impending TV riddles will run, one need go no further back to Greek mythology and the riddle of Oedipus. Remember the sphinx had the face of a woman, the feet and tail of a lion and the wings of a bird, and the sphinx had taught her a riddle that the children of Greece had been in pain of being devoured if they failed.

A lot of them paid the penalty till Oedipus (name fellow who's doing a spiel at Exhibition) came forward. The riddle was, "What animal goes on four feet in the morning, on two at noon and on three feet in the evening", to which Oedipus correctly answered, "Man, because the child crawls on hands and knees in the morning, stands right and the old man supports his steps with a cane." Whereupon the enraged sphinx paid up by hurling herself over a cliff, cheques for $100,000 are not coined by the sometimes.

The concoction and asking of riddles was a favorite amusement in ancient Greece. At banquets prizes were given for the best answers in France 200 years ago enigmamaking was a craze among educated people, and famous authors such as Voltaire and Beaumarsu did not consider it beneath their literary dignity to compose them. Some of the cleverest were contributed by Voltaire and will be found in a chapter of his slyly witty, ironical tales about the misadventures of Zadig the babylonian. Even if you do not interested in riddles you will find in Zadig some highly entertaining reading, including a story of detection as clever as anything Sherlock Holmes ever did.

Strength for the Day
DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS
FIDELITY

"It is required of stewards that they be found — succesful."

No, no the Bible does not say that. The Bible says: "It is required of stewards that they be found faithful." They may be successful sometimes, frequently are, but success is not the ultimate goal. Fidelity is the ultimate goal. There is no end in life we can attain and which God urges us to attain except one, namely, that it be revealed whether we have the qualities which He can cherish and cultivate through eternity.

We give our time and attention to certain achievements and feel that they are ends in themselves. They are not ends — they are only means. Many a man goes down to what in the eyes of the world is considerable defeat, yet in the eyes of God this man is a great success. He has been proved faithful. Jesus of Nazareth, according to the Roman law courts, was just one more executed jewish rioter; according to the heavenly appraisal, He was the consummation of God's revelation to the hearts of men.

Just remember that in this terrific struggle for life success is not a matter of winning something or running over somebody. Victory consists in being found faithful.

Disciplining Husbands

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

English wives are said to have a reputation for being meek and mild but there was contrary evidence the other day when a group of them received lectures on unchallenged masters of dog-management, according to a report from the London Times. This group of women were asked by the editor of the London Mirror what they do when their husbands misbehave. We imagine wives all over the world have their own ideas on this problem and no doubt many other unusual solutions would be the result of questionnaire.

This particular group has this list of treatments to bring their husbands to heel:

Invite a detested couple in for cards on the evening of the husband's favorite TV show.

Forget to get up in the morning ties. In the evening produce his cigarets but no matches, his paper but no glasses.

Blunt his favorite darts; hide his teeth, and read the whodunits first and then leave them on the toilet unless he puts out the bedside light.

For having one drink too many at the corner pub, his wives suggested three special treatments:

Pack his lunch box with only one bone and a bone of contention like a dog, so eat like one."

Dismember the bed, tote it down the street and dump it on the sidewalk outside the tavern.

Get up early one Sunday morning and turn the children loose in the neighborhood.

There you have the answer, girls. If you think you are capable of carrying them out when, and if, hubby strays off the straight and narrow line.

Not Illegal To Lack Pride

(Anderson, S. C., Daily Mail)

A rugged individualist in Michigan, whose only good money has omitted in the press dispatch, made history of a sort the other day when he was acquitted on appeal to a higher court) for the privilege of having over his car licence plate the words "I'm Wonderful."

Seems he felt no yen to drive around giving free advertising to his car. When asked for good money for the licence tag, and although he was convicted in one court, he got a higher reversal.

As a matter of observable fact, most folks are hazy about most of their home towns, home states, their fellow citizens, their regional festivals and the like via stickers and placards. Often we're pestered for cars of many states refer proudly to peaches, potatoes, dairy products, tobacco, cotton, textile fabrics presumably exclusive, and the like with pardonable pride.

What is more common, and more to be marveled at, is the pride of the Texan, who goes around with plates and designs proclaiming Texas superiority, or they bought their cars, although this generous ego-confidence and reciprocity may be explainable if a motorist still owns the firm for which he works.

Yet human nature is a wonderful fabric. Perhaps it is the Texas law likes to do his regional rooting on a voluntary basis, as if he had thought it over. Texas has provided the gimmick and were simply satisfied to rub community of state enthusiasm.

Having a sense of decided fervor and spontaneous at all, a guy can hardly gain credit for local pride in any state, if he is required to exhibit a uniform label. Yet some Georgians have a fine time, and my boy who keeps a "Siwash College" sticker on his windshield long after he has graduated. Likewise the Michigan case has now set a court precedent for automobile "law." Wait until some peevish persons in other states hear of this.

Caught Using Refined White Soap

In the piece printed (or released for printing) here Tuesday, Aug. 23, I said:

Whether for disinfecting utensils, personal objects, equipment, furniture, clothing, bedding or toys that have been used by one with a communicable disease, or for initial disinfection of wounds; or for keeping mouth and vagina clean; or for cleaning old infected wounds, burns or ulcers; all I want is a cake of plain white soap and plenty of water.

The error got into print and a young doctor who practises honestly in a small town under his own name wants to know why white soap? Is white soap more effective than yellow, pink, green, brown?

The young doctor might well have asked, though he refrained from asking, whether it would be unsafe to have hospital wards and rooms, operating rooms and treatment rooms finished in grey, blue or other pastel or unobtrusive shades, and doctors and nurses wear gowns, caps and masks of similar unobtrusive hue.

Why I specified white soap I had in mind the taste of soap used as mouth or tooth wash. Many statements, which are mysterious as a city of ants, from which we humans can learn a great deal.

Take Spider's Web, about which we know little or nothing, yet perfect design as it is. Does the fly? Why this, our lack of knowledge about it, when there about connections welded? Where did the Spider get his knowledge about the strength of the silken skein upon his web in early morning? No perfection of web they seemed to know, then he who rules his realm on a web that he has spun. Spiders do not think, we suppose. They have no public relations department. They are lone performers.

I noted tiny webbed cables that were flung in the sunlight, and which were attached to the completed web. Why? I couldn't understand. They seemed so strong, for none broke as the wind tossed them back and forth. Did the builders of suspension bridges take a leaf out of a Spider's book?

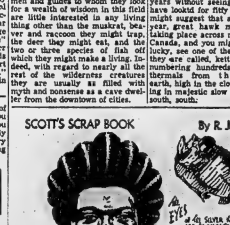
TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

A SPIDER'S WEB

Nothing is so intriguing to me as to look upon some work in nature that is armed with art, mystery, and perfection. A long time ago one day I relaxed and looked into the perfect design of a Spider's Web. What a thing of beauty as it picks up the rays of sunlight and disbalances its rays upon the tiny threads of silver that form the web.

In all nature there is nothing so perfect as the Spider's web. I wonders how it could come to pass — but that is one of Nature's secrets. It does, and we don't. They have no public relations department. They are lone performers.



I noted tiny webbed cables that were flung in the sunlight, and which were attached to the completed web. Why? I couldn't understand. They seemed so strong, for none broke as the wind tossed them back and forth. Did the builders of suspension bridges take a leaf out of a Spider's book?

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

If a gyrfalcon were to appear, in white majesty striking the air in his lithe and powerful way, over the crowded five o'clock streets amid the skyscrapers of one of our bigger cities, most intelligent people, how many of the thousand hastening home-goers would so much as look up at it? Even if someone who knew were to shout out and point, how many of them would pause for one glance, let alone a second glance? Not a dozen, not a score, certainly not a hundred.

The number of people interested in the natural world around us — in the birds and animals and flowers that share with us the mystery and the miracle of life — has always been small. It is a shock to those who have a keener nature to discover the backwoodsmen and guides in the north woods, or a wealth of wisdom in this field in little interested in any living thing other than the muskrat, fox, deer and raccoon they might trap. They see deer nigh each day for two or three species of fish of which they might make a living. Indeed, with regard to nearly all the rest of the wilderness creatures they are quite ignorant of their numbering hundreds, riding the thermals from the September days when the hawks begin moving in majestic slow spirals, south, south, south.

Car Rams Side Of Ore Train At Crossing

TRENTON (Special) — For the second time since Sunday there has been an accident involving trains and cars at railroad crossings.

Early this morning Donald Thompson, 17, of 169 Marmora St., here, escaped what might have been serious injury when his car rammed the side of an ore train at the Store St. crossing here.

Thompson was driving south on Front St. when he became involved in the collision which resulted in extensive damage to the car's right side.

Among the train crew were conductor John W. Garrow and engineer William Dawson, both of Belleville.

The train is one of the diesel-hauled locomotives which transports ore from the Marmora Bethlehem steel mine to the Picton docks.

Chinese Envoy Suggests Talks 'At Higher Level'

GENEVA (AP) — Red China's Ambassador Wang Ping-nan today proposed talks with the United States "at a higher level," presumably between State Secretary Dulles and Premier-Foreign Minister Chou En-lai.

The Chinese envoy also demanded removal of the Western trade embargo against the Peiping government.

The U. S. representative in the talks with Wang here, Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson, refused for the time being to discuss anything but the repatriation of American civilians in jail but says machinery has been set up so they can arrange to go home. Twenty-two others whose release was promised last week are still in Communist territory. The Americans also have agreed to facilitate the departure of Chinese nationals in the U. S. who want to go to Red China.

Wang's delegation contended earlier today that these announcements on the civilians wound up that phase of the negotiations which began Aug. 1. In the conference's second stage, the ambassadors are expected to range over the entire field of Red China's economic and political relations with the West.

The two envoys met for an hour and 40 minutes today. Although they apparently came to no agreement on what to take up next they agreed to meet again next Tuesday, Sept. 20.

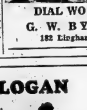
CAMPBELLFORD

Rotary Club Hears Talk On European Tour

CAMPBELLFORD — Rev. J. C. Moloney of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, recently returned from a tour of Europe, was the guest speaker at the Rotary luncheon on Monday. He gave an interesting talk on his visit to the various countries which numbered 11 countries in 33 days.

He said there is very little evidence of bomb damage now, and some of the worst hit cities, such as Dieppe and Leffavre, are now prosperous and normal in every respect.

He told of visiting the cemeteries in the vicinity of the battlefields of Vimy Ridge, Dieppe, Arras and in Holland. The Canadian cemetery in Holland the graves are adopted and cared for by the Dutch people.



MOTOR CAR INCREASE

Among the items especially noted by Father Moloney was the increase in motor cars on the streets of European cities, since his last visit in 1950. Most of the cars are now of European manufacture and because of the high cost of gasoline, are smaller than our makes. He said the automobiles are not in evidence on the highways as they are here, but most seem to be in the cities. The trains are always crowded, however.

In England things are plentiful and there is little unemployment. He told of visiting Scotland and Ireland and of seeing the four-acre building where the Irish Sweepstake tickets are issued, and where 1500 girls are employed at all times and twice that many when the rush is on. The Irish Sweepstakes do not benefit only the Irish hospitals, but those in 6696 other countries as well. A complete hospital was built in Normandy and presented to the French government.

Despite a fine trip, Father Moloney spoke of the advantages of Canada with her vast natural wealth, and said we should develop a personality as a nation, stating that we have no distinctly Canadian songs, dress, or even a Canadian flag."

The speaker was introduced by Leo Doherty and thanked by Rev. Gordon Whitehorne.

FIND RED PLAN OF INFILTRATION IN CANADA, U.S.

—Central Press Canadian

A fifthcrto secret Communist directive to party members in Canada and the U. S., is believed to have been obtained by the anti-Communist Christian Democratic union, Joseph Brousek, above, says. Brousek, union vice-president, who left Communist Czechoslovakia four years ago and now lives in Toronto, says a copy has been turned over to Canadian authorities, and it details the master plan of infiltration, organization and spreading of dissension in Canada and the U.S.

Kennedy Sells 165 Acres To Real Estate Firm

TORONTO (CP) — Former Ontario premier Thomas L. Kennedy has sold 165 acres of market garden and apple orchard to a real estate development company, it was reported Tuesday.

G. S. Shipp and Sons confirmed it had bought Mr. Kennedy's property at nearby Cookville. The company plans a satellite town of 50,000 persons with construction projected through five years, it said.

Temiscouata Sees Tough Fight, First in Years

RIVIERE DU LOUP, Que. (CP) Politicians are drawing the crowds in this sparsely-inhabited riding of Temiscouata where a federal by-election has brought to grips a son of Canada's Prime Minister St. Laurent and a lawyer who holds down a job in Premier Duplessis' attorney-general's department.

Voters are watching the first rough-and-tumble fight on the federal level in years in this region which sent Liberal Jean-Francois Pouliot to the Ottawa Commons for 21 years just as regularly as young men went to the bush in winter to cut lumber.

Mr. Pouliot was appointed to the Senate recently and a by-election called to fill the vacancy.

Opponents in the political ring to get the Temiscouata seat are two newcomers to active politics: Jean-Paul St. Laurent, 43-year-old Quebec City lawyer and son of the prime minister who is the Liberal candidate, and Jean-Paul Berube, a Riviere du Loup lawyer and Progressive Conservative candidate who is crown prosecutor here, a post which comes under the authority of Mr. Duplessis' attorney-general's portfolio in the Quebec cabinet.

FIRST REAL FIGHT

Both have cut their political teeth on political hustings in previous elections but neither had ever entered a political fight as a candidate until now.

While the prime minister, who has a summer home in the riding near this town of 9,425 about 120 miles east of Quebec City and Mr. Duplessis have cautiously avoided any apparent connection, even remote, in the federal by-election, the names of both political figures have been brought into the campaign.

NINTH DIVORCE

She met up with Ernest during her travels and returned home with him to the circus the next day. (Central Press Canadian).

Arts Graduate Coming Into Own

OTTAWA (CP)—The arts graduate is coming into his own, says the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

After the Second World War the accent on specialization was so great "the arts graduate was the Cinderella among graduates," says a UIC bulletin on supply and demand of university graduates in the labor market.

"Now the arts graduate is sought precisely because he is not a specialist," the report, issued today, says.

The report—prepared by National Employment Service's executive and professional division — finds shortages of graduates in almost every profession except law. Of lawyers" it says "supply and demand will be more or less in balance."

The bulletin quotes a United States survey which found companies eager to hire liberal arts graduates "because they want men who can deal with people, and later become executives."

"Some of the fields in which opportunities exist (for arts graduates) are—advertising, banking, personnel work, insurance, real estate, financial houses, and . . . sales work," says the publication issued for employers and NES placement officers.

"College graduates generally are given the preference" in newspaper work, the bulletin comments. It says Canada produces so few graduates in journalism that it can absorb them all, and newspapers seek further recruits from other sources.

RETIRES TROLLEYS

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit's streetcars — all 184 of them — may go south of the border soon for service in Mexico City. The Detroit Street Railways Commission voted Monday to abolish all remaining street car service. Mexico City has offered Detroit $1,104,000 for its entire streetcar fleet.

Weddings

MORRISON—LOUCKS

CAMPBELLFORD.— The marriage took place in Trinity United church, Peterborough, on Saturday, September 10, of Barbara Gwendoyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Roy Loucks of Campbellford, to Donald Edmund, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Morrison, the Rev. A. Lloyd Shorten officiating.

The church was decorated with white gladioli and the music was played by the organist, Mrs. Charles Renaud. Before the ceremony, Mrs. Ted Smith sang "Because", and during the signing of the register "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father and she wore a gown of tricot chiffon fashioned with a full skirt, a Dior waist and softly folded bodice. Her veil was nylon tulle of fingertip length, caught to a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of gardenias, Sweetheart roses and stephanotis.

The wedding attendants were, matron of honor, the bride's sister, Mrs. Bruce McConnell, and bridesmaids, Misses Goldie Glenn and Barbara Seeney. They were frocked in ballerina-length gowns of turquoise nylon net with Chantilly lace skirts and jackets, with hats to match, and white shoes and gloves. They carried colonial bouquets.

The bride's niece Janice Loucks was flower girl in white embroidered nylon with a headdress of white roses, and she carried a bouquet of pink and yellow fall flowers.

The best man was Mr. Allen Morrison and the ushers were Messrs. Carl Loucks and James Grant, of Toronto.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in St. James' church basement, where the bride's mother received, wearing a gown of medium blue crepe with a hat of black velvet. She wore a bouquet of Talisman roses. The bridegroom's mother, who also received, wore a gown of taupe crepe with a hat of dark brown felt and a bouquet of baby yellow 'mums. Later, the bride and bridegroom left for a trip to the Laurentians and the northern States. For travelling the bride wore a lime green suit with black accessories and a corsage of gardenias. On their return they will live at 476 Driscoll Terr., Peterborough.

McCULLOCH—FISHER

CAMPBELLFORD.— The marriage of Miss Phyllis Fisher, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Fisher of Campbellford, to Gordald McCulloch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred McCulloch, also of Campbellford, took place at the home of the bride's parents in Seymour West, on Saturday, at 5 o'clock. The Rev. D. Mansell Smith officiated.

Spruce boughs, gladioli and pink and white steamers decorated the arch under which the ceremony took place. Gerald Heagle of Campbellford, played the wedding music, and Miss Joan McCulloch sang "The Wedding Prayer", before the ceremony and "Perfect Love", during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ankle-length gown of embroidered nylon tulle over satin. The skirt featured three tiers and the strapless bodice had a matching embroidered net jacket with long sleeves pointed over her wrists. Her veil was nylon tulle, held in place by a band of lily-of-the-valley. She carried a fan-shaped bouquet of red roses.

Miss Lois McCulloch, sister of the bride groom, was bridesmaid, wearing an ankle-length gown of shrimp lace over taffeta with matching jacket and net headdress trimmed with sequins. Miss Dorothy Buchanan, cousin of the bride, was flower girl, wearing a yellow organza dress with tiered skirt and puffed sleeves. She had a matching headdress and carried a basket of pastel 'mums and asters.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Lloyd Fisher, brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at home, where the bride's mother received wearing a gown of navy lace over pink taffeta with pink and navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom's mother also received, wearing a charcoal taffeta dress with pink and black accessories and corsage of pink roses.

Misses Joan Jeffs, Marilyn Rutherford, Eileen Fisher, Joyce West and Helen Archer assisted with the serving.

Later the bride and bridegroom left for a trip to points north and east. For traveling the bride wore a powder blue suit with navy and white accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Upon their return they will take up residence at the bridegroom's farm in Seymour West.

Prior to the wedding the bride was honored at a kitchen shower at the home of Mrs. John Coombs. The Seymour West club girls held a cup and saucer shower at the home of Miss Marilyn Rutherford. Mrs. Ray Rylott and Mrs. Harry Boll-n were hostesses at a pantry shower

Women's Activities

UNITED CHURCH W. M. S.

FOXBORO — The September meeting of Foxboro United Church W. M. S. was held in the church parlors on Thursday afternoon with 14 members present.

The meeting was opened with quiet music "Tell Me the Old, Old Story", by Mrs. H. Shelley. The president, Mrs. Wilson took charge and read a lovely poem entitled, "As Its Thanx, God" also speaking briefly regarding vacation and welcomed all the ladies back to take up the task in the great work of the W.M.S.

Mrs. Simmons read the minutes of the previous meeting and called the roll at which 14 calls were reported to the shut-in and members in the hospital. A statement of the finances up to date was also read.

Mrs. Daniels reported on the assists secretary. It was decided that the W.M.S. ladies would entertain several societies on September 28, and arrangements would be carried out by the committees in charge, Mrs. S. C. Gay, Mrs. R. Darke and Mrs. C. Bamber.

The devotional was followed from the W.M.S. monthly. Mrs. E. Tummon closed this part with prayer.

Mrs. Wilson read several papers of interest, after which the following program was enjoyed: Mrs. George Hicks, Mrs. R. Darke and Mrs. J. Daniels gave readings of interest on "Temperance". Mrs. H. Shetler accompanied on the piano by Mrs. S. C. Gay, favored with a solo entitled "Be Still, My Soul".

Mrs. Wilson moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Murrey Reynolds and Mrs. E. Tummon for preparing such a fine program.

CANNIFTON W.M.S.

The September meeting of the Canniflon W.M.S. was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Owen Roblin.

Mrs. Donald Williams, third vice-president, who had charge of the meeting opened with the Doxology and prayer.

Mrs. Empson gave the treasurer's report to date.

An invitation to meet with Mrs. Foxboro auxiliary on September 28, was read and accepted.

A short introduction of the study book was given by vice president, Mrs. J. Williams.

The Christian Citizenship and Temperance secretary, Mrs. D. Brenton, gave an interesting reading.

The Bible study period was led by Mrs. D. Williams with Scripture readings from Luke read by Mrs. Roy Pound. The answers to questions were given by the members.

Rev. Mr. McCrae gave an inspiring talk taking as his theme the Scripture "Where there is no Vision, people perish." He told of his experiences as a young minister, when at one of a group of eight young men he went out preaching in England without a nothing with them but faith in God.

Although many times it looked as if they would be hungry, God in His miraculous way, provided their needs.

Mr. McCrae brought out in his talk the need of women workers whether in missions or in their own community.

A cup of tea and social hour followed.

ST. PETER'S W.M.S.

The September meeting of St. Peter's W.M.S., Madoc, was held at the home of Mrs. Jim Miller. Mrs. Jack Bailey had charge of the devotional period. Mrs. Bailey's well-known child specialist. Christ Church E.B. W.A. Begins Meetings

Members of the Evening Branch of the W.A., met in the parish hall for the opening meeting for the autumn and winter season, on Monday evening with the president, Mrs. A. Cooper, in charge and Mrs. G. Cherry at the piano.

Mrs. E. Smith read the portion of Scripture. Correspondence and various reports were read by Mrs. W. Edwards, Mrs. J. Spencer, Mrs. L. Mason and Miss F. Reid in the absence of treasurer, Mrs. H. Hill.

Several members signified their intentions of attending the Deanery meeting, which is being held this year in Wellington, later in the month.

OUT-OF-TOWN SPEAKERS

Archdeacon J. B. Creegan spoke of plans to have interesting out-of-town speakers, for future meetings who would tell of their travels and experiences in the missionary work of the church. Mrs. S. Beggs, Mrs. H. Stevens, and Mrs. G. Read served sandwiches and a cup of tea when all enjoyed a social chat after the summer vacation.

Contact Club Plans Activities

Monday evening members of Christ church Contact club met in the parish hall for the opening meeting of the season.

The evening began with a few games which were enjoyed by all. Afterwards a short business meeting was held and plans made for future activities.

Among the things planned were a corporate communion, a club auction for October and a sale of children's clothing which will take place when the club meets next Monday.

Refreshments were served at the close of the evening, while the girls enjoyed a gay bit of conversation.

Barbecue Supper Held By U. W. Club

The University Women's club of Belleville and district, commenced its 1955-56 season with a barbecue supper at Mrs. J. H. Bateman's cottage, Oak Lake, last Thursday evening.

Under the capable direction of the hospitality convener, Mrs. J. E. Nelles and her assistants, Mrs. J. R. Sisson, Mrs. T. S. Bradfield and Mrs. M. Morton, a delicious supper was served out-of-doors. Mrs. D. J. McKinnon led a lively sing-song and Miss Muriel Gibson initiated a few spirited games which were thoroughly enjoyed by everyone present.

Mrs. F. T. Seibert expressed her honor of being president of the club for the coming year and gave a brief inaugural speech welcoming visitors and members. Mrs. Seibert extended a great regret that several former members, Mrs. Isabel Robinson, Mrs. Helen Tindale, Miss Irene Flewelling, and Mrs. Betty Daniels would not be able to be with the club this year.

EXECUTIVE

Mrs. Seibert respectfully introduced the incoming executive, Mrs. John Haig, vice-president; Miss Muriel Gibson, recording secretary; Miss Kay Daly, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. E. McArthur, federation representative; Mrs. J. Kuntze, treasurer; Mrs. A. Gillis, program convener; Mrs. J. E. Nelles, hospitality convener; Mrs. G. A. The guests of the afternoon were Mrs. Kenneth Bell and Mrs. J. Buchan, members of the Bellsville Hospital Auxiliary.

Mrs. M. Simpson introduced Mrs. Finkle who spoke to the auxiliary concerning the work of the organization and explained the various projects which they have each year.

Mrs. S. Lough, on behalf of the Neighbors' Aid, thanked Mrs. Finkle for the most interesting talk and Mrs. J. Buchan for attending.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and lunch committee, Mrs. Franklin Reed, Mrs. R. Wellbridge, Mrs. H. Wright and Mrs. Fred Reid.

BEAUTY

By ELLEN JAMIESON

One chore a night adds up to the sum total of beauty.

With a brand new season just swinging into high, this is the perfect time for you to start on a new beauty program — one that will be consistent as well as rewarding.

You know all too well that giving yourself "the works" one day, then neglecting yourself for the next three won't get you anywhere and maybe there have been times when you've vowed that you will start being systematic about beauty chores. But things happen. You come home later than usual one night, you're too tired another. And so the system never materializes.

To help you, therefore, we're outlining a day-to-day program that should do the trick, and it's based on devoting one day each week to a special good-looks job.

Let Monday be exercise day - a fitting one, too — especially if you've spent a lazy week-end. Concentrate on bending and stretching exercises which not only take off inches but keep your body limber and supple.

On Tuesday devote some time to the care of your eyebrows. Cream them, brush them and remove stray hairs with a tweezers.

You can make Wednesday shampoo night. Make this a thorough job and set your waves so that they'll be trim and lustrous for a whole week.

A complete complexion treatment could be Thursday's rite. Tie your hair back with a net, remove make-up with a cleansing cream, then use a soft, sudsy soap and a complexion brush not only for cleaning purposes, but to stimulate circulation and give yourself a radiant complexion. Several warm rinses and a cold rinse to close the pores come next. Then, with an upward motion, apply a rich lubricating cream. Leave this on for fifteen minutes. Remove surplus and leave a little on to stay over night if your skin tends to be dry. Otherwise, remove all the cream - except for a bit about the eyes and lids.

Give yourself a manicure on Friday, and on Saturday a pedicure and some leg grooming will be in order.

Sunday's relaxing day — don't think that's not important. Learning to relax is one of the best ways to avoid the nervous tensions which brings so many beauty problems in its wake.

This is a simple program and you can vary the days to suit your own individual schedule. The main thing, however, is to draw up a program — and stick to it!

WEDDING EXPENSES

Who pays for what? It's always a question when the wedding plans are being made. An important question. Here are the lists:

1. What the Bride's parents pay for: (With the exception of a very few items, the bride's parents, who are the hosts of the wedding, pay the entire cost of the wedding.)

Bride's wedding costume.

Bride's trousseau, including her going-away costume.

Invitations and announcements.

All expenses (except contribution to the minister) connected with the church or wherever the ceremony is to be performed: flowers, music; fees to organist, soloist, sexton.

All expenses connected with the reception or wedding breakfast or dinner, wherever it takes place: food, champagne and/or other beverages; flowers; music; service fees.

Flowers for bridal attendants (in some communities the groom pays for these).

Presents for bridal attendants.

Transportation for bridal party from house to church, and for wedding party from church to reception.

Housing of out-of-town bridal attendants . . . their husbands too, if any.

Wedding photographs and candids.

Wedding present to bride and groom.

2. What the groom pays for:

Wedding ring.

Marriage licence fee.

Wedding present to bride.

These flowers:

Bride's bouquet.

Bride's going-away corsage.

Corsages for both mothers.

Boutonnieres: for best man, ushers, and for both fathers. (In some communities the groom pays for the flowers for the bridal attendants.)

Contribution to the minister who performs the ceremony.

Presents to best man and ushers; also their ties and gloves.

Bachelor dinner (if he gives one).

Transportation for best man and himself, from house to church, if any.

All expenses of the wedding trip . . . beginning with the car in which he and the bride leave the reception.

MAY HOSTESS SUGGEST DEPARTURE-TIME FOR GUEST?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

"A" says a hostess never even suggests the time of departure of a guest, that this is discourteous and unbecomplishable. "B" says that today this is "poppycock," that it is always sensible, and very often necessary (because of a hostess' plans or family plans or service plans) for the hostess to suggest the time of the guest's departure. Who is right about this? A and B

"B" is entirely right about this.

Exhibition Exhaustion

By Mary Moore

We took a train to the "Ex." and, with our seven-league boots on to cushion the shocks, "did" it in one day.

We stayed until the last fireworks faded in the sky at the Grandstand show and loved every minute of it.

The "Ex." is a superb Canadian showcase and the grandstand performance unmatched anywhere. I'm sure master of ceremonies Ed. Sullivan was immensely impressed, and he has seen everything—especially now!

We trudged through the Food building which has had a refreshing face lift, and the Collision— our shopping bags getting heavier and heavier by the hour, with our impulsive purchases (English Furniture wax, goat's cheese, 71 plant logs etc.)—then the Manufacturers' building—sitter that the Province of Ontario building, next the Leslie Bell Singers at the Bandshell and finally the Grandstand show.

It is now the morning after and all morning I have tried to get down to work, but the telephone rings, the door bursts open, and it is now 12.30 p.m., and the mornings shot and my copy isn't ready. But if you see this in print I made it!

While I did not get this idea at the Exhibition I have so many peaches to use up from our tree which I do not want to can (for we have some of last year's leftover) I think you may be in the same predicament.

It is a pie using fresh peaches and the Baked Alaska idea. Quick and slick for company.

PEACH ALASKA PIE

One baked 9-inch pie shell, 2 egg whites, 1-4 teaspoon cream of tartar, 1-4 cup sugar, about 5 or 6 large fresh peaches (you may use canned when they are out of season), 1 pint hard-frozen ice cream.

Add cream of tartar to egg whites and beat stiff, then gradually add the sugar while beating until stiff. Fill pastry shell with freshly sliced peaches and sprinkle with 1 extra tablespoon sugar. Cover fruit with slices of hard ice cream, then spread the meringue over being sure it is sealed to the pie crust edges. (If desired you may put a few extra slices of peaches over the ice cream before spreading the meringue on.) The meringue must be carefully applied to keep ice cream from melting. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for about five minutes or until meringue is delicately browned. Serve at once.

I know there are mothers in this audience who will welcome

PEACH HONEY CASSEROLE

Six large fresh peaches, 1-4 cup honey, 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-4 cup all-purpose flour, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 1-2 teaspoons baking powder, 2 teaspoons sugar, 2 tablespoons butter or shortening, 1-2 cup milk. Peel and slice peaches into bottom of casserole. Drizzle with the honey, sprinkle with cinnamon, dot with butter. Sift together flour, salt, baking powder and sugar. Cut in butter, add milk and barely mix. Drop from spoon evenly onto peaches. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. about 30 minutes. Lovely served hot with Peach Hard Sauce—1-4 cup butter very well creamed, then creamed some more as you gradually add 3-4 cups sifted icing sugar. Have ready 1 tablespoon fresh peach pulp (pushed through a sieve) to thin sauce as you cream. Add 4 drops almond extract. Pile lightly on serving dish, chill until hard. Serve with any hot puddings.

Co-ordinated Costume

By VERA WINSTON

The top and skirt, dyed to match, is a favorite with career girls, with college girls and with almost any woman who likes daytime clothes that are smartly casual and are well thought out. Fitting this description nicely is a wool jersey top and dyed-to-tone flannel skirt in lovely shades of blue or green. The top has ribbed knit insets on the bodice and down the outer arm. The skirt is box-pleated, the pleats sewn down to where the top ends.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

HERE'S A PLAN FOR YOU TO TRY

Dar Beatrice Fairfax:

I am a girl of 15, and would like very much to go out on dates. I have been asked several times, but my mother will not let me go. She says I should wait until I'm 16 or 17, because by that time I will know more about sex and will not get into trouble. I am fairly intelligent, and I know right from wrong, but she still won't let me go.

Do you think she is right, or do you think I should be allowed to go out on dates?

Dear Elaine:

Your question is one that is asked me very often, and it is always a bit hard to answer. It's not hard to tell you what my opinion is. But it's not easy, on the otherhand, to tell a girl that I disagree with her mother, because I fully understand that when a girl's mother takes the attitude yours does, she is only trying to do what she feels will be best for her daughter.

I am sure you do know right from wrong, and I'm sure, too, that you're not the kind of girl who would be foolish enough to do anything she might lead to trouble. Another thing I'm sure of is that you would choose your boy friends carefully, so that there is no risk of getting involved with the wrong kind.

So let's suppose that some boy you like, and whom you know would take good care of you, asks you to go out on a date with him. The thing for you to do is to ask him if he will call your mother up and ask her if you may go out with him. Better still get him to come to the house and ask her.

If she sees that he is a nice boy who is so thoughtful and considerate as to make a special point of asking permission to take a girl out, I believe there'd be a very good chance that she'd give her consent. And I think the right kind because you respect your pa of boy would like you all the more enough to ask him to do this.

Anglican Bishop Calls on Women To Help Indians

WINNIPEG (CP)—An Anglican bishop Monday night called on women members of the Anglican Church of Canada to help the church keep the Canadian Indian from becoming a "depressed class."

"We can hang our heads in shame about our own spiritual children, the Indians and Eskimos," Rt. Rev. I. A. Norris, Bishop of Brandon, told the annual meeting of the Dominion board of the women's auxiliary of the church.

He urged the auxiliary to encourage Anglican girls to become nurses and teachers on Indian reserves.

The full 1954-55 slate of officers was re-elected by acclamation. Officers included:

President, Mrs. Britton Osler, Toronto; recording secretary, Mrs. F. H. Paul, Bridgewel, Ont.; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. H. O. McAndrew, Hamilton, and candidates' secretary, Mrs. J. Robertson, Kitchener.

War is Waged on Disease in Canada's Northland

A staff of 230, composed of whites, Indians and Eskimos, are working together at Moose Factory hospital at James Bay to rid Canada's northland of disease, the deadliest being TB. One of 19 built and operated by the Indian health services branch of the federal department of health and welfare, the hospital at Moose Factory, Ont., every year takes care of hundreds of Indian and Eskimo patients, the latter represented above by three-year-old Moxie, shown with nurse Rosaline Devlin, who has been in Canada only six months from Ireland. Crown Will Not Appeal Decision Of County Judge

TORONTO (CP)—Attorney-General Kelso Roberts said Tuesday the crown has no appeal against the decision by a county judge setting aside charges that two Dresden restaurateurs had discriminated against Negroes.

The attorney-general confirmed an earlier statement by Clifford Magone, deputy attorney-general, that the Ontario Court of Appeal had made such a ruling last year.

Mr. Roberts said he had just returned from out-of-town and had not had an opportunity to study the facts surrounding the case.

Last week, judge Henry E. Grouch of Chatham set aside charges that two restaurateurs had discriminated against Negroes. The two proprietors had been fined $50 in magistrate's court.

"It may be a perfectly correct decision," said Mr. Roberts, referring to that made by judge Grouch, "I don't know the evidence but I presume it justified the decision."

He said neither the complainant nor the crown could appeal the case which now was considered as closed.

"Whether the act needs any changes is another case," said Mr. Roberts. He referred to the Fair Accommodation Practices Act under which the charges were laid.

FACES LONG FUTURE WITHOUT DRIVING LICENCE

Three-year-old Jeff Owen of Cleveland is mighty unhappy about a stern letter he received from Ohio state bureau of motor vehicles that he would have to surrender immediately his driver's and chauffeur's licence and could no longer drive in Ohio. Last June, a neighbor, backing from driveway, struck Jeff's peddle-powered dump truck, spilling him to the ground. Although unhurt, an insurance company sent a check for $41 to replace truck. Apparently ages weren't mentioned and bureau sent the stern letter after a warning to file an accident report was not answered by his parents.

HUG MAN OUT

TORONTO (CP)—Two suburban East York township policemen hefted shovels today to rescue a man buried alive in a cave-in. George Roberts was digging in a six-foot trench in his back yard when it caved in. Constables Douglas Prior and Frank Sweeney dug away three feet of dirt to free Roberts, unharmed.

Madoc Junction

MADOC JUNCTION — Mrs. Jean Wannamaker, of Stirling, attended the Eggleton W.M.S. and B.Y. meeting at the home of Mrs. Doris Clancy on Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Kenneth Stewart of Lakefield visited Mr. and Mrs. Warren Farrow for a couple of days this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Wannamaker, of Stirling, were supper guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fitchett, on Thursday night.

Mrs. Carl Reide spent the week-end visiting with relatives in Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kelly, Anne and Billy, of Warkworth, and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Harlow, Saturday afternoon and later were supper guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Nelson.

Rally day was observed by Eggleton Sunday school on Sunday evening, with the use of the special services of worship for Rally Day Theme, "Lord of the Lands Make Canada Thine Own", with the Rev. C. R. Chapman presiding.

Service opened with the prelude played by Miss Joanne Reide, Sunday school pianist.

The assistant, Superintendent, Mr. Thomas Bridges, led in the responsive reading "Prayer of Thanksgiving", and also read the story "Kelly of the Creek".

A number by the Junior choir was greatly appreciated.

The Rev. C. R. Chapman delivered an inspiring address taking his text from words found in the Scripture reading, St. Mark 10: 17-33.

FIG TREES THRIVE FOR TORONTO OWNER

Two fig trees are thriving in the garden of August Papania of Toronto, who is seen here exhibiting fruit to Doreen Kennedy. A vegetable grower, Papania first brought the two seedlings with him from Italy in 1910. He digs them out and buries them in the ground for the winter, then replants them in spring. They bear fruit twice a year, and this is one of heaviest years, possibly because of the hot summer. Mr. Papania believes his trees are only ones in Canada. (Central Press Canadian).

Two U.S. Experts Have High Praise For Toll Roads

BANFF, Alta. (CP)—Toll roads as a solution for financing systems of through highways were discussed Tuesday by two United States experts at the annual convention of the Canadian Good Roads Association.

They were Albert J. Wedeking, executive director of the Indiana toll road commission, and K. B. Rykken, assistant to the executive vice-president of the American Automobile Association.

More than 1,000 miles of toll road are in operation in the United States, with 1,200 miles under construction and another 6,000 miles either authorized or proposed, Mr. Wedeking said.

Panel members described the toll roads as safer than divided highways and easy on the taxpayer's pocketbook.

Mr. Wedeking said they would absorb through traffic from city streets, improve land values and provide good roads now rather than sometime in the future.

HAS ADVANTAGES

The toll road eliminates bottlenecks, stoplights, railroads crossings, steep hills and sharp curves, he said, and most of the roads are successful beyond the highest expectations. The New Jersey turnpike was reported to be collecting tolls at a rate 36 years ahead of pre-construction engineering estimates.

During Tuesday's sessions, the convention heard Hon. Gordon E. Taylor, president of the association Alberta highways minister, say and that federal aid to highway maintenance had been "pitifully small" compared with the revenue poured into the government treasury by the automotive and allied industries.

He called for new methods to finance roads, essential to the economy of the nation.

W. R. Binks, administrative engineer with the federal department of public works, said it is doubtful if any province will complete its section of the trans-Canada highway before the expiration of the Construction Act, drawn up in 1949 to provide federal aid for the highway.

RUBL WATER BOMB

STOCKHOLM (Reuters)—Police are searching for unknown persons who threw a home-made "water bomb" at a Soviet embassy car here Monday night. The "bomb," believed to be a paper bag filled with water, "exploded" as it hit the hood of the car and cracked the windshield. None of the passengers was injured.

Will Call Hotel Queen Elizabeth Despite Protests

MONTREAL (CP) — The multi-million-dollar Canadian National Railways hotel under construction here will be called the Queen Elizabeth despite a campaign by a Quebec nationalist group to have the name changed.

A CNR spokesman said Tuesday "no consideration is being given to changing" the hotel's name, chosen by the railways' board of directors and announced Nov. 2, 1954, by President Donald Gordon.

Following that announcement La Ligue d'Action Nationale launched a campaign to have the hotel named for someone prominent in Canadian history and suggested Chateau Maisonneuve.

The campaign was climaxed by the tabling of the petition, bearing an estimated 200,000 signatures, in the House of Commons last June.

TOOK NOTE OF PETITION

The government took note of the petition but indicated that a choice of name for the hotel was a matter for the railway management.

Since then the campaign has fallen off to an occasional letter to railway officials from an individual urging a change in the name.

Mr. Gordon said hundreds of people had written him suggesting names.

"The suggestions covered a wide range of historical and geographical names," he said. "But, by far, the largest number of both French and English - speaking citizens writing me wished the name to be identified, in some form, with the Crown.

"However, before any action in line with these suggestions could be taken, it was necessary to obtain the views of Her Majesty. This was done through official channels and we now are authorized to announce that with the personal permission of Her Majesty, the largest and most modern hotel in the Commonwealth will bear the most illustrious name in the Commonwealth."

GERMANY

Before leaving for home, Adenauer told a press conference that in agreeing to establish relations with the Russians he had not abandoned any of his government's ties and obligations to the North Atlantic Alliance and the Western European Union.

He added that the Russians had not demanded this of him, although Bulganin had said at the outset of the talks that West German membership in NATO and WEU was the chief barrier to German reunification.

"I want to declare emphatically that no secret deal or pact of any kind was made between us and the Soviet government," Adenauer told correspondents.

The joint communique made no mention of the German prisoners, but Adenauer said Bulganin and the Soviet Communist party chief, Nikita Khrushchev, had agreed to return the 9,626 Germans Russia admits holding as war criminals.

The chancellor added that Bulganin and Khrushchev had said they knew of no other Germans held, but had promised to investigate and to hand over any they found. The West Germans have claimed that 100,000 Germans are being detained.

"We believe the Soviets will keep this promise, and we hope these other detained Germans also will be able to return to their homeland," Adenauer said.

SOME GET AMNESTY

Some, he said, will be given amnesty, while others will be turned over to the West German government to be dealt with according to its laws. A German press spokesman added that those prisoners with homes in West Germany will be handed over to the Bonn government, while natives of East Germany will be released to the Communist regime there.

Bulganin, other Soviet leaders, and many members of the diplomatic corps and troops of the Moscow garrison were at the airport to give the envoys a full-scale sendoff. Before stepping into the plane, Adenauer told the Soviet premier: "I hope we shall see each other again and that we shall see each other in Bonn."

River Valley Women's Institute Holds Informative Meeting

STIRLING. — On Thursday, Mrs. Jack Bush, Trent River, entertained in her new home, the River Valley Women's Institute. There were 24 members, five visitors and a boy—children in attendance. One new member, Mrs. A. Thorne was welcomed. She is a new resident in the valley.

Mrs. Roy Bush opened with the Institute Ode and The Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. Thomas Hanna read a number of "thank-you" messages from those who had received boxes of fruit, and gave a full report of the month.

The 4-H "Sunshine Susie's" club girls under the leadership of Mrs. George Heasman and Mrs. Phil Conley have completed their garden project with nine meetings and they did exceptionally well at Belleville Fair. The leaders were given commendation for their efforts in training the girls in this worthwhile work.

The Belleville Area convention will be held at the collegiate on Thursday and Friday, October 13 and 14. The president asked for a show of hands as to how many were planning to attend. On Thursday evening a supper meeting will be held at Tabernacle United church, at a cost of $1 per plate. This was the usual custom previous to World War II and those in charge planned to resume the idea again this year.

PROTEST CRIME COMICS

All interested Institute members were asked to write their local member of parliament protesting re "Crime Comics". This is something that the Institute women are trying to have abolished.

The Extension Service for this area is being sponsored by Stirling WI and will be held Saturday, October 22, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Stirling Community Hall. Mrs. Armstrong of the department will conduct the course on "What Makes a Good Officer". There will be a 'round table' conference, pot-luck dinner and collection.

It was regretted that River Valley WI. was unable to send in an exhibit for Belleville fair this year. Several other Institutes had splendid displays of handicrafts and cooking.

It was noted that Douglas McIntosh, a son of one of the Institute members, was chosen to attend the Scout jamboree at Niagara-on-the-Lake.

The Institute arranged for a male quartet to sing at one of the sacred services, sponsored by Rylstone W.I., at Crowe River Bridge.

Mrs. Glenn Bush gave a report of the work of Mrs. Gerald Brooks and her committee re the school cupboards which have been given a thorough housecleaning.

The president donated print to be used to make into saleable articles.

Members who haven't paid their yearly dues, were asked to do so. The ACWW money is to be forwarded this month for the Ceylon trip. At the next meeting it is to be decided what to send as a gift this Christmas to the link Institute in England.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen read from the August issue of "The Countrywoman" re the new "Home for the Aged" in New Brunswick. She also told of the first prize story in the ACWW competition.

Mrs. M. G. Palmer (nee Carter) a member of North Auckland, New Zealand, won the competition, with a "The Story of Our Land." She began with the pioneer, Ebenezer Carter, who came with his wife and family to New Zealand from England in 1860. Settlers were few and they eventually built a modest home on the Mata Hill and she sent a picture of this home to substantiate her story.

SAILS FOR AMERICA

In 1870, her grandfather, John Carter, son of Ebenezer, sailed for America and worked for three years in lumber camps. He sent regular sums of money home, packets of seeds for the garden, and a sewing machine for his mother, and incidentally he learned the best methods of breaking in new country. He then returned to New Zealand, married in 1874 and made his home on the steep rocky hill of Te Mata. He built his home in the shelter of huge cliffs, and today pear, plum, and walnut trees grow in the sun, grapevines run wild over the cliffs. In odd corners are gooseberries, figs and large spiking cacti.

The story is exceptionally interesting and tells of food, money, grandmother and her family of 10 children, the new home at Spring-field, near the pioneer home.

In closing the writer said "today great grandson of Ebenezer Carter are farming, they are milking high-producing herds in electrically equipped sheds, with tractors and motor cars. The country is clear and green, a fitting tribute to the work of the pioneers."

Anyone interested may attend a special historical meeting in Belleville, on September 15.

Miss Adeline Bush presided over her well-arranged program and read a poem "Autumn Beginning."

The roll call "Important Canadian Women", told of folks such as Charlotte Whitton, Marilyn Bell, Barbara Ann Scott, Nurse Gordon McPhatter, Miss Ethel Chapman; the former Anne F. Lewis, now married; Helen B. Anderson, with special mention of Miss Mrs. Alfred Watt, who in 1933 with the help of Lady Aberdeen, organized the Associated Countrywomen of the World. At the recent FWIC meeting held in June, the group enjoyed a trip to the International Peace Gardens, where a special dedication service was held as a memorial to Mrs. Alfred Watt, ACWW founder.

ROOFED PAVILION

The WI cook is a roofed pavilion resting on a cement base, capable of seating 25 or more people comfortably, on a wooded elevation with a splendid view of Lake Stormont. It was erected through the efforts of Institute women from every province of Canada, to honor Mrs. Alfred Watt, M.A., M.B.E.

Miss Eleanor Bush gave an interesting sketch on the motto, "The Doors of Opportunity are Marked Push and Pull."

Miss Adeline Bush, the Institute delegate to the recent Folk School held at Snow Lake near Coe Hill, gave a graphic picture of the work accomplished. It was the fifth school held in Hastings County with an attendance of 24 members.

Various subjects were studied and this included a new method of artificial respiration. One of the highlights was a large display of 1,200 pieces of rock with 900 of them named varieties.

The session attended St. Andrew's church, Coe Hill, on Sunday morning, and the school closed with a vesper service on the lake shore.

Mrs. Percy Ulman read an article on "Kindly Hints" which gave much useful information.

IMPORTANT WOMEN

Mrs. Ross Bush read an article based on the topic of the day "Important Women of the World", prepared by the convener. She said in part, "There are two women who stand in the glare of public attention, still enjoying Lady Churchill and Lady Eden."

Lady Churchill guides her husband's restless energy and Lady Eden at 34, is the youngest wife of a premier. Less than three years ago, she was a woman with a bachelor flat, and today she is No. 10 Downing Street, coping with a mountain of entertaining, engagements and arrangements Lady Eden doesn't have a large wardrobe and she often wears black or gray with her pale, faultless skin and fair hair. She has written articles for a magazine and worked for a publishing business.

Lady Churchill is busy smoothing the way for her husband. Sir Winston calls her "Clemmie" and he has written "My marriage was much the most fortunate and joyous event which happened to me in the whole of my life, for what can be more glorious than to be united in one's walk through life with one being incapable of an ignoble thought."

Another important woman is the Princess Royal, who will visit Canada this autumn. She is a home-loving person and inherited this from her mother, Queen Mary, to whom she bears a strong resemblance. A pleading dress plan of hers is to match her frocks to the color of the stones in her jewellery. The princess is a great horsewoman, whether at her London home, St. James's palace, or at the historic seat of the Harewood family. She is keenly interested in antiques and fine china, and is also a keen gardener. She is most interested in her Canadian visit and in learning about a great land she is now to visit for the first time.

LIFE EXPECTANCY RAISED

Another important woman is Princess Amrit Kaur of India. As the only woman in the cabinet she took over the ministry of health in 1946. The health standards have been greatly improved largely because of her efforts. She had a tremendous task before her with 356 million people to care for in a land beset by terrible epidemics but the life expectancy has been raised and great strides have been made in combatting the scourge of malaria. It is hoped by 1961 to have the whole country sprayed with DDT. The princess is gradually improving hospital conditions and is importing many, ideas from abroad. Last year when she visited North America she was greatly impressed with Canada's public health system, and with the United States medical services. The princess is determined to give India's masses living standards that match the richness of their country's raw materials.

There are many more women, who like these four, are making great contributions toward "Home and Country", but let us remember Lady Churchill guiding her husband through his retirement, Lady Eden, young, gay and lastly the Indian Princess, all doing a great work.

Mrs. Ralph Ulman read an appropriate poem "The Value of a Smile."

FLORAL ARRANGEMENTS

Mrs. Charles Vance of Stirling, demonstrated "Floral Arrangements." A lovely basket of glads was discussed for color, formation etc.

The speaker demonstrated how to make an improvised centre for a dish using plasticine and chicken wire. She told of various foliage to use, and the best method of combining flowers for rhythm and balance. She urged that flowers should not be cluttered but rather placed to show the individuality of each flower. Clematis cut flowers it is necessary to cut the stems of some of them in order to have an ideal bouquet.

Mrs. Vance displayed cat-tails in a unique style with pom-pom similar; also another vase of white gladioli. She demonstrated making a rose corsage and also an interesting display of Harmony marigolds. She gave a wealth of floral ideas that could be done with ordinary garden blooms.

Mrs. Vance also gave a vivid description of a pot of daffodils from the time the florist planted the bulbs in the fall, their winter care, or through until their sale at Easter time. She also explained the various grades of flowers and prices.

Mrs. Will Ashley graciously expressed thanks to Mrs. Vance for her informative address and demonstration which the members had greatly enjoyed.

PRESENTATION

At the Juncture Mrs. Ralph Ulman presented the president, Mrs. Roy Bush, with a large basket of variegated gladioli and an anniversary card signed by all members present on the occasion of the 30th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bush. The group then sang "Happy Anniversary Dear Rosie".

The president voiced thanks for the kind thought and the courtesy of the day, Miss Adelin Bush, was given the "rose corsage."

Following the National Anthem, the hostess and her assistants served sandwiches and cake and all enjoyed a social half hour.

Mrs. J. L. Donohoe voiced thanks for hospitality, program, demonstration, and refreshments.

The October meeting will be based on Agriculture and Canadian Industries.

'EGGLETON W.M.S.-W.A.

The September meeting of the Eggleton W.M.S. and W.A., was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Maurice Clancy with ten adults and six children present.

Mrs. Clancy presided over the program which had been prepared by Mrs. Earl Bridges and opened the meeting by reading a selection "The Lord has Promised Strength for Each Day". "It is only as we borrow tomorrow's trouble or remember yesterday's care that we find the burdens become too great." What a Friend We Have in Jesus", was sung, with Mrs. Bruce Stapley presiding at the piano.

The Scripture selection taken from St. Luke 17:11-19 and the prayer following the lesson were given by Mrs. Clarence Fitchett. Mrs. Carl Bridges led in prayer.

Mrs. Robert Danford gave a reading "What Jesus Does", and Mrs. Harry Clarke read a poem "We Need Not."

An interesting reading "A Happiness Carrier" was given by Mrs. Bruce Stapley and another reading "Devotions" was read by Mrs. William McMullen.

The W.A. president, Mrs. McMullen, took charge for the business period and read a letter on "Leadership Training" to be held at Quin-Mo-Lac Camp, Sept. 26.

Mrs. Harry Clarke offered her home for the November meeting and Mrs. Robert Danford and Mrs. Frank Smith were appointed to prepare the program.

A bake sale under the auspices of Eggleton church is to be held September 17th at Mr. Bosiak's store in Stirling. Final arrangements for this were discussed.

The annual banner and tea will be held on Thursday afternoon, October 13, at the home of Mrs. William McMullen.

Members are to meet and give the church a full evening on October 27.

Mrs. Carl Bridges was appointed to be in charge of arranging the flowers for the anniversary service, which will be held at Eggleton United church on October 30.

Plans were discussed for a pie social to be held on Friday evening, November 4.

Mrs. Clancy thanked the program convener, Mrs. Bridges.

Refreshments were then served by the hostess and a social half hour enjoyed by all.

Could be Turning Point in East-West Affairs

Dr. Konrad Adenauer, West German chancellor, is shown with Soviet Prime Minister Nikolai A. Bulganin (right) as they began their historic talks in Moscow, which could prove to be the turning point in East-West affairs. Bulganin said the USSR is ready to "exchange opinions" on German reunification, but warned that serious obstacles had arisen from the Paris agreements to rearm West Germany. Dr. Adenauer stressed the need for reunification and release of German war prisoners. (Central Press Canadian).

City Residents May Be Asked To Register

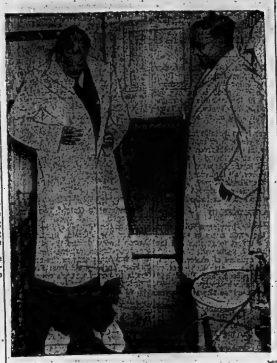
TORONTO (CP) — Assessment commissioner A. J. B. Gray Tuesday suggested how Toronto could get full benefit of the $4 per capita provincial grant to municipalities—register all the city's residents.

A special city council committee considering new sources of revenue viewed the proposal favorably and asked Mr. Gray for recommendations on how the registration could be accomplished.

Ald. Joseph Cornish felt registration would serve a dual purpose of disclosing persons operating rooming houses, thereby exposing them to business tax or licence fees.

The committee was told that the city is losing an estimated $400,000 a year in provincial 1 grants to which it is entitled.

30,000 Baskets Peaches Now In Surplus Pool



ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Officials of the Ontario Peach Growers Co-operative, with the worst late-season glut in 15 years on their hands, said Tuesday they have stopped buying fruit.

There now are 30,000 baskets in the surplus pools. Some dealers are winding up their operations with little more than half the late crop off the trees.

A mid-season surplus, brought about by the August rains of hurricane Connie which matured the fruit early, flooded storage facilities and forced officials to drop the price for late varieties to 60 from 85 cents.

Currently the demand is low, a situation which Abe Wilms, co-operative manager here, termed unexplained and almost unprecedented. Unless it picks up, he said, the co-op pool will not re-open this season.

Country Editor Has No Picnic Says Publisher

VANCOUVER (CP)—The quiet, folksy life of the country editor appeal to you?

Think you would like to retire to a small town and dispense homespun philosophy while lazily putting out your weekly newspaper? Then get down that cornsoft—chances are you wouldn't have time to light it anyway.

"Why, you never know what work is until you start running a country paper of your own," says George Kroft, publisher of the Selkirk (Man.) Weekly Enterprise. He and other weekly editors are here for the annual meeting of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association.

"First couple of years I was running a weekly I stood around and babied every operation there was. Used to put in 18 to 19 hours a day. Then I got wise. Now I let the people I've hired for a particular job do it."

W. H. Cranston, publisher of the Midland Free Press, in an address to the Rotary Club, pleaded for tolerance from newspaper readers.

Electronic computers have proven, he said, that it is possible to make 4,367,438 typographical errors in a page of type—and that doesn't count grammatical errors or mistakes in fact.

Only 23 per cent of Canada's weekly editors, many of whom are university graduates, earn more than $2,000 a year, he said.

"And their average work week is 55 hours."

EX-QUEEN REPORTED ILL AT THE HAGUE

Princess Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, who recently celebrated her 75th birthday, is reported ill at The Hague after an influenza attack. After reigning for about 50 years, she abdicated in 1948 in favor of her daughter, the present Queen Juliana.

HALVE SENTENCE

LONDON (Reuters)—The admiralty Tuesday halved a two-year sentence imposed on Able Seaman James M. McSporran, 19, for assaulting an admiral and knocking his hat off last July. The incident occurred when Vice Admiral J. W. M. Eaton was inspecting a warship in which young McSporran was serving.

Strike Ended At Peterborough

TORONTO (CP) — A strike involving 150 workers of the Canadian Raybestos Co. Ltd., plant in Peterborough was ended Tuesday through the efforts of Louis Fine, Ontario's chief conciliation officer.

In talks here between the company and the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) a settlement was reached which is subject to ratification at a labor meeting in Peterborough tonight. The settlement terms were not made public.

The union struck Aug. 29 to enforce demands for a two-cent-an-hour increase in the basic hourly rate. That would bring base rates for men to $1.32 and for women to $1.21.

The workers walked out after nine months of negotiations during which a conciliation board recommended that no pay increase be given and certain rest periods be eliminated.

onn Surprised nd Puzzled By loscow Accord

ONN (AP) — The results of ancellor Adenauer's conferences h Soviet leaders in Moscow sur- ed and puzzled official circles ost West German capital today, there was little rejoicing when e news was announced that Mos- w and Bonn had agreed to estab- diplomatic relations.

Instead, West German politicians d Western diplomats expressed prise that an agreement had n reached after the harsh words changed earlier between the potiators. There had been a ten- ency to write off the conference a dead loss, while applauding auner's stubborn stand in deal- with the Russians.

Identification of what the last- inute agreement means for the ture of Germany is awaited eagerly here. Before voicing ap- oval of the conference outcome, ficial and diplomatic circles ent to know what concrete gains, any, were made by the West erman.

TO STATES

Some responsible sources ex- ess fear that Moscow may have ined recognition that there are to separate Germanys. They say the Russians have skillfully voided committing themselves to definite action toward re- ifying Germany.

In Washington, United States of- ials feel that Adenauer made out the best bargain possible in talks, which he agreed to ex- e of diplomatic relations in re- rn for the promised release of erman war prisoners held in ssia.

American authorities say the es- blishment of diplomatic relations will not prejudice forthcoming gotiations on German unification. hen though the Soviet Union may by use it in that manner, ate Secretary Dulles, in co-op- ation with the British and French reign ministers, plans to make mands for German unification n first business of the West when e Big Four foreign ministers et at Geneva Oct. 27.

Chief Trouble Again Looms At Beaverton

BEAVERTON, Oct. (CP)—This tle village has police chief trouble gain. Reeve William J. Gilliespie id Tuesday he expects police hief Jim Newton—appointed wo months ago—to resign by pt. 17.

The village—population 1,045— st December lost chief Hector illace Reid, fired after being ound guilty on a drunken-driving harge. Police then were chiefless or three months.

Fifty-eight applications for the ost were considered. Finally, a cal man—24-year-old chief New- n—was selected. With no previous xperience he later attended a six- eek course at Ontario Provincial olice training school.

Last Saturday night chief Newton ought increases in car-travel al- owances and salary. Village coun- l refused the request, giving the hief one week to decide to remain at the present basis.

Reeve Gillespie's statement Tues- ay indicated Beaverton police hief may be chiefless before the eekend.

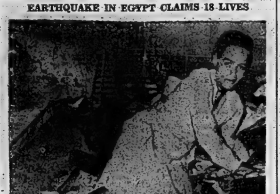
Prime Minister Answers Phillips

TORONTO (CP) — Prime Min- ter St. Laurent said today in a tter to Mayor Nathan Phillips anada will be better equipped to andle unemployment this winter han ever before.

"Our unemployment insurance ct has been thoroughly revised nd improved," Mr. St. Laurent aid.

The letter was in reply to a board f control request that the federal overnment take steps to prevent repeat of last winter's unem- loyment slump.

"While some unemployment is to e expected in any winter," the etter read, "the economic situa- ion at present appears promising oth in Canada and in the coun- ries with which we are most con- erned in matters of trade and economics.



WOULD SHARE COSTS

"Consequently there does not ap- ear to be any grounds for undue essimism or for regarding the sit- ation as likely to be of an emer- ent character."

The prime minister said the fed- ral government has offered to hare costs of unemployment bene- its with the province. Several rovinces had indicated prepared- ess "in principle" to enter into greements.

"I am hoping the government of our province will ultimately de- ide to share in these arrange- ents," he said.

EARTHQUAKE IN EGYPT CLAIMS 18 LIVES

An Egyptian schoolgirl lies on a pile of debris at foot of stairs where nine of her classmates were crushed to death by a mass stampede during an earthquake which struck Cairo and the Nile valley. The terror-stricken girls, attending their first day of school, panicked when their 50-year-old school building began to shake and jammed on to the stairway. The railing broke from strain and many fell and were trampled to death. Nine other persons were reported killed and some 90 others were listed as injured in the sharp tremor. (Central Press Canadian).

Nation's Economy Expands Sharply In Three Months

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's economy expanded sharply in the three months of April-June and the gross national product—value of all goods and services produced—rose to a record annual rate of $26,348,000,000.

This is an increase of $1,056,000,000 from the annual rate of $25,192,000,000 in the first three months of 1955 and a gain of $2,288,000,000 from $23,960,000,000 in the second quarter last year, the bureau of statistics reported today. The average for last year was $24,141,000,000.

Finance Minister Harris predicted in a speech at Charlottown last Monday that the gross national product for 1955 may exceed his budget forecast of $25,250,000,000. Officials said the rise may reduce the estimated $160,000,000 deficit for 1955-56 forecast in the budget speech last April.

The bureau said Canada's economic expansion was widespread, touching almost every type of industry. A factor was the prospect of a better-than-average grain crop, boosting farm production by $300,000,000 over last year.

ACTUAL GROWTH

Production industries, other than farms, rose an average of four per cent in the second quarter from the first three months. Prices showed virtually no change and the gains therefore reflected an actual growth in production volume, the bureau said.

In the April-June period, labor income increased to a record annual rate of $12,712,00,000 from $12,284,000,000 in the first quarter and $11,936,000,000 in the second quarter of 1954.

Income from investment rose to $4,364,000,000 from $3,940,000,000 in the first three months and $3,708,000,000 a year ago.

JUST A FEW SCRATCHES

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The car sideswiped a guard rail, rolled over, flipped end-over twice, rolled over sidewise and ended up in the middle of the road 310 feet from the point where it hit. James F. Lyons, 35, walked out of the wreck, sporting only a few scratches. Police charged him with speeding and reckless driving.

Hurricane Hilda No Longer Threat To U.S. Seaboard

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The weather bureau at San Juan, Puerto Rico, reported today "strong evidence" that a new tropical storm has developed in the Atlantic 350 miles east and slightly south of San Juan, and about 1,400 miles southeast of Miami.

"There is no definite information about its strength or motion," said the special bulletin from San Juan, "and no strong winds have been reported in the Leeward Islands.

"However, all interests in Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Leeward Islands are alerted for possible warnings later today."

HILDA WEAKENED

Meanwhile, hurricane Hilda spun along the south coast of Cuba, no longer a threat to Florida and the eastern U. S. seaboard.

The mountains of eastern Cuba, whose peaks rise to 8,000 feet or more, interposed, and Hilda had winds of barre hurricane force (75 miles an hour) as she swept over the island.

The winds probably will drop still more, but Hilda may regain some punch after reaching open water again, the Miami weather bureau said.

Santiago, Cuba's second largest city near the southeast end of the island, reported heavy rains and strong winds during the night, but no casualties.

CRAFT WARNED

Gale winds and locally high tides were predicted for today in central Cuba, and small craft in the area were advised to remain in port until the storm passed.

The hurricane at dawn was about 400 miles south-southeast of Miami, and its path at that time was expected to keep that distance as it moved into the Caribbean sea.

The United States Navy meanwhile planned to send a plane to investigate a new weather disturbance about 500 miles east of Puerto Rico. This is the general area where the destructive hurricanes Connie and Diane originated last month.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communist party, asking the Supreme Court to strike down the 1950 subversive activities control law, argued Tuesday it has been outmoded by the Geneva Summit meeting.

'ANGEL' OF DIEN BIEN PHU TO SPEND YEAR IN U. S.

Genevieve du Galard Terraube, the French nurse who became known as the "Angel" of Dien Bien Phu for her heroic nursing of French troops during the siege of that Indo-China fortress, has a big smile for Americans as she arrives in New York by air from France. She is to begin a year's course in treating the physically handicapped at the Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation of Bellevue medical centre in New York at the invitation of the institute's director.

Polio Epidemic At RCAF Base Under Control

MARVILLE, France (CP)—Medical authorities at this Canadian jet fighter station today said the poliomyelitis epidemic which sent 24 children and adults to the RCAF hospital now is firmly under control and the situation should be cleared up "within the next several weeks."

More than 2,000 airmen and their dependents have been inoculated with gamma globulin during the last three days and no new polio cases have been reported since Saturday. The RCAF's senior medical officer, Sqdn. Ldr. David Stewart, said the inoculation program should be completed today.

Seven of the 24 persons hit by the disease in the last month developed signs of paralysis. Nine patients have been released after treatment at the station hospital.

Rylstone

RYLSTONE — Almost the entire community turned out to see the ball game between Rylstone and Springbrook on Saturday night, in Campbellford. They were disappointed though, as rain came on in the fourth inning and the game had to be cancelled. When the game was called the Rylstone boys were leading by a wide margin.

While Glenn Morton was in Campbellford playing ball, on Saturday night, lightning struck his house, doing $800, worth of damage to the living room, and furniture. Other rooms suffered smoke damage. Mr. Dick Morton's barn was also struck, but they were fortunate in getting it out. A light was blown out with a loud bang in the kitchen of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Spencer.

The long needed rain came along Saturday night, with a vengeance. It rained harder than it has for a long time. However, Sunday's rain was gentler, and will do a lot of good.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Finch, a son. Congratulations to the parents, and to the grandparents too, Mr. and Mrs. Boslin Finch, who also had a young son born recently.

The anniversary service at Rylstone United Church was largely attended on Sunday night. The visiting minister was the Rev. Charles Clarke, of Frankford, who gave an interesting address. Special music was supplied by the Rawdon Quartet. Miss Betty McConnell was the pianist for the evening. At the close of the service, the ladies of the congregation served lunch to the minister and musicians.

Mrs. Glenn Morton ran a silver tea in her finger nail Sunday morning requiring a doctor to remove it.

MEMBERSHIP GROWS

TORONTO (CP)—United Church of Canada membership in 1954 was 609,729, nearly 285,000 more than the 1926 figure, its year book said today. The year book reported the number of persons "under pastoral care" as 2,206,543.

Kingston Presbyterial Holds 22nd M.B. Rally at Stirling

IVANHOE — The 22nd Mission Band rally of the Kingston Presbyterial of Presbyterian church in Canada, held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Stirling, on Saturday, was well attended.

Mission Bands, Explorer Groups, leaders and W.M.S. members met to report on the year's work and plan for future service.

The Children's Department was honored to have present, a missionary from British Guiana, a number of Presbyterial officers, one synodical officer and the moderator of Kingston Presbyterial.

Miss Bessie Fleming, Presbyterial secretary of the Children's department, presided and gave the call to worship. Hymn "Jesus Loves Me" was sung with Miss Carol Ray of Stirling Mission Band at the piano.

DEVOTIONAL PERIOD

Devotional period in keeping with the theme "The Word of God," was conducted by West Huntington Mission Band. An open Bible with tall white candles on either side, made a fitting worship centre. The children recited in unison, portions of Scripture and sang "I'm Feeding on the Living Bread". Miss Fleming led in prayer.

Kenneth Fargey of Stirling Mission Band, welcomed the visitors and Sharon McDonald of Belleville Explorers, responded.

Mrs. Harper Rollins, Presbyterial W.M.S. secretary, was appointed secretary for the session. Roll call showed 4 children, eight leaders and a large number of W.M.S. members present.

Kingston and Belleville Explorers, Trenton, Madoc, Burnbrae, Stirling and West Huntington Mission Bands were represented. The offering was presented by Kenneth Fargey and Robert Burrell. Carol Fargey led in the offertory prayer.

YEAR'S REPORT

The Children's department secretary gave a report of the year's work. There are four Explorer groups and six Mission Bands with a total membership of 165. Amount sent to Mission $185.61. The report showed an increase in membership and givings, much activity and mission study.

Brenda and Sharon Matthews of Burnbrae, sang two songs and piano solos were given by Isabel Williamson, Trenton, and Marilyn Hitchock, Kingston.

BANNER AWARDED

Mrs. W. H. V. Walker gave the declaration of the judges and awarded the banner to Burnbrae Mission Band. It was received by Brenda and Sharon Matthews. Mrs. Walker spoke of the tremendous growth of the Explorer groups and in closing urged to look to the light, be doers not hearers.

ADDRESS

A missionary address was given by Miss Ellen Anderson of British Guiana. Miss Anderson was designated as an overseas missionary under the W.M.S. (W.D.). Of the Presbyterian church in Canada, in August 1930 at her home church in Acton. She went to Japan where she worked among the Koreans for ten years. When war broke out she was forced to return to Canada, where she served for four years.

In 1946 she went to Georgetown British Guiana, where she has been engaged in evangelistic work among the women and children. Since returning she has been presented with a long service medal.

The guest speaker told many interesting things about British Guiana. The beauty of the flowers and trees, and the abundance of tropical fruit. She also told of the people especially the boys and the girls.

Some of the people are black, once brought from Africa as slaves. There are East Indians and Portuguese. Some worship heathen gods. Boys and girls who have learned to love God attend Sunday schools and Bible study groups. Often Sunday school is held under the houses. The houses are built on poles or pillars.

Miss Anderson concluded her missionary address depicting "The Way of Salvation" by use of flannelgraph.

A large gift parcel was unwrapped containing a number of smaller ones. Children from different groups came forward to open and place on the board, pieces of red felt on which were knocking at the door, guardian angel, dove symbolizing the Holy

King Saud Urges United Arab Army To Check Israel

CAIRO (Reuters)—King Saud of Saudi Arabia said in an interview published here Tues. that "the only language which Israel understands is that used recently by the Egyptian army."

In an interview with the semi-official newspaper Al Gomhourita, King Saud advocated a united Arab army. Though the Arab economic boycott was a "destructive moral weapon" against the Jewish state, "real weapons are the only effective guarantee against Israel's designs."

Asked whether the creation of a demilitarized zone along the truce lines would "put an end to Israel's aggressions" the king said this was among many solutions proposed by the Arab countries. He did not believe, however, that it would be a final solution for the problem.

King Saud claimed that the Western powers "were subjected to the pressure of world Zionism" and said they had created Israel "to be a sore thorn in the heart of the Arab nations."

Marmora

MARMORA — Mrs. Ruby Winters is visiting friends in Toronto.

Mrs. Clifford Jones returned home on Monday from Belleville where she has been recuperating since her recent operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Simmons and family of Peterborough, visited Mr. and Mrs. Simmons' parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Doyle, over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Bedore and family have moved into one of Mr. Harold Russell's cabins on No. 7 highway.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hulsman of Peterborough, visited relatives here on Labor Day.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Mai in Mrs. J. F. Barker's Nursing Home, on Sunday, September 11.

Mrs. R. C. MacLean, Trenton, 1st vice-president of Kingston Presbyterial W.M.S. moved a vote of thanks to Miss Anderson; to the session of St. Andrew's; to the secretary of children's department, and to all who had contributed to the program.

Following the singing of "Jesus Saves" greetings from Kingston Presbyterial were brought by the moderator, the Rev. W. H. V. Walker, pastor of St. Andrew's, Stirling.

Mr. Walker paid a tribute to Miss Anderson and spoke words of encouragement to the boys and girls and their leaders and closed with prayer.

Refreshments were served by St. Andrew's W.M.S.

PLEASANT WAY TO "KEEP THE PEACE"

While in Laos, Indo-China, with Canadian truce team, Capt. Will Matthew of Montreal keeps "the peace" with these three girls from Moo village, in the territory of Sam Neva. Under Geneva terms, which ended the fighting in Indo-China's three states of Cambodia, Viet Nam and Laos, the Communists withdrew their forces from Sam Neva, a province of Laos, but left a Red-trained commander behind. The territory is now reported to be virtually back in Red hands. (Central Press Canadian).

SMOG HITS CITY

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The worst smog attack on record hit here Tuesday—grey, eye-stinging stuff that made tears run. The county air pollution control district called a "first alert"—the seventh since it was empowered last June to do so—by which outdoor burning is banned. Citizens are asked to limit unnecessary driving.

Moroccan Sultan Still Bargaining Over Abdication

By CARL HARTMAN

RABAT, French Morocco (AP)—Sultan Mohammed Ben Arafa was apparently still bargaining with the French government today on his terms for leaving the throne and opening the way to Moroccan self-rule.

The threat of nationalist violence hangs over the country to spend his going, but French colonists who want him to stay are carefully watching the imperial palace Dar el Makhzen.

It is feared that they plan violent demonstrations on behalf of Ben Arafa if he shows signs of leaving. Strong allies of the colonists within the French government appear trying to exact as high a price as possible for his removal.

The thing they want most is as tight a guarantee as they can get against the return of the nationalist ex-sultan, Mohammed Ben Youssef. They are convinced he is determined to drive France from Morocco.

Officials of the French residency refused this morning to confirm or deny a widely circulated report that a letter to Sultan Arafa from President Rene Coty of France had arrived Tuesday but was not delivered.

DIPLOMATS SHOCKED

According to the account generally believed here, the letter was drafted without the help of Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay and Defence Minister Pierre Koenig. This version of events said that Pinay and Koenig, Ben Arafa's chief supporters in the Paris cabinet, disapproved the terms and succeeded in preventing its delivery.

This statement came as something of a shock to diplomats familiar with European parliamentary practice under which public disagreement by a cabinet minister with his government's policy is considered the same as resignation. Nothing has been said here about Koenig quitting.

Hog Stockyards In Ont. Endorsed By Producers

TORONTO (CP)—Establishment of hog stockyards in Ontario was endorsed Tuesday at the semi-annual meeting of the Ontario Hog Producers' Association.

Charles W. McInnis of Iroquois, president of the association, later said yards will be in operation within three weeks at Windsor, London, Stratford, Kitchener, Barrie and Peterborough as well as in Toronto. He said several already are operating.

Mr. McInnis said the association's co - operative marketing scheme saved Ontario hog producers between $10,000,000 and $12,000,000 already this year.

He said 800 of 1,200 transporters in the province now are registered under the association's licensing scheme. Because all hog transporters are required by law to have such licences the association will be able to ensure they observe regulations and directives, he said.

The country delegates also passed a resolution calling on producers to refrain from criticizing the scheme until it is better established and its merits can be assessed properly.

Martin Requests Clarification Of Proposals

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Canada's Health Minister Paul Martin Tuesday asked Russia for further clarification of her disarmament proposals.

Informed sources said Martin asked Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev at a session of the UN's disarmament sub-committee to iron out apparent contradictions between the Russian proposal of May 10 and recent statements by Sobolev.

It was understood that Martin sought an elaboration of the methods of control and inspection Russia intends to put forward to guarantee her disarmament plan.

The plan calls for the limitation of the size of armies, the eventual abolition of nuclear weapons and some form of ground inspection. Canada has said it favors in principle these proposals provided there are adequate safeguards.

After the meeting Martin said the questions were still unanswered.

The American delegate, Harold Stassen, said Tuesday's meeting was "the most extensive give and take and back and forth discussion on the inspection and control problems since Geneva." He did not elaborate.

EXTEND MARTIAL LAW

ANKARA (Delayed) — (AP)—Parliament Monday night overwhelmingly voted to extend martial law for six months in Turkey's three biggest cities, Istanbul, Ankara and Izmir. The vote was taken at an extraordinary session called following the destructive anti-Greek riots in Istanbul and Izmir last Tuesday.

GM AND UNION

Since then locals representing more than 7,000 workers at plants in Toronto, London, Windsor and St. Catharines have also recorded votes overwhelmingly in favor of strike action.

Mr. Burt said the deadline set by the union's GM sub-council will hold for all five locals but the actual time of the walkout will be set by the individual groups.

The guaranteed annual wage is chief among more than 100 points in dispute between the company and the union but the UAW leaders have also emphasized their ambition to bring GM wage rates into line with other Canadian automobile manufacturers. Their other aims include an apprenticeship program, a company - paid health scheme and a union shop.

Negotiations have been carried on for several months in two sections and were climaxed Sept. 6 with the handing down of a report from a three - man conciliation board headed by Judge J. C. Anderson of Belleville.

The majority report signed by Judge Anderson and company nominee Charles McTague made no contract recommendations. Instead, it censured the UAW for walking out of board sessions and said such action by unions could force the government to enact legislation threatening them with decertification.

One section of the negotiating teams is concerned with the contract involving the workers at the plant Oshawa plant. The other is discussing terms for the employees at the four other plants.

Dumbo Newest Film by Disney Will Be Given Premiere on TV

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Walt Disney, driving out to his new Disneyland park south of Los Angeles, was talking about his new television season which starts tonight with the filming of "Dumbo."

How can he afford to give away such a multi-million-dollar property to home audiences?

"That's a good question," he said. "You see, I wear many hats. When I have my TV producer's hat on I fight like the dickens to get the films that the movie producer has made.

"My brother Roy and the other businessmen in the company figure out what we can afford to give up. I convinced them to give me 'dumbo.' And we can hold it a few years and bring it out for an entirely new generation."

This season he will also show two other features—"Robin Hood" and "The Sword and the Rose."

By using such completed films, he can afford to go over his budget on the other shows. For example, a Tomorrowland hour costs him $250,000 or more. Two runnings on TV will bring him only half of that.

"We went a million dollars over budget last year," he disclosed. "Davy Crocket pulled us out. We made the film for $700,000, while we could only get $300,000 back from TV. But the theatrical showings will probably gross a million and a half here, and there is considerable interest in Davy abroad.

"We also ended up with a star —Fess Parker."

This season he hopes Davy will again come to the rescue. He has sunk $800,000 into two chapters— "The Great Keelboat Race" and "The River Pirates." Only $200,000 can be realized from TV, but Disney hopes the theatre release here and abroad will make up the deficit.

On Oct. 3 Disney embarks on another TV adventure—The Mickey Mouse Club. It will be on ABC every week day. He accomplished the miracle of selling $15,000,000 worth of sponsorship without even making a pilot film.

Despite the huge bankroll, he expects to go a million over his budget. He hopes to make up the loss elsewhere.

"We're not hitting down in this show," Disney remarked as he neared his famous Disneyland Park. "We're aiming at the 12-year-old and up. I think the younger kids will be interested and adults, too."

Little Benny's Notebook

It was windy as anything, and men were grabbing their hats just in time to keep them from blowing off, and me and Puds Simkins were waiting for one to blow all the ways off so we could chase it and maybe get a reward, and I said, it ought to be worth at leest a dime to chase a hat.

Oh boy, maybe we'll get a dollar if it's on enter speech hat and we have to chase it very far, Puds said, and I said, Oh boy, maybe a lot of them will blow off and we can go into bizzness.

And we kept on waiting and we were just going to give up the idea when some man's hat really did blow off. Being a bald bedded man and proving his hat was for looks as well as bath, and his hat went right up in the air and then banged down on the sidewalk and rolled around the corner as if it was on wheels, with me and Puds yelling and running after it excited, and Puds said, The one that catches it gets the reward, how about it?

Okay, that's a go, I said, and Puds said, I bet I'm the one catches it.

That's what you think, I said, and we kept on grabbling for it and getting in each other's ways and I accidently stopped it by stepping on one side of it with my foot, and Puds said, Boy, no fair, take your foot off of it.

And he stopped on the other side of it to show he had equal rights, bending it partly out of shape, and we tried to bend it right again and made it look worse instead of better, besides having foot marks on it, and I said, Heck, there he is.

Meening the bald bedded man down at the corner, and we put the hat on the ire hydrant, puting it on kind of hard so it would stay, and quick walked away as fast as we could without running.

Fashion Jewelry Glitters With 'Golden Touch'

The Midas touch appears in fashion jewelry for fall with gold-en necklaces, earrings, bracelets and pins gleaming everywhere. Also popular are beautifully made rhinestone pieces, many in gold settings. Colored stones, pearls and silver jewelry are important, in new designs to accent the sea-son's sleek, simple silhouette.

Many new necklaces are a comfortable length — the base-on-the-throat length, reports the Jewelry Indus-try Council. Bracelets are flexible cuffs or interesting chains dangling with large disc orna-ments. Most new pins are me-dium-sized, many in pairs either identical or one larger than the other.

The round button earrings has been freshly adapted in dainty, more formal styles. Contour ear-rings and abbreviated drops are favored, too, with lavish shower and chandelier designs reserved for evening wear.

THE GOLD LOOK

Dramatic "tailored" designs shine as stunningly as pieces of sight. Decorative lovers' knots are featured in snake-chain neck-laces, the wide knot at centre. Other golden styles are simple multiple-strand snake-chain bibs and asymmetric loops fastened to a choker.

Richness and color depth characterize new stone and golden metal jewelry. Clear ruby reds, sapphire blues, bronzes and simulated jets glow from simple settings.

Slim Line Girdles Offer Easy Control

Every element of the slim look is provided by girdles and pan-tie girdles. Elasticized briefs are available for the young figure. Longer-leg panti-girdles offer comfort and control.

Airy two-way stretch girdles and more rigidly controlled types are offered in low waistline styles for torso fashions.

Fall foundations are colorful and show dainty lingerie touches. Soft pinks join the whites as leaders. Maize, lime and lilac are used for stitching, ribbons and appliques.

A Long Look For The Bride

Bridal gown takes fashion's low torso, adds a separate dance train that is attached to the full skirt with a flouncine bustle. Scoop neck is outlined with pearly embroidered lace in silk taffeta. By Mur-ray Hamburger.

Favored Fall Colors Take Cue From the Brown Family Tree

Every twig of the Brown fam-ily tree has a direct line to fash-ion prominence this fall.

The true browns, with their brothers and sisters, the choco-lates, cocoas and mochas, pro-vide the trunk of this fashion family tree. Main branches are beige-browns, much deeper than last season's; cinnamon browns, with a good deal of russet and plum in their lineage, and the charcoal browns, almost black in their depth.

Twig colors are brown-toned greens, called avocado or moss green. Deep oranges and reds offer the brown feeling and har-monize well with clear browns. Amethyst and burgundy com-bine brown with blue and red for a new look in color. Yellow takes a bit of brown and be-comes chrysanthemum.

Winter navy makes color news in quite a different direction. Shock yellows, periwinkle blue, brilliant cranberry red share the spotlight, too. Teal, peacock and turquoise round out the blues parade.

In addition to the avocado greens, there are delightful en-tries in kelly and emerald—par-ticularly notable in cocktail dresses of rich satin. White and near-white are present in striking abundance in coats and late-day dresses.

Plaids and tweeds rate mention as color stories. In tartans, the Black Watch and Glen plaids are most prominent. Deep, clear col-ors with sharp contrast lead in the tweed category.

Slim Handbags Contribute To Fall Silhouette

Long, slim, unruhtered lines shape the handbag picture for fall. A new era opens for fashion and comfort in handbags: the smaller fall bags eliminate the necessity of crevice-hunting around the bot-tom for hidden items.

Keyed to fashion's elegant look, bags will be long or square, but al-ways slim and sleek. And the new shapes are carefully deceptive, so there's plenty of room inside though the appearance is boldless. Belts and buckles provide interesting style details.

The satchel is a significant fall shape, with changes that flatter and slim the basic style. Late day bags continue the wafer- thin look whether they are square or rectangular.

All accessories are slated to play their most important role in many a season and will be more color-conscious than ever. Handbags will blend with costume colors to produce the popular one-tone look or will be used as a primary col-or accent for an otherwise matched outfit.

A new series of brown-to-black leathers appears in both smooth and textured surfaces. Browns, so im-portant in all fashion phases, range from coffee to briarwood to walnut and golden sable. They are avail-able in soft calf, glossy suede, kip or kid for smooth, lustrous surfac-es. Reptiles and morocco head the roster of gray leathers.

The blacks appear in velvety suedes and calfskins as well as a variety of crushed, grained or smooth sueltite dyed leathers. Winey colors, avocada and wedgwood blue are important contrast colors.

To carry out the Oriental look fashion likes for fall, there are many graceful handbags in paisleys and brocades. These often feature cane, bamboo or other Eastern mat-erials in handles that enhance the exotic flavor.

Narrowed Line Prevails In Plush-Textured Coats

A narrowed line, with exciting variations, interpreted in the richest of fashion's new coatings, either deep, plush fabrics of all-wool or synthetic blends or beau-tifully woven luxury tweeds, sets the trend for this year's coats.

Whistle-slim tubes and wraps are the most popular interpreta-tion of fall's narrowed silhouette. The favorite middlefication is the A-line coat, a fashionable com-promise between the narrow and gently full.

From closely set shoulders, the coat widens gradually to a full hem, with emphasis achieved by detail—graduated pockets, con-trasting inserts, accented seaming, and double rows of pyramid-like buttons.

TOWN AND COUNTRY

The reefer emerges for autumn as an elegant town coat. Tube-slim, but semi-fitted in shape, it is one of this year's most exciting variations of the narrow silhou-ette, especially in the new, bulky looking imported tweeds, although it is also found in sleek, smooth worsteds. The reefer is often em-bellished with velvet or corded satin on wide notch revers or Chesterfield collars.

Fashion's strong trend toward urban-suburban styling is illus-trated in the reefer. Rich tex-tured, heavy tweeds which for-merly were reserved for casual or suburban wear have been el-egantly treated to achieve a cos-mopolitan effect.

The overcoat look rates high in the field of slim-line coat fashions. Man-inspired, it is smartly interpreted in Chester-fields, top coats, boy coats and officer coats, usually with double-breasted buttoning. Cashmere and camel hair are the most often used fabrics.

Fitted coats generally are gently bloused, with ample to full skirts. They are seen in smooth, polished wools in velours and the hair family and usually have matching leather contour belts.

News in coating fabrics is in the fur-like pile coatings and luxury fleeces such as guanaco, llama and alpaca; light-weight synthetic blends, often dyed in combinations leading; and won-derful new tweeds.

Black and white and black and brown tweeds are favorites, especially as herringbones. Many have a knitted look, or a cord, corded or snowflaked appearance. Special news is in the rustic-looking tweeds—color flecked or colored, and brushed black for a darkened, very urban effect.

Dramatic black velvet re-mains a leader in the realm of formal coats this year, with some elegant variations, such as black cotton lace over velvet, embroidered velvet and satin-trimmed velvet.

However, other formal fabrics are also fashionable—gold lamé, brocaded silks and winter weight satins. The silhouette varies. Wide coats for bouffant evening dresses, slim tubes and fitted coats are all popular.

One Plus One Make Good Fashion Total

Ensembles for subteens include reversible jerkins color-matched to plaid dresses, sweaters and blouses trimmed to match slim, flaring or pleated skirts and A-line jackets faced in a blouse print. All help the subteen in her study of fashion mathematics via many wardrobe combinations.

Short coats, often seen as part of an ensemble have a this season touch in fur trims or linings.

Fabrics Take To Luster Or Deep Texture

Fabrics this fall take their cue from the elegant simplicity in fashion's leading trends, making two-fold news in exciting new textures and rich lustrous surfaces. Especially important are luxuriously plush woolens, elegant brocades, satins and handsome transitional synthetics, now firmly established in the "year-'round" category.

Fur-like pile coatings andluxury fleeces, notable for their light weight, are top fashion news when interpreted in autumn's slim or slightly flared coats. Surface interest is created in some coatings by incorporating furs, such as beaver or mink, or other precious fibers.

Cashmere, always a favorite, retains its place as leader in coatings, although camel hair, guanaco, llama and alpaca are strong competitors. Synthetic coatings—light, warm and wonderfully thick—are increasing in popularity.

THREE-SEASON FABRICS

Transitional fabrics will enjoy a long season this year. Designed for either casual or dressy wear, they are most often mixtures of silk or synthetic yarns with cotton. Major news is in the nubbed and velvety surfaces for casual wear. For more formal fashions, satins, peaus, and barathea are spotlighted.

Tweed has definitely come to town and looks as handsome in city fashions as in country designs. Newest are rope and pebble tweeds with crisp hand and clear color contrast. Jersey and cotton tweeds are casual favorites.

Tweed plus jersey is a favored combination in casual co-ordinates. Jersey is popular, too, for linings, trims and costume blouses. Dark jersey dresses are in fine fashion form and look wonderful under bright costume coats.

PILE SURFACES

Corduroy, velveteen and velvet are beautifully suited to fashion's slim, simple lines because of their texture and rich colors. Velvet will be seen more and more in suits, afternoon-to-evening coats, theater coats and afternoon dresses this year.

The velvet sheath, in handsome variations, is setting a trend for fall. It is often trimmed with braid, faille and satin. Tunic suits and convertible jumper dresses look especially well in velveteen. At-home fashions, often washable, are seen in pastel shades of velvet.

Late day dresses achieve a gala air through the use of warm, rich colors in silk brocades (sometimes with a metallic touch), laces, nets, chiffons and velvets. Sheen satins, in jewel-bright or soft hues, and taffetas are popular for formal wear.

"Knit-It-Yourself"— For Hand-Knit Look

With the hand-knit look so popular for fall, many women are attaining it the genuine way—by knitting or crocheting fashions themselves.

The National Hand Knitting Yarn Association reports that according to a recent poll, a knitting and crocheting surge has swept the country. Pattern and yarn makers have responded with a new high in "make-it-yourself" materials for women of all ages.

Top pattern designers have found inspiration in fashion pacesetters from abroad. Among the Italian styles are roll collared sweaters and glamorous head stoles. Spanish mantillas and Oriental accessories are only a few of the international styles available.

Even the cardigan has entered the high fashion field—in dressmaker designs with unusual necklines and embroidered-on beads and sequins. Jumpers, dresses and ensembles are available for the knitter or crocheter in all of fashion's favorite styles.

Teen Girls' Shoes Feature Flat Heels

Teen-age girls will be flat on their heels this fall, but the quality and variety of their flat-heeled shoes are at a new high.

Flats are styled in new leathers, textured surfaces and a wider color range. Most are light as a feather and soft as down. Soft slip-ons are anchored with elasticized throats or sides. High throat lines and counters offer an Oriental look.

Stacked leather heels will tread the campuses of high schools and colleges on most of the new flats. Saddle stitching and leather lacing add surface interest to simple line shoes. The new "riddle shank" makes the shoe sole look like an hour-glass and provides an illusion of slimness and grace.

For dress-up, teen shoes in suede and smooth leathers take on such deep colors as henna, dark avocado, cherry and garnet. Blues and charcoals will go to parties. Most of the occasion shoes have medium heels.

Soft Shoes Step Into Fall Fashion

A soft top-life is in the cards for the lady of fashion. Soft toes, soft counters (the back part above the heel), flexible vamps and shanks are the hallmarks of this season's shoes.

Coupled with this new flexibility is the return of welted shoe styles to fashion prominence. Since soft shoes require a leather welt to maintain their shape, shoe designers have made a virtue of necessity by moving the welt into the style spotlight.

Extension soles, modified mud-guard effects and fancy stitching add interest to the welt—which is actually visible as the upper edge of the sole.

ITALIAN INFLUENCE

The all-over soft shoe is a continuation of the Italian trend that influences women's shoes this year. The flexible "glove fit," formerly a feature of knock-about casuals, enters the fall picture in afternoon and evening shoes.

Leathers for the new soft shoes include crushed grains, suedes, shags and glove leathers.

Fall '55 marks an increasing emphasis on low and flat heels. Although the results is more foot comfort than ever, there is no sacrifice of good styling. New lower heels have slender, tapering lines that give an illusion of height.

Eye appeal abounds, too, in printed leathers in a great variety of styles. Textured and sculptured suedes offer 3D interest.

CLOSED SHOES FOREMOST

The closed shoe is fall favorite. Closed pumps for afternoon wear feature upswept tab or tongue treatments. Sling-back pumps with closed vamps are popular in tailored styles. For parties, the mule and stringing sandal still hold sway.

Slender, elongated vamps and slim heels give the closed shoe an elegant line that is carried out in fall apparel.

Details are simple and refined. Glove fit is achieved by elastic toplines and goring.

Fall leathers include polished surfaces—lustier leathers, satiine finishes and metallic dyes—and suede with an ultra-soft nap for dress shoes, a rougher shag type for casual shoes. Matte finished leathers offer a natural non-polished look.

TEXTURED SHOES

A new note in fall shoes is the textured surface, which often appears in screen printed woven and grain leathers.

Fall Foundations Underline Fashion's Long, Gentle Curves

Foundations define the slim look of fall fashions with long, fluid lines that mold high bosom, narrow hip and smooth, incurved waist.

In brassieres and corselets, the uplift is important. Strapless designs are popular in both, with underwiring to hold the bust high. Wide-spaced straps offer neckline variety, as do bras with square decolletage or convertible straps. The convertible may be adjusted to fashion's neckline whether it be halter, scoop or strapless.

Long-line brassieres are available for more figure types—the slim as well as the average and full—since fitted tunics and low-torso dresses demand a controlled midriff. Particularly important are strapless long-lines for the full figure—neglected in past seasons in the strapless categories.

Interest in longer control is most evident in corselets. There are all-elastic designs for juniors, styles with sheer rigid panels for the average figure and built-up re-inforced types.

Subteen party girl chooses a two-piece middy style dress with sailor collar and slash pockets edged in gilt embroidery. Of Avisco rayon velvet.

Wider Hats To Balance Slim Lines

Long-line fall and winter silhouettes headline the hat of greater volume. "Steady" hats include the striking "tambourine" of drum loopes. Other new hats merely suggest bulkiness—perhaps with just a subtle widening at the temple.

"Dressmaker details" abound in fall millinery. Flattering textures are found in velours as fine they can be shirred, smocked and swirled. Matte-finish felts are supple as doeskin. Thin wool jersey heads the roster of draping hat fabrics. Row-on-row stitching, pleated or smocked panels, contrasting appliques and facings add elegance to the simplest hat form.

Beret shapes are sleek in felt or fabric, fullblown "Rembrandt" styles or oversized crowns draped over large flat brims. Simple pillboxes have grown via taller sides and rounded edges sometimes "telescoped" at the top. Some milliners have transformed into the fez category.

Softly creased telescope crowns and centre creased fedora folds are used on feminine swagger hats of tweedy nub or fabric. For the urban-suburban life, rippling casual hats use velvety velours and angora-soft wools.

Tone-on-tone effects are important for fall. Several steps of shading blend pale tints into deep, rich versions of the same color: Beige into chocolate brown is particularly significant this season.

The Indo-Chinese influence is reflected in elaborately jeweled or patterned hats for dinner and evening wear. Other shapes are touched with the Orient via paisley patterns or sari-like fabrics for trim.

Stylized fur patterns, such as leopard spots or Persian lamb curls appear in novelty felts and velours to add spicy accent to tailleur hats. Real furs, precious mink, ermine and beaver, are draped and shaped as hat proper or as lavish trimming. The same furs combine luxuriously with velvet, brocade and velours.

While most of the enlarged and puffed-up silhouettes are designed to be worn just behind the hairline, other hats are asymmetrically draped. Tapered crowns and slanting brims, cut longer on one side, provide a merry "Robin Hood" feeling.

Blackened colors such as charcoal brown, winter navy, gunmetal and greenish bronze are slated for fall and winter prominence. Deep jewel tones of green and purple and winey reds are played dramatically against black velvet, satin or soutache trims.

Avocado peel and a gamut of browns are popular for afternoon and late day millinery. Fall hats lend themselves to careful co-ordination with dresses, coats, suits and accessories. Subtle, muted colors are available to match costumes of the same shades, while the high colors, from pumpkin to sapphire and ruby, are recommended for contrast.

Leather Gloves Now Ready For Soap'n' Water

Biggest news in gloves is leather in all colors that can be tossed in the washing machine or hand-laundered. The new wonder gloves are called Launder-Leather and owe their complete washability to a new tanning process for cape kid, suede and pigskin.

Washable gloves retain their original color and luster after repeated washings with soap or detergent. They dry without stiffening, shrinking or stretching. New colors and a unsurpassed variety of designs round out the glove story for fall.

Making its debut is a group of brilliant deep-dyed hues which includes red pomegranate, antique green, Bird of Paradise yellow and a tawny orange. "Milky Way" pastels make another prominent color series ranging from pale pink to ice blue to a soft, shimmering yellow.

Slim lines and narrow contours dominate the style trend and coordinate with the slender contours of this season's silhouette. Individual detail includes handstitched or embroidered designs, contrasting appliques, tiny shells, jewels or fur trim.

Handprinted shortie gloves fasten at the wrist with a pearl snap or huge cuffish button copied from men's designs. Others show dainty bowknot or fleur-de-lis motifs handsewn to the back of the glove.

Longer gloves, in four-to-eight-button lengths, are favored to wear crushed over long, narrow sleeves or the bare arm with cocktail attire. All feature a narrow clinging construction with tapered fingers and wrist-line. Touch of design with finesse of detail is prevalent.

New Formals Are Slenderly Fit for a Queen

The regal air of a coronation sets the tone for fall's formal wear. Everything about the evening picture denotes drama and luxury in striking contrast to the simplicity of most daytime fashions.

The silhouette for evening is slim; fabrics are rich — metallics, brocades and lames are draped into the narrowest of formal dresses. Satin is a natural for the elongated, ultra-sophisticated silhouette.

Spectacular success of the season is the formal ensemble. Ankle- or floor-length sheaths take companion coats in dramatic deep velvet, sometimes embroidered, satin trimmed or covered with lace. Many are lined in satin. Brocade and gold lame coats are also seen, many lavishly trimmed with fur.

Silhouettes vary from the breezily full, floor-length coats for bouffant dresses to the seven-eighth length coat intended to go over a sheath-slim gown.

Long capes appear in fur or velvet.

Bouffant evening dresses, generally short-formal length, look younger, yet reflect the regal tone of the season in their fabrics. Gowns with satin tops softly draped over net or tulle are especially dramatic in white. Lacé gowns are very fashionable in either slim or bouffant styles.

Opulent evening suits are popular this fall with longer fitted jackets. The tunic receives high fashion endorsement in interpretations that spell pure luxury. Along with stark white and black, reds and royal purples are important evening suit colors.

Printed Fashions For Fall and Winter

Fashion's whimsy is expressed in exciting new prints for fall and winter. More unusual patterns and designs are in the news than during any previous fall season, according to the Silk and Rayon Print Institute.

Graceful patterns appear in clothes from 'round-the-clock dinner gowns to sportswear. Outstanding prints include large bold plaids, brilliant blotter designs, Oriental motifs and carefully defined all-over prints on dark grounds.

Sturdy rayon and wool blends, jerseys, corduroy, satin, taffeta and miracle blends look new for fall in both bold and understated patterns. One leading sportswear designer uses novel printed stripes and clocks borrowed from men's socks for texture and design interest.

There is a strong emphasis on printed trim. Reflecting the shade of a garment are printed collars, jabots and ties.

Concept of Suitability For Every Occasion Rates High in Autumn Fashions

Elegance, quality and the slim silhouette are the big three in fashion trends for fall. Elegance is enhanced by luxury fabrics and trims, used deftly but never obtrusively. Quality is dominant in both fabric and tailoring. The long, slim silhouette has a new curve to the waist, a new emphasis on styling for easy, graceful movement.

As always when the basic line is simple, fabrics and colors are strikingly rich. Wools have a hand-knitted look. Tweeds show brushed or nubby surfaces. Metallic threads appear in everything from jersey to velvet. Brilliant jewel tones and darkened, vibrant shades color the fall fashion landscape.

The new interest in elegance reverses the trend of recent years, when attention was directed to casual clothing suitable either for town or country. Fall '55 fashions stem from a philosophy that the American woman dresses for the time, the place and the occasion.

LOOK IS SOPHISTICATED

Suitability rather than versatility is the keynote, and the result is clothing with urban sophistication, so subtly achieved that quiet good taste is the prevailing influence. The long, statuesque silhouette embodies this sophistication and good taste in a look that is distinctively different.

Significant trend-setters are the tunic, the sheath and the lengthened torso. Each appears in many variations, all with details that help carry the eye up and down along an unbroken line.

While the slim silhouette is high-fashion news, wide-skirted and empire styles get their share of attention and this season treatment. Fall versions provide continuity of line through an all-in-one costume look. Here, too, the torso is unusually elongated, with full skirts whirling out from the hipline instead of the waistline.

Even when the silhouette has a pared-down appearance, ease characterizes the cut of the garments. Clothes are semi-fitted instead of unyieldingly narrow. Straight skirts, sheaths and tunic-tubular tunics frequently have an extra-long back pleat extending upward from the hem. Back and side fullness is achieved through draping or pleating. Still other skirt bells out slightly toward the hem.

SLEEVES ARE LONGER

Sleeves follow the slim line, but with enough fullness for grace and comfort. Wrist-length sleeves are prominent, taking over highest popularity from elbow and push-up lengths. Big cuffs, seen again and again, help to emphasize the long torso as the arms rest at the sides.

Unusual pocket detail accents triangular seaming of a casual wrap coat in Botany's luxurious mohair-and-wool. Tailored by Kanfor Fashions.

Collar treatments vary from small, flat and rounded to large, shawl-like styles that are almost waist length. Standaway collars and shallow bateau necks are highly favored.

In every phase of fall fashion the one-color look carries out the idea of linear unity. Clothes are dyed, lined and trimmed to match. Even fur has a place in the matchmate picture, in such fashions as a mustard gold fleece coat with a dyed-to-match Persian lamb collar.

Fur in more conventional shades is extensively used as a trim or lining or is blended with fabric. Jewel trims, embroidery and unusual handling of buttons help to usher in the new era of elegance.

FUR FOR LUXURY

In the upcoming season of gentle curves and luxurious textiles, furplays an extended fashion role. Opulent fur trims appear in all phases of fashion and many furred fabrics achieve a silken touch.

Junior Line Shapes Up, Pares Down

The junior silhouette is pared down this fall in easy-slim, more vertical lines. Even full-skirted styles are somewhat narrowed with the low torso providing fashion's long look. Slender styles for college and career run the gamut from shirtwaist sports ensembles to dress-up tunics.

Junior sportswear likes the costume look. Three-color co-ordinates and dyed-to-match separates offer variety for the junior figure. Tone-on-tone costumes blend solid shades while plaids, tweeds and stripes team with harmonizing solid colors.

Dress and coat ensembles in junior sizes include all fall's leading silhouettes. Frequently the dress is a jersey or sheer wool sheath. Go-with coats, ranging from hip to tunic to full length, are handsome in checked tweeds, fleece or flannel.

SOPHISTICATED LADIES

Juniors have a sophisticated, ladylike air this season. Leading style in skirt direction is the slim, seen in almost every fabric including knits. Jersey and flannel tunics are preferred for casual wear. Dramatic tunics are interpreted in black velvets and crisp silks.

Also in the slim, sleek mood are the semi-sheath with below-the-hipline flare, the overblouse dress molded and the "shift", a new version of the chemise with fitted hip and blouse-ing above the waist.

Jumpers, one- and two-piece, are important. Newest jumper silhouette is slim and semi-fitted. Skirts range from narrow to moderately full; waistlines are longer. Necklines vary, but the trend is toward the squared and higher neckline.

Back interest in skirts, achieved by pleats, tabs, pockets or belt detail is news. Skirts generally follow the straight and narrow, but many have controlled fullness for an A-line effect.

Knit appears in unexpected places, as sleeves, collars, cardigan trims. News is in the bulky-stitched sweater-coat and the sweater dress.

In contrast to a generally simplified, sleeker junior appearance this year, many young dance and evening dresses are regal in cotton jacquards and satins. Skirts are generally fuller for evening wear. Festive skirts are frequently seen in brightly colored felts, printed or stitched with metallic threads.

Charcoal brown has stepped ahead of charcoal grey in junior popularity, although gray retains a leading place. Red and shades of green from avocado to sea-blue-green provide bright accents for a generally subdued junior color picture.

Most popular Junior coats are tweeds and classics. Tweeds have a blackened effect. Predominating are black-white and black-brown combinations.

IT TAKES TWO

A man can no longer get by carrying one pocket handkerchief. He must have two; one for looks and the other for use. The former is carried in the upper jacket pocket in a square, with embroidered ornament or initials conspicuously displayed. Careful color blending of shirt and necktie and handkerchief work wonders in complementing the dark suits now current.

Autumn Bride Takes a Share Of Fashion '55

A-line, low torso and tunic wedding gowns offer this fall's bride a chance to be married in high style.

Even women who are leery of "one-season" high fashion clothes can indulge in an up-to-the-minute bridal gown, since it is in essence a "one-occasion" fashion. Almost all collections include gowns with real style news as well as traditional gowns.

Paris-inspired A-line gowns make elegant use of the fall-favored tunic, trimmed with braid or, rich piping over a full, sweeping skirt. The bridal sheath is beautifully adapted, often with a separate back train. Princesse and empire silhouettes take new side accents for an elongated look.

Slim Slips and Fanciful Sleepwear Are Shown

Lingerie and sleepwear take contradictory turns for fall, both making fashion news. Keyed to fashion's sheath-slim contour, slips are sleeker, much more elegant. Sleepwear, on the contrary, is generally styled with a fanciful air and a casual flair.

The slim, unbroken line silhouette, fall fashion's decree, has brought the full-length slip new importance. For an uninterrupted line, it has no seam at the waist, and it is generally lavished with lace. Half slips, too, are narrower and more elegant this year. News for fall is the slim chemise, well adapted to the sleek silhouette.

No-iron fabrics, opaque and absorbent, are favorites for slips. Nylon tricot sometimes has a crepe-like finish. Dacron-cotton mixtures are frequently seen.

Sleepwear has taken a fun-loving turn. Pajamas this fall are frequently have caps and booties designed to lead a double life—for sleeping and for lounging. In fine cotton broadcloth, dacron-cotton, cotton batbriggan and flannel, styles run from the peasantial classics to new foreign interpretations.

Main foreign influences are Oriental, Scandinavian Italian and Spanish. The striped Italian sweater and the bright Scandinavian ski sweater are particularly popular. East Indian-influenced pajamas, exotic in color and design, have joined the Oriental group.

Some outfits combine broadcloth Bermuda shorts with batbriggan tops. News is in the short-shortie gown in cotton and flannel. Some are baby-doll styled; some are feminine interpretations of the man's pajama-top. Nightshirts, flannel-warm and gay, are often knit-trimmed and or knee-socks to match.

Some sleepwear remains delicate looking. The full-length gown, lace-lavished, slim and elegant, has returned. Particularly popular is the Directoire. The slit-fashioned look predominates in ruffled pajamas.

New Suits Throw A Fall Curve

Suits this season have many looks, but whether skirts are slim, flaring or pleated, whether jackets are long or narrow, boxy or bloused, the costume look is seen everywhere in the fall suit picture.

Virtually every style has its champions among the designers, and each can find its way to the wardrobes of the women who feel that a certain "look" is particularly right for them. Whatever the style choice, a suit is most significant of the new season when it has a consistent, all-together air.

Costume integration is achieved in an interesting variety of ways. Unity of color between suit and blouse is a popular method. Again, jackets may be lined or faced to match a blouse, or the jacket trim may repeat the fabric of a blouse or weskit.

Adapting with ease to the costume look, tunics appear in the forefront of 1855-56 suit fashion. As a jacket, the tunic is sometimes slim, sometimes flaring. Hipline accents or a shaped peplum may be used to give the impression of a tunic.

The flaring tunic and the A-line, with its sweep of fullness to the hem, have made an impact on styling of long, slim suits.

Slender skirts now make more concession to movement. They're cut for ease, often with an inverted back pleat beginning just below the hips. With the skirts are long-er jackets, slim but semi-fitted.

Cardigans, slimmed down and lengthened, peplum and boxy styles are other jacket treatments in for fall. Gores and pleats, producing either a slim or full effect are prominent evidence of the new ease in skirts.

The longer torso appears in suits via lengthened jackets or hipline accents. Ties, cuffs, buttons or slash pockets at the hip emphasize the new low line.

Taking its cue from the overall fashion trend, suits display rich texture and trimmings. Braid trims, frogs, jeweled buttons add elegance.

Longer, Slimmer Lines And Darker Shades Set Style Pace for the New Season

The natural look in men's clothes will be the "natural look this fall. Reports coming in from one area after another has "gone natural look," as this influence spreads westward and out from metropolitan sections.

Essentially the natural look is a suit and coat cut that does not seek to disguise the natural lines of the wearer's body. A minimum of shoulder padding is used, there is less drape in the suit coat and the long, slim lines of suit coats and outer coats are emphasized.

The two-button single breasted suit will continue to predominate, although the three-button model is expected to register a sharp gain in some quarters.

Even trousers will reflect the trend to the trim, slim look. Dimensions are smaller—as much as three inches at the knee and an inch-and-a-half at the cuff line have been eliminated to harmonize with the new coat proportions.

The natural look suit makes proper fit more important than ever. It also focuses attention upon the fabric of which the suit is made, and the rich, subdued colors of the wool, worsted wool and blended suiting fabrics for fall live up to the important role the new suit will give them.

NEW FABRIC TREATMENTS

The trend toward dark-toned clothing will continue for fall, highlighted by new treatments that combine elaborate pattern work and novelty weaves with more or less subtle accents of brighter hue.

Many of the new suiting fabrics will feature minute splash, pin-dot and fleck patterns of such colors as mint, cognac and dark red, white and yellow on warm-toned dark gray, charcoal gray, navy and dark brown backgrounds, in either wool flannel or smoother surfaced worsted wools.

Dark patterning on gray grounds will also be popular; black overplaids and dark stripes on black grounds, slightly contrasting blue on dark blue; brown on brown; black on charcoal gray. A strong upsurge in black-greens and black blues is expected.

The "international influence" will spark some return to medium tones. Medium gray, browns and blues will be in greater evidence than at any time in recent years.

Shirts strike a note of life and brightness to dramatize the dark-toned apparel. Colored shirts are steadily gaining in popularity. Pinks, beige, lime, peach, tan and Persian Melon are among the most sought shades. Stripings on white or solid color are gaining in popularity.

HATS ARE SMALLER

The shape of the hat grows steadily smaller. The narrow-brimmed hat with tapered crown enhances the slim, trim appearance of the natural look. Colors follow the dark trend of clothing and are styled in dark browns, blacks and charcoal grays.

Footwear strongly reflects the "international influence". The "low cut" top (which originated in Italy) will be the forerunner of a new trend that is lasting, detailing and leathers. Construction aims at greater flexibility, and the whole shoe presents a look of refinement, with soft leathers, lightweight soles, low-cut tops and two or three eyelets.

Ties are all on the narrow side. Spaced figures, below-the-knot patterns, stripes and self-weave designs all complement the current trend in clothing. Surface effects show up most prominently in grenadine ideas, mainly in solid colors.

New colors and designs highlight fall sportswear. In odd jackets, patterns tend to be somewhat bolder and more colorful. Competing with the accepted centre vent, side vents will increase in popularity. The three button model will grow in importance. Slacks will be slimmer, straighter-hanging.

Washable Papers Take New Designs

Completely scrubbable wallpapers are newly available in patterns for every room. No longer limited to kitchen and dining room patterns, washable papers present airy motifs in area accents, delicate figures, miniature florals and interesting geometrics.

Many have new-looking wide-ly spaced patterns to open out and lighten a dim entrance way or den.

AT HOME IN CHINA

Mandarin necklines, slit sleeves and side draping bring a Chinese influence to at-home dresses.

High School Set Takes Fashion Right in Season

Grown-up fashions with a youthful feeling characterize the clothing high-schoolers will be wearing this fall.

Due to the usual practice of waiting a season or longer before adapting new trends to younger wear, This season's trends are interpreted for teens with a freshness and fashion-rightness that will be the joy of the high school set.

The former girl in jeans becomes a young lady as she appears in the costume look favored for fall. An especially happy union of fashion with young teen figures is the sheath dress, teamed with tunic, waist-length or "long short" jackets.

Teen dresses, skirts and jumpers emphasize the long torso line. Hipline cuffs, narrow belts threaded through hipline loops, tunic overskirts and pleats that start at the hip are popular ways to achieve the lengthened torso effect in teen clothing.

Separates, the teens' steady favorite, blossom out with fall 'n' lady lines, in co-ordinated or dyed-to-match colors. Overblouses, bulky sweaters, middies and other tops pick up an outstanding color from a plaid or tweed skirt, or are trimmed to match the skirt.

For leisure wear, there's new dressed-up look. High-schoolers are turning from battered blue jeans to the Bermuda shorts and tapered trousers favored by the college crowd.

Silhouetted for the teen fashion picture are A-line, tunic and princesse coats. Much-favored coat fabrics include orlon—dynel blends, alpaca and other high-pile plushes.

Autumn Hosiery Contributes To One-Color Look

To carry out fall's one-color look, hosiery manufacturers have designed stockings that compliment costumes every step of the way. Hose colors will correspond with every fashion color, and imaginative new textures — tweeds, laces, surface-interest effects and stripes are styled to match apparel colors.

Hosiery is available in dozens of brown tones to co-ordinate with the browns so prevalent in apparel and leather accessories. Darkened shades are prominent to carry out fashion's charcoal trend. Since skin tone modifies hosiery colors, the blackened brown nylons are not exaggerated shades, but subdued reflections of costume colors.

To blend with fall's popular green costume colors, there are nylons in avocado and deep green muted with black. New tricot-knit stockings are particularly effective with bronze greens. Taupe-colored reflections are sparked with green and gold undertones.

Fall basic shades are toned with henna, mauve and gray-blue for effective combination with red and black fall fashions.

Textured stockings gain fashion momentum in such yarns and blends as nylon tweed lace and cotton-and-nylon jacquard. Color-interest stockings wear pinpoint stripes. Stretch nylon cascade appear in a range of suburban colors from camel to maroon and sage green.

Pastels Prominent In New Fall Ties

The most important innovation for the new neckwear season is the pastel ties that will be worn right through the winter. Played against the dark toned suits that seem current favor, these soft pastels are most effective.

Patterned effects are also very much in the picture. These show sharp contrast between background and design colorings. Pink and mint on dark backgrounds are typical examples of this trend. Black, navy, brown, charcoal and maroon are serving as backgrounds for the new, neater patterns.

Lace curtains take modern dress in semi-opaque, combed cotton. Here, "Fontainbleau" by North American Lace. End table-chest by John Stuart.

Maternity Togs Look Slim, Too

Slim-look fashions offer elegance in maturity clothes this fall. Big collars of velvet, satin or knit provide a tapered effect to wide-hemmed maternity tops over slender cut-out skirts.

Oriental influence marks casual as well as dress-up styles. India prints and Asiatic colors appear in smock and pleated shirtwaist tops. Paids and tweeds make tailored flannel suits in darkened colors, brightened by neckline accents or linings.

Even fashion's low torso is represented in maternity styles. Some have low-placed pockets, others a wide band around the hip-line and still others a hem trim — all for a long look.

Favorite late day dresses use velvet, satin and lace prettily collared and trimmed. One ivory lace jacket is buttoned with rhinestones and shawl collared in velvet.

Fall Ensembles Designed for All Occasions

The ensemble, climbing to new peaks of variety and stylic-appeal, is a 'round-the-clock energy for fall. This season elegance is reflected in all of the 24-hour categories.

From the most casual bulky knit through ultra-formal satin-n'lace, there is an exceedingly large choice of costumes for all occasions. Sports ensembles include tweed dresses with leather jackets banded to match, one- and two-piece dresses with cashmere cardigans lined and trimmed to match, solid color dresses with dyed-to-match sweaters and jackets.

Tunics, capes and over-skirts are new costume integrates and the lined-to-match mantle offers drama for formal evenings. Ensembles : lounge and sleep wear round out the circle of the day.

The costume dress, most often a sheath, is designed to be worn solo as effectively as in ensemble. The one-color look is important, and particularly appealing in closely related textures. Rich but quiet paisley print dresses combine with tweed coats in a matched solid color. A dress or suit often repeats in miniature the identical plaid of its partner coat.

Slim coats and jackets of lengths appear in fall esseni Newest is the tunic coat, and only slightly fitted, ranges from just a few inches low the hip to the same inches above the knee.

MIGHTY FABRICS

Longer-wearing, stronger fibs are being shown this due to improvements in thetics and blends, such as tizan, nylon and cotton combinations. Nylon fabrics often washable.

Subteens Favor Costume Look

Developing from childhood to girlhood, the young subteen has an awakening fashion sense that gets full play this season, as the importance of co-ordinates and the costume look encourages the junior high-schooler to learn the art of wardrobe planning.

From dress-up costumes to play sophistication that is never excessive or inappropriate. Reflecting clothes, styles have an increased current trend, these young fall fashions are also designed to minimize the particular figure problems of the growing-up girl.

This is seen in such garments as a slim jumper with a jutting tunic effect low in the front, planned to make a young girl's riff look thinner. Pleating, wide belts, built-up waistbands and back details help achieve a lengthened line for the normally high waist of the subteen. Big collars, gored sides or an A-line flare at the hem of coats, skirts, jumpers or dresses also work figure magic.

nfluences from Europe nd the Orient Appear Fall Furniture Lines

rom contemporary America, century Italy and the Orient he furniture trends that are st significant in home fashions fall 1955. Newest development he growing importance of Ital- style, but strongest of all is influence of contemporary erican design. The Oriental ld has been a continuing trend a number of years and gets impetus from the current ularity of fabrics and clothing h an Oriental air.

talian Provincial first began to ract large-scale attention about ear ago, and now comes into minence as a major trend. s style has special value beuse it fits so well with today's ery that well-designed furni- s should be appropriate to ese modern or traditional set- gs.

from its 18th century origins, lian Provincial retains decora- e characteristics that endear it the traditionalists. However, e extended carving which was ical of the original design has n place to a pleasant simpli- y, so that it is entirely suitable architecturally modern homes.

RTYWOOD FINISH

talian Provincial furniture is ilable for its fluted, reeded legs, ss trims and classical hardware. most frequently has a grayish- ge, driftwood finish. The rugs, orating fabrics, accessories and ors used with the furniture will ermine whether it is traditional modern in feeling.

Actually, "modern" is no long- considered an adequate word describe any of the current nds in furniture. "Contem- rary" gives the meaning more urately, home furnishings igners feel. For proof they int out that contemporary erican furniture, once called edern," has developed tradi- ns of its own during the past ade and should certainly be ght of as a new and impor- t type of traditional design. This season's trend to con- porary American style is ected by an imaginative use both conventional and unusual terials. Furniture groups by r designer combine metal, inite, marble, cane, abalone ell and leathers with various ods.

OWS ELEGANCE

The clean, uncluttered look that tinguishes contemporary Am- can design is retained in the '55 offerings, but with a skill- use of hardware and trims t lends an air of elegance. ided silver hardware on wal- and parquet patterns on door nts are typical examples.

Generally contemporary Ameri- '55 has a structural line that ghter in appearance than con- porary Danish and more sub- tial than contemporary Italian niture.

Boys Double-Take To the Frontiers Or Dress-Up for Fall

Two marked influences are apparent in boys' wear. One is the swing to a more dressed-up look for school and special oc- casions. The other is the great popularity of Western wear, in- vading the play field and also making itself felt in the dress-up styles.

Whether the young patriot wears frontier slacks, jacket and shirt or a suit, he presents a neater, better-groomed appear- ance. He is aided in his improved grooming by the ready availabil- ity of garments that look well to- gether because they are related in color and style.

Taking a cue from his older brother, the grade school lad may base his new trim look on a dark-toned wool flannel suit. The charcoal browns and charcoal blues are well-liked fall colors. With the dark suit, a short or long coat in a medium tone makes a good combination.

"Dressed-up" also applies to sports clothes, always basic to good grooming because of the variety of changes they provide.

Short coats of nubby tweed, corduroy or basketweave wool are a popular choice. Zipper-front jackets continue to be favorites, and the blazer jacket emerges as an outstanding new trend in boys' wear.

Man-tailored slacks in covert or flannel pair up with the jack- ets for a suit look, often with the addition of a vest in a contrast- ing lighter color. The frontier influence is displayed in chino or denim trousers with authentic Western styling.

The interest in richer colors, as seen in the charcoal blends, is re- flected in sweaters and shirts. Plaid cotton flannels and ging- hams are much-seen shirt fabrics, and cotton knit shirts display multi-colored patterns.

For the very young set, color emphasis is carried even further. Examples are a corduroy suit piped to match a plaid cotton shirt and a solid-color Eton coat lined in plaid to match plaid shirt and slacks.

sidered, it is readily apparent that there's nothing mysterious about the influence of the East on fall furniture fashions. Oriental furniture is outstanding for its excellent proportions, attractive hardware and lacquered finishes.

Western designers throughout the ages have approved these qualities and have adapted them with success. This fall the trend continues with new vigor, and the result is furniture with richness and simple dignity.

Accent on Color In Shirts for Fall

Complementing the trend to dark-toned clothes, color con- tinues to grow in fashion import- ance, shirt-wise. The top fall shades will be mint green, pink, pale blue and maize. On the high-style side, cross stripes and neat checks will be prominent, along with contrasting collars and new patterns on pleated fronts.

The shorter point shirt collars tie-in logically with the trimmer lines in today's clothing. They appear in a number of new ver- sions, such as short button-down and pointed eyelets, wider spread rounds and a series of blunted points.

The "continental flavor" reach- es dress shirts in a convertible model featuring medium points, medium no-button collar which becomes a sport shirt neck when worn without a tie.

The "continental influence" con- tinues to dominate the sport shirt picture. Many refinements of pattern and surface interest have been added. For example—woven stripes, plaids, mitered effects and contrast collar facings are used, along with small over-all prints. The most popular collar treatment is the one-piece wide- spread with a slight roll, opening to a deep neck.

Not to be overlooked are the perennial favorites— handsomely tailored gabardines, winter white wools and the blends that are completely washable, highly col- orful and soft.

Smooth-Faced Home Fabrics Show Elegance

A distinct trend towards elegance sets the tone for fall's decorator fabrics. Generally, they are smoother, as contrasted to the tweedy, rough-textured fabrics. However, interesting woven fabrics are available in a greater variety, often with metallic threads subtly incorporated. Metallic strands are frequently woven into rough-tex- tured fabrics, color-matched for highlight instead of contrast.

The linen look is important in woo- en fabrics. One linen is roughly woven to an almost burlap appear- ance.

Colors are more subdued for fall. Earth tones— the browns, tans and beiges—and grays are strong. Blue, especially periwinkle blue, is shade with a touch of violet, is new and exciting. Green, aqua, turquoise and gold are also green. Green and blue are often combined in prints.

Draperies are notable for their originality of design, in keeping with a growing tendency towards individuality in home decorating. Patterns, smaller and more stylis- ed, have an open look and some- times show Spanish, Italian or Or- iental influences.

Coiffures Are Longer, Softer

The gentle and simple lines of fall fashions provide a happy back- ground for softer coiffures and light-touch cosmetics. Since clothing effects a quiet elegance, subtle make-up and fluffier hair styles carry out the mood.

Favorite hair length is neither cropped nor shoulder-long. About four or five inches at the back is a perfect length for a soft, flowing coiffure. Good, classic lines are- ered at the sides and brushed back from the face with a minimum of curl are the basis of fall's leading hair styles.

Lipstick in clear, unexaggerated shades is chosen to flatter the face rather than match the fashion. Rouge, subtly blended over a found- ation, should match the lipstick in tone.

Cream or stick mascara should be stroked lightly on the lashes, top and bottom, and gently brushed over the eyebrow. Eye shadow is newly favored to the eyelid and should be subtly tinted to match the eyes.

Men's Hats for Fall Feature Smaller Shapes, Darker Tones

The well-hatted man will look dressier than usual this fall in the new styles, which show a contin- uing strong trend toward smaller shapes and darker colors. The narrower brims and tapered crowns look better on the majo- ity of men than any style of re- cent years.

Crushed or pinched crown styles have given way to the plain front crown fashion, worn with a deep centre crease at the top. The new hat shapes are more trim looking than heretofore and are designed to complement the currently fav- ored slim silhouette clothing sty- es. Men will be able to choose light as well as regular weights in most of the styles offered.

Snap brims styles continue to hold the popularity lead among men of all ages. However the Homburg is still the hat fashion preferred with more formal and dressy coats and suits. It appears this fall a new color variety in narrower and smaller shapes than previously.

For business and dress-up wear, hat colors follow the dark trend in clothing and are styled in rich tones of brown, blue, grey and green, often trimmed with con- trasting bands to relieve the over- all dark effect. While dark toned felts will predominate, the in- creasing acceptance of medium toned suits will tend to step up the demand for lighter colored headwear.

Other fall innovations involve texture and finish combinations. Felt, suede and velour finishes provide a smooth, luxurious feel- ing hat. Mixtures are popular in both dressy and casual type hats.

WINS IN THE STRETCH

The addition of new colors, patterns and weaves to "stretch" hose has lifted this sock to new importance for increasing num- bers of men. The snug fit, the ability to stay put on the foot, the durability of this hose have joined fashion with function to secure for it a prominent place in sock wardrobes.

Soft, Lightly-Scaled Shoes A-Foot for Children This Fall

Boys' and girls' shoes are softer, flexible and less massive this fall. Without sacrificing essential health and comfort features, children's shoes have taken on the light weight and slim look of grown-up styles.

Pumps are popular for little girls, with some slimming but saucy toe room. The single strap shell remains a favorite for dress-up. School and play shoes are sturdy, emphasizing a light look with fine detailing and light leathers.

Little girls' feet will twinkle in lustre leather pumps. Patent is a perennial in party shoes, but printed leathers, metallic finishes and lustre surfaces share the spotlight. For school, fine crushed grains and soft glove leathers are shown. Suedes are frequently combined with smooth leathers, but all-suede is preferred for dress-up.

Boys' shoes follow father's styles. Tassel ties, gored slip-ons, loafers, wing-tips and U-wings are most popular. New for the older boy are a tieless oxford with U-wing tip and a two-eyelet tie with a small fold-over collar and moccasin front.

Low-top models will be favorites for boys this fall. For feet requiring higher-cut shoes, conventional topline styles are detailed to look like low tops.

The brown family is still Number One with boys, although black is making a comeback to co-ordinate with the grays and blues featured in boys' suits. Cordovan color strikes a happy medium.

Pretty on pre-school girl, easy on Mom — cotton dress with permanently pleated skirt, embroidered baby chicks, velvet sash. By Nannette.

Most important leathers are the fine grains, used in dress and sports shoes. Some suede appears in dress shoes and suede-and-smooth leather combinations in sport shoes.

New is high-walled welting which adds a real fashion note to boys' sturdy oxfords.

HIT BY TREMOR

ALGIERS (AP)—A fairly strong earth tremor shook this North African city of 400,000 inhabitants today. Early information gave no details on possible property damage.

Casual Dresses Take a Tour Of The World

Sportswear departments begin to look like a Gathering of the Nations as casual dresses take on characteristics of Italian, Kari Indian, Scottish, English and Chinese fashions—to mention just the leaders.

The bold stripes and swash-buckling cut of Italian styles appear in shirtwaist sport dresses of rough-textured winter cottons and silky surfaces. The slash neckline with stand-up collar is a smart Mediterranean feature that looks well in molded-top torso styles. Clear reds and greens and yellows are leading colors endorsed by sunny-Italy.

From India come paisley and sari patterns that are well handled in surplice top daytime dresses with wraparound or sarong-slim skirts. Silks, sheer wools and synthetics are the favored fabrics.

Clan plaids are of prime importance in woollens, wool blends and textured cottons. Styles run the gamut from the bloused sheath to the low torso. White pique or black velvet trims provide bright touches. Tartans may be the authentic Scottish or inventive American variety, huge and blanket-y or tiny. Dark backgrounds figure prominently.

From England comes the Bond Street look in fine woollens, quality cottons and even washable wool-like synthetics. British-looking tweeds are casual dress favorites. The man-tailoring of fall '55 has been much feminized with bow trims, gentle curves and soft collar, cuff and pocket detail. The dress line is simple — easily fitted or slightly bloused bodice and pleated, gored or sheathed skirt.

Button tabs mark the hipline of a longer-jacketed suit by Swandown in Botany's worsted flannel. Rows of fabric and velvet make the collar.

Hip Focus Is News In Dresses

A tendency to reveal, if not accentuate, the female silhouette is notable in this fall's dresses. Long, unbroken lines curve in at the waist in designs that are cigaret slim, full-skirted or a pirategic combination of slender and full features.

The long torso has new shaping and the sheath has become downright curvaceous. However, many of the forward-looking designers break the slimness higher and higher on the silhouette. Some day daytime dresses use a wide back pleat beginning just a few inches below the waist. Others break into a flare well above the knee.

The tunic dress is a prime example of the slim look that conceals fullness. Long tunics are often slit from the hip to offer freedom of movement. Underneath, the skirt may be pleated or semi-flared.

LONG LOOK

The hip-line, however, is always the focal point. Hiplines, low pockets, jewel or bow trim on the hip carry out the low torso feeling in all styles—even the princesse and the empire.

A new elegance takes several forms in autumn dresses. Luxury and beauty call the turns in styles that have yet refined the mobility of last season's casual fashions.

An Indo-Chinese influence brings sari cloth, brocade and lame into the limelight. Hip drapery and back-dipping necklines bring added femininity to slim styles. Fabrics run the gamut from deep texture to sheen—always with a rich feeling. More diversity and higher quality in fabrics are apparent throughout the dress category.

Bulky knitted dresses have a hand-knit look. Satins, barathea, velvets, laces, taffetas and metal cloths provide striking opulence in pared down silhouettes, a regal look in full skirted styles. Many fabrics are blended with fur fibres.

Fur trims provide new drama for cocktail dresses. Wrist-length sleeves with low-back bodices are a noteworthy feature.

Deep brown, brilliant greens, blues and golds are color news in late day dresses. Afternoon dresses appear in a full range of browns and apricot, avocado peet, red and charcoal colors are prominent.

The one-color, one-texture look is newest and helps to achieve a long line.

EXTENDED SERIES

If you should be passing through Shannonville or Canniffton tonight, you had better make sure your radio is in good working order or it will be a lonely trip.

The citizens of these two villages will be in Belleville tonight for the "big game." And a big one it is, for this will be the 10th game in a four-of-seven series for the South Hastings Baseball League championship.

No, grandma, we didn't count our pinkies twice or anything like that, this is the tenth game in a seven-game series.

The boys in this South Hastings League take their baseball to heart and when they play it's for keeps. No matter what the score, until the last man is out or the sun has departed entirely, there is no sign of slack from either club.

Shannonville and Canniffton disposed of their opponents in the semi-finals in short order and went about eliminating each other. The Canniffton boys got off to a good start with a pair of wins and it appeared that the spikes would go upon the wall early.

Then Shannonville came to life, held the leaders to a tie and promptly outlasted their fine foeman to also win a pair of games and knot the series. Two more ties were played, lack of lights usually hailing activity around the sixth inning, and Shannonville scored another victory. Experts expected a Shannonville bogey last Saturday when the clubs hooked up in the eastern village as part of the "Little World's Fair" but Canniffton took the homesters by a 10-6 score.

The teams go back at it again tonight, on neutral grounds, in hopes of winding it up. Belleville Exhibition Park is the place and 8.00 p.m. is the time.

Largest crowd to watch a ball game here this year is expected since every man, woman and child of both places support their teams with plenty of hoot and holler.

WRESTLING

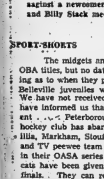
Karl Von Schober and Frits Von Erich will run into their toughest test of the season here on Friday night when Fred "Hardrock" Atkins teams up with Doug Hepburn to try and dispose of the "Terrible Teutons."

When Atkins came to Canada several years ago, he was one of the cleaner boys in the business and a favorite among local fans. Strength, speed and scientific holds gave him the nod over many a good man here until he proved he was ready for a crack at the British Empire title.

As is the case now, Whipper Billy Watson held the belt. Atkins was pitted against the "Whip" for the championship . . . huge and although he always put up a terrific fight, he was never able to dethrone the champ with his clean style. So he turned to "crime." As was the case with his old style, Atkins went all out and as a matter of weeks was one of the wildest, roughest men to appear here.

His bouts with Whipper will long be remembered. He was still unable to win the title despite the fact that he almost maimed Watson on several occasions, disqualification stopping his hopes quite often.

Their feud here lasted all one summer and part of another and later developed into team bouts with Watson and Flanagan taking on Fred and a number of toughies. Then Atkins dropped from the scene in this district for two years.



Whether he has changed or not, we do not know but let's hope not. Hepburn and Atkins will have to be at their best and if anyone can put an end to the German's reign of terror here, it should be Atkins with his bag of rugged tricks that spells the Vees.

Two other bouts on the same card sends big Pat Fraley against a newcomer here, Ilio Di Paola, while Bob Leitlier and Billy Stack meet in the curtain-riser at 8.45 p.m.

Pitching—Bob Turley, Yankees, hung up his 18th victory and second straight shutout with a 6-0 five-hitter against Tigers, striking out seven, walking four and allowing just one hit over the last five innings.

Batting—Gene Woodling, Indians lined a two-run triple and scored himself in a 3-1 first-game victory over Senators, then ringled home another in an 8-2 nightcap triumph.

Cleveland Indians Junk Jinx Held by Washington Senators By Winning Twi-Night Pair

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Manager Al Lopez gave it to his Cleveland Indians, straight today—it's over-confidence, not the New York Yankees, they have to watch in their bid for a second straight American League pennant.

The Tribe junked its jinx Tuesday night, sweeping a twi-night pair from the pesty Washington Senators 3-1 and 8-2 and moving out to a two-game leadover the Yankees. But instead of whoopin' it up,Lopez warned that "we've still got a long way to go."

"You might say Al's laughin' on the inside, crying on the outside.

Just 24 hours before, Lopez had said "we'll be in an excellent position to win the pennant" if the Indians could beat the Senators. Now that the idea Lopez knows Cleveland has won it—the big worry is how to lose it.

BIGGEST EDGE

The two-game lead is the biggest bulge any of the contenders has had in the league race since the Tribe led by two on Aug. 13. And the Yanks, second and four behind, lost column with 10 games left.

Boston, losing a 13-inning opener to Kansas City 6-5, rallied to win the night cap 7-6. That left the Red Sox seven games behind—with six more losses than Cleveland and 11 games to play.

The Indians, winning 13 of the last 15 games, received a pitching gem from Early Wynn in the opener, a two-hitter, while Gene Woodling, the ex-Yank, tripled home two runs and scored the third on Bobby Avila's ninth inning fly in a big third inning against loser Chuck Stobbs.

DOBY STARS

Larry Doby batted in four runs and the Senators, who had whipped Cleveland 19 of 22 games this year, kicked in three errors as Lemon hung up his 18th victory in the nightcap. The first three hits off the big righthander were triples by Washington's last out run. Lemon, without a complete game since May 30, fanned eight innings and Ray Narleski pitched the ninth-allowing out two of the three men he faced.

The Yankees used an error by Fred Hatfield, a walk, two singles and Elston Howard's two-run triple to chase young Bob Miller and beat the Tigers with four runs in the fourth. Frank Baur made his 13th homer a two-run shot in the fifth off reliefer Steve Gromek.

Bob Turley won his 18th, and third straight, for the Yanks. He gave five hits—only one in the last five frames—for his second straight shutout and sixth of the year.

Three walks, two singles, a sacrifice fly, a wild pitch and Bob Niemsky's triple clobbered Chicago's six-run ninth. The last-place Orioles had led on Jim Dyck's grand-slam homer off Jack Harshman in the first inning. In the first game, Ray Moore blanked the Sox on six hits, while the Orioles made the most of four walks and six hits to beat Virgil Trucks.

SINGLED IN WINNER

Vic Power singled home the winning run in the 12th off Ellis Kinder in the first game at Boston. Kinder, Boston's relief ace, lost his third straight. Jimmy Piersall and Faye Throneberry each awaited two-run homers to pull the Sox into behind in the nightcap.

St. Louis handed Brooklyn's National League champs a third straight defeat 8-2. The Cards clouted 11 hits off Karl Spooner and four relievers.

Johnny Antonelli won his 13th and drove home four runs with two singles, a double and a home run as the New York Giants peppered Milwaukee 9-1. Philadelphia smacked Chicago for 15 hits, beating the Cubs 10-6, and Pittsburgh knocked off Cincinnati 5-2.

Rochester Wings To Meet Leafs In Cup Playoff

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cinderella team of the International League, Rochester's Red Wings, fresh from Tuesday night's 8-5 victory which eliminated pennant-winning Montreal, storm into Toronto tonight for the final Governors' Cup playoff.

The Wings, fourth-place finishers during the regular season, will lead off with lefty Mel Heim, who holds a 4-1 season record over the runner-up Leafs. Mike Fornieles, undefeated in five regular decisions and his one playoff start against Havana, is Toronto manager Bake Morrell's choice to oppose Heim.

One big inning was all the Wings needed to oust the Royals, four games to one in the semi-final series. They struck for seven runs after two were out in the fifth to break a 1-1 tie against Ken Lehman and Glenn Mickens. Lehman, working with two days' rest after shutting out Rochester Saturday, loaded the bases with a walk following two singles. Another walk, an error by Chico Fernandez and singles by Allie Clark and Jack Van Hoy chased the southpaw.

BEYOND TRIUMPH

Col Deal, the Wing starter, took his second playoff triumph over Toronto. The other was Rochester victories went, to Duke Markell. Deal needed help from Tony Jacobs, who came on in the ninth to get the last two outs after two singles and Gene Woodling scored a run.

All but one of Rochester's runs were unearned as—the usually reliable Fernandez booted two easy chances.

In the best-of-seven finals it will be Toronto's first time for the two pitchers, with Jack Crimian, Ken Johnson, Johnny Heiki and Eddie Blake ready to take regular turns behind Fornieles.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Canadian Wins On 20th Hole From Top Golfer

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Toronto's Jerry Magee, the only Canadian contender, joined almost all the big-name survivors and Monday's chief giant-killers in second-round victories Tuesday as the 55th United States amateur golf tournament reverted to form after Monday's upset-studded opening.

But the only other "name" casualty was Bruce Cudd of Portland, Ore., a member of the U.S. Walker Cup team, who was ousted 2 and 1 by Edwin Collette Vare, the youthful captain of Yale University's golf team and son of Glenna Collett Vare, a six-time winner of the U.S. women's amateur title.

Some of the favorites had close calls. Walker Cupper Harvie Ward needed a 25-foot putt at the 19th to oust Ray Palmer, a 42-year-old weekend golfer from Wyandotte, Mich. And Willie Turnesa, the 1938 and 1948 amateur champion, had to go 20 before he produced a tremendous explosion shot to defeat Robert Sweeny, last year's finalist in the U.S. tournament and 1937 winner of the British amateur.

USED GOLF PUTTER

Ward, the 1954 Canadian amateur titleholder, used the old putter he found in an abandoned locker at a small boy which he has carried throughout his career.

Others to advance to the third round included Walker Cup captain Bill Campbell and teammates Jim Jackson and Lieut. Joe Conrad, the current British amateur titleholder.

27 Leaf Players Welcomed At Training Camp, Day Says All Positions on Team Open

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — The rebuilding job of the Toronto Maple Leafs began Tuesday.

General manager Hap Day welcomed 27 applicants to the first day of training camp and quickly announced that all jobs were open for the coming National Hockey League season.

"No one who is riding on his reputation will be a Leaf this season unless he works and produces" Day said.

One of the veterans of the Leaf squad, Jimmy Thomson, realizes he must produce or pack up in favor of a rookie.

The 28-year-old defenceman, now starting his 10th campaign in a Maple Leaf uniform, was a disappointment during the last half of last season's schedule. But Thomson is confident he can retain his defence position.

VETERANS EXPENDABLE

It is another Leaf youth movement and veterans are expendable. Thomson was a regular on the team under similar conditions in 1946.

Nine rookies were among the veterans as the players lined up for their medical examinations by the club doctor.

Billy Harris, a slender stickhandling centre who Day hopes will fill the skates left vacant by Ted Kennedy's retirement after last spring's playoffs, headed the list of eight ex-juniors trying out.

The others were Harris' pals on Toronto Marlboro teammates of last season, Bob Bower, Al Macneil, Mike Nykoluk, Gary Aldcorn and Gary Collins. All six were members of the 1955 Memorial Cup champions from the Ontario Hockey Association's Junior A League.

OTHER JUNIORS

Also from the junior OHA were Barry Cullen, last year with St. Catharines TeePees, and Dick Duff who graduated from Toronto St. Michael's Majors. Duff had a three-game trial with Leafs near the end of the schedule last season.

Another newcomer to the camp was Bill Sweeney, a 20-year-old defenceman from Pittsburgh Hornets. Leafs' American League farm team.

An absentee from the roll call was Rube Bjorkman, the Dutch-polliced rookie of last season who went to the Hornets' camp because there were too many centres reporting to Leafs. Day said, however, that Cullen can rejoin Leafs as players from both camps are interchangeable.

Junior Players In Quebec Will Not Get Paid

By W. R. WHEATLEY

Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—Frank Selke, boss of Montreal Canadiens' hockey empire, if going to have grass-roots junior hockey again and he's happy about it.

When Selke came here from Toronto in 1946 to become general manager of the National Hockey Club, only three teams of the Canadiens' farm system had been left standing in the Junior A circuit of Quebec province.

FUTILE EFFORT

The Canadiens' management was supplying both money and talent for all three teams—in Montreal, Quebec City and Trois-Rivieres—in futile effort to keep fertile the ground that produces NHL stars.

Eventually, the Canadiens' system collapsed under the weight of dollar signs and dollar-crazy kids.

Selke said bluntly: "We have crucified junior hockey."

The man who begins this season with a new league, the Metropolitan League of Organizational work has been done by Sam Pollock, "in charge of the Canadiens' junior farm teams. The league will have 10 teams. It will operate under the rules of the Amateur Hockey Association but will not compete with the season for the Memorial Cup, emblematic of the Canadian junior championship.

Each team will be paid players in the metropolitan league.

CAREFUL ENTITY

Montreal Canadiens juniors, spearheaded by the best of the players already developed, will operate as a separate entity this season in the league. Many of the players are in their last junior year; many have finished school. The club will play exhibition games across Canada, will compete in the Canadian Tuna Tournament, Ontario junior teams and will challenge for the Memorial Cup.

"We are not wrecking junior hockey; we are putting it on the best it belongs," said Selke. "And we are not going to have any young hockey bums, kids who load except for hockey, kids not sufficiently employed.

"We are going to appoint a capable man to keep tab on the schedule deadline of the boys still at school. If hockey causes a youngster to lose interest in his education, we don't want him.

Purely Amateur Junior A Loop For Quebec

JONQUIERE, Que. (CP)—Lionel Fleury, president of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association, has announced plans to create a "purely amateur" junior A league in the province for the 1955-56 season.

The new league would comprises Jonquiere, Chicoutimi, Port Alfred, St. Joseph d'Alma and Arvida, all of which operated in the junior "B" circuit last season. Quebec City's Frontenacs "B" and Victoria clubs would probably join.

Fleury outlined the plan—a project of reorganization of junior hockey in the Saguenay region—in a meeting here last weekend of junior hockey officials. Another meeting is scheduled for Sept. 19.

Fleury told the officials:

"We should bring back junior "A" hockey in its true form—that is to say purely amateur. We have too long played into the hands of the big financial interests by trying to build the junior clubs of Quebec, whose deficits are covered mostly by National League clubs."

Sippery Floor Protested By Lacrosse Teams

VICTORIA (CP) — Soap and water were applied to the Memorial Arena floor Tuesday to eliminate slippery conditions which fouled up the first game of the Mann Cup intermediate A lacrosse series.

The hazardous conditions of the floor in the opening game of the best-of-seven series brought protests from both teams, officials of the Canadian Lacrosse Association and the fans.

Arena officials said the trouble was caused by a slippery film of dust which settled after recent repairs to the cooling system.

Peterborough won the opener 15-13. Second game is tonight.

Orfuns Stage Late Rally To Nip Cementmen 5 to 3

By GARRY ALEXANDER

After losing a 3-0 lead, the Belleville Orfuns came back with two runs in the bottom of the seventh last night to defeat Point Anne 5-3 in the first game of their three-of-five city finals for the Bill Ott trophy. The second game is scheduled for Point Anne, Friday night at 6.00 p.m.

The Orfuns grabbed a 2-0 lead in the third inning before a small crowd at the CNRAA Park and added another tally in the fifth. Point Anne finally hit the scoresheet in the top of the seventh, plating three to tie it up.

Claude Carr opened the bottom of the seventh with a walk. Doug Hull flied to left for the initial out but Vern Goyer slashed a hard single 4dwn the left field line and took second when Hillel threw to the pitch in a futile attempt to get the batsman. Batcher followed with a walk but Locke popped to third for the second out. Doug Hull grounded one to Wade's right, Jake knocking it down but he bobbled it with Goyer racing home. Wade finally picked it up and nipped Batcher trying for third.

Bob Hunter hurled the complete game for the losers, surrendering five scattered hits, never allowing more than one at a time. He nipped five on third strikes while walking the same number.

Pat Maracle went the route for Point Anne and was tagged for 11 hits. He whiffed four Orfuns and issued four free passes while receiving good support.

Wardhaugh's walk with one out in the third led the way for the Orfuns' initial runs. Carr was safe on a fielder's choice. Doug Hull singled sharply to left and the fleet lead runner continued home, when Elliott fumbled the ball in the outfield. Hull taking third. A passed ball made it 2-0.

BACK-TO-BACK TRIPLES

Carr's triple down the right field line followed by Hull's threebagger to left-centre added their third. Hull attempted to go all the way on his hit but Mulholland's good throw after taking Elliott's relay had him cold.

Gerry Goyer put the Cementmen back in the game with a 3-run double in the seventh. Bob Hull walked in a pinch-hitting role and Vern Goyer dropped to Maracle's knee poke to centre, pulling two on with none out. The next two batters went down but Mulholland walked and Gerry Goyer lined a solid double to centre for a 3-3 game. Hunter stopped them for the rest of the game, striking one out on a walk.

Doug Hull paced the victor's offence with a triple and single while Vern Goyer and Don Barclay each singled once. Carr allowed only six singles for Wardhaugh, Batchelor, Locke and Hunter.

Gerry Goyer had a doffble and single in four tries for the losers. Maracle tripled and Gilmour doubled while Jake Wade also hit safely.

Line-ups:

Point Anne—Elliott, Gilmour, Mulholland, G. Goyer, Green, Malbourly, Wade, Bennett, D. Hull, Whales, Maracle.

Orfuns—Wardhaugh, Carr, D. Hull, V. Goyer, Batchelor, Locke, Barclay, Bromley, Soule, Jones, Hunter.

Prices Along Broadway Favor Tribe to Win

NEW YORK (AP)—Prices along Broadway Tuesday quoted Cleveland Indians as a slight favorite over New York Yankees to win the American League pennant and Brooklyn Dodgers the choice in the world series.

Chicago White Sox are 3-1 in the pennant race, and Boston Red Sox are out of it, say the bookmakers.

Ten dollars on the Indians to win the pennant will get you $11 and if you bet against Cleveland taking the flag you must put up $12 to win $10.

In the world series, oddmakers have the Dodgers a slight choice over Cleveland, but it's even slighter over the Yankees should they win the pennant. You would have to put up $13 on the Dodgers to win $10 in event the opposition is Cleveland. Backers of Cleveland to beat the Dodgers would risk $10 to win $10.

In event the Yankees win the flag, Dodger bettors would put up $8 to win $5 and Yankee backers can get even money to cop the series.

Valdes Stops Don Cockell In Third Round

LONDON (AP)—Big Nino Valdes of Cuba today began clamoring in earnest for a chance at the heavyweight title.

"I've walled long enough for a shot at Rocky Marciano," he said, "but maybe my victory over Don Cockell will convince everyone I deserve a return match for championship. If Cockell gets one, I certainly earned it."

Valdes stopped Cockell after the third round in a scheduled 10 Tuesday night in White City Stadium when the pugsy Englishman's handlers called on the referee to halt the fight. When Cockell staggered to his corner after the third, he was gushing blood from a cut on the forehead.

Valdes knocked Cockell, who was put away by Marciano earlier in the year, down for a count of eight in the third with a short left and a cross to the face. Cockell came back with a left to the face when he got on his feet, but Valdis, with both gloves cocked at 10 inches, merely shook it off.

ATTACKED FIRST

"I knew Cockell would attack from the stiff," said Valdes. "So my plan was to get the range of him in the first round. After that I went to work on him. My policy is to keep a left in his face when I finish my man off decisively, so one ever will believe I can be champion."

Valdes' manager, Bobby Gleason, said his man would be at ringside next Tuesday when Marciano meets Archie Moore for the heavyweight title.

"We will challenge the winner, and I think we'll get a shot at the champion," said Gleason.

Valdes weighed 207, Cockell 216.

REDS RETURN WRECKAGE

SEOUL (AP)—The Communists returned Monday the wreckage of an unarmed United States air force training plane they shot down in 1951 and the demilitarized zone. The pilot was injured but his observer killed when the plane was brought down by what the United Nations command called "light-hearted" ground gunners. The Communists returned the injured pilot and the observer's body Aug. 22.

Optimistic Outbursts Coming From Camp of Archie Moore

NORTH ADAMS, Mass. (AP) — Listen to the optimistic outbursts at Archie Moore's training camp for a while and you wonder why Rocky Marciano will bother to step into the Yankee Stadium ring next Tuesday to defend his heavyweight crown.

The way they talk at the light-heavyweight king's camp here in the Berkshires, the fight is cut and dried. Archie is going to call all the shots and, at 38, become the oldest man ever to win the heavyweight title.

"Archie will take care of-him in five or six rounds," said manager Charley Johnston. "How they get those odds favoring Marciano I can't see for the life of me. I notice, though, the odds have dropped to 13 to 5.

"In my book, Archie should be in 12 rounds to catch Marciano. What are they making Marciano the favorite on? The Don Cockell fight? Ezzard Charles? Jersey Joe Walcott? Is it because he's supposed to be such a puncher?"

TOOK NINE ROUNDS

"Well, Marciano must have hit Cockell about 300 punches and it took him nine rounds to catch up with him. You saw what Ezzard Charles did to Cockell and Moore beat Valdes. Where's the one-punch knockout power Marciano is supposed to have? Archie will jab him silly, bust him up and knock him out in five or six rounds."

Moore will box two rounds today, lay off Tuesday and finish up with short sparring sessions Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

At Grossinger, N.Y., Marciano said he is in the best shape of his career. He said, before entering the ring for a three-round sparring session, he intends to start out fast against old Archie.

"I feel as though everything is working in perfection for this fight," said the champion. "I feel better than I did in previous fights for other fights, I wouldn't feel just right but things would work out all right any how."

Marciano said his combinations seemed to be the biggest improvement from the new training routine. His footwork and ability to follow up on a punch also have improved.

Rocky said he was aiming for 187 pounds at ringtime.

"With Rocky could make the light-heavyweight limit easily," chirped his little trainer, Charley Goldman. "In fact, maybe when we knock out Moore, we'll challenge him for the light heavyweight title."

Sam Snead's Golf School

In pivoting weight to the right side on the backswing some players sway their hips, or actually shift them laterally to the right instead of just rotating them. This is an extremely dangerous practice for any but a very skilled golfer because it makes the setting of the clubhead on the downswing much more difficult. In fact, it makes it almost impossible for the average player to bring the clubhead to the ball from anything but outside-in, which is wrong. The average golfer should try to get a good full wind-up of his hips without shifting them laterally. This can best be achieved by concentrating on keeping the head steady and lif the same plane as the hub around which the swing rotates. There is some shift of the hips to the left on the downswing, and follow through. But you don't have to worry about this if you don't let the hip turn get too far ahead of the hands and club on the downswing.

Argos Take On Bruno Vanducci Veteran of '49ers

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Argonauts made another move Tuesday night to strengthen their line which has been pitifully weak in the club's last two Big Four football games, particularly against Montreal Hot Saturday when the Alouettes blastered them 43-11.

Guard Bruno Vanducci, a veteran with San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League, reported on Tuesday night. He played with the 49ers the last nine years and split with the club this year over a salary disagreement. He is 33 years old, weighs 225 pounds and is five feet, 11 inches.

Vanducci came here just 24 hours after tackle Ed Fouch, released by Los Angeles Rams, was signed by the Big Four club. Fouch turned out for practice Tuesday night.

Golden Gaels Are Boasting Wealth of Talent

KINGSTON (CP) — Frank Tindall's Golden Gaels are boasting a wealth of talent for the pre-season prepping for the Intercollegiate football wars.

They have 58 men in training camp including eight who have just arrived.

Tindall is still plagued by quarterback problems as he looks for a man to replace Normie Dyson. One potential candidate is Don Roy, a six-footer who weighs in at 195 pounds and is reported to be able to fill in any spot in the lineup.

Says Handling Of Disputed Game Was 'Very Poor'

TORONTO (CP) — Art Smith, president of Ulster United of the Ontario Football Association, said Tuesday the handling of a dispute Monday night in Montreal at the Eastern Canada soccer championships was "very poor indeed."

Smith said he intended to telephone George Anderson of Winnipeg, secretary of the Football Association of Canada, Thursday night and present his team's reasons for refusing to play a fourth game in the best-of-three finals.

Ulster refused to play overtime Monday night against Montreal Ukraina after they came through regulation time with a tie. The teams were tied one game each going into the game and when the referee ordered them to play overtime; Jack Perrett, Ulster captain refused, saying he was not told beforehand overtime would be played.

Smith said that when John McNamara, Quebec's representative on the F.A.C. executive came to be invited to Montreal, the Ulster team prepared to go home.

MADE ARRANGEMENTS

Later, after McNamara talked to Anderson and was instructed to order a fourth game, Smith considered Ulster had made arrangements to leave for Toronto and couldn't change them.

"It was badly managed all the way through," Smith said Tuesday. "It was getting dark when the game ended and there were no lights. We couldn't have finished two overtime periods. We left the field thinking a fourth game would be necessary. When we were told we had to forfeit the game, we were pretty upset and didn't want to hang around."

Smith said he doubted if the Toronto team would go to Montreal for a fourth game in any event.

"They didn't get a big enough crowd there to pay our expenses."

Pat Abruzzi Leads Big Four Ground Gainers

TORONTO (CP) — Pat Abruzzi, Montreal Alouettes' power runner from Rhode Island State University, leads the ground gainers and quarterback Carl Garrigus of Hamilton Tiger-Cats the passers after three games of the Big Four football season.

Abruzzi has piled up 386 yards in carrying the ball 49 times, an average of eight yards each. Garrigus, former University of Miami quarterback, has completed 36 of 76 passes for a total of 215 yards and an average gain of 12.4 yards. Abruzzi and Ricky McElroy of Hamilton Tiger-Cats, former Chicago Bears halfback, are presently leadership with 26 points each on five touchdowns. Whizzer White of Toronto Argonauts is third with the scorers with 23 points. He has counted three touchdowns and five converts.

IN RUSHING

McElroy is second in rushing with 305 yards on 54 carries for a 5.7-yard average. Tom Clements of Tracey of Ottawa Rough Riders is third with 193 yards, having carried 27 times for an average of 7.1.

Quarterback Don Bailey of Ottawa holds down the runner-up spot among passing leaders with an average (gain of 10.2 yards of 16 completions in 45 attempts). Tom Dublinski of Argonauts, who has completed 36 of 90 passes for a 9.5 yard average, is fourth.

Dublinski, who ranked fourth in passing in the National Football League last season while with Detroit Lions, has gained the most yards in passing with a total of 854. Sam Etcheverry of Montreal Alouettes, fourth on the list of average gain with a mark of 7.3 follows the Toronto quarterback in yards gained with 676. Bailey's yardage total of 487 and Garrigus' 215.

REPORTS ON FOOD

ROME (AP)—World food production has increased by 25 per cent in less than 10 years, the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization declared Tuesday. In an annual report, the 72-nation organization reported that food production is increasing faster than world population growth but millions still are not getting enough to eat in some areas, while there are surpluses in others.

Mustangs Not At Full Strength For First Game

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—University of Western Ontario Mustangs will be minus one and possibly two fullbacks when they face the rugged Sarnia Imperials of the senior ORFU here Saturday in the opening 1955 football clash for the local collegians.

Sophomore Dale Creighton will definately miss the Sarnia contest because of a knee injury while rampaging Ralph Simons, the top ground gainer in the senior Intercollegiate last year, may sit out the game with the virus condition.

ON THE LIMP

Joe Habroe, another fullback candidate, is on the limp and if he doesn't dress, then the only experienced fullback on hand is Doug Aitchison, the sophomore from Mitchell, Ont., whose only senior action last season was as a defensive halfback in the final game.

Bill Turnbull, 185-pound guard from Port Colborne, reported Monday for his first workouts of the season.

Mustang coach Johnny McIrus said that head coach Bob Priestlund of the Imperials has agreed to the use of the new code of rules which will be in affect in the senior Intercollegiate this fall. The new code entails only a change in the method of assessing penalties. The old double penalty has been dropped with the captain now having a choice of the down or the yardage.

Teams Warned To Lay Off Junior Players

WINDSOR (CP) — Al Newman, coach of the Windsor AKO of the junior ORFU Tuesday warned all Big Four teams to "keep their hands off" any of his players.

Newman said he had been told the Toronto Argonauts had offered halfback Tommy Grant a "good deal" to sign with them for the rest of this season.

He said Grant has been registered with the Ontario Rugby Union as an Ontario Rugby player, a recipe, an account of how somebody's husband fixed something around the house. There will be a great deal of discussion about babies and kids and school problems. What the woman who stays home and keeps house is interested in we're interested in too!"

NBC Network to Extend Weekend Monitor Program to Week Days

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — The general plan of NBC radio's weekend "Monitor" program will be extended to week days beginning Nov. 7.

"Monitor" is a 40-hour program service running from 8 a. m. Saturdays to midnight Sundays. It contains everything from one-line jokes to 20-minute special pickups, with—of course—plenty of music. To date its results "are favorable on most scores," says NBC president Sylvester Weaver.

Now the network plans a new service, as yet unnamed but based on the concept of "Monitor," to run from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. Mondays through Fridays.

"The new daytime service," says Weaver, "will apply everything we know about radio usage by daytime audiences, and principally the housewife. Like 'Monitor' it will be in the pattern of continuous entertainment and information on a highly flexible basis. Also like 'Monitor' it will provide enough service over a long time to make it distinctive and easily remembered.

"It will be unlike 'Monitor' in content, pace and appeal, emphasizing entertainment, companionship and services, largely for in-home, and principally for women as distinct from the 'Monitor' emphasis on communications and coverage."

KEEP SOAP OPERAS

Existing daytime soap operas will not be changed unless a sponsor drops out.

The biggest change will be a vast step-up in the "do it yourself" field. There will be great stress on self-help and self-improvement, those areas of interest which are being emphasized by so many newspapers and magazines these days. The whole plan is, in effect, like the women's section of your newspaper or a popular women's magazine.

"It will be as if a woman had a guest for a day," said an NBC executive. "A little back-fence gossip, a recipe, an account of how somebody's husband fixed something around the house. There will be a great deal of discussion about babies and kids and school problems. What the woman who stays home and keeps house is interested in we're interested in too!"

New Westminster Wins First One

WINNIPEG (CP)—Inside right Gordon Stewart scored three goals to pace New Westminster Royals to a 4-1 victory over Winnipeg Institute Provavia Athletic Club Tuesday night in the opening game of their western soccer final. The series winner meets Montreal Ukrainia in the Canadian final.

Stewart, who played last winter with Everton reserves of the English League, was the big gun for the Royals as he scored once in the first half and twice in the second. Reinhold Gleyzik rifled home the other goal for New Westminster.

Sammy Delbun accounted for IPAC's lone marker.

Gardenville

S.S. RE-OPENS

GARDENVILLE — Sunday School re-opened on Sunday after the summer recess. Mr. Jack Baxter, superintendent, welcomed the children back and encouraged them to seek and bring other girls and boys to God's house for worship and learn of His will, reminding them that one is never happier and freer than when one is doing as Jesus taught by being kind and thoughtful, sharing with others and showing he or she is His friend by the daily conduct at home, in school and on the playground.

Mrs. Baxter was organist in the absence of Miss Margaret Harris, who is suffering with poison ivy. The wishes of the Sunday School are that Margaret may soon be free of her distress.

A goodly number from the Carrying Place United Church united with Concession on Sunday evening in their anniversary service. The Reverend Wolfrain, of Lakefield, whose first charge after being ordained was Concession, brought an inspiring message based on the words of Jesus: "Not Masters But Servants," pointing out that in the Kingdom of God true greatness is determined by the extent to which one is willing to lose himself or herself in the service of God, and in service to others. He explained that there is great progress in the ecumenical movement and welcomed the Anglican minister of the Consecon charge, the Rev. Mr. Réunion, who pronounced the benediction.

The Reverend Teskey, who is to take charge of the Ivanhoe circuit, was also present and led in prayer. Mr. Teskey's wife is a former Consecon girl.

The Carrying Place United Church choir rendered two beautiful anthems, "I Will Exalt Thee" and "Remember Thy Creator in the Days of Thy Youth." Mrs. Wm. Hendricks of Carrying Place was organist for the service.

A splendid feeling of fellowship prevailed and all pray that God may continue to abundantly bless the work at this old and historic church.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnott Young visited their daughter, Peggy, and her husband in Kingston this week. Mr. Meaker is practising chiropody there.

Mr. Griffiths of Madoc, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Landon on Thursday. Mrs. Landon celebrated her 75th birthday on Wednesday. She assisted an neighbor with her housework in the morning and visited her relatives in Belleville in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Baxter were the visitors of the week through—Kennedy wedding in Thomasburg on Saturday night. Later enjoyed dinner with them at the Dutch Mill Inn, Trenton.

A number from here attended the Picton Fair this past week and report another excellent exhibition.

The new Community Centre is a benefit to the planning and work of those dedicated to its building.

Mrs. Arthur Burke and Mr. Garth Bird, of Belleville, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Baxter and Susan. Master Jimmy Yeo was a Sunday dinner guest at the same home.

W.A.

The Woman's Association of the Carrying Place United Church met on Wednesday evening. Following the devotional period plans were made for the chicken pie supper to be held the third week of October.

The ladies have quite a reputation to uphold and a large crowd is being planned for.

The group also decided to buy new front doors for the church, subject to the board's approval.

Mrs. Jack Baxter was chosen treasurer, replacing Mrs. Henry Harris, who is now working in the evening and unable to attend.

The October meeting will be held at Mrs. Jack Baxter's home with Harriett Stevens (Mrs. Haig) of CFRG, as guest speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Grounds are entertaining their cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Merry of Rochester, U.S.A.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnott Young are spending a few days with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ken McDonald and Gordon at Niagara Falls.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Thursday, September 15, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Don't let a stranger take what is rightly yours, but don't resent anyone struggling, working honestly for his due.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Do not hesitate to give others good ideas, to help them succeed. Taureans are usually generous in this connection but they may be tempted to withhold help now.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Avoid irritability. Try to appreciate the quiet pursuits — study, music, research.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Here is a day for self-expression, but in the right way! Give some thought to improving plans.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — If you have assisted others in the past, you have good memories of satisfaction. If you have made someone smile, it counts for much and for long. Repeat these happy doings.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Do not expect too much or try to force matters. Read as much as possible.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — Watch and wait and you will acquire the insight, knowhow and knowledge that comes with experience to learn. Don't rearrange other words to suit your interpretation.

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio)—You may have to watch your economic situation and rearrange your social plans now. Tackle what you must promptly, and make the best of situation.

November 23 to December 21 — (Sagittarius) — This Sign is one of frankness and straight-forward action. Be sure you do not offend others by misusing these traits. No "kill or cure" tactics!

December 22 to January 21 — (Capricorn) — If no one was born to make certain errors nor to "be stuck with" definite faults. But if you observe possible pitfalls, be wise enough to take precautions.

January 22 to February 20 — (Aquarius) — Well done is never overdone. And a smile brings extra-special results. Aim high and don't fuss about anything.

February 21 to March 20 — (Pisces)—Every thing has its time and place. Read, plan, work hard and systematically, but do not strain.

You born today have versatility, are suited to many types of work, but especially those which bring you before the public. You are devoted to family members but often "pick them apart" to the point of aggravation. You have the knack for knowing how to make friends feel they are cherished, can entertain with—nobility of manner, even in the simplest of surroundings. Wealth rarely goes to your head, though whether you have much money or not, you can spend it.

FIRST SNOW

QUEBEC (CP)—The first snowfall of the season in the Quebec region was reported Tuesday in Laurentide Park, some 40 miles north of here. Motorists said the three-hour snowfall began at 7 a.m. and left a covering of snow over a large area of ground.

Tom Park, 31, of Lakewood, Calif., and born in Hamilton, Ont., came within three miles of becoming the second person to swim across Lake Ontario, when he was forced out by waves and a sore right arm. Twice winner of the Atlantic City long-distance swim, he also has conquered the English Channel. He started from Youngstown, N.Y., and was within sight of Toronto when he had to abandon his swim attempt. The only person to complete the lake swim is Marilyn Bell of Toronto, who did it in 1954. TRANSPORT BOARD APPROVES PIPELINE

Railwaymen Seek Big Wage Hike, Welfare Plan

Companies Will Be Served Notices Early in November

'MONTREAL (CP) — Canada's railways will be faced with paying an extra $70,000,000 or more annually in wages if the 145,000 railwaymen in 15 "non-operating" unions get their way.

The unions, representing workers who do not actually run the trains, will present notice on the railways early in November for a general 15-per-cent wage increase, effective Jan. 1, 1956.

They will also ask for a health and welfare plan, details of which are now being worked out by a subcommittee of the general committee of the non-operating unions.

The railwaymen's aims were announced Wednesday by Frank Hall, general committee chairman, following a two-day committee conference here.

HOLIDAY PAY

In a statement, Mr. Hall said the unions also request that the hourly-rated employees be paid for eight statutory holidays annually instead of five as provided in current agreements, and that pay for the eight holidays be extended to all monthly-rated workers.

The railways involved are Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways, Ontario Northland Railway and Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railway.

The unions are the ones that staged a paralyzing national strike in 1950 that lasted nine days. Mr. Hall said the proposed health and welfare plan would be non-contributory.

He said he was unable to make an accurate estimate as to what the average hourly wage now is because workers ranged among many classifications. However, a reliable source indicated that the average wage for all non-operating employees is $1.46 an hour.

AFTER A SURVEY

Mr. Hall said union policy "had been decided following a survey of general economic conditions, improved earnings of the railways, and wage increases granted in other industries. The last increase of the railways became effective Sept. 1, 1952."

The wage increase was requested in the current contract, which expires on Dec. 31, 1955. The present agreement was arrived at only after prolonged conciliation and arbitration, and after the federal government threatened to call parliament back from its summer recess to prevent a strike.

It was Mr. Hall who said the unions' wage demands would cost the railways $70,000,000 annually.

"We have yet to make public their estimate of what it would cost to meet the demands.

LEAVE FOR VACATION

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Winston Churchill left with Lady Churchill by air today for a rest in the south of France. They are spending several weeks at Roquebrune, near Cap Martin, Cap d'Ail, near Nice. Capt. Christopher Soames and Mrs. Soames, their son-in-law and daughter, went with them.

Tahitian Maid Flees Ship To Hunt Lover

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—A lovelorn 19-year-old Tahitian girl wriggled naked through a porthole to escape a locked ship cabin today, dressed hastily and slipped through the streets of Sydney in search of her Dutch boy friend.

The slim-eyed island beauty, Anita Williams, reached here as a stowaway aboard the Dutch freighter Zonnevlk, bent on finding a sailor with whom she had fallen in love. Instead, she found red tape and an unresponsive Australian immigration department.

Anita, accompanied by another 18-year-old Tahitian girl, was nabbed Monday by customs men searching the freighter and promptly locked up aboard the ship.

But luck was with the fugitive. On another ship nearby her Dutch sweetheart read of her escapade, and of her broken heart.

He hastened to the Zonnevlk and found Anita in her cabin prison. But immigration authorities remained unmoved.

Early today, Anita wriggled through the porthole, dressed on the ship's dock and shinned down a line to reach the dock and the freedom of Sydney.

Australian police are searching for her throughout the huge city.

Heavy Bomber Lands in Middle Of Turnpike

MITCHEL BASE, N.Y. (AP)—Unable to get off the ground, a United States Air Force B-36 Wednesday smashed through a fence and into the middle of heavily-traveled Hempstead turnpike.

Luckily, there was no one in the traffic and no one was hurt.

Tuesday, a B-36 which had just taken off from this base crashed in Hempstead. Six crew members and passengers were killed.

In Wednesday's mishap, Lieut. John W. Lee, 28, of Bryan, Meadow, had begun his takeoff run when he realized the engines were running roughly and wouldn't get the ship aloft.

He tried, but it was not enough. In a desperate effort to halt the ship he retracted the wheels for a belly alide. Only one wheel went up and the plane swerved, clearing down the fence and then skidding to a stop in the turnpike.

EXPERTS REJECT TOLL ROADS AS REAL SOLUTION

Others Claim Govts. Would Save Millions

By COLIN MacDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BANFF, Alta. (CP)—Toll roads in Ontario would save the provincial government "many millions of dollars," says W. M. Philpot, manager of the Ontario Roadbuilders' Association.

But one of two American experts who joined Mr. Philpot in opposing the Canadian Good Roads Association convention Wednesday rejected toll roads as a solution to existing highway problems.

Mr. Philpot said that "if highways like the Queen Elizabeth, the Toronto-Hamilton and the Montreal highway and the new superhighway from Windsor to Toronto now under construction, were set up under a toll road authority under the control and jurisdiction of the provincial government, it would relieve the government of many millions of dollars of expenditure."

NEED OTHER ROADS

He said the saving could be used to better advantage to improve urban and suburban areas where traffic now find it difficult to meet their road obligations.

R. B. Ryker of the American Automobile Association, argued against toll roads:

"The danger in toll roads lies in financing manoeuvres which will create artificial sections to finance other sections which cannot earn profit. The will inevitably result in refinancing and the retention of tolls long after the original purpose of the amortization schedule."

Albert J. Wedeking, executive director of the Indiana toll road commission, said toll roads generally are safer than conventional highways. He said the Indiana road eliminated all level crossings, steep hills, curves greater than three degrees, advertising billboards and spotlights.

GRADUAL CURVES

The road has gradual curves every two miles for safe driving monotony, 300-foot-wide right of ways and 30-foot strips between dual lanes.

"Private financing lifts some of the burden from direct construction from the taxpayer and the roads are built with a minimum of red tape," Mr. Wedeking said.

Mr. Ryskeen said, however, that toll roads are more to build per mile because of extra services such as radio-telephone service and equipment and toll collectors.

Consequently, the cost of services on the roads must bid competitively for the right to operate a monopoly. "In the end, however, cost is passed on to the taxpayer."

OPEN HOSPITAL

CORNWALL (CP)—The $3,800,000 Cornwall General Hospital was formally opened Wednesday. At the ceremonies were Premier Leslie M. Frost, Dr. J. N. Cameron, federal deputy health minister. Mr. Frost cut the ribbon across a ribbon across the entrance of the six-storey brick building.

Western Allies Refuse to Take Communist Promises on Faith

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and its chief Western allies are refusing to take Communist promises on faith. They are employing hard-boiled tactics in current negotiations for better relations with Russia and Red China.

The pattern of Western dealings became apparent in their manner of handling the U.S.-Red China negotiations at Geneva, German-Russian diplomatic recognition and Red China's bid for a seat in the United Nations.

In effect, it appears that the Western powers are determined to make concessions or agreements stick by Moscow and Peiping only as those capitals actually produce real concessions sought by various Western governments.

The following developments demonstrate this Western attitude, which is in line with President Eisenhower's public insistence that the friendly spirit shown in East-West relations at last July's Geneva "summit" conference must be proved by concrete actions:

1. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson told Red China's Ambassador Wang Ping-Nan, at Geneva Wednesday that "it would be premature" to take up other issues between the U.S. and Red China until last Saturday's agreement for release of civilians is carried out.

2. Chancellor Adenauer made his agreement with Premier Bulganin for opening West German-Russian diplomatic relations subject to approval by the Bonn cabinet and Parliament.

Bulganin promised Adenauer as part of the deal that German citizens held in the Soviet Union since the war would be freed. If the Russians do not take steps to release the Germans with reasonable promptness, Adenauer is in position to stall indefinitely on actually establishing the formal diplomatic contacts.

3. Richard G. Casey, Australia's minister for external affairs, said here Wednesday that he would not be surprised if Red China's decision for a seat in the UN should be shelved again this year in the U.N. General Assembly. Similar indications came from UN headquarters in New York.

The Western governments realize they possess an effective bargaining weapon in the membership problem, and they do not wish to give it up without getting some practical benefits in return.

Vicki, Runaway Elephant, Evades Carolina Searchers

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—Vicki, the runaway elephant, came charging out of her wooded hideaway Wednesday, bowled over her handler and disappeared again.

Since she bolted from an amusement park Sunday she has defied all efforts to drive her out of a small forest directly across a busy highway.

"She'll get wilder and wilder the longer she stays out," predicted an elephant handler. Some members of the safari that has been literally beating the bushes think Vicki will have to be shot unless she is captured soon.

Hunted by Police For Murder, Rape Man Is Captured

CHICAGO (AP)—Michael Marabillo, 30, hunted by police after the slaying of his former boss in the Chicago Daily News building Wednesday and the rape of a 20-year-old girl Wednesday night, was captured today.

He was caught by police officers after a short chase on foot. They said they fired three shots at Marabillo. He wasn't hit and didn't return the fire.

The search for Marabillo began when police found Wednesday's victim's face had been beaten with a hammer. Police said he fired four bullets into Henry George, 45, mailing room foreman for The Daily News.

The attack took place in the mailing room adjoining the newspaper's press room.

Marabillo, who once worked for the newspaper, was mailing room foreman. Aug. 22. Newspaper officials said they regarded him as a mental case. Marabillo blamed George for his troubles and apparently shot him in revenge.

A young radio station receptionist notified police Wednesday night that she had been raped. Her assailant she said, boasted that he was the man who killed George.

Montreal Woman Is Suffocated As Cafe Burns

MONTREAL (CP)—A 26-year-old woman died today and at least five persons were injured in a fire during an early-morning restaurant blaze.

The woman, identified as Jeannette Gervais, 26, was asphyxiated when smoke billowed up from Rector's restaurant to apartments on the two upper floors of the brick building.

The restaurant was destroyed but the apartments suffered only smoke damage as firemen extinguished the flames within one hour.

British Journalist Flays Papers Which Refuse Royalty Any Privacy

MALVERN, Eng. (Reuters)—A leading British newspaper man Wednesday defended the right of members of the Royal Family to a private life of their own in a speech at newspapers which indulged in "reckless speculation" about the marriage intentions of Princess Margaret.

Sir Linsdon Andrews, chairman of the Press Council and a past president of the Institute of Journalists, told the institute's conference he "can't agree with those newspapers that take the line that a member of the Royal Family is always news."

"Surely a member of the Royal Family has a private life, and must have a private life which all decent people ought to respect," he said. "Royalty has a private life, and must be human decency. When a princess has not made up her mind whom she wants to marry, I think it is most impertinent to tell her: 'Come on, Margaret,' and she had best be swerving and made herself a public nuisance. . . ."

Sir Linsdon's great disservice has been done by reckless speculation. He said: "I am not in favor of public meditation about her future is something which none of us would like to commit the daughter of our own friends."

Earlier, Brian R. Roberts, president of the Institute—smaller of Britain's two newspaper trade unions—said that the phrase "freedom of the press" is becoming "a dirty expression" in Britain. The phrase had been taken to mean "total freedom for journalists to make money in any way they can. He warned that continued "sales-at-any-price" policies would undermine public confidence in the press "can only lead to some form of censorship."

MOROCCAN RULER WILL BE ASKED TO LEAVE THRONE

Three-Man Regency Council to Be Formed

PARIS (Reuters)—Sultan Moulay Ben Arafa, aged ruler of Morocco, will be handed a letter from President Rene Coty of France today, tomorrow informing him of France's decision to remove him from the throne, government officials here said.

The letter will be the first step in the promised French "new deal" for Morocco, scene of violent riots last month in which more than 1,000 Europeans and Arabs were killed.

A three-man regency council is expected to be established on the throne's behalf. The French Ben Arafa, The French put him on the throne two years ago after deposing Sultan Mohammed Ben Youssef for his support of Arab nationalism.

The council will name a representative Moroccan government to carry out the reform program. Ben Youssef will be allowed to end his exile on Madagascar and live in France.

Fresh outbreaks of violence increased tension overnight in Morocco and neighboring Algeria.

Moroccan nationalists at a wedding feast at Soulhaut was shot to death. A Jewish tobacconist and five customers were badly hurt when a bomb blasted a shop at Agadir. At Oujda in Algeria, 12 Moroccans were hurt in a bomb explosion. In Casablanca a Jewish merchant was shot dead.

Terroristic lurking by a roadside near Constantine ambushed a truck and a police car and slit the throats of four European soldiers in them. An army patrol combed the area and killed three terrorists.

Six other Arabs were killed in other terrorist attacks near Constantine Wednesday.

New Categories Now Eligible To Receive Benefits

OTTAWA (CP) — Seven new categories of Canadian workers now are eligible to receive unemployment insurance benefits.

The workers, expected to number about 7,000, have been covered by order-in-council changes in the Unemployment Insurance Act published Wednesday in the Canada Gazette.

The seven groups are those employed in logging or raising pulpwood; chick hatching; preparation and handling of poultry; sugar grading; breeding or raising race, saddle or harness horses; commercial landscape gardening or maintenance of private, public or commercial parks or gardens.

The regulations stipulate that only those engaged in the seven categories on a full-time basis will be eligible. If the job is incidental to logging, gardening or nursery operation, the employee will not be eligible.

Approximately 3,500,000 Canadian earning workers now are insured or are covered by the Unemployment Insurance Act. Exceptions include those engaged in farming, fishing, teaching and domestic service.

Toronto-Montreal Gas Line Will Start At Once

Board Told Crown Company Will Build Northern Link

OTTAWA (CP)—The board of transport commissioners today approved the application of Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. to begin immediate construction of the Toronto-Montreal leg of its proposed all-Canadian natural gas pipeline.

At the same time it granted the company a further six months extension, until April 30, 1956, to prove its financial ability to build the 2,200 - mile, $330,000,000 line from Alberta to eastern Canada.

The board's decisions followed a 2½-hour hearing during which the chairman observed that there was very little opposition head against the applications.

As at previous hearings counsel for the Quebec government argued that the subsidization of the Federal Pipelines Act was outside the power of the board because the act itself was unconstitutional.

WOULD ALTER ROUTE

Another criticism was that of counsel for the township of Toronto which urged an alternative route for the pipeline in that area.

Mr. Justice John D. Kearney, chief commissioner, said the Quebec argument had been raised before and the board had ruled that it had no power to deal with the constitutional aspect of the legislation. As for the Toronto township argument this would be dealt with later when the company files detailed plans on the route.

Mr. Trans-Canada application hearing opened today Mitchell Sharp, associate deputy trade minister, announced that immediate steps are being taken by the federal and Ontario governments to establish a crown corporation to build the northern Ontario section of the proposed line.

Mr. Sharp said later in an interview that while immediate steps are being taken by both governments to set up a crown corporation full agreement has not yet been reached.

FINANCE NEEDED

"I made a statement of principle to the board," Mr. Sharp said. "We are taking further steps to set up arrange for the establishment of the crown corporation. However, the Ontario cabinet has yet to meet and 3.30 to 5.30 p.m. Mrs. Ross Herrington, 1 Bridge St. E. to consider the financial aspects."

Mr. Sharp said the crown line will stretch from the Manitoba-Ontario border east to Kapuskasing, about 700 miles. The Toronto-Montreal section would cost about $200,000,000 and approved would bring gas into the Montreal area by late 1956.

Whooping Cranes Fool Experts, Six Whoppers Born This Year

OTTAWA (CP)—Nesting whooping cranes have provided wildlife specialists of Canadian wildlife officials.

The rare birds—known world-wide as numbering less than 25 in 1941—produced at least six young whoppers in Wood Buffalo Park this summer instead of four as reported earlier.

Canadian wildlife officials reported in July that observations by aerial-coupled with those of a ground party that fought its way through the almost inaccessible area of bog and muskeg—established the existence of four young in the park. They hoped that the flock would grow in existence up to 25.

The figure now is revised to at least 27. The wildlife service Wednesday reported six young whooping cranes have been counted on two sections of Canadian wildlife officials.

Plans 275-Mile Walk Unless Child Returned

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. Corinne O'Hare, 56, of nearby Ajax, said today she will make a non-stop 275-mile walk to Prime Minister St. Laurent's office in Ottawa unless she is allowed to adopt a small girl.

She said the girl, Judith Ann, was boarded with her by the Children's Aid Society in 1951 at the age of three months and stayed until the society recently took her away again. Mrs. O'Hare said she wants Judith back as her adopted daughter.

General Motors And Union Said Nearer Accord

TORONTO (CP)—Top union and company negotiators were attempting to reach agreement between General Motors Corporation of Canada and its employees before a Monday strike deadline today continued behind closed doors for the fourth day.

Reports after a meeting Wednesday night said the parties were close to agreement. However, there were no details on developments.

ONLY SLIGHTLY BURNED

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Detective John Burk switched on the radio in his cruiser Wednesday, and his gas tank blew up. Burk was burned slightly on the face as the blast broke a rear window of the cruiser, buckled the trunk, blew a hole in the gas tank, and knocked Burk's hat out the window. Police said a faulty radio transmitter apparently ignited gasoline fumes.

CITY & DISTRICT NEWS

SMALL DAMAGE

Small damage at the Acme Farmers' Dairy was reported by city firemen last night when belts burned off an electric motor and set fire to the floor. A passerby spotted the fire and turned in the alarm at the nearest all-night service station.

Police Blotter

A break-in at the Patterson Service Station on West Dundas St., netted thieves $5.35 in cash taken from the cash register. Police said entry to the service station had been gained through a widow, which was found broken.

Theft of a woman's purse from the Bowl-O-Drome was also reported by police. William Hubbs, age 15, of Station Street, along with two juveniles, was apprehended in connection with the offence. Hubbs was charged with theft.

Thieves Carry Heavy Safe From Stirling Post Office

Safe crackers Wednesday night forced their way into the Stirling post office where they carried away a 300-pound safe and abandoned it on the public school grounds after prying the strong box open.

The amount of cash taken was believed small, the principal loot taken by the safe-crackers being money orders and stamps in stock at the post office.

Postmaster Fred Houchin had taken the post office cash to the Stirling bank late Wednesday afternoon.

Police said the safe-crackers had jimmied a back window to gain entrance, then trundled the heavy safe to a back door where it was loaded into either a car or truck and taken to the school grounds a little more than a block away.

The break-in was believed to have taken place some time after midnight as the marks in the dirt were still discernible after last night's rain.

The safe-crackers timed their break-in to avoid the round of night constable Don Tucker, who was on duty. Constable Tucker said he had noticed nothing suspicious during his rounds.

Provincial Police from Belleville are assisting Stirling police chief Sam Eggleton in the investigation. The investigation is in charge of Constable Douglas Sears. Provincial police photographer Cpl. Reginald Rackham checked fingerprints found on the smashed safe and also tire marks.

Obituary

ANDREW M. SPENCER
(Genoa City, Wisconsin)

After a lengthy illness, Andrew M. Spencer, Genoa City, Wisconsin, passed away at his home there on Wednesday afternoon. He was born at Wallaceburg, Thorndale township, on September 16th, 1882, being the eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spencer.

He had resided in Genoa City for many years, acting as Station Master until his retirement.

He is survived by two sons and five daughters, a number of grandchildren and great grandchildren, all of the United States, and one brother, Harry Spencer, of this city, Mrs. Percy Parliament, of this city, is a niece.

The funeral service will be held on Saturday at Genoa City.

MRS. BENJAMIN SPRINGER

Mrs. Sarah Rebecca Springer, wife of the late Benjamin Springer, passed away suddenly at Belleville General Hospital Thursday evening. The body was interred in Toronto at the Sons of Jacob cemetery.

Mrs. Springer lived at 10 East Moira St. in Belleville and was a resident of the city for forty-five years, being very well known in business circles. She was a member of the local Jewish Community Council, Belleville Hebrew Ladies' Auxiliary of the Sons of Jacob Congregation of Belleville. She was also a member of the Sons of Jacob Benevolent Society of Toronto and took an interest in promoting the welfare of all charitable organizations.

She is survived by her son, Samuel Springer of Kingston; two daughters, Mrs. Gerald Hart and Mrs. J. Abramsky of Belleville, and five grandchildren.

FRANCIS (DUKE) SMITH

In ill health for the past two years, Frank (Duke) Smith, 139A Burnham Street, died late Wednesday evening in Belleville General Hospital.

In the death of Mr. Smith, the city has lost one who took a keen interest in the social, civic and community life of the city for many years.

He was born in this city 64 years ago, being the son of the late Captain and Mrs. D. Smith and had resided his entire life in this community. After his early education in the public and high schools in this city "Duke" as he was known to a legion of friends, took up sailing on the Great Lakes at his father's and he was only following in the footsteps of his father who for many years was a well known captain on the lakes. The late Mr. Smith gradually drifted away from the seafaring life and opened a taxi business in the city. This was operated for some years and then the bus line to Picton was purchased. He operated this line during the war and for a few years afterwards, then sold out and retiring from active business.

His genial smile, his ready wit and his kind personality were known to many in this city and district. "Duke" Smith did not have an enemy and he was never happier than among his friends. His first love was the Wharf St. Debating Club and through his efforts with many others in Foster Ward this club became an institution. He was also interested in social work and was a charter member of the Kiwanis Club, but due to business reasons he was forced to relinquish his membership. He also assisted in the formation and progress of the Yacht Club. Fraternally he was a member of the I.O.O.F. and also the Quinte'na Rebekah lodge. He was a member of St. George's Anglican Church.

He was much interested in civic matters and on two occasions offered himself for aldermanic honors. "Duke" Smith was a kind friend and his death will be sincerely regretted by a wide circle of friends.

Surviving are his wife, the former Pearl Collins; one son, Edward Francis Smith of this city; three sisters, Mrs. Gordon (Mildred) Addy of Medford, Mass.; Mrs. Harry (Helen) Fern of this city, and Mrs. John (Frances) Walker of Georgetown.

Resting at the Bellerville Burial Company Funeral Home. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

MRS. WILLIAM BISDEE (Amelia burg)

A resident of the Amelia burg district for over 80 years, Mrs. Flora Bisdee died in the Peters' Nursing Home in Cherry Valley, yesterday. Her death culminated a lengthy illness.

In her 81st year, Mrs. Bisdee was born in Amelia burg, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Hart. Her husband, William Bisdee, died some years ago.

Mrs. Bisdee leaves two sons, Harry at Amelia burg and Gerald at RR 7, Belleville, and four daughters, Mrs. Durwood (Pearl) Collins, RR 7, Belleville; Mrs. Frank (Flossie) Cross, Pembroke; Mrs. Elwood (Vera) Demille, RR 1, Picton; and Mrs. Jack (Gladys) Fitzgerald, Toronto.

She also leaves one half-sister, Miss Mabel Hart, Picton, and 18 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Resting at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

Robbery Trial Will Be Heard In This City

James Orvil Ross, Toronto, charged with the armed robbery of the Toronto-Dominion Bank at Marmora, yesterday afternoon was remanded for one week by Magistrate R. C. Jackson, in county court in Belleville.

S. Gordon Robertson, Q.C., Belleville crown attorney, told the court he had received a letter from Kenneth Ross, defence counsel, stating he was making further investigations in the preparations of the accused's case. Before these investigations are complete Mr. Ross stated he was in no position to state how his client would plead.

Mr. Robertson noted to the court however, in asking for the remand, that he felt the case was getting to a point where not many more remands should be allowed.

James Ross has appeared in court at Marmora three times since his arrest and has been remanded each time.

Ross stands accused with the armed robbery of the bank on June 29, when two bandits made off with $5,400 from the Marmora office of the Toronto-Dominion Bank.

Eden Has Flu

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Eden is confined to bed with influenza. It was announced today by Downing street.

"On medical advice he has been compelled to cancel his present engagements," an official statement said.

Sir Anthony was reported running a temperature and has decided to remain at his country home at Chequers.

Police Association Donates Cheque to Hospital

Montreal Man Had Stolen Goods In His Possession

A two-block police chase through back yards and over fences ended in the arrest shortly before noon today of a Montreal man who has been charged with breaking and entering and theft from an East Bridge St. house.

Police said George Whelply of Montreal, had been charged with entering the residence of Rev. T. M. Davis, 100 Bridge St. East, some time between 6.30 and midnight last night and with the theft of a mantel radio, a clock and a grey suit belonging to Mr. Davis.

This morning Detective Harold Reid spotted a man on Highland Ave. carrying a club bag and something wrapped in paper. When the officer approached the man, who was attempting to hide both, he suddenly turned and darted between two houses. After a brief chase through backyards, the man was apprehended in the Burton St. area.

Police said the suit taken from the East Bridge St. house was found in the man's club bag, while the radio and clock were also found in his possession.

BROKE INJUNCTION

PAW PAW, Mich. (AP)—His wife wouldn't let him watch wrestling on television and hit him with the dog's bone, a husband complained in court Wednesday. But his wife, Anna, violated terms of a temporary injunction he obtained forbidding her from locking up his food and clothing, denying him use of household appliances and disposing of joint earnings.

Arthur G. Orr Named Manager Of London Bank

Accountant with the Bank of Montreal here, Mr. Arthur G. Orr, 91 Wellington Crescent, is being moved to a London, Ont., branch where he will assume the role of manager next week. Mr. Orr will conclude his service with the bank here on Friday and will take over his new position on Tuesday.

He will be manager of the Wharncliffe and Dundas Streets branch in southwest London. Mr. Henry Becker, former manager at the bank of Montreal here, was moved to London about four years ago.

A native of Cremore in Western Ontario, Mr. Orr started with the bank there 24 years ago and since has served at Woodstock, Campbellford, Picton and Leamington before coming to Belleville. During the war years he served with the Canadian Postal Corps.

Greatest Assets...

One of the greatest assets anyone can have is complete self-reliance. And did you ever think how much this self-reliance is dependent on sight? If you were deprived of that blessing now or this minute—your self-reliant would you be? Quite a question, isn't it? Now self-reliance is exactly what the Canadian National Institute for the Blind is teaching every day. It is the prime need for the sightless, in the work of rehabilitating them, so that they may lead useful, happy lives. It is a tremendous job — but a rewarding one — and it needs YOUR help. The Canadian National Institute for the Blind is now conducting the annual campaign for funds. Make your contribution a generous one and send it to the

PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter print prices were unchanged here today.

The egg market was steady on large with supplies in excess of a quiet demand. Medium and small receipts were equal to a good demand.

Quotations, provided by the Dominion department of agriculture: eggs, in three cases, graded: A large 66-7; A medium 53; A small 37; B 38; C 28. Wholesale to retail: A large 71-72; A medium 58; A small 42; B 43; C 33.

Butter solids: Out, first grade, tenderable 58; non-tenderable 57½-58; western 58½; one lot of third-grade butter sold at 48.

DOLLAR RATE

MONTREAL (CP) — The U.S. dollar was at a discount of 1 7-32 per cent, the Bank of Canada reported this noon today. Wednesday's noon rate was 98¾ cents. Pound sterling $2.75 3-16, against $2.75¼.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The market scored a token advance in first-hour trading on the Toronto stock exchange today. Business was fairly active but down from Wednesday's two-month high with 1,632,000 shares changing hands up to 11 a. m. against 2,120,000.

Foods and papers were strong. Manufactures, steels and refining oils were irregularly ahead. There was little trend in other groups.

Noranda, up $1, led base metals forward. Several other seniors improved fractionally but a number of recently active issues retreated under profit-taking.

Holding companies continued their upward movement of recent sessions. There was little change in western oils, golds and uraniums.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO (CP) — A large carryover of common and medium killers and stockers met a narrow demand with few sales recorded at the Ontario stockyards today.

Receipts: cattle 290; calves 35; hogs 300; sheep and lambs 50; carryover from Wednesday 2,450 cattle.

Prices: medium steers 17-19; commons 12-16; medium heifers 16-17.50; commons 12-15; boner steers and heifers 8-12; good fed yearlings 20.50-21.50; a few good cows sold at 12-12.50; canners and cutters down to 6; a few bulls generally 12.50; common and medium light bulls down to 9.

Replacement cattle: medium stockers 16-17.50; commons 12-16.

Calves were steady at 22-24 for good and choice vealers; medium 16-21; commons 10-15.

Hog prices: grade A 28.50, with two loads out at 29; sows 18.25 dressed.

Lambs were strong at 19.50 a hundredweight for good handy-weight ewes and wethers; bucks discounted $1 a hundredweight while heavy lambs discounted up to $2. Common and medium lambs ranged from 13-17.

Beaverton Again Without Chief of Police

BEAVERTON, Ont. (CP)—Chief constable James Newton turned in his badge Wednesday night becoming the second police chief in months.

After a row last week with police commissioner J. Howard Hancock about expenses and a salary raise, chief Newton was asked by village council to resign by Sept. 17.

The previous police chief, Hector Wallace Reid, was fired after being convicted of driving while drunk.

Mr. Sharp assured the board the federal government will grant an export licence to allow the United States Tennessee Gas Transmission Co. to increase its supply to Canada to cover requirements for the Toronto-Montreal line until the all-Canadian pipeline from Alberta is completed.

He said he was making this announcement on the authority of Trade Minister Howe and as a result of a series of recent meetings among the Ontario, Alberta and federal governments, the Canadian Petroleum Association and the Trans-Canada company.

The proposed crown company is expected to lease its line to Trans-Canada under a plan which would amortize the governments' investment, expected to run about $120,000,000.

COMPLETED IN 1957

Mr. Sharp said Trans-Canada and its backers have given the federal government assurance that it will be able to build the balance of the pipeline.

"The government of Canada is proceeding on the assumption that Trans-Canada now will be able to accomplish this objective and that construction will commence in 1956 and be completed in 1957," Mr. Sharp said.

He added:

"It has been demonstrated to the government that an extra year of load-b u i l d i n g (development of sales) in the marketing area of Montreal and the cities between Toronto and Montreal is of great importance to the financing of the total trans-Canada project.

"The government of Canada, therefore, is of the opinion that the Montreal line (Sheridan, Ont., to Ste. Anne de Believue, Que.) is a necessary preliminary stage of construction to the completion of the total trans-Canada pipeline and that such Montreal line should be authorized at this time without awaiting proof of the financial commitments of the total trans-Canada pipeline, so that the ultimate financing may not be unnecessarily delayed.

"A contract has been negotiated for a source of gas in the United States and Trans-Canada has been informed that an import licence will be forthcoming. The contract between Trans-Canada and Tennessee Gas Transmission for the import of U. S. gas for this Montreal line will be terminated when western Canadian gas is available at Toronto."

ON WAY HOME

MOSCOW (AP)—U. S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen left Moscow by plane today for a vacation in the United States. He is not expected to return to his post here until November—or perhaps later if he accompanies State Secretary John Foster Dulles to Foreign ministers conference next month at Geneva.

HOW TO KEEP SLIM, BY H. TRUMAN

Politics isn't all that former U.S. presidents talk about when they hold press conferences. When former President Harry Truman met the press in Chicago, he offered information on how he keeps a trim figure despite his 71 years. It's very simple. Just push yourself away from the table like this, Mr. Truman explained, illustrating with a pushing motion. (Central Press Canadian).

RAF Observes 15th Anniversary Of Triumph

LONDON (Reuters)—The RAF today commemorated the 1940 Battle of Britain with a massed fly-past of 72 jet fighters.

For the first time this annual event consisted entirely of jets, apart from the Second World War veterans—a Spitfire and a Hurricane—which preceded the main formations.

Spitfires and Hurricanes bore the brunt of the battle against Hitler's bombing raids.

Nickel Miners Vote on New Wage Contract

SUDBURY (CP) — More than 2,000 union employees of the Falconbridge nickel mines voted today on a new contract negotiated and recommended by officers of local 598 of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind). Falconbridge is 14 miles north of Sudbury.

The major provision is for a five-cent general increase which provides for hourly increases from 15¢ to 21 cents an hour for all employees. The basic minimum rate is increased to $1.35 an hour for a smelter laborer.

The 'Big Four' in Base Metals

Nickel, copper, lead and zinc are the 'Big Four' in Canadian base metals. An important factor in helping Canada maintain a favourable trade balance, base metal mines provide employment for thousands and are large consumers of timber, explosives, steel, fuels, hydro-electric power and a wide range of other products.

As these metals are essential to many industries, securities of several Canadian base metal companies offer interesting prospects for investment. The increasing demand for their products, both at home and abroad, has resulted in expansion of productive facilities, greater output, and increased activity in searching for and developing new ore bodies in many parts of Canada.

Because Canadian base metals are becoming more and more essential in meeting world requirements and in Canada's expanding economy, you may think it desirable to include in your list of investments the securities of at least some of the important companies in this industry. If so, you might like to discuss with us an investment in Canadian base metals. Just write or visit any of our offices.

Sinclair On Way to Peiping

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Canadian Fisheries Minister James Sinclair left Russia Wednesday for Peiping after an extensive tour of the fishing areas of the Soviet Far East. Sinclair has visited the Soviet Pacific ports of Khabarovsk and Vladivostok, Petropaviovsk - Kamchatsky and Nakhodka. Moscow radio said Wednesday he acquainted himself with the "fishing and crab-catching fleet, the seaports and the enterprises of the U.S.S.R. fishing industry."

DIES IN ACCIDENT

GRAVENHURST (CP)—An accident near here on Highway 11 early today took the life of Gordon R. Mr. Doolittle apparently lost control of Severn Bridge.

Mr. Doolittle apparently lost control of his car, it struck a soft shoulder and plunged over a 75-foot embankment at Beavercreek.

Thinks Expansion Will Slow Down

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian economy will keep advancing in the period ahead but rate of growth may be a little slower than that of recent years, M. S. Beringer, president of British American Oil Co. Ltd., predicted today in an address to the Ontario Society of Training Directors.

Behind the fast post-war advance was a faster-than-average population growth; big backlogs of unfilled domestic orders and abundant opportunities for export; rapid industrial progress during the war when business didn't have to worry about foreign competition; and a big expansion of Canadian resources.

Now, industries lacked the big domestic backlogs of orders; population growth was at a slower rate; and foreign competition was back. However, if the next decade saw a slower rate of expansion, economists predicted another pick-up in the decade 1965 to 1975.

Mr. Beringer's remarks were contained in a text released to the press in advance of delivery.

PINCHED WAIST GIVES HIGHER SPEED

Pulling in the waistline is even having an effect on military aircraft. The U.S. National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, announcing a new concept in design, reveals that a new pinch-waisted model has produced increases in supersonic speed up to 25 percent. Arrow points to the barely apparent "pinch" in an F-16A jet whose speed is now 25 percent higher than the straight-torso prototype. (Central Press Canadian).

A SELLOUT

CHICAGO (AP)—On Sunday 300 new homes, selling from $7,500 to $28,000, were opened to the public in suburban Melrose Park and put on sale. By Wednesday the $7,000,000 worth of dwellings were sold. The homes were featured in full — page newspaper advertisements and on Sunday 40,000 persons viewed them.

THAT MOSCOW AGREEMENT

Official circles in Bonn, the capital of West Germany, were reported Wednesday to be "surprised and puzzled" by the fact that Chancellor Adenauer and the Kremlin leaders had agreed to establish diplomatic relations between West Germany and Russia.

"There had been a tendency to write off the conference as a dead loss, while applauding Adenauer's stubborn stand in dealing with the Russians," the Associated Press reported.

Adenauer maintains that he did not abandon any of his government's ties and obligations to NATO and the Western European Union. There is no reason to doubt that statement, or his additional assertion that "no secret deal or pact of any kind was made" with the Soviet government.

Some people are surprised at the Russian declaration that the Russians had not demanded that he break West Germany's ties with NATO, but the Russians are shrewd enough to ask for what they know they can be refused, unless they desire a refusal for propaganda or other purposes.

The surprising and puzzling part about the results of the Bonn conference is not that Adenauer should have agreed to resume diplomatic relations with Russia. Neither he nor any other German could refuse to do so at the price the Russians were willing to pay—the return of German prisoners of war held by the Russians. Any German leader who permitted his dislike of the Soviet Union to block the release of these prisoners for the trivial price demanded was resumption of normal diplomatic relations would almost certainly meet defeat. No, Adenauer's acceptance of the Russian demand—or offer —was anything but puzzling nor surprising. What was amazing was that the Russians should be willing to pay such a comparatively high price for such a comparatively small concession.

There may be those who will argue that Russia is actually paying no price at all—that the German prisoners are of no value to her, and anything she gets in exchange for their release is pure profit. While she held the prisoners, however, Russia had a strong asset in any bargaining, for, while they are of little value to her, their release might be of great importance to the Germans. To regard the prisoners as of no value is to maintain that there was nothing of great importance which Russia could buy from Germany in the way of trade. In other words it is to argue that Russia has written off the possibility of weaning West Germany away from the Western bloc.

This is a possible explanation of the surprising Moscow accord, but if it is the true explanation it is as surprising as the agreement. Russia has not in the past been noted for being easily discouraged in any of her political manoeuvres.

It is possible, of course, that the Russian agreement to release the Germans for a simple recognition of the fact that Germany remained detention is justified, that the Second Great War has become a bygone.* If this is the explanation, then it means that Russia has, indeed, reformed her ways.

The third explanation—and the one which is likely to be most readily accepted in the Western world—is that the Russians are playing a very subtle game with West Germany and that, by voluntarily surrendering their most potent weapon in negotiations with the Germans, they hope to eventually convince West Germany that an alliance with Russia will be more to her continued liking with the West. If this is the game it is a very tricky one—and one which will take many years to play.

DEMAND SHORTER SCHOOL WEEK

Run for cover!

It looks as if the school kids are going to join the ranks of organized labor.

Out in Victoria, B.C., the District Trades and Labor Council has protested that the school children of the province are being turned into "psychiatric cases" by an overload of homework.

The drive for a shorter school week looks to be well underway. Teachers and school boards need look for no help through conciliation.

But parents had better not laugh at their plight. Next we may expect to hear demands for pay increases. A quarter a week, or fifty cents a week, or fifty cents, with time and a half for being good on week-ends and special incentive pay for quiet, orderly conduct on the mornings after the night before—the parents' night before, that is. Grievance committee to consider all spankings.

SIMPLE EXPLANATION

The Peterborough Examiner is disturbed by a letter written by a Toronto woman to a paper in that city. She complained that during the nine years she has lived in Toronto she has dated "about 900 men" and that "I can only recall three who did not make passes at me—why are gentlemen in the minority?"

The Examiner cannot understand how she can be so irresistible—and why, if she is, she does not take steps to remedy the situation. She could let her hair become dingy and greasy; she could twist the hems of her stockings.

The Examiner, we suspect, is misinterpreting her. She did not say that three men out of 900 did not make passes at her; all she said was that she could recall only three who did not do so. This is almost certainly the explanation for the discrepancy, of course. Most women would not be able to remember a single one of the disinterested. The unkissed are never missed.

DOCTOR WRITING

When I went to school I was told
I should know
How to spell so to write, "
And those arts I acquired, though
my progress was slow,
To my parents' delight.

The methods they used, now I publicly own
Seemed to me to succeed,
Now, in spite of the years that have come and have flown,
I can still write and read.

But I worked in a store where prescriptions were filled
When I was a boy of fifteen,
Though the doctors in medicine
may have been skilled,
Their writing was bad.

I think as the cure for my ailment I view
On blanks, blue or white,
What method was used, and I wonder just who Taught doctors to write?

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

Sept. 15, 1925

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Copplin motored to Toronto over the week-end to attend the wedding of Mr. Copplin's brother.

Miss Mary Ellis left last week for Toronto where she will attend the Normal School.

Miss Ethel Hall has returned to Toronto after visiting Mrs. C. A. Ruttan and Mrs. Ruttan in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hall motored to Oshawa after a two weeks' motor car tour of the New England States.

The "dead-eye" baseball match between teams composed of members of the police department and the fire department, against members of the Kinsmen Club, which was played at the Exhibition Park, under floodlights, attracted about 1200 fans and they certainly enjoyed the unusual spectacle. It sure was highly amusing. The result of the game was a score of 3 to 2 in favor of the policemen and firemen. Bill Evans took no chances in the donkey he was to ride taking him in the wrong direction after making a good hit, so he picked up the small animal and ran the bases thus scoring a run. The members of the Kinsmen's saw the success of Evans and decided to pick up the donkey and get as far as third base where he stopped to get his breath, finally he got off and he and the small donkey tangled up in the turf in home plate much to the amusement of the spectators. The following composed the teams: Police and Firemen,—Thompson, Delaney, O'Brien, Greatrix, Booth, Foote, Izard, Carter, McBrien, McDonald and Sproule; Kinsmen,—Finch, Clem, Allen, Ross, Graham, McFee, Norris, Colling, Duff, Keel and Hurst. Chief of Police Kidd was the umpire and he had his hands full. The large crowd for the firemen and police were made by Fred Izard, Bill Evans of the police and Thompson of the firemen. The Kinsmen's only run was made by Rob Graham. The game explained:

The main object of the game is to provide plenty of fun and amusement for everybody, so the rules are made to enter into the amusement; it was quite apparent however, that the donkeys really won the ball game. The donkeys "pulled" many of the players off bases into the dust around the home plate because the players were slow to get into the direction of first base. The donkeys were also very allowed, the batter must hit the ball then try to mount his donkey and ride around the bases, the base paths, while the fielding team, not the donkeys, retrieve the ball until they are within one step from the donkey, when he must start at times in going the wrong direction and although the batter was allowed when the rider is trying to mount, the donkeys would when they get on the diamond and no amount of urging can make them go around the bases in a small. Then at times they refused to go around the bases in that step. The second game between the sponsors of the attraction, the Kinsmen, will be played this evening when they will meet the players of the Kiwanis Club. If you want to have a good laugh, be on hand. The donkeys vary in size, some small and others a fair size.

The bridge crossing the Trent River at Frankford is to be replaced with a new and up-to-date bridge; a bylaw was carried at Trenton providing for and for the raising of funds for this purpose. The present bridge is 86 years old and is one of the oldest enclosed bridges in the province. It will seem strange to walk or drive across a bridge entirely in the open, but the old landmark will be missed.

The steamer Brockville carried an excursion from here to the Napanee Fair today. Outings of this kind are always popular and the sail up the Napanee River is one which is greatly enjoyed.

The Rev. H. S. Osborne, B.A., B.D., pastor of Bridge Street Methodist Church, has accepted an invitation to preach at one of the Metropolitan Methodist Church in Victoria, B.C. We congratulate Mr. Osborne on the invitation to one of the finest Methodist churches in the Dominion and wish him all success.

For the present year in connection J. Harris and Son, gardeners in this city have won the first prize for celery at the Ottawa Fair.

Dr. Charles E. Hickey of Morrisburg is a guest at the Quinte Sanitarium Bowell for a few days.

Mr. Robert Mathison commenced today his twenty-seventh year as superintendent of the D. & C. Separate School. Prior to coming here Mr. Mathison was an accountant, editor and publisher in Brantford.

Mr. L. B. Cooper left today to attend the Grand Secretary's Lodge of the Independent Order of Oddfellows in Philadelphia, Pa.

Messrs. E. T. Austin and F. Cairns have returned home after spending a few days in Ottawa.

Round Cheese On Way Out

(Hartford, Courant)

Switzerland has been in the news so much lately that Wisconsin must have been getting desperate. That may be the explanation of why Wisconsin is now disclosing that round Swiss cheese is on its way out. In the next few years only cheese is likely to come from the cheesemakers in market. At least that's the report from Monroe, Wisconsin, all far as Wis. cheese if not Swiss cheese is concerned. What the Swiss plan to do in the Emme Valley, where Emmenthaler cheese was the original Swiss (not to be confused with Wis.), is not known. As in all these marketing decisions, the consumer had his say. Few wanted to buy the wedge-shaped wheels in which the old Wis. cheese came. Fewer than 15 percent used to stock full wheels, the Milwaukee Journal estimates. Yet when middlemen trimmed down the wheels to make flat rectangles of cheese—slices, to you—there was always considerable waste. As packaging became even more important, for supermarkets, again roundness was emphasized to be no virtue. So some Wis. cheesemakers began forgetting about round shapes. They will be missed.

It all began more than a decade ago, this shift to square slices, as researchers found a way to do it. Small cheesemakers have been reluctant to give up the ways of their ancestors. Cheesemaking is an ancient and honorable trade and there are such things as traditions. But the customer must be served, and if he says square, he means square.

Tomatoes and Corn

(By John Gould in the Christian Science Monitor)

Clevie Bickford telephoned the other morning and expressed a deep touching desire to see me. "You come right down here," he said. "I got to see how you look with your eyes bugged out like cucumbers and the rosy hues of astonishment belchgin' your dappled hide."

So I went down to see Clevie. I knew what was coming. I sent away last spring and got some of these high-priced hybrid tomato seeds, costing about nickel apiece, and I knew Clevie was on the plants to try out in his garden. He had to borrow the soil with a generous hand, to drive in a couple of cedar stakes, and to stand back from the exultant growth drew him under.

Clevie seemed to think I was pulling his leg, for he indicated that the numerous vines he had successfully reared tomatoes left him little to learn about them, and he guessed maybe he'd just as well was as good as another. Those I kept for seed myself, and I am pleased with the investment. Now I was to learn how Clevie felt about his.

When I got there he trotted me out to the garden, and there was a tomato plant looking about like an elm tree, lashed to four posts like flagstaffs, and fruit hanging down like Christmas ornaments in great coagulated bunches of color.

"Lookit that!" said Clevie.

"It's a mite peak-ed, ain't it?" I said.

Clevie said, "Put one whether there's any left to start, and fetch buckets of water every day if it don't rain. Jevver see another like it?"

Clevie said, "Get fired pickling red tomatoes. I was giving them away, but the neighbors says no. You've had enough. I'm afraid the pickle'll break down. I'm to have every morning with a stepladder and dig into them. I never seen such nothing like it."

I said, "Actually it's the perfectest clousness of crossbred genes, and partly it's a matter of plentiful intermingle of the best characteristics of tomatoes."

Clevie said, "Oh, yes — oh, yes."

I said, "What else you got in your garden?"

Clevie said, "Well I got everything, but I don't pay much attention to it. I'm to have my hands looking at that tomato plant. I don't even know if that's corn or grass or tomato, but it's been a long time, and I never seen nothing like that."

So the rest of Clevie's garden was good. Some of his melon plants looked wilted, as if they'd pulled themselves up by the roots while growing, but the quantity of ripening melons and cucumbers would seem to indicate the vines had done their duty well. Here at last, I told Clevie, like everybody else around here, he had been picking cucumbers and hauling them in by the side of the garden, until he had about a hundred pickles in the basement and always exceed the demand. He had some nice-looking squash and pumpkin.

Then we came to his sweetcorn. He grinned at me. He was pleased and gold for early use, and had put in a few rows of some long-legged white variety for later. He didn't know just what the white corn was, but it was doing well in the dry weather, and the ears were already filling out. I felt of one, and noticed here and there through both pieces the evidence of predatory attack — sweetcorn around here is fair game for practically every wild creature that runs or flies. "You've already got the raccoons coming," I said.

Clevie laughed. "No, sirr!" he said. "It ain't 'coons. It ain't squirrels, either. Last year it was squirrels, but I fixed them. I got a dog on them. He kept them away, let me. Clever little fellow. I don't think there's a smarter dog around here. Does about everything I tell him. Seems to understand what I say.

"Last year, now, I began to notice corn was knocked down, and ears chewed off, and I watched and I see it was the dog — squirrels. They were thicker than flies, setting up in the green trees and me and watch me, and the minute I left the garden they'd swarm right down and go to work. I made up an old pair of pants and a machinery, but they'd sit up a long thing and chew corn. I hated to organize a military defense, because they're cruel things to kill and the rest of the year I like to have them around. But one day I thought about the dog, and I said I bet that dog will do the trick!

"So I called him to me, and walked out here with him, and I showed him what was going on. Talked to him like a father. Showed him the squirrels up in the trees, and how they'd chewed off the corn, and spanked him and gave lecture on the duties and obligations of a hound. He seemed to understand it all right, and I went over and looked up in a tree, and pretended to bark, and I guess he myself maybe he's got the idea.

"Well, he's got over it. Next morning the dog was by the back door wanting out, and he yapped and I opened it and he went out and about it, and I let him out and he headed right down to the garden, out to the garden, and you never heard such a yelping as he put up. He gave them squirrels what-for, and after an hour or so he came back to the house with a length of corn and an ear in his mouth, and I patted him and made of him and he's been on the job ever since, and we ain't had no trouble with squirrels since.

"Well, if the dog's as good as that, what do you figure is doing the damage to your corn?"

"The dog," says Clevie. "He thought I was talking about the corn. I got the only dog I ever heard of that likes sweetcorn. He's worse than the squirrels!"

Beauty Shop For Males

(Wall Street Journal.)

Faust, a handsome, black-shocked young man, sits regally in the chair and smeared a gooey cream over the upturned face of a customer who appears about to have his first mud pack.

Next comes a few swipes with a hot towel, followed by a "milk process" that leaves the man's complexion steamy towel. After rubbing in a few drops of oil, Faust smoothed the mud pack over the head and face beneath, with an infra-red lamp.

While Faust waited chatters, no matter how swank or run down the clientele, their conversation is the fingernail treatment that let the young man's nails a gleaming pink lacquer finish.

Then Faust wiped off the mud pack, rubbed the face hard and finished up with a "vitamin-complexion" lotion. Next, a pedicure and, finally, the barber used a hand blower to dry the hair held firmly in place with a net.

This was "getting the works" at Faust's Coiffure-de-Luxe, lavatory-cum-beauty salon for men. Business is the novelty, but this shop on New York's East 53th street does highlight a growing mascular trend to spend more than ever before on good and services aimed at personal embellishment.

There is something of divinity in the man who loves his work.

We turn to books time and time again, if they have the feeling of the writer there. They are deathless, as well. People do not die who have left behind them things we decorate the graves of our beloved, but we cherish them in our heart, where they live for us, and all succeeding generations.

Poetry must be one who is inspired by it, because poets put feeling into their work. We read Robert Frost and you will understand that here is a man who is in love with feeling and understanding. Eugene Field's poetry has that same quality. All sincere feeling has a quality of life to it.

Drivers Mesmerized

(Brockville Recorder and Times)

Number of car-train accident at railway crossings is broad daylight, in locations where trains are clearly visible to motorists long before crossings are actually reached, would seem to show that the sight of an approaching train tends to mesmerize some drivers to the extent that they become incapable of decisions becomes impossible.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

Resistance My Eye

It doesn't mean anything to the wiseacres and knucklehead, ever to those engaged in the practice of medicine, that the thorough investigation made by the British Medical Research Council, including experiments on human volunteers under as rigid control as possible, educed no evidence to support the notion that such "carriers" of sponges, drafts, change of weather, wet feet, insufficient clothing and the like has an effect on individual's susceptibility to colds. Or that these factors are causes they're running like wild- fire customers and their quacks call "colds."

Lowered resistance. You poor — !

Can't you get it through your thick head that the doctors and others who look into cause and cure plain that an individual or group of individuals developed or did not develop this or that disease because he or they maintained or did not maintain good resistance is just pulling your leg

The medical authority can define "resistance" or tell how to distinguish such a state from immunity.

We do know something about immunity. We know a lot about it specific. We know that vaccination confers immunity to smallpox, typhoid fever; toxin-antitoxin of toxoid immunity to diphtheria. Not necessarily absolute, ever-lasting immunity, but a sufficient degree of immunity to protect the immunized persons against ordinary hazards. At the same time we know immunity to smallpox or immunity to typhoid fever is no protection against diphtheria and vice versa.

We know, too, that fatigue, hunger, overwork, cold, dampness, unhappiness, worry and other discomforts to which most people are subjected from time to time do not appreciably alter whatever degree of immunity the individual may have against a particular disease.

To imagine that any of these incidental circumstances of every-day life "lowers resistance" and so accounts for whatever illness overtakes the patient is just plumb dumb, that's all. Don't let the quack corner you in that way —stop him cold the moment he begins sounding off about maintaining resistance by asking him how he determines whether a person has or has not good resistance. Your impertinence may get him, but more than likely you're not quite so gullible as he thought he'd be. He is quick you with a lot of "shots" which are generally no more effective than the placebo he would be taken in the ordinary way.

Strength for the Day

THOSE ETERNAL PRINCIPLES

Napoleon's Russian campaign legions. When the snow became cost him two hundred fifty thousand men. He tried to make light of the whole affair. His first announcement when he reached the Emperor was in the best of health. When someone asked if it were true that many men had died, Napoleon answered jauntily, "Oh, about two hundred fifty thousand men, or thereabouts, but most of them were Germans."

But the Russian campaign spelled doom for the Little Corsican. He met a merciless commander across the steppes of Russia. Shortly after he entered Moscow, a few snowflakes began to fall. The impudent little pretender had had years to read, he would have read and stood that these snowflakes were the vanguard of God's avenging deep that man and beast could hardly plow through it and the air so bitter cold that a regiment lay down at night and a corporal's guard arose in the morning. Napoleon knew that Jehovah of Hosts was mightier in battle than the Napoleon marshalled his armies and God vanquished him with a few snowflakes.

Let us remember that God's little finger is stronger than the mightiest armies of men and demons. Statesmen may meet and confer, but a certain routine, considering that they are settling the affairs of the world; but in the end God not only settles them — God settled them thousands of years ago. As he said above, what was and is this day men break them at their jeopardy.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The public and high school students have by now become accustomed to the annual autumn ritual. Many of them are so fortunate as to have the same teachers they had last year. But the wise high scholar is beset with strange and forbidding characters, the new teachers. Strangers.

One of the important aspects of education is the experience children and the young people have in meeting new teachers for the first time. Some are likable to forget that education consists of more than subjects. The emphasis is put on what children are "taking." What is far more important is not what they are "taking" from. If you have ever had a paper in your recent years about education, you might suppose that material our children are fed is far more important than the way it is fed by the people who do the feeding. Sometimes it seems as though the trend of modern education is to produce a teacher who is a robot, mechanically following a syllabus and a process hatched out by a with little holes by some supernumerary in the secret caves of the higher intelligence.

But already, with school barely open, the kids are coming home with long faces, reporting on the stinkers they are going to have to sit under for the next long autumn, winter and spring. Stinkers. Hard, cold, masterful strangers. Men or women without a trace of that intangible quickness children are accustomed to find in their parents, grandparents, and the kindly souls who have so far shielded them. Let us hope that every child meets at least one or two teachers who scares the stuffing out of them.

For the unescapable fact about the whole process is that our children pass on out of education into the hard cold world, whether is a capitalist world, or a socialist world, or a communist world, the world much the same. Where the school teachers than anybody else, to meet those who are so like the tough, demanding insistent, prodding school teachers who are, let us admit it right now, the very best of school teachers, that ever lived. Hard, disciplined and frightened of life, but familiar and at home with it.

Let's wish every school child at least one or two real good old fashioned among his teachers. He will remember them with love.

Announcement May Be Made About Townsend

LONDON (AP) — The Daily Sketch says a public announcement may soon be made stating once and for all whether Princess Margaret is going to marry Group Capt. Peter Townsend.

The mass-circulation tabloid says Prime Minister Eden will discuss the matter with the Queen and other members of the Royal Family when he visits their Scottish retreat at Balmoral Castle this weekend.

"The object of the statement," says The Sketch, "would be to discount or confirm reports which have gone around the world.

"It is believed that court advisers are in favor of an announcement. To avoid breaking tradition it may be decided to authorize Peter Townsend to make it."

MIND CHANGED

There have been recent reports that the vivacious and unpredictable princess has changed her mind about Townsend.

The Sketch says Eden will preside over a cabinet meeting Thursday before he takes off for Scotland.

"The governments in the Dominions, it is understood, have expressed their informal views," the paper adds.

Sewage Disposal Service to Area Is Discontinued

STRATFORD (CP)—Residents of a Veterans Land Act settlement near this city are in for further trouble as city council moved to discontinue sewage disposal service to the area.

Mayor W. P. Gregory suggested that the subject be considered at council committee meetings next month and the VLA residents be advised that service will be discontinued as of Sept. 30, next year.

The mayor's suggestion did not meet with immediate unanimous endorsement. He said that the city's over-taxed sewage disposal plant could not continue to handle increased sewage.

"They (the VLA residents), had a chance to come into the city but the offer met with no sympathy," Mayor Gregory said, referring to action by VLA people who a year ago opposed the city's bid to annex the area. "We just can't afford to have them in the system."

Ratepayer Questions Legality Of Business Without Councillor

HAMILTON (CP)—The legality of Bronte council business conducted since the expulsion of Councillor John Davison has been questioned in a letter to Reeve Thomas Millward from Bronte, ratepayer D. R. Watt.

Mr. Watt's letter says: "Recent proceedings of the village council would indicate that a by-law has been used to remove an elected representative of the people of Bronte."

"The above mentioned by-law has been used on three successive occasions. The first time I can agree on. The second and third occasions would indicate discrimination against this councillor. It is my belief that I can find sufficient evidence to support my claim."

"As a ratepayer, I would strongly suggest that the councillor be allowed to take his seat."

"Since the councillor's dismissal about 25 per cent of our revenue has been approved for payment. Many important issues are before council, and are coming before council. There should be no reason for a ratepayer to take legal action to insure elected representative be permitted to sit at council. If necessary, however, a challenge to the legality of the by-law and the use by the council of the by-law will be placed in the hands of my solicitor for his consideration for further action."

"I might point out that this will challenge the legality of all council actions from the point of dismissal until he is reseated."

Councillor Davison was first unseated Aug. 11 when he told Reeve Millward to "shut up." Millward invoked a procedural by-law which states that, a councillor, once removed from a meeting, may not resume his seat until he apologizes, and the apology is accepted by the majority of other councillors.

Davison apologized at an Aug. 15 meeting, but the apology was turned down. Davison was asked to leave the meeting. He refused, and at Reeve Millward's request, was removed by Bronte Police Chief Barny Lowe.

Davison was again refused his seat last Thursday night.

Some farmers in the picturesque, low-lying Suffolk Broads district of England bring in the hay by water. So it was logical for a British boat builder to use lightweight aluminum to produce a 650-pound punt capable of carrying a load of hay more than six times its own weight.

In Canada aluminum is best known among farmers as a non-rusting, heat-reflecting, easily handled material for barns and roofs and silos . . . though of course it has many other farm uses, from milk cans to windmill blades. No hay-boats, though.

PARTING GIFT

Yesterday afternoon several neighbors and friends of Miss Agnes Bland, assembled at the home of Mrs. W. Whalen, 161 Church Street, for a surprise party on Miss Bland's behalf, who after 35 or more years has resided on Church Street, and is now preparing to take up residence on Charles Street—so you went to her, as a mark of their esteem, a lovely table lamp.

Miss Bland, though completely surprised, thanked her friends for this gracious token.

Cards were enjoyed during the afternoon, and a social get-together after which refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Whalen and Mrs. Clayton Frechette.

Teachers' Assoc. Reports New Staff Members

The first regular meeting for fall term of the Belleville Public and Separate School Teachers' Association, was held in the auditorium of Queen Elizabeth school on Monday.

After greeting the teachers on their return from holidays, the president, Mr. William Burgoyne called for the reading of the minutes of the last meeting. He also congratulated Miss Jean Carswell, secretary on his able attention to Association business which had transacted during July and August.

NEW STAFF MEMBERS

Several items of correspondence were dealt with after which the new staff members of the schools were called upon to introduce new members of their staffs.

They reported as follows: Queen Alexandra school by Principal M. Hackett— Mrs. Snyder, Public School, Mrs. McCoy, Mr. Lockyer, Mr. Fuller, Mrs. Tucker.

Queen Elizabeth school by Principal G. Anderson — Mrs. Campbell, Mr. Manson, Mrs. Bradshaw.

Sir Winston Churchill school by Principal C. J. Frederick—Miss Preston, Mrs. Downey, Miss Bristol.

Queen Victoria school by Principal S. Fairman— Miss Dickie, Mr. Green.

St. Michael's Academy by Sister Mary Agnes—Sister Mary Gabriel, Mr. Foley.

King George school by Principal J. Cousins — Miss Emerson, Miss Bassett, Miss Harris, Mrs. Lockyer.

Queen Mary school by Principal H. Brooks—Mr. Moorcraft, Mr. Julian.

Prince Charles school by Principal E. Bateman—Mr. Lawrence Moore.

St. Joseph's school by Sister Mary Nevcen—Miss M. Durkin, Miss V. Cannon.

Mr. L. A. Kells, superintendent of schools in the city, welcomed the new teachers, mentioning the training value to be derived in the classes in Industrial Arts and Crafts as taught this year by Mr. Fuller in Queen Alexandra school and Mr. Julian in Queen Mary school.

Mr. Kells also made reference to several matters regarding curriculum and organization.

Teachers were reminded of the night school classes in music as a further aid and convenience course by Miss Phyllis May, supervisor of music.

Plans for the coming teachers' convention which is to be held in Hamilton on October 7 and 8 were discussed. The program was outlined as it was to be for junior school and senior school classrooms in the morning, followed by round table conferences as to various methods, work and problems observed, in the afternoon.

Mr. Anderson, principal of Queen Elizabeth school, assigned the teachers to their various classrooms for the monthly grade meeting.

Weddings

ANDREWS—WALSH

White gladioli decorated the altars of the Church of Saint Michael the Archangel, on Saturday, August 27, at 9 a.m., when Rev. F. F. Murphy, united in marriage, Monica Walsh of Belleville, second youngest daughter of Mrs. James Vincent Walsh, and the late Mr. Walsh, to George Edward Andrews of Cobourg, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Andrews.

Sister M. Wilhelmina at the organ accompanied the soloist, Mr. Robert Burke.

The bride was given in marriage by her oldest brother, Mr. Joseph Walsh, of Deseronto. She wore a gown of French Chantilly lace and nylon illusion net over white taffeta. It was fashioned with molded bodice and bouffant skirt, the tiered front panelled with net, the edges of which were scalloped with lace. A lace jacket with long sleeves pointed at the wrists featured a Peter Pan collar. A queen Anne headdress held her below-the-shoulder veil and she carried a semi-cascade bouquet of garnet roses and adiantum fern.

Miss Mary V. Walsh of Ottawa, a sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She was attired in a net gown of cell blue and she wore a matching velvet hat. Her bouquet was a nosegay of garnet roses, white mums and blue feathered carnations.

Constable Donald Andrews, RCMP, Ottawa, attended his brother. The ushers were Messrs. Lloyd Lovett, Cobourg, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Michael Walsh, Kingston, brother of the bride.

A reception followed at the Queen's hotel. Mrs. Walsh, mother of the bride, wore a gown of plum taffeta with a navy feather hat, while Mrs. Andrews, the bridegroom's mother, chose a two-piece rose gown with navy accessories. Both wore corsages of white gardenias.

For motored to New York City and other points in the United States, the bride chose a brown sheath dress with matching duster, brown and champagne accessories with a corsage of bronze 'mums. The couple are residing in Cobourg.

Out-of-town guests were present from Cobourg, Ottawa, Seaforth, Windsor, Brockville, Deseronto, Marysville, Kingston, Read, St. Catharines and Gananoque.

Women's Activities

TABERNACLE UNITED W.M.S.

The September meeting of Tabernacle United W.M.S. was held in the church parlor with the president, Mrs. W. May, presiding who opened the meeting by reading a hymn "Give Us Courage".

There were 12 members and two visitors present.

Mrs. T. Skeggs read an article on Temperance, "Why Abstain?"

Announcement was made of the rally to be held at Carmen on October 12 morning and afternoon.

Also on Sunday, October 2, the morning service in Tabernacle church will be taken by the W.M.S. with Mrs. Harris of Peterborough, as guest speaker.

The members were asked to bring in suitable articles to be packed in the bale for overseas next month.

There were 29 calls made. Mrs. Whitney favored with a solo "His Eye is on the Sparrow."

Mrs. McKinnon read Psalm 90 for the Scripture reading and Mrs. Baird read an article "It Can Be Done".

SCHOOL FOR LEADERS

Report of "School for Leaders" was given by Mrs. R. Lloyd, who had been sent as a delegate to Whitby to attend the school.

She reported an attendance of 226 ' registered, and spoke in glowing terms of the "School for Leaders", and advised anyone who could to go. The school was held in August with a number of speakers and teachers on mission work.

The new study book for year 1955-56 was discussed and knowledge pertaining to mission work at home and abroad was discussed and gained by each member.

Miss Brown, who had spent 42 years in China and is now retired.

The Rev. Mr. Talford spoke on Home Missions and Mrs. Young on work in Canada, Indian Missions and work among French Canadians.

Mrs. McKillop spoke at the Tuesday evening service and Mrs. Grant led in the worship each morning. Mrs. Grant led in the worship each morning and Dr. Winnifred Thomas led the Bible study group each morning, which was a wonderful inspiration.

Miss Brown had charge of the Vesper service which was held on the lawn of the college, on Thursday evening, with the delegates facing the setting sun.

The school was held from Monday evening until Friday noon.

These are just a few highlights of the School for Leaders, August 1955.

Bridge St. United Church Jubilee E.A Meets

The Jubilee Evening Auxiliary of Bridge Street United church held its opening meeting of the season on Tuesday evening, with a good attendance.

A delicious supper was served by Miss Kay Daly and her group. The president, Miss Lazier, welcomed the members.

Miss H. Cook gave the treasurer's report, showing a balance to date of $24.94; $400 having been sent to the Presbytery treasurer.

Explanation was made of "In Memoriam" certificates. Special gifts of money in memory of loved ones will be recognized by these certificates. "In Memoriam" donations will apply on the allocation.

Announcement was made of the Coronation coffee party. Mrs. Clare announced the increase in price of the Missionary Monthly from 25 cents to 75 cents.

Miss Campbell reported 13 calls made during the summer and read an interesting letter from Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Gray (nee Mary Locke) in Thailand.

Mrs. Houston outlined tentative plans for the Baby Band for next Thanksgiving Instead of at Christmas, as formerly.

Miss Grace Reynolds gave a reading, stressing the need for additional funds to carry on the work of missions.

Envelopes for the Thanksgiving thankoffering were distributed.

STUDY THEME

Miss Lazier announced the study theme for 1955-57 as being "The Canadian Indian" and "Old and New Canadians". Miss Lazier also read a charming story "A Home For a Song".

Prayer was offered by Miss Kenny. Miss Helen Cook sang the beautiful solo "Give Us Faith Today," accompanied by Mrs. Demeza.

Mrs. Anderson told the inspiring story of Dr. Marion Bottenberg Hall, a native of Athens, Ontario, who with her husband, Dr. John Hall, was the first white missionary couple in that country, is now continuing her work of service in India.

St. John Ambulance Presents Certificates To Candidates

Members of the spring home nursing classes held by St. John Ambulance were presented with their certificates on Tuesday evening. This class was organized by Mrs. R. C. McLaskie, superintendent of the division.

Lectures were given by Mrs. Rita Henning, Reg. N., qualified home nursing instructor, and examined by Miss Ruth Keller, Reg. N., who is qualified examiner for St. John Ambulance.

Mrs. T. Ashley, cadet superintendent, presented the certificates to the following successful candidates:

Miss Ursula Anscrarg, Mrs. Jill Empey, Mrs. Mary Heslip, Mrs. June Howes; Mrs. Edna Rawlings; Mrs. Verna Summers; Mrs. Clara Woodcock; Mrs. Doreen Burney; Mrs. Margaret Gill; Mrs. Elizabeth Hall; Mrs. Helen Lucas; Mrs. Alice J. Storms; Mrs. Janet Williamson and Mrs. Florence Zellick.

St. John Ambulance held its first lecture on the supplementary course in home nursing and first aid for civil defence at their headquarters on Tuesday evening.

This course, which consists of six lectures, is being given by Mrs. Rita Henning, Reg. N., nursing officer of the division. Dr. McC. Metcalfe, who is in charge of the civil defence health planning for the city was in attendance.

GUEST SPEAKER

The speaker for the evening was Mrs. Theo Wheeler, public relations officer for civil defence in Belleville, who spoke on the duties of her office, and the organization of a civil defence program, pointing out where trained first aiders, who were qualified nursing assistants could be of great assistance in time of emergency.

The next lecture is tonight, and the speaker will be Miss Eleanor Newman, R.N. N. There is no charge for this course.

A SIGHT FOR REDS

OTTAWA (CP)—A scarlet-coated RCMP officer will accompany External Affairs Minister Pearson to Moscow, Cpl. Frank N. Brien, 37, stationed at Moosomin, Sask., will act as Mr. Pearson's escort during his 10-day Russian visit next month. He is a veteran of 18 years' service with the RCMP.

RED CROSS SPEAKER

Colonel J. A. McCamus, Toronto, president of Ontario Division Red Cross. He will be a speaker at the regional meeting of Red Cross branches at Brockville, October 9th.

Quinte Institute Enjoys Fine Addresses

The regular meeting of the Quinté Institute was held on Tuesday in the church hall of the Shannonville United church.

The president, Mrs. Clifford Reid, opened the meeting.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Dogtator, Mrs. Fitzgerald, Mrs. MacDonald and Mrs. Robertson.

The Girls' club work for the winter is, "A Club Girl Entertains". Mrs. C. Reid was appointed leader with Mrs. Parrott and Mrs. R. Reid as assistants.

Two delegates, Mrs. Atkins and Mrs. Tuft, were appointed to the Belleville Area convention, which is being held at the Belleville Collegiate in October.

Plans were made for the demonstration of Mary sandwiches to be held in Front Road church by Mrs. C. Anderson.

Mrs. Douglas Atkins took charge of the meeting.

Mrs. J. Parrott gave a paper on the motto "Difficulties Exist Only to be Overcome". This was a fine inspirational paper and was much enjoyed.

GUEST SPEAKERS

Mrs. Buchan and Mrs. W. McCutcheon were introduced as the speakers of the afternoon. Mrs. Buchan gave a fine address on hospital auxiliaries.

Mrs. McCutcheon spoke on the "Snack Bar" in the hospital and what a great help it is to the doctors and for the folks waiting there with loved ones.

Announcement was made of the delegates who will represent the Institute at the Institute.

Mrs. Robert Atkins favored with two accordion numbers "The Yellow Rose of Texas" and "Dizzy Fingers".

After the meeting, a social hour was enjoyed with the hostesses serving refreshments.

Bride, Bridegroom Presented With Purse of Money

CROOKSTON.— On Wednesday night of last week about 75 neighbors and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Holland, Crookston, to spend a social time with their son, Burton, and his bride, of Gravenhurst.

Mrs. Peter Wood acted as chairman. An address of tribute, signed on behalf of the community by Alice Wood; Norma MacMillan, Marjorie Holland and Audrey Holland was read by Mrs. Leslie Blakely.

Mrs. Elvin Holland presented the young couple with a purse of money for which they expressed gracious thanks to their many friends and neighbors.

The remainder of the evening was spent in cards and visiting.

Later, refreshments were served by the friends and neighbors.

Women's Canadian Club Outlines Future Schedule

With the approach of fall, the Women's Canadian club of Belleville and district is planning an interesting program for the 1955-1956 season. Founded only six years after the first of these organizations, this club has a history of 44 years service to the community, during which time, by bringing a vast number of outstanding and internationally known speakers to its meetings, it has contributed materially to a wider understanding of Canada. An understanding made all the more necessary by the great distances and physical barriers of the country.

ITS AIM

The aim of the Canadian club is simply to help develop an informed public opinion in these critical times, to cultivate a distinctive Canadian outlook and to build up a wider understanding of world affairs and the country's mark in them. The club performs something in the nature of a public service locally in bringing to this city such widely known speakers.

The Canadian club does not compete with any other local organization, makes little or no demands on time. Membership is not a money raising organization, and meets no more than about eight times a year. Anyone in sympathy with the club's objectives may join. Members are particularly welcomed from the rural areas, where roads keep open all winter. Plans are already extended the boundaries.

FINE PROGRAM

The program for the forthcoming season, announced recently by president, Mrs. D. L. MacKinnon, starts on a light note with an evening of character sketches in costume presented by well-known Toronto stage and TV star, Eric Christmas. Later, speakers include John Diefenbaker, Q.C., M.P.; Don Henahaw, who will speak at the annual dinner meeting, and is an exceptionally fine after dinner speaker; the Countess of Lotzwell, who will speak on "Developments in Europe after the Geneva Conference"; Allan Jarvis, a director of the National Gallery of Canada has chosen as his topic "Is Art Necessary?", and last but not least William Courtney, internationally known news correspondent, will speak on "Rival Interests Across the Pacific". Several other outstanding speakers have been contacted, everyone of whom promises to be of great interest and value to all Canadian club members.

Owing to restrictions caused by the available meeting places, the club membership has to be limited to 400, and attendance at meetings is by membership card only which is not transferable. Those living beyond a radius of 25 miles of Belleville may attend single meetings on payment of a guest fee of 50 cents each meeting. Gentlemen are always welcome, and during the past years a great many members have attended with their husbands.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMIESON

BEAUTY "MUSTS" FOR THE LIVE-ALONE

It's the "little things", like a neat wardrobe, that keep a girl's morale and help her along the road to health and beauty.

In yesterday's column we discussed the importance of making —and keeping—a beauty program if you'd make the most of your looks. Today we are going to add a few items to that schedule—items which are particularly pertinent to the working girl who lives alone.

Medical men have noted for some time that girls who live alone are inclined to be negligent about their health. And this is sad for, in their eyes, "good looks and health go hand in hand."

If you live alone, physicians and psychologists agree, it may be vital to both your physical and mental health to establish a whole pattern of living habits which are not so different from those which you followed, at your parents' insistence, during childhood. To a great extent, your health—and your beauty—may depend upon such seemingly unimportant details as these:

1. Getting up at a decent hour.
2. Taking a morning bath so that you feel fresh for the day.
3. Permitting yourself no slovenliness in your dress or in your living quarters since such bad habits quickly grow worse and may eventually reflect themselves in a frowziness of mind. And frowzy thinking is no part of a sparkling personality, to say the least.
4. Making it your business to do such small things as brushing your teeth and cleansing your skin at a certain time, the same time, every day.
5. Seeing to it that you get a good, brisk walk every day —and, again, at the same time.
6. Having your meals on time.
7. Maintaining a well balanced diet: citrus fruit or tomato juice; milk; an egg; meat, fish or fowl, green and yellow vegetables; a baked or boiled potato; whole grain or enriched bread and cereals; some butter or vitaminized margarine.

If you have been in the habit of neglecting yourself, with no one to spur you on to better health and beauty, start a new regime immediately—and watch the results—not only in your looks but in your spirits.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

YOURE A YOUNG MAN WORTH TRUSTING, TOM

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I am 24 years old, and have just waked up to that fact.

This will sound like a funny statement to you, I am sure, but it is actually the heart of my whole problem. You will understand what I mean as you read on. The facts the these:

I am deeply and truly in love with a wonderful girl who is two years my junior. I want to marry her, and as soon as possible. But because I was so juvenile that I thought it was smart to run around with a crowd that was a little wild, my girl's parents not only disapprove our marriage but are unwilling for her even to see me. The only way we get to see each other is when she tells them she is going to see some of her girl friends, and then meets me on the sly, and I don't like to have it on my conscience that she is deceiving them because of me. Also, I don't think it is a proper way to carry on a romance.

What I am trying to say is that I really respect my girl's parents and their attitude toward her, as I fully realize they are concerned only for what is best for her. I realize, too, that when I first started going with her, I was not doing the right things. But now, as I told you in the beginning, I have waked up to the fact that I should start acting my age.

What would you advise me to do?

Tom S.

Dear Tom:

If I were this girl's mother, it would give me a great deal of confidence in a young man to know that he has developed the insight to realize where he was wrong, the character to admit it, and the determination not to repeat his past mistakes. I might, in fact, have even more confidence in him than in a young man who, to my knowledge, had never made any mistakes at all. For it seems to me that the future is far more secure for a young person who sees where he has been wrong, and intends to avoid doing that which it might be for one who has never yet had occasion to test himself.

Personally, I feel that your girl's parents are making their own mistake when they refuse to trust a young man simply because he went through a phase which he wasn't wise enough, or mature enough, to control like youthful irresponsibility — and has come out of it. The very fact that he is unwilling to have his relationship with their daughter a clandestine one, but wants everything with the open, should be proof enough that he is basically honest, sincere and trustworthy.

Of course, perhaps, you have not, as far, tried to make all this clear to these people. If you have not, then that is the time to do so.

I suggest that you ask the girl's father if he will have a talk with you; then sit down with him and be completely frank about everything. Come right out and ask him to make a bargain, suggesting that he give you a definite period of time, say six months to a year, in which to prove to his satisfaction that you have changed for the better. Ask that if, in all that time, you have not repeated any of the irresponsible actions that caused his disapproval, you and his daughter may then have his and her mother's consent to marry.

You won't imagine you are with the open, should be proof enough that he is basically honest, sincere and trustworthy.

Of course, perhaps, you have not, as far, tried to make all this clear to these people. If you have not, then that is the time to do so.

I suggest that you ask the girl's father if he will have a talk with you; then sit down with him and be completely frank about everything. Come right out and ask him to make a bargain, suggesting that he give you a definite period of time, say six months to a year, in which to prove to his satisfaction that you have changed for the better. Ask that if, in all that time,

Has the Fall Entertaining Bug Bit You?

By Mary Moore

The entertaining bug is beginning to make his fall rounds and I has to be fed.

Last week we were invited to Betty Moffat's house (she was Marianne's maid of honor) to see the colored film her Dad had taken at the wedding reception. It brought those dear memories back so vividly I could have hugged him for taking it. As soon as he had run it through once he said "Want to see it again?" I certainly did. In his shot of the reception line Marianne looked right out of the picture at me, I'm sure, saying "Hi, Mom".

Then we were served the two delicious items made by Betty which were delicious and which sparked this little offering today.

And, a few months ago, one of our readers asked for the recipe for Spanish Buns and ever since I've been hungry for one, so on Saturday I whipped one up because Pete would be home to consume the bulk of it. He did.

BETTY'S TENDER CHOCOLATE CAKE

This amount makes a smallish cake 8x8x2 inches. If your family or crowd is large double the recipe.

One-third cup shortening (or lard), 1 cup sugar, 1 egg, 2 squares chocolate, 1 cup boiling water, 1 1-3 cups sifted cake flour, 1 teaspoon each baking soda and baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Put the squares of chocolate in a small bowl and add the boiling water to it and let stand until chocolate softens enough to mix with the water. Cream the shortening with the sugar until both are very light and fluffy then beat in the egg. Sift the sifted flour with the soda, baking powder and salt. Add the vanilla to the first mixture then add the sifted dry ingredients alternately with the chocolate water, one-third of each at a time, stirring between additions with a folding motion, barely enough to mix. Pour into buttered-paper-lined pan and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. about 25 or 30 minutes.

CHEESE CRESCENTS

Two 4-oz. package snappy cream cheese, 1-2 cup butter, 1 cup flour, 1 tablespoon milk, 1-4 teaspoon salt. Mix together the cheese, butter, flour and salt thoroughly, then mix in milk. Roll out on very lightly floured board and cut in 2-inch circles. Place 1 teaspoon tart jelly on one-half and fold over and seal. Bake at 350 to 375 deg. Fahr. until pale toasted color. Betty used red currant jelly for these delicious little morsels that we ate with our coffee.

SPANISH BUN

One-half cup best quality shortening, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 whole egg, 1 egg yolk, 1 1-3 cups sifted cake flour, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-3 teaspoon each soda, baking powder, cloves, cinnamon, 1-3 cup sour milk. (If you do not have buttermilk or sour milk measure 1-2 cup less 1 tablespoon milk, and 1 tablespoon either lemon juice or vinegar to sour it.) Cream the shortening and sugar so well together that they become very pale and light, then beat in the unbeaten egg and egg yolk. Sift together all the dry ingredients and add them alternately with the sour milk, one-third of each at a time, with a folding motion. Pour into paper-lined and greased pan. Before baking spread over batter this Topping: Beat the leftover egg white until foamy then add 1-3 cup brown sugar and beat until stiff. Spread over batter evenly and sprinkle with chopped nuts—about 1-2 cup. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. 35 minutes. Leave cake in pan to cool and to cut.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

SPECIAL FORM OF NAME FOR DIVORCEE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am about to receive my final divorce papers and, like many other divorcees I know, I'm bothered about what form of name I should or may, use after the divorce. I detest the form of name that uses the woman's first name with "Mrs." — for example, "Mrs. Mary Smith"— which looks and sounds and is (I think) so incorrect and so hick. But still, for special reasons, I should like to indicate my first name while also using my maiden surname and my ex-husband's surname. Any suggestion as to how this could possibly, and correctly, be done? —Divorcee-to-be.

Yes. It is permissible, correct, just settled in our new house, and are planning to invite friends in to small, informal dinners (say two or three couples at a time). Is it absolutely necessary that I tell each guest where to sit, or is it all right if I just tell them to sit wherever they wish to? My husband and I have different ideas about this.—F.C.

If you don't take thought to plan your seating — arrangements before each dinner, you are missing a fine opportunity to show your hospitality-courtesy. Even though your dinner is to be small and informal, you should know where you wish each guest to sit . . . and you should show grace for a divorcee who, like you, wishes to suggest her first name, but doesn't wish to use the first name in full, to use the initial of her first name. Like this: Mrs. M. Graham Smith. For example, you would correctly sign a business letter or a letter to someone who must be informed of your formal name, like this:

Very sincerely yours,
Mary Graham Smith
(Mrs. M. Graham Smith)

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We were married last year, have

In assigning the seats. You, as hostess, sit at the head of the table; your husband, as host, opposite you. When you seat your guests enter the dining room, you assign the place at your husband's right to the woman guest to be honored; Mrs. Fraser (or Marie'), won't you please sit there, at Don's right?" . . . Maybe next, there's Peter, (indicating the place at your husband's left)." Then, "Cecelia, here at my right" . . . "Peter, here." And so forth . . . all seating definite, and giving proper honor to those to be honored, even informally. Then there is no awkwardness—of decision on the part of the guests.

Crispy golden-brown croquettes deep-fried in Jewel

You've never had FISH so good!

JEWEL KEEPS FRIED FOODS 50 DIGESTIBLE, TOO!

It's quick 'n easy to deep fat fry with Jewel. Just use the Jewel fat again and again

Salmon Croquettes

Yield: 12 croquettes

JEWEL FOR FRYING
1 can (7¾ oz.) salmon
1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup
3½ cups soft bread crumbs
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon cayenne
½ teaspoon salt
Dips ¾ cup dried bread crumbs or cracker crumbs
1 egg, beaten

Combine all ingredients well. Shape into croquettes. Roll in fine crumbs, then in egg and again in crumbs. Heat Jewel slowly for frying in deep heavy saucepan to 375°F (cube of bread browns in 60 seconds). When you use pure, blend Jewel you can be sure your fried foods are really digestible. They're not greasy either, because you can cook them so quickly in Jewel. Make sure there's enough fat to cover croquettes completely. Remember, Jewel is economical and that means every spoonful is exactly right. Fry croquettes three at a time until golden brown, turning to brown all over. Notice how Jewel is completely odourless, keeps its clear colour throughout the frying. Jewel won't take on any of the fish flavour either, so you can strain it, store it in the refrigerator and use it again to fry something else. Drain croquettes on absorbent paper. Serve piping hot.

Frying Temperature: 375°F

Frying Time: 2 to 3 minutes.

FRY IT RIGHT: FRY IT WITH JEWEL!

RAWDON

Rally Day Service Held By Three S.S.

RAWDON — On Sunday morning the annual rally day service for the three appointments was combined and held in Bethel United Church.

The three superintendents, Mr. Lindsay McKowen, Mount Pleasant; Mr. Frederick Beckett, Wellman's, and Mrs. Don Heath, Bethel, each had a part in the service.

The theme was "Lord of the Lands Make Canada Thine Own."

The frontispiece was a picture of a mother and her child looking out of a ship window and getting a first look at the new land of Canada.

Miss Betty McConnell presided at the piano for the service. The juniors of Mount Pleasant filled the choir loft and sang "Land of Our Birth."

The call to worship was "Praise the Lord All Nations," and Psalm 96 was read in unison.

The Scripture lesson was read by three girls from Wellman's, Bonnie Dracup, Carol Beckett and Jean Tompkins, followed by a prayer of thanksgiving. All sang "O Master of the Loving Heart."

Mrs. Burton Morton, Wellman's, graphically outlined a story, "A Little Boy and His Blue Alley," and Miss Barbara Green of Bethel, contributed a vocal solo.

Mrs. John Malheron, Bethel, gave an interesting story on the life of the missionary, Dr. Peter Kelly.

Four boys, Paul Jeffs, Raeburn Scott, Richard Dracup and John Trenear gathered the offering.

The Rev. W. G. Fletcher gave a message on the subject "Suffer Little Children to Come Unto Me." The service closed with the theme song, "Lord of the Lands."

Thomasburg

THOMASBURG—Mr. and Mrs. E. Fisher of Toronto were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Wilson.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brough, who were married in the United Church parsonage by the Rev. C. R. Chapman on Saturday, September 10, at 3 p.m. Immediately following the ceremony the newlyweds left for a honeymoon amid showers of confetti.

Mrs. Ed. Thompson, who has been visiting relatives in Northbrook and vicinity, returned home on Thursday.

Mrs. Ella Way spent the latter part of last week with her daughter, Mrs. J. R. Houston, of Belleville. Mr. and Mrs. Percy Westover, also of Belleville, accompanied her home on Saturday.

The I.O.O.F. met for the first time since June last Friday evening, while the Crescent Rebekah Lodge held its first meeting on Monday.

The Harvest Home Festival of Christ Church (Anglican), Thomasburg, took place last Sunday at 2.30 a.m. United Church service was at 9.45 a.m. on the same date.

The anniversary services of Thomasburg United Church will take place on Sunday, September 25, with the Rev. R. E. Sherwin, B.A., B.D., of Cherry Valley, as the guest speaker. There will be two services, one at 11 a.m. and one at 7.30 p.m.

The I.O.O.F. Hall, Thomasburg, was packed to the doors on Sunday evening for the showing of the Billy Graham film, "Souls in Conflict," under the auspices of the Huntingdon Sunday School Association. Mr. Wesley Farrell of Moira, Ont., was the chairman for the occasion, while Mr. Fred Porter of Thomasburg presided at the piano.

The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. George Ewald of Tweed Pentecostal Church.

YOU CAN WIN $2,000 THIS WEEK in the exciting DOMINION "Famous Brands" FORTUNE-HUNT!

When Mrs. Ivan Kennedy answered the telephone at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Clare Lessenger at 16 Elgin Street, Kingston, Saturday night, it meant $2,000 for her in the DOMINION "Famous Brands" FORTUNE-HUNT. Mrs. Kennedy not only answered "Dominion Stores — Cash Meats Limited" but she also had the Phantom Famous Brand product and a Dominion Stores sales slip and then qualified for the total award of $2,000. It was the first phone call made Saturday night in the DOMINION "Famous Brands" FORTUNE-HUNT.

You can win $2000 this week in the DOMINION "Famous Brands" FORTUNE-HUNT. First, find the "Phantom Famous Brand" listed on this page but not illustrated. Next, if your telephone rings between 8 and 9 o'clock Eastern Daylight Saving Time next Saturday evening, DO NOT ANSWER HELLO or you will be momentarily disqualified from an opportunity to win $2,000.

Instead of answering HELLO, say "DOMINION STORES" and then state the name of this week's "Phantom Famous Brand." If you do, and it is the DOMINION FORTUNE-HUNT caller, you will win the Grand Prize of $2,000.

$1,000 BONUS! If you win the Grand Prize and have in your home at the time a box top or label from this week's "Phantom Famous Brand" (or a reasonable facsimile) PLUS a DOMINION cash register slip dated this week and totalling $5.00 or more, you will qualify for a bonus prize of $1,000.

$500 CONSOLATION PRIZES! If the DOMINION FORTUNE-HUNT calls your telephone number and you make the mistake of answering HELLO, but can still name this week's "Phantom Famous Brand," you will qualify for a consolation prize of $500.

GRAND PRIZE MUST BE WON! If this week's Grand Prize is not won on Saturday night, it will be added to next week's Grand Prize of $2,000. This will be repeated if necessary until someone wins the accumulated Grand Prize.

Employees and agencies of Dominion Stores Limited and their families are not eligible for this contest.

Find the "PHANTOM FAMOUS BRAND!"

Below are listed a number of Canada's most famous brands of food and household products, ALL BUT ONE of these products are illustrated on this page. Check the list of products against the illustrations and find the one that is NOT ILLUSTRATED. That is the "Phantom Famous Brand" in this week's contest.

PICTON

Man Riding Bull Heads Parade To Milford Fair

PICTON — A huge Hereford bull ridden by Sam Way, headed the parade which opened Milford Fair on Wednesday. Led by Picton Old Fellows band, the parade included school children, horses, ponies, decorated bicycles, an old car, decorated cars and floats.

Royal Street school won first prize, pupils wearing black and yellow capes and black mortar board hats. Second place went to Fort Milford, the children wearing red hands and each couple carrying baskets filled with apples. Third, Milford school pupils, were red, white and blue hats with the word Milford and similar colored shoulder streamers. Rose's School, fourth, had a trailer loaded with fruits and vegetables attended by white aprouned clerks. Following were pupils dressed as farmers carrying hoes. S.S. 10 pupils carried maple leaves and were green capes with pink trim. S.S. 41 students were in ranch clothes to depict a Junior Farmer ranch. Point Traverse pupils were masks as "bandits in pursuit of knowledge."

Dixon Community Club had a beautiful float laden with the bounty of garden and orchard. There was a team on an old bug-ey.

REEVE OPENS FAIR

Fair president Wrex Hicks welcomed the large crowd and Reeve Howard Gyde officially opened the event.

Though there were two brief showers in the afternoon, fair and mild weather favored the day.

The mill pond swim by Carson Scott was called off. He claimed there was too much wind and too strong a current.

Oldest visitor to the fair was H. Norton of Bloomfield, who will be 89 next July and is still in good health.

There were sports and contests of all kinds with C. Scott as announcer.

FINE FRUIT DISPLAY

The display of exhibits in two halls would have done credit to a large fair. In fact no district fair could claim such a show of apples—125 plates and seven baskets—as well as 14 entries of pears, 16 of plums and four fancy baskets of mixed fruits. There were 21 plates of McIntosh apples, most of them so fine the judges could hardly decide the winners.

Vegetables made another colorful show and included 17 entries or peppers, 16 of tomatoes, 9 of quash, 24 of onions, 17 carrots, 18 of beet, 16 of cucumbers and 16 of potatoes, as well as corn, pumpkin, grain, turnips and other products.

The flower display was particularly large and colorful with gladioli, zinnias and dahlias especially good. The many plants included several collections of cacti.

In the poultry section was a large entry of all breeds, also dogs, pups, bantams and rabbits.

Oil paintings were featured among the art. Home cooking, including 24 pies, was tempting. Displays of art, writing, sewing, knitting and handicraft also saw large entries.

Marysburg Calf Club held its competition with Oliver Dairymaid of Stirling, as judge. There was a large entry of sheep.

Most of the judges commented that not only were exhibits more numerous than usual but also of a high quality.

Community Centre booth, for which all food was donated, did a rushing business. Booths conducted by Carman-Union W.A., Port Milford Goodwill Club and Dixon Club were well patronized, as was a bingo game. Milford library sold books.

In the evening there was a baby show, musical numbers, a quiz, showing of local movies and presentation of prizes.

IMPORT MORE APPLES

LONDON (AP)—Britain will import more apples from Canada and the United States this season. The Board of Trade (and ministry of agriculture announced an import quota of £990,000 for Canadian apples and £600,000 for U.S. apples.

Man and Wife Die at Crossing

CORNWAL L(CP)—A man and his wife were killed Wednesday when the car in which they were riding was struck by a speeding freight train on a level crossing three miles northwest of Cornwall.

Dead are: Douglas Hollenbeck, 36, formerly of Sherbrooke, Que.; and his wife, Annette, 22.

Hollenbeck who had been employed on the St. Lawrence power project, is believed to have been driving the car. The couple resided at a Cornwall motel.

Wreckage of the automobile was strewn for a mile along the double-track right-of-way. Both bodies were thrown clear of the car.

The eastbound freight was in charge of Maxwell Tracey of Brockville. It was estimated travelling at 32 miles an hour when the collision occurred at 8:31 a. m.

Steel Industry Still Producing Below Demand

NEW YORK (AP)—The American steel industry, still producing at a rate 10 to 20 per cent below demand, is launching a drive to bring deliveries into line with promises, says Iron Age, the national trade weekly.

Backlogs are continuing to grow and heavy carryovers into 1956 are expected, but the drive is on for top-speed production and for drastic slashes in allotments to even up the supply-demand picture.

Both the output of steel and orders are expected to top any prior last-four-months of-the-year period. The magazine predicts that major consuming industries will not let up in demand, the automotive industry will be scrambling for every pound of steel it can grab and inventory building will be strong.

Steel production this week was estimated at 96 per cent of capacity, up three points from last week.

Radioactive Phosphorus Detects Cancer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Radioactive phosphorus offers a promising new weapon in the fight against potentially curable cancers, the International College of Surgeons was told Wednesday.

Dr. Komei Nakayama of Chiba University, Japan, told of using the radioactive material together with a special geiger counter, developed for insertion into the human esophagus and stomach.

The Japanese surgeon said radioactive phosphorus injected into the body of a patient gives off atomic "signals" which are picked up by the special geiger counter. This technique, he asserted, has shown to good advantage in the diagnosing of early—and therefore potentially curable — malignancies of the alimentary tract.

Sky Scanner Can Analyze Clouds From Atom Plant

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A new kind of telescope can tell the size, shape and pot-boy of atome radioactive clouds, an Atomic Energy Commission scientist says!

Named the sky scanner, it sweeps the sky and pulses every time an x-ray from the cloud strikes its eye. The resultant pulses are used to draw a pattern of the cloud and its direction.

The scanner was described to the American Chemical Society in a paper prepared by Dr. G. Victor Beard at the AEC.

TO TRACK GASES

The scanners, used in groups of two or more, are proving extremely useful in helping track movements of invisible clouds of radioactive gases coming from the stack of an atomic reactor at the test site in Idaho, he said.

Peace Reigns on Waterfront, New York Docks Are Again Scene of Bustling Activity

NEW YORK (AP) — Peace—meaning bustling activity—reigned today along New York's vast waterfront, marking the end of a costly 47-day strike. Several other United States east coast ports had been affected for a time.

The International Longshoremen's Association (Ind.), in calling off the walkout Wednesday, hailed as a victory the setting up of a voluntary citizens' fact-finding committee to hear its grievances against the New York-New Jersey waterfront commission. The committee may decide today when to hold public hearings.

Industry sources, citing the fact that dockers in a number of cities failed to heed a general strike call, declared the ILA's acceptance of the committee formula a "face-saving" device.

An estimated $200,000,000 worth of products has piled up on idle piers. The 170-member New York Shipping Association figures the strike cost the employers $1,500,000 a day.

A contempt citation against the ILA by the employers is scheduled to be heard in the New York Supreme Court Sept. 22, and the shipping association thus far has not moved from court to sue the union, its leaders and membership for $10,000,000 in damages.

Adenauer Seeks Support at Home For Moscow Pact

BONN (AP)—Chancellor Adenauer pressed today to line up home-front support for his Moscow agreement to establish diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union.

Then he invited leaders of all parties, including the opposition Socialists, to a conference later today.

To become effective, the pact must be ratified by the Bundestag (lower house) of West Germany's Parliament as well as by the president of the Supreme Soviet.

IN A WEEK.

The deputy president of the Bundestag, Socialist Carlo Schmid, announced that the agreement will come before Parliament a week from today. Schmid, who attended the Moscow talks, predicted in a broadcast that acceptance of rejection would be a tough decision for Parliament to make.

PLAN GRAPE FESTIVAL

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Niagara peninsula grape growers, jubilant over this year's high-quality crop, are planning a colorful salute to the grape on Oct. 1. The annual renewal of the Niagara Grape Festival will include parades, a festival ball, a motorcade tour and a cavalcade of vintage cars from Hamilton to St. Catharines.

Splitting Costs By City's Lawyers To Be Probed

TORONTO (CP)—An investigation into disposition of court costs collected by the city legal department has been ordered following refusal of a lawyer to make payment directly to the city solicitor.

The dispute between lawyer C. L. C. Allinson and city solicitor Wallace Angus involves $64 awarded the city against Toronto Island resident Mrs. Florence Impressed in a recent case. Although Mayor Nathan Phillips ordered the investigation, he said he thought the whole affair is "just a tempest in a teapot."

Mr. Allinson said he received no answer as to why "I should make out a cheque to Mr. Angus personally for costs awarded to the city."

"If they tell me that under the law this is the way it has to be paid, I shall take the whole matter up with the board of control and city council."

IN BY-LAW

Palmer Kent, deputy city solicitor, said authority for the city solicitor to receive personal payments for court costs is contained in a by-law passed in 1885.

Asked how much such costs would amount to a year, Mr. Kent said it 'might be $150 one year, $900 some years."

Mr. Kent said it is not required under the by-law that the money be spilt among the staff "but in fact it is between most of the solicitors."

Fred Hamilton, the mayor's executive assistant, said costs at present go into a pool which is split among the legal department staff in accordance with provisions of the Ontario Municipal Act.

The mayor's action followed a report by the Globe and Mail that reporter John Hall had passed a letter from Mr. Allinson to the mayor in a city hall washroom.

Peach Growers Drop Minimum Price on Fruit

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — The Ontario Peach Growers' Co-operative Wednesday dropped the minimum price on peaches, leaving growers free to sell produce at any price in an effort to break a jam which brought the peach market virtually to a standstill.

The jam developed last week and by Thursday the co-op was forced to close its pools for storing supplies peaches. Several dealers Wednesday stopped their peach handling business for the season.

About 30,000 baskets of peaches were in the pools, leaving little room for any surplus which might develop from further trading. With no market in sight for the leftover, the pools were closed.

DEMAND DROPPED

Meanwhile, with about half the crop of late peaches still on the trees, baskets of peaches carpeted numerous orchards. An unexplained falloff in demand was blamed for the pileup along with weather conditions which crammed the market with 10 weeks' supply in about eight weeks.

Early in the season, with demand good, prices were set at 45 cents for early varieties, 35 for mid-season and 65 for late. The late price was dropped to 60 and then 50 when the glut developed. These are prices to the farmer from dealers.

Dropping the price minimum means dealers may buy from growers at any price acceptable to both parties. Growers were free under the price they charged for direct sales to consumers.

Mother of Three Sues 41 Taverns

CHICAGO (AP)—A mother of three Wednesday sued 41 taverns for a total of $400,000 on charges of furthering the drunkenness of her former husband.

Mrs. Evelyn Coleman of suburban Homewood filed the suit in Superior Court under provisions of a state law that makes sellers of liquor legally responsible for acts committed by their patrons while under the influence of liquor.

The former husband, Laverne Coleman, a bricklayer, is serving a term in Cook county jail for failure to pay $45 a week for support of the children, Ronald, 15, Richard, 14, and Robin, 8.

Mrs. Coleman obtained a divorce Jan. 5.

Accused in Murder Trial Said Not to Have Thought of Killing

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) An inspector of the Ontario Provincial Police said Wednesday he did not think Marjorie Sommerville, 35, knew there was anybody in the small home she set ablaze last July. One woman died in the fire.

Insp. Thomas Wright, with the OPP Criminal Investigation Bureau, testified during the first day of Miss Sommerville's murder trial after he was asked by Mr. Justice Charles D. Stewart to give an opinion on whether the accused was aware the victim was in the home.

Miss Sommerville is charged in the death of Caroline May Simmonds, 28. She has pleaded not guilty to the charge. Both women lived in the frame house with 56-year-old Donald Berry and his 16-year-old son.

Insp. Wright, one of 17 crown witnesses called Wednesday, at first declined to give his opinion but did so after Mr. Justice Stewart said such procedure was correct since the defence had requested it.

LIVED IN HOUSE

Evidence was that Miss Sommerville went to live with Berry soon after his wife was committed to a mental institution 10 years ago. Miss Simmonds moved into the house, about 18 miles north of here, two years ago.

Monday OPP member, constable Scott Raybold, testified that when he arrived at the fire scene, Miss Sommerville pushed her way through the crowd and said:

"Take me away, lock me up, hang me."

He said the accused told him she had gone through the house and seen no one. She took some of her possessions outside. She then sprinkled kerosene on the kitchen and living room floors. She ignited the oil and left, Const. Raybold quoted her as saying.

Miss Sommerville said in later statements to police that she set the fire so "Donald and Cary can't have the house."

Moslem Custom Said Cause Of Health Problems

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Moslem custom of the seclusion of women has indirectly caused health problems among them, says a Roman Catholic surgeon-nun who has done medical missionary work in Pakistan for seven years.

Sister M. Benedict Young, who tonight will become the first nun to be admitted as a fellow of the International College of Surgeons, said in a paper prepared for today's convention meeting of the ICS:

"The Moslem custom of the seclusion of women has prevented them for centuries from receiving proper medical attention. In the strict sense of the word, no men except those of her immediate family may see the face of a Moslem woman. This seclusion confines the women and prevents them from getting proper exercise and sunshine."

As a result, "unbelievable" malformations of the pelvis occur "with consequent complications at the time of (childbirth) delivery." Inadequate care in the face of these complications causes infant mortality and maternal mortality and morbidity which, is appalling."

Welland Fair Blacked Out By Heavy Storm

WELLAND (CP)—Two persons were knocked unconscious Wednesday night when an electrical storm struck this area, blacked out the Welland County Fair and nearly caused a panic at the grandstand.

Jennis Jenkins, 37, of Pontiull, and Alex Hall, 33, of Cornwall, a carnival worker, knocked unconscious, were reported recovering later in hospital.

The storm blew out a transformer and plunged the grandstand show into darkness. Only the use of a public address system prevented a panic, as the crowd struggled to get out of the darkened stands.

Lights were out in parts of the city until well after midnight and some streets were flooded. The fair was cancelled for the night.

Kremlin Leaders Plan Talks With East Germans

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

MOSCOW (AP)—Moving swiftly to follow up its negotiations with West Germany, the Soviet Union was announced in an open session Friday with leaders of Communist East Germany.

Tass news agency said Premier Otto Grotewohl is coming to Moscow for conference on "questions of interest to all sides." The announcement came only a few hours after Chancellor Adenauer ended his Moscow conference and left for Bonn.

It had been expected that the Russians would follow the Adenauer conference by talking with East German leaders, but Western observers here expressed surprise that the announcement came so soon after Adenauer's departure.

All-Canadian Pipeline Urged For East Canada

KINGSTON (CP)—An all-Canadian pipeline extending into eastern Ontario was urged in a resolution passed Wednesday by Zone 1, Eastern Ontario Development Association.

The resolution was presented by Henry Walter, Brockville.

Mayor G. C. Wright of Kingston, addressing the delegates from four counties, said:

"Western Ontario has had its day. Now it is our turn."

Arnold Edinborough, editor of the Kingston Whig-Standard, presented a proposed brochure outlining port facilities at Kingston. Plans for the port, he said, were drawn up 30 years ago by C. D. Howe, then a young consulting engineer and now minister of trade and commerce.

Hilda and Ione Whirl Across Weather Map

Hilda passed well to the south of Havana, Cuba, during Wednesday, but it due to slam into the Yucatan peninsula on the gulf of Mexico tonight.

Ione, about 1,200 miles southeast of Miami this morning, threatens the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico.

Bowling along at 15 miles an hour, Hilda still has winds estimated at 75 miles an hour just north of the centre, with gales extending outward 100 miles.

It is almost the same with Ione — highest winds over a small area near the centre estimated up to 70 miles an hour, with gales 130 miles to the northeast.

Hilda, which bowled through the mountains of eastern Cuba Tuesday night, left two dead and heavy property damage.

British Troops Search Village

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters) — Several hundred British troops surrounded three villages on this Mediterranean island at dawn today and began house-to-house searches for evidence of anti-colonial terrorists.

The three villages, Frenaros, Liopetri and Sotira, are within the "triangle of terror," an area of eight villages forming a rough triangle where a three-day dusk-to-dawn curfew was imposed on all civilian vehicle movement earlier this month.

Eggs Hatched After 100 Years As Lake Reborn

CAMP IRWIN, Calif. (AP) — Tiny, shrimp-like creatures springing up in a recently flooded dry lake have brought scientists to this desert outpost to search for eggs that may be 100 years old.

The leader of the group, Dr. James F. Welsh, Los Angeles zoologist, already has about 40 of the small specimens, which thrive only in hot water and look like a throwback to the trilobite, an extinct prehistoric crustacean.

As far back as anyone can remember — and that's roughly 100 years — the lake was dry until last Aug. 22, when desert thunderstorms suddenly deposited a foot of water.

The army, which had been using the dry lake bed as a landing field, began noticing the small wrigglers, one to two inches long, in the new lake. They called in Dr. Welsh.

His theory: The crustaceans were lying dormant in eggs beneath the sun-baked surface, and the rains hatched them. If he can recover some of the eggs, he believes he may have a vital link with post fossil finds.

Poles in Exile In Bitter Fight Over Leadership

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

LONDON (AP) — You dial a number in London's west end. The voice replying says: "This is the president of Poland."

The man on the line is August Zaleski, president of the Polish government-in-exile and a bitter foe of Warsaw's Red regime. Nowadays he is the central figure in a political storm raging inside London's big community of Polish exiles.

Zaleski is battling to keep his presidency against the opposition of many of the 140,000 Polish refugees in Britain. His opponents think somebody else, possibly more effective, should lead the fight for "liberation of the fatherland."

The family squabble among the Poles is crippling what has been the most determined of the anti-Communist movements among exiles from eastern Europe.

SOVIET CAMPAIGN

It comes at a critical time. Russia and her satellites have launched a giant campaign to lure home the anti-Red refugees, many of whom have carried on a long-range propaganda war against the Communists.

The Red campaign scored its biggest success last week when Zaleski's prime minister, Hugo

Publishing Firm To Stand Trial

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto publishing firm will stand trial soon on a charge of printing crime comic books.

Superior Publishers Ltd., is charged under a 1950 amendment to the Criminal Code under which it is illegal to "make, print, publish, distribute or sell . . . crime comics."

Defence counsel Mannie Brown said Wednesday the firm has elected trial by judge without a jury but date for the trial has not been set.

A year ago the firm and its president, William Zimmerman, were convicted of printing crime comic books. Mr. Zimmerman was given a suspended sentence and the firm was fined $1,000.

Hanke, turned up in Warsaw. He began broadcasting appeals to other Polish emigres to return home and accept the Communists' offer of a general amnesty.

Zaleski's aides claim Hanke was kidnapped from a train while visiting Rome and spirited through the Iron Curtain. But the premier had left behind his wife and three children when he fled from Communist Poland, and many Poles think he "redefected" because of them.

Zaleski this week appointed Antoni Pajak, a 63-year-old Socialist, as the new premier of what some London newspapers now call the "phantom government."

Fingerprinting School Boys Raises Objection

SMITHS FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Police action in fingerprinting several public school boys during investigation of a service station robbery has provoked strong objections from the board of education.

Board chairman Dr. A B Murphy said Tuesday night the police "had no right to enter schools without permission." Trustee C. L Rohs said two constables entered a school Sept. 6 and examined boys for cuts on their hands.

Police chief R. A. C Wride said his department was working on the possibility the person who committed the offence had cut hands. The constables had not entered the school until permission was received from the staff. The boys' fingerprints were taken last Saturday after the parents had given permission.

Dr. Murphy said the school board should demand an explanation from the police commission. A 20-year-old man since has been arrested in connection with the service station theft.

Appeal Justices Must Decide Technical Point

TORONTO (CP)—A tube of penicillin will occupy the attention of three justices of the Ontario Court of Appeal during the next few weeks.

The court reserved judgment Tuesday on an appeal of J. D. McDowell, an Aurora grain and feed dealer, fined $20 for selling a tube of penicillin.

The Pharmacy Act forbids anyone but registered pharmacists to sell drugs. The tube Mr. McDowell sold was marked for use on animals.

Arthur Maloney, counsel for Mr. McDwell, said his client does not deny selling the penicillin. He argued there is a difference between drugs within the meaning of the Pharmacy Act and veterinary medicine.

BREAK UP RIOT

VOELKLINGEN, Saar (AP) Club-swinging police broke up a pro-German riot in this Saar steel town Wednesday night. Six of the estimated 2,000 demonstrators were injured.

DROP IN PRICES

The finance committee of Belleville's Senior "B" hockey club feels that the lack of cash customers at last season's games here was partially caused by the price of the tickets.

So they're going to do something about it.

The committee, under chairman Bill Bell, held a meeting on Tuesday night and secretary-treasurer Dewey Denton informed us yesterday that the price of tickets for the 1955-56 season will be lowered. Announcement of the price list will come at a later date.

After a lengthy discussion, the committee decided that the average working man does not favor the idea of spending close to $3.50 to take his wife, his child or lady friend to a hockey game. Most of the time there are two home games per week, so unless we've forgotten all our math, it would work out to about $7.00 a week.

To break matters down, not too many fellows want to take someone to a hockey game and sit behind a post, so they buy the reserve seat tickets, which were $1.35 last year. That comes out to $3.50 plus a quarter for a program and, on the evening, 50c for refreshments. Total: $3.85, and that doesn't take in the poor guy who takes his whole family. If Bill Hurst's plan works out to give the programs away free this year that, too, will cut down the fan's expenses.

It was also disclosed that season tickets for the coming season will be available in both the reserve seats and the general admission. Another excellent plan which will help to make this season a successful one.

• • • •

While still on the subject of hockey we'll pass along a press and radio release from the Whitby club.

General manager Wren Blair announces the signing of eight players for the coming season. Included are: goaltender Jack Donlevy, last year with the Peterborough Petes, and Eddie Redmond, playing coach of the Petes last year.

Six of the Dunlop boys have resigned. They are defencemen Alfred Treen, Harry Sinden and Don McBeth; right-winger Tommy O'Connell, centre Bobby Attersley, who won the league scoring title last year with 89 points and left-wingers Bus Gagnon and Fred Etcher.

• • • •

RIOT!

Followers of the grunt and groan game will get their money's worth at Memorial Arena tomorrow night when the German duo of Karl Von Schober and Fritz Von Erich tangle with Vancouver strong-boy Doug Hepburn and Fred Atkins from the land of the Kangaroo.

This is another one of those wild tag-team bouts and as usual, it will likely turn into a wild free-for-all. Four of the top boys in the game today, plus a man-in white referred to as the referee, will mix in this main bout attraction. What more would you ask for?

With only a couple more weeks left before the squared circle is replaced by a sheet of ice, Hepburn and Atkins will try all out to try and subdue these hated Vons. The crowd will be with them, but Herrs Fritz and Karl have other ideas.

The opening bout pits a pair of clean, scientific speed boys against each other. Don Leitler and Billy Stack. Both boys are popular here so you can pay your money and take your choice in this one.

King-sized Pat Fraley will have his hands full in the second bout when he meets Ilio Di Paola, making his debut in a Belleville ring.

• • • •

WANT TO BOWL?

Bowling leagues will soon be opening at the Bowl-O-Drome and the Recreation Alleys. One of the more popular winter pastimes, bowling can be played and enjoyed by one and all.

A chance for all you would-be experts presented itself the other night. While open shots are available at both the above places, many of the city's better bowlers stick to team-play in one or more of the many leagues.

Openings for teams in three leagues at the Bowl-O-Drome are available. Teams are needed for the mixed commercial league on Monday nights, the men's Industrial on Friday, and the mixed league on Saturday.

Anyone wishing to enter a team in one of these leagues is asked to contact Bill Bateman at the Drome. The phone number is WOodland 2-2165, but better hurry since it's expected these positions will be snapped up in short order.

• • • •

CITY FINALS

Bobby Hunter came back to haunt his old mates on Tuesday night when he stopped Point Anne on five hits, while the Belleville Orlons took a one-game lead in their best three-of-five series for softball supremacy in the city.

The battle for the Bill Oil trophy resumes tomorrow night (Friday) on the local diamond at 6.00 p.m. and a win for the Orlons will put them in a commanding position.

Hunter didn't have much trouble the other night as the Cementmen might as well used toothpicks instead of bats. Pat Maracle and Gerry Geyer were the only players to lay good wood on the ball all night. Maracle blasted a couple terrific balls to centre and Geyer driving in all his team's runs with a clothes-line double.

The Cementmen swear revenge Friday eve and they're always mighty tough to beat on their own diamond. Coach Phil Loft might send Bobby Hull to the mound for this one, giving the veteran Maracle a rest. Hull has plenty of speed with his wrist-a-wind motion and a Point Anne victory would turn the series into a real battle.

Bill Spafford will likely counter with Bob Green, the speedy southpaw, who had a good year in the league schedule this year. He won six games without a defeat and came up with two one-hitters, usually fanning a good number.

All in all, it shapes up as a real close one with both teams out to win at any cost.

Cleveland Loses Game of Lead In American League Race By Losing to Senators 3-2

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ray Narleski, Cleveland's fire-balling fireman, finally made a slip-and with it, the Indians may have lost their footing in the race for the American League pennant.

Washington revived the Indian sign its had on the injuns for one parting shot Wednesday night, handing the 26-year-old righthander his first defeat of the season while dumping the Tribe 3-2.

That sliced Cleveland's lead to one game over New York, a 6-4 winner against Detroit. More important, it left the two clubs even in the lost column with eight games for'ew York.

HOW THEY STAND

Here's the way they stand, along with third-place Chicago, as the league makers a day off today:

	W	L	Pct.	GBL
Cleveland	90	56	.616	6
New York	88	56	.611	1
Chicago	86	59	.593	3

While Cleve was nutted a chance to move closer by splitting a doubleheader at Baltimore. The last-place Orioles, who divided a pair with Chicago Tuesday, too, won the opener 5-3 as Cleve was stopped by Billy Pierce 6-0.

Boston, idle, moved out of New York's remaining dates, all but faded away in a 6-5 decision to Kansas City that left the Red Sox seven games back.

FINALLY REACHED HIM

Washington, only club to beat Cleveland over the season (13-9), was stopped cold by Cleve's Mike Garcia until the Senators chasing starter Herb Score with three straight singles that tied it up. Pierce's double gave the Nats finally got to the guy who had run up 20 strikeouts, but one in relief, and had saved 30 others for the Tribe.

Jose Valdivielso, .225 hitter, did it with a double after Pete Runnels had opened the inning and moved up on a sacrifice. It was only the third run and hit off allowed by Narleski in 13 ball innings. For Valdivielso, it was the first RBI in 14 games.

Narleski had looked like the same cool, sticher man in the seventh, intentionally walking Mickey Vernon to load the bases, then striking out Roy Sievers and Carlos Paula.

SETS ROOKIE MARK

In the second inning, Sievers had become Score's 223th strikeout victim, a major league record for a rookie, breaking one with two days' rest, wound up with nine for a total of 235. Grover Cleveland Alexander held the old mark, which ting 227 when he broke in in 1911. Alex set it in 367 innings. Score, a 22-year-old southpaw broke it in 214.

Detroit scored twice in the first, but New York tied it in the fifth on three off Ned Garver in tie halt to take charge. Don Larsen, winning his eighth as the Yanks then blanked the Tigers till the ninth, when Charley Maxwell hit a two-run homer. Gil McDougald honored in the first and tripled home another run in the second off Garver (15-12), who lost his 10th decision in 12 lifetime meetings with the Yanks.

Hank Bauer delivered the winning blow, a two-run homer in the eighth off Babe Birrer, third pitcher for the Tigers, who nudged the opposition in six of Cleveland's remaining games.

HELD OUT SOX

Baltimore racked Chicago's Dick Donovan for 10 of 14 hits with Jim Wilson shut out the Sox until the ninth when Bob Kennedy homered with one on. Donovan now is 14-8, Wilson 11-17. In the nightcap, a scratch crew broke up a duel between Pierce and Bill Wight in the fifth. Three more runs in the eighth swamped the Pierce's 20th victory and fifth shutout.

Boston was walloped by Gus Zernial, who powered two homers—one a tie-breaking grand-slammer off Moe Morhardt in the sixth—the eighth—for six runs batted in.

Brooklyn's National League champs lost their fourth straight, beaten 3-0 by St. Louis' Vinegar Bend Pobosky's three-hitter. At Milwaukee, the Braves clubbed the New York Giants 9-2 with a pair of two-run homers by Del Crandall and George Crowe. Willie Mays smacked two for the Giants, tying Cincinnati's Ted Kluszewski for the lead with 45.

Batting—Gus Zernial, Athletics, drove in six runs with two homers, the second a bases-loaded shot that beat Red Sox 7-3.

Rain Washes Out First Game In Cup Playoff

TORONTO (CP) — The rain which washed out the scheduled opener of the final International League playoff here Wednesday night failed to dampen the verbal battle between the Rochester and Toronto front offices.

At last count, there will be one park policeman on duty in Maple Leaf Stadium when the Wings and Leafs meet to get the Governor's Cup series under way. That's what Toronto general manager Rudy Schaffer said after receiving a request from the Wings' head man, George Sleiter Jr., that extra police be assigned for the series.

Sleiter contends that "hard feelings" between the two clubs warrant that the Wings be given "adequate police protection."

But protection or not, Rochester's Mel Heim will be squaring off against Jimmy Formidoni, the unique Maple Leaf righthander barring another downpour.

WHEN IT BEGAN

The big bustle started back on Sept. 4th and 5th—the last two days of the regular season—when the Leafs took the place, used "second line" pitchers in four games with the Rochester Royals, who were a scant ½ game in the league lead. The Royals swept the series and held that margin to win the flag. Toronto pilot Duke Sewell and Wings' chief Dixie Walker made no attempt to beat Monarch and cost the Leafs a chance to cop the pennant.

Rochester went on to oust Montreal in the semi-final playoffs, four games to one, with Duke Markell and Yvon Dube each two games apiece.

Ironically, Toronto appears to have the better rested staff for the coming series, although Wednesday night's rain was a godsend for Walker, since it provided an extra day's rest for Markell and Dube.

So, while the playoff series stands at 1-0 Toronto has a 1-0 lead in the battle of words.

"Police-schmice," said Schaffer. "They're getting no favors from us."

'Rocks' Get Good Goal Tending To Defeat Trailermen by 10-7

VICTORIA (CP)—Victoria Shamrocks got the goal-keeping Wednesday night and as a result are all square today in Pemberton Trailermen in the Mann Cup intersquad playoffs.

Backed by the solid goaltending of Geordy Johnston, Shamrocks trounced the Peter 10-7 in the second game of the best-of-seven final. The third game will be played Friday.

Trailermen, seeking their fifth consecutive Canadian senior lacrosse championship, the opener 15-12 Monday night with their rotund defenceman, Lloyd (Moon) Wootton, the key man.

FOR 30 MINUTES

He blanked the powerful Trailermen for a stretch of more than 30 minutes, from 10:57 of the first period to 11:33 of the second quarter. Shamrocks held a 7-2 margin at the half.

The western champions, seeking their first mann cup win after being beaten by Peterborough in the last two finals, came up with three well-balanced forward lines. Each accounted for "three goals. The 10th went to defenceman Bruce Davies, a replacement acquired from Nanaimo Timbermen.

Another Victoria replacement, Jake Proctor, played a big part in the win.

Proctor, playing-coach of Mount Pleasant Indians of the Inter-city League, added nicely to Petes' high-scoring like Hildebrand, contributed three big assists, and was a steadying influence as he took a regular turn on defence with Nip Otheers.

Hildebrand, who scored seven goals in the first game, was held to one Wednesday night. He picked up three assists.

Trailers jumped to a 3-0 lead in the first quarter but Shamrocks lost their checks, and played with determination and alertness than the Petes.

JOCKEY SET DOWN

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Jockey Sam Boulmetis, leading rider at the Atlantic City meeting and third in the national standings, was suspended for 10 days by the stewards Wednesday.

The ruling is effective Friday. The stewards said that Boulmetis was warned for carelessly riding leaving the gate Sept. 8, and when the infraction was repeated Sept. 13 aboard Joseph and Farm's a Appeal, he was set down.

Marciano Ready for Toughest Fight of Career With Moore

GROSSINGER, N. Y. (AP)—Rocky Marciano is ready for the toughest fight of his life when he defends his heavyweight title against Archie Moore Tuesday at Yankee Stadium.

Although Moore is 38, officially, and Marciano is only 32, the Rock has learned deep respect for age. His first battle with Jersey Joe Walcott taught him that facts of life. He had to get off the deck to knock out Joe and win the crown.

"I never figured him (Walcott) like that," the Rock said Wednesday before his workout. "You can't tell a thing about these old guys. Age doesn't mean a thing. Walcott wasn't any old man that night. From what they tell me about Moore, I'm in for an even rougher night."

Rocky usually is a mild-mannered gent with his sparring partners but in Wednesday's drill he looked positively vicious at times.

"He looks tough, don't he?" said Al Weill, his manager. "I've hasn't looked like this since the Ezzard Charles fight."

Dr. Vincent Nardiello, who examined the champ earlier in the day, found Marciano in the usual "excellent condition." He said the champ is in better shape than he was for his decision against Don Cockell in San Francisco last May.

Past President Of C.A.H.A. Dies

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP) Douglas Grimston, 55, immediate past president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, died here Wednesday following a six-month illness.

One of the best-known hockey authorities in Canada, he was instrumental in having the New Westminster Royals admitted to the Western Hockey League and was an enthusiastic supporter of all sports. He was an outstanding lacrosse and basketball player in his youth.

At Winnipeg, Jimmy Dunn, president of the CAHA, said Wednesday night the death of Mr. Grimston is "a blow to hockey and to sport in general at New Westminster."

Mr. Dunn said:

"Doug was one of the best friends I had. We always roomed together at hockey meetings. He was one of the most colorful and aggressive presidents the CAHA ever had. A tireless worker, Doug took the brunt of many attacks at the CAHA, but he always used to say: 'If you're not doing anything, you can't make mistakes.'"

DeMarco Takes Chico Vejar In First Round

BOSTON (AP) — Rugged Tony DeMarco, punching harder than ever, has one burning ambition today — to regain the world welterweight boxing championship from Carmen Basilio.

Basilio was the main topic of conversation in Tony's dressing room Wednesday night after his quick, devastating technical knockout over Chico Vejar in 2:07 of the first round at Boston Garden.

The 23-year-old battler, making his first appearance since he lost the welter title June 10, decked Vejar with a right to the body and left hook to the head in the first minute after a savage flurry.

Two stinging rights to the body and head moments later sent Vejar down again and as soon as the Stamford, Conn., boy got up referee Tommy Rawson called a halt.

HARDER PUNCHER

"It as about the hardest I've ever hit anyone," Tony said gleefully.

"That left hook on the first knockdown? Solid, real solid. I knew had him. It was just a question of time. Now if I can get another shot at Basilio..."

The pre-fight understanding was that the winner would get a title shot at Basilio.

DeMarco weighed 145½ while Vejar came in at a surprisingly heavy 151½. Tony was a 2-to-1 favorite at ringside.

Only Two Big Names Left In Golf Tourney

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—British amateur champion Joe Conrad and 1954 Canadian champion Harvie Ward were virtually the only big names left in the United States amateur golf tournament today after a double round of eliminations took a toll of two of their U.S Walker Cup teammates and the last two former U.S. amateur champions.

Ward cut loose a birdie barrage to oust 250-pound Gordon Stott of New York 7 and 5 and 19-year-old Rex Baxter of Amarillo, Tex., 6 and 4.

Conrad, a red-haired U.S Air Force lieutenant, eliminated Edwin Collet Vare, the Yale captain-elect, 4 and 3, and then downed Bob Gardner of New York 3 and 1 after being one down through the 10th.

WINS IN WALK

AYR, Scotland (AP)—Little Neil won the Troon Stelling Plate Wednesday—by sauntering down the five-furlong course.

The two-year-old bay filly was the only starter—the fourth time in two days that has happened on British turf.

Reason: The coupling epidemic which is sweeping British tracks.

HIRE HANK AGAIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hank Greenberg was hired Wednesday for another year as general manager of Cleveland Indians. The 44-year-old former Detroit Tiger home run slugger has been with the Tribe as general manager since November, 1948.

Senior 'A' Teams Want Interlocking NOHA Schedule

KITCHENER (CP) — Teams in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A League say they are still interested in playing an interlocking schedule with the Northern Ontario Hockey Association.

Club delegates were told by OHA president Frank Buckland in Toronto Tuesday night that no official reply to their original proposals had been received from the NOHA.

Business manager Bill Hanley was instructed to open direct negotiations by telephone with the northern clubs. If the North is in favor of an interlocking plan, a meeting between the two leagues will take place this weekend, either in Toronto or North Bay.

Niagara Falls Cataracts officially withdrew from the league for the 1955-56 season. They were granted leave to suspend operations for one year. No replacement was announced.

If there is no interlocking schedule, the OHA seniors will play a 48-game schedule commencing Oct. 21. If the NOHA decides to participate in the interlocking setup the OHA will drop a round of games against each other and add a round of interlocking games, making a 50-game schedule.

REFEREE PUBLIC SCHEDULE

Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen assured the other league representatives that they expected to play a full schedule before going overseas to the 1956 Olympics to represent Canada in the hockey tournament.

Eight Niagara Falls players were claimed in the draft of the non-active team's personnel.

Chatham Maroons, with first choice as the bottom club last season for drafting rights, picked up goaltender Don Lockhart, centre Eric Unger and defenceman Harv Jacklin.

Stratford Indians chose star forward Lorne Picie. Owen Sound Mercurys drafted defencemen Dan Nixon and Frank Sargeson and forward Ed Plata. Windsor Spitfires obtained lefwing Ed Mulligan. Kitchener did not take anyone.

LACROSSE RAINED OUT

LONG BRANCH, Ont. (CP)—The second game of the best-of-seven Canadian junior lacrosse final, in which Long Branch Monarchs lead 1-0 over Manitoba All-Stars, was called off Wednesday night because of rain. The game will be played tonight.

Pirie Defeats Zatopek In Thrilling Race

LONDON (AP)—Gordon Pirie defeated Emil Zatopek in a stirring finish in the 5,000-metres race of the two-day British-Czech track and field meet starting in Prague Wednesday.

The Iron Curtain crowd raised the "Zatopek" cry that had cheered the great Czech runner to four Olympic championships and eight world records as 24-year-old Emil put on a tremendous burst of speed on the last lap and closed up a gap of 15 yards opened up by Pirie and Ken Norris, broadcasts from Prague said.

But Britain's elongated thin man, Pirie, held off the charging Czech ace to win by a few feet in the creditable time of 14:02.8. Zatopek edged out Norris for second in 14:04. Norris was given the same time as Zatopek for third place. The pending world mark for the distance is 13:50.8 set a few days ago by Hungary's Sandor Iharos.

Leafs Engage In Rugged Camp Workout

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs opened their autumn training camp Wednesday with a rugged 90-minute morning workout and another four in the afternoon.

In a mid-ice pep talk to the 27 players, coach King Clancy said: "Every position on the club is wide open and it's what you do at this camp which will decide what place you will have in the Maple Leaf organization."

The Leaf candidates apparently took their coach at his word. From time the first puck was dropped there was seldom a minute in the next hour and a half when at least one player and usually more were not sprawled on the ice after heavy body checks.

DEMPSEY'S GRANDSON

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)— Jack Dempsey is a grandfather for the first time.

The former heavyweight champion's eldest daughter, Joan Dempsey O'Flaherty, 21, gave birth to an eight-pound, eight-ounce girl Sunday night. She was named Denise Erin.

Sam Snead's Golf School

What's wrong with today's picture, fairway fans? My better students will spot the errors immediately, I'm sure. First of all, of course, the player hasn't pivoted at all. He hasn't shifted his weight to the right leg and he hasn't turned his hips even 10 degrees. In addition, he appears to have raised his body rather than staying down over the shot. The net result is that his hands and shoulders are also way out of position. How could they be otherwise? If you stay down over the ball and rotate your hips properly, the left shoulder is supposed to drop down and under your chin on the backswing—not up across your eyes as this bone has it. This will also bring your hands around to a position above and behind your head. This man is actually demonstrating the common fault of almost all rank beginners—that of trying to swing entirely with arms, no pivot or body twist. He ought to hit it at least 100 yards, off to the right somewhere.

Sarnia Imperials Wallop Beaches By 45-0 Count

SARNIA (CP)—A short-handed and weakened Toronto Beaches team was no match for Sarnia Imperials here Wednesday night in a senior Ontario Rugby Football Union fixture played before 2,000 fans. The Imperials tallied 21 points in a big third-quarter and won 45-0 to move into a first place tie with the Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen.

The Imperials led 6-0 at the end of the first quarter, 18-0 at the half and 39-0 going into the final 15 minutes of play. Beaches never really threatened although they got deep into Sarnia territory once late in the final quarter. The Toronto club had only 25 players dressed and only one import, tackle Cotton Fisher.

IMPORT LEADS

Leading the Sarnia scoring parade was import quarterback Geno Cappelletti from the University of Minnesota, who scored two touchdowns, kicked a 35-yard field goal and seven converts for 30 points. Import halfback Alex Webster from the University of Pittsburgh also scored two touchdowns and the other majors were run up by end Herk Johnston; and halfbacks Andy Eckel and Tom Dwinnell.

The Imperials made 18 first downs to Toronto's seven. Cappelletti threw 31 passes and completed 17, three for touchdowns, with one intercepted. Beach quarterbacks Frank Chew and Al Corner threw 28 passes and completed eight with five being intercepted. The Imperials picked up 43 yards in penalties, Beaches none.

Gadaur Wants Commissioner For Football

MONTREAL (CP)—Jake Gadaur president of Hamilton Tiger-Cats football club, said Wednesday there should be a football commissioner for both the western and eastern leagues—a good business man who knows football and is willing to work hard the year round.

Gadaur and head referee Seymour Wilson of the Big Four were guests at a press - luncheon arranged by the Montreal Alouettes club. The Ti-Cats meet Alouettes here Saturday, the first meeting of the two clubs in the regular schedule.

Gadaur said he didn't see any point in having a commissioner just for the Big Four, but there should be one for all Canada "as soon as possible, and then probably an interlocking schedule would follow."

He figured the job would be worth around $15,000 for the right man, the cost of salary, office and other expenses shared by the nine pro clubs of West and East.

SADDLES 100TH

Jockey Avelino Gomez won aboard Wings of Gold in the fifth race at Woodbine race track. Gomez now has 105 victories this year.

Detroit Coach Stumbles On Good Second Line

SAULT STE.MARIE, Ont. (CP) Coach Jimmy Skinner of Detroit Red Wings may have stumbled on a second line to go along with his top scoring unit of Gordie Howe, Ted Lindsay and Earl (Dutch) Reibel.

A new line of rookie Norm Ullman, veteran Marty Pavelich and newcomer Norm Corcoran, acquired from Boston, is currently the hottest trio in camp.

During a workout Wednesday, the trio clicked for four goals. Pavelich, best known as a defensive forward, got three and Corcoran one.

Detroit, last year's Stanley Cup champions, ran into its first injury Tuesday when veteran defenceman Bob Goldham was cut above the left eye in a collision with Jerry Toppazzini. Three stitches were needed to close the gash.

Shannonville Beats Cannifton To Win S. Hastings Ball Title

Scoring seven runs in the second inning, Shannonville led all the way last night in a wide open game to defeat Cannifton 10-7 and capture the South Hastings Baseball League championship and the Dr. Bateman trophy. Shannonville took the series four games to three with three more ending in ties.

Mr. Hudson, president of the league, presented the trophy to Bruce Reid, manager of the Shannonville club. This is the second year of competition for the cup, which was won by Read last summer.

Shannonville took a 7-5 lead in the bottom of the second after Cannifton scored five in their half. The winners widened the gap with two in the third, while both teams added a pair in the following frame. Shannonville closed their scoring with four in the seventh, while Cannifton plated one in the fifth and three in the eighth.

Juby hurled the initial four frames for the victors with Gerald Hill completing the fixture. Between them they surrendered 11 hits, whiffed four and walked four, while Juby hit three batters.

Stolliker tolled for Cannifton, allowing 19 hits while issuing five free passes.

Each team had a total of six errors.

Jerry Lewis paced the winner's attack with a triple and two singles, followed by Jim Sero with a triple and double. Maracle added a double with singles for Bennett, Stuart, Green and Juby.

Hugh Petrie was tops in a losing effort with a home run and two singles, while Harder poked a brace of singles. Others credited while MacDonald, Cole, Marner, Baker and Stolliker chipped in singles.

The line-up:

Shannonville — Maracle, L. Reid, Sero, Green, Lewis, Bennett, Stuart, Juby, Barbeschick, Hill.

Cannifton — Harder, Petrie, Sheffield, MacDonald, Cole, Marner, Moore, Baker, Stolliker.

Umpires — Al Kelleher (p), and G. McFaul (b). Timer: 2:15.

Line score	R	H	E
Cannifton	050 210 080—11	11	6
Shannonville	072 200 40x—15	10	6

WILL VISIT U. S.

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet violinist David Ostrakh left Wednesday on a concert tour of Western Europe including stops at Berlin, Copenhagen and Stockholm. He is scheduled to visit the United States early next year as the first Soviet artist to do so in many years.

Booths Take Oshawa 5-2 In Third Game

Booth Radio-TV's broke a 2-3 deadlock with three runs in the bottom of the fourth in Cobourg last night to defeat Oshawa 5-2 and win the CASA peewee Eastern Ontario championship. Belleville took the series two games to one and will now advance to the next round.

Oshawa took a 2-0 lead in the top of the initial frame but Leo Culhane's boys came right back to tie it with two runs in their half of the inning. The three-run explosion in the fourth completed the scoring.

Malloy pitched for Belleville and turned in an excellent showing. He gave up only three hits in the seven-inning contest, while Culhane was the losing hurler. Turner was his battery mate.

Stu Mulhead came through for Booth's with a home run and a triple, while Blaker also smashed a circuit clout. Malloy aided his own cause with a one-bagger, while Gaffney also singled.

Pope tripled, Yahn doubled and Mason singled to compile the three Oshawa safeties.

Line score	R	H	E
Oshawa	200 000 0—2	3	2
Belleville ..	200 300 x—5	7	1

Probing Panel Says Comic Books Are Too Violent

LONDON (Reuters)—An investigating panel set up to study British comics reported Wednesday that most comics are too violent with too many pictures of men knocking each other silly.

The panel, composed of teachers, ministers, a psychologist and justice of the peace, said "far too many stories depend on violence for its own sake instead of letting violence play a part in the achievement of some worthwhile aim."

The panel was set up after a recent outcry in Britain against American "horror comics." As a result, dozens of comics were banned by an act of Parliament.

The report said there are far too many punching, closeups of thugs and exclamations such as "Try this for size, guk, crash, murder, bang, ouch, mercy."

APPROVE ARMY BILL

VIENNA (AP) — The upper chamber of Parliament Wednesday overwhelmingly approved a bill Wednesday to give Austria its first army since 1938, when Hitler marched in. The army is expected to number between 25,000 and 30,000 men.

AT THE CAPITOL — Keefe Brasselle stars with Frankie Laine, Dorothy Malone and Constance Towers, beautiful and blonde new songstress in the color by Technicolor musical "Bring Your Smile Along", on the same program in Technicolor "The Gun That Won the West" starring Dennis Morgan and Paula Raymond. Both films are first Belleville showings and open at the Capitol Theatre tonight.

AT THE BELLE—Oscar-honored Donna Reed is starred in Paramount's "The Far Horizons", coming tomorrow to the Belle Theatre, as the Indian girl who guides Lewis and Clark on their famous expedition through the Northwest. The spectacular VistaVision Technicolor production co-stars Fred MacMurray, Charlton Heston and Barbara Hale.

Godfrey Given Real Panning By Writer in TV Magazine

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—A recent issue of a New York fan magazine says that this man once was idolized by the American press. Now he is not. The man is Arthur Godfrey.

Godfrey returned to CBS-TV with his "Talent Scouts" program Monday evening after a long summer vacation. It would be interesting, one viewer decided, to try to look at Godfrey with a fresh eye—view him, if possible, as if he were just beginning in television.

The program began and the man came on, like had, he said, gained 10 pounds. It was, he said the result of drinking too much tea in cans. (One of his sponsors is a tea company.) He named various makes of beer (which do not sponsor him) as being labelled on the cans from which he drink this "tea with foam on it." He drank this tea, he said, while hunting antelope in the west during vacation.

One began to fidget uneasily. The man displayed no wit as he kept talking. Here was a man back from a long vacation who had the opportunity to start anew with verve. But he had no verve. He seemed bored with the show, but not with Arthur Godfrey. Eventually he began to seem contemptuous. The contempt boiled over when he read a commercial for a make of television tube with adolescent cuteness.

"Well, I won't have to read that again till next June," he said, throwing away the script with a sneer.

Godfrey's guests came on: a blonde singer, a quartet, a soprano and their latest acquisition, Margaret's mother was her husband. Les Angeles realtor. Godfrey tried to match wits with him and was topped at every line. Then the dialogue fell into rattling vaudeville. And finally the program ran out of time.

Arthur Godfrey, citizen, means nothing to me. How he flies an airplane or when he rides a horse really do not care. When he fires or hires employees it's of no earthshaking importance.

But Arthur Godfrey, television performer, is of great interest to me. I'd like to see him entertain well. But on Monday night he wasn't even trying. He acted like a listless, defeated man.

Godfrey has said of television: "It has loosed up my whole life.

I'm a prisoner of it." That's what wants to be sympathetic. But after a while it becomes very difficult to feel sorry for anyone who feels terribly sorry for himself.

Seventy Per Cent of Patrons At Disneyland Are Adults

By BOB THOMAS

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Walt Disney swung his car up to a side gate at Disneyland and was scrutinized by a guard who then waved him through with "Hi, Walt."

The creator of the fabulous amusement park was greeted that way by many of his employees as he tramped around the place in an hour's tour. Children recognized him from his TV show and asked for autographs. Before assenting, he would glance around.

"It's all right to stop if no one else sees you," he confided. "But if you start to draw a crowd around, you can never get out."

He started this way in Pioneer land, hopping onto a Keelboat named the Gullywhumper which was tied along the river shore.

USED TWO

"We used two of these in one of our new Davy Crockett shows," he said. "I'm going to fix them up for riding on the river, along with our paddlewheeler, the Mark Twain. I also want to get some Indian war canoes. The kids'll like that."

Disney then climbed on the engine of the freight train and conversed with the engineer. As the train circled Disneyland, he talked about a few plans for the park — such as plastic Indians to be placed behind the waterfalls ride.

He walked into the Davy Crockett museum, tried to bag himself a Bar in shooting gallery, fiddled with some apple cider. In Fantasyland he inspected the dumbo ride, which had been having problems—"we'd rather keep them closed and disappoint a few people than take chances." Pausing for a few moments in the Mickey Mouse theatre, he seemed to enjoy the filming of a Donald Duck cartoon.

TOO IMPATIENT

In Tomorrowland he visited a new-art exhibit and reminisced about when he studied painting in Chicago—"I was too impatient to get on to other projects."

Disney remarked that the explorer boats in Adventureland have proven the most entertaining feature in the park. That's the river ride with the wild animals jumping up at you. It cost $400,000 to create.

The producer stopped for a chocolate malt shake at the New Orleans waterfront and discussed the first-year-record operation of Disneyland.

Is it a success?

"Oh, yes. No doubt about it. Attendance has been very satisfactory. Our only problem is adjusting the attendance, so crowds don't pile up at one time and thin out at others. During the summer, for example, weekends have been higher than weekdays. Everybody thought they would beat the crowds by coming on Monday and Tuesday."

MORE ADULTS

"Right now we've got a lot of bills to pay. We found a million dollars worth of bills we didn't know about. We'll certainly have a profitable operation, but we won't have the full impact that we've had a year's cycle. We're learning all the time."

A surprise so far: 70 per cent of the patrons are adults.

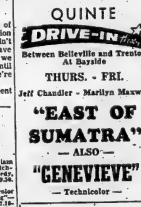
AT THE QUINTE DRIVE-IN — Jeff Chandler, Barbara Rush in "East of Sumatra" — also "Genevieve" Technicolor. Show starts at dusk.



AT THE McCARTHY — "Shake, Rattle and Roll" the Sheree North Way

Sheree North, who sizzled her way to quick fame doing Robert Alton's "Lafayette" dance in the Broadway stage musical "Hazel Flagg," duplicates the impression in her first starring film spot in the current movie to be Very, Very Popular" at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre. This time her vehicle is the tune of a rock-and-roll standard, "Shake, Rattle and Roll," by Charles Calhoun, and has been choreographed by Paul Godkin.

It's one of the highlights in the CinemaScope laugh spree about two burlesque dolls—Sheree and Betty Grable—who invade a staid college campus in seeking refuge from their would-be murderer. Miss North's climb up the ladder of fame got a boost or two from a television show and a movie with Martin and Lewis. Her signing to stardom by 20th Century-Fox gave her the cover of Life.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Very good aspects for delicate matters, foods, handling articles of decoration, personal affairs, the home, etc. You can advance an undertaking now by smart packaging and management.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Fine Moon, Venus and other planetary rays encourage you to favor practically all worthwhile activities, decorative items, gardening, professions (especially art, science, writing).

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Most quick-thinking, bright folks have been a day to your liking. You will probably be unusually creative, inventive, full of smart, fresh ideas for promotion, advertising, selling, etc.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — Peak rays for your private business or work interests. Engaged in a new undertaking, some fresh method or idea that will increase present holdings, better the quality of production.

July 23 to August 23 (Leo) — Necessary changes in work, travel, experiments, in unusual matters sponsored. Today favors the do-er, the one who wishes to get ahead in his or her profession, trade or other activity.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Mercury rays suggest that you do not study or concentrate till you reach the point of tension. Other aspects favor progress in your work, personal quests.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Bright prospects for you usually fatiguded, intuitive folks. In trade, profession, home work and religion, you have generous influences to help, improve, advance.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — A time and opportunity to try your skill at something you don't always have time for. Today's rays favor the smart and unusual in promotional methods, advertising, handling commodities.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Matters of a strictly personal nature are not in the forefront now but you can gain benefits in your work through right management and careful thinking. Have faith.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Money gains may not click now but business has usual and steady application to one's duties will bring benefits, even advancement. Plan before acting.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — This should be a peak day for you, with Uranus and other planets well aspected. Don't be lackadaisical, but pitch in to the day's schedule with purpose, faith.

You have good prospects.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Heed Capricorn and Scorpio rays and you can mold matters much to your liking, increase benefits, assets or small improvements. Don't seek immediate financial returns.

YOU BORN TODAY are intellectual, resourceful, dependable and energetic. To be true to your innate characteristics, you are sympathetic, trustworthy, helpful to others, fair-minded and industrious. You have talent for music, writing, painting, sculpture, decorating; may lean toward mechanics or science. At any profession, trade or religious calling you can be truly successful. Guard health and nerves, as you tend to work too long hours and worry too much. Have faith in God's help and, remember, take care of your health. Keep cheerful, hopeful.

Says Man Stabbed When He Slipped During Scuffle

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The defence and prosecution are expected to address the Supreme Court here today as the murder trial of Edith Mary Flynn draws to a close.

She is charged in the butcher knife death of Vincent Spence, 30, a transient worker found in her Maple street apartment on July 17.

Taking the stand in her own behalf Wednesday Mrs. Flynn testified the man was stabbed accidentally during a scuffle with her in the kitchen of her two-room apartment.

"I'd had the knife in my left hand. I turned to the refrigerator and then he grabbed me from behind. It was then he jumped me," she said.

CLARENCE EDGAR

She said that during the scuffle Spence slipped. "I did not know the knife was in his hand. I made a complete turn and fell on his face."

She gave no reason for the sudden attack but suggested it was the result of drinking during the morning.

UPHOLDS RIGHT

MONTREAL (CP) — Mr. Justice Claude Prevost of Superior Court on Wednesday upheld the city's right to refuse permits to restaurants it has reason to believe have broken the law. He dismissed proceedings taken by Vic Restaurant, Inc., to compel the city to renew the restaurant's permit for the current year.

Gave Best Relief From Sour, Acid, Upset Stomach

This Man Has High Praise for Syntona. Says It Also Relieved Rheumatic Pain

The quick and positive action of Syntona in helping so many men and women is simple to explain because Syntona is made from a combination of medical ingredients never before found in any medicine. It is designed to act on the stomach, liver and bowels improving their action and relieving other complaints such as upset stomach, nervousness, rheumatic pains and that sluggish, always-tired feeling.

Gave Best Relief

In the case of Mr. Gordon W. Hayward, 152 Dundas St., Woodstock, Ont., now in how Syntona helped him: "I have suffered a lot with indigestion, sour stomach and acid rising in my throat. Sometimes I would eat hardly any food. After taking a number of bottles of Syntona I have not needed to use it for some time and it has given me the best relief of anything I ever used. Syntona also relieved me of the rheumatic relief from rheumatic pains that I had suffered in my knee, limbs and back. I also keep better and can work better since I have been taking Syntona. I can highly recommend Syntona to anyone suffering from indigestion." I am thankful for what Syntona has done and do so for me."

If you suffer this way, don't wait another day. Begin using Syntona at once and see how much better you will feel.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Belleville by Dolan The Drug Store.

Butter, Cheese Output Slips During August

OTTAWA (CP)—August production of butter and cheese slipped below output figures for a year earlier. Margarine production, however, was up some 10 per cent.

The bureau of statistics today estimated production of creamery butter totalled 38,852,000 pounds in August, two per cent below the 39,617,000 in August, 1954. This left the January-August output at 219,640,000 pounds compared to 222,098,000 in that period of 1954.

Sales on the home market, however, rose to 26,686,000 pounds in August from 25,526,000 a year earlier and to 197,834,000 in the eight months from 196,526,000.

Stocks of creamery butter in storage at Sept. 1 stood at 118,197,000 pounds, 19 per cent above last year's corresponding total of 107,392,000.

Cheddar cheese production fell to 10,059,000 pounds in August from 11,806,000 and to 52,991,000 for the eight-month period from 59,813,000.

Hillier South

HILLIER SOUTH. — Mr. Norman Vancleaf was stricken on Friday with a sudden heart attack and taken to Picton hospital, where he passed away. The community extend sympathy to Mrs. Vancleaf and family. The funeral was held on Monday afternoon with the Rev. A. Poulter in charge.

Congratulations to Miss Geraldine Down and Bill Gaszire, who were married Saturday afternoon in the United church. The Rev. A. Poulter officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry MacDonald visited his mother, in Belleville on Sunday. Sorry that Mrs. C. MacDonald has not improved in health to date.

Mr. and Mrs. Calnan were callers at the MacDonald home on Saturday.

Mr. Wesley Vancleaf underwent an appendectomy at Picton hospital on Wednesday. Reports concerning his condition are favorable, and trust he will soon return home.

Mrs. W. Lewis was a caller at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Timmerman on Saturday.

Mr. C. Clapp was guest speaker at Rose Hall Sunday school, Sunday morning. Mrs. A. Wannamaker had charge of devotional exercises.

The many patrons of Master Feeds, Wellington regret the removal of Mr. Gibson to Picton branch.

Mrs. M. Tuttis and Stephen, have returned to their home in Toronto.

The Hillier W.I. which was to have held their September meeting at Mrs. W. Forsyth's this Friday night, has been postponed.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Lancaster, Mrs. Power and Miss Merle Wannamaker, spent Sunday with their parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Foster and family, former residents, spent a short holiday in Toronto, Hamilton and other points west, returning home on Sunday.

Mrs. W. Young entertained friends on Sunday last.

100 Feet Up, Painter Falls, Grabs Rope

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rubin Boyance, 33, a painter from Levittown, Pa., slipped from a 100-foot-high scaffold Thursday and plunged toward ground workers on construction of a Delaware river bridge at nearby Edgely.

He fell about 50 feet — reached out—and managed to grasp a dangling rope. Workers above began to haul him back up.

Just as Boyance neared a catwalk, he slipped again. This time there was no dangling rope. He fell, unreaching, toward earth.

He landed in a taut piece of tarpaulin ground workers had improvised as a safety net—just in case. A hospital said his injuries were minor.

Will Be Sent To Toronto Soon To Get New Aorta

KINGSTON (CP)—A doctor said Thursday Cyrille Sexsmith, 60, of Napanee will be sent to Toronto soon to get a new aorta, the large artery near the heart.

However, the doctor attending Mr. Sexsmith, denied a report he is searching for a corpse from which an aorta could be taken.

"We haven't the needed vital organ in Kingston, or Mr. Sexsmith will be sent to Toronto where he may possibly get one. It is nothing new, it happens quite frequently."

Mr. Sexsmith, a plasterer whose home is near Napanee, has been in hospital for four days. He is not considered dangerously ill, the doctor said.

In Toronto, it was reported an aorta is available.

Eden Recovering From Flu Attack

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Eden is recovering from an attack of influenza but has cancelled his scheduled weekend visit to Queen Elizabeth at Balmoral Castle, Scotland, it was officially announced today.

A statement from 10 Downing street said: "The prime minister is making good progress with his attack of influenza and his temperature is now lower. But he will, to his deep regret, be unable to carry out the intended visit to Scotland next week."

Authoritative sources said Eden is still in bed at his official country residence, Chequers.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: More fine weather is in prospect for southern Ontario for today and Saturday and, at least, in southwestern Ontario there is the likelihood of it turning really hot Saturday. In the north cloudiness and some showers are expected today, but by Saturday morning these showers will be east of the province.

By DAVID ROADS

HONG KONG (AP)—Red China today released two American civilians, the first of 22 the Communists have promised to free. One of the two asserted that he was guilty of spying for the United States.

Released were Walter A. Rickett of Seattle, a Fulbright scholar imprisoned July 25, 1951, on espionage charges, and Rev. Edmund W. Rigney, 54, Chicago, dean of the Roman Catholic Fu Jen University in Peiping. He was arrested on spying and sabotage charges in July, 1951.

Rickett said, after crossing the border into Hong Kong by foot-bridge over the Sam Chun river, a colony: "I was engaged in espionage work and there was a (Korean) war. I was an agent for the U.S. government. I collected military information."

WIFE PRAISED REDS

Rickett's wife, Adele, when released by the Reds last February, said she was guilty of spying. She praised the Communists highly, and reiterated that today after her husband was freed.

Americans officially said last spring that Mrs. Rickett appeared to have been thoroughly "brainwashed." Rickett is a former marine corps language officer who speaks Chinese and Japanese.

"We have waited four years and three months for this day," said Father Rigney.

He wore an open nightshirt and a grey coat.

Both talked briefly at the border with Richard Yuchi, American Red Cross representative, and a reporter permitted into the area by a representative for the press agencies. Rickett praised both the Chinese and American Red Cross.

Rickett said he confessed to espionage 15 days after he was arrested July 25, 1951—18 months after the start of the Korean war.

Freedom Running Out for Vicki As Elephant Hunters Set Traps

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — Vicki, a runaway elephant, early today lumbered out of the swampy woods that had been her hiding place for six days.

Hour later she was sighted near Dougher Airport, six miles west of the centre of Charlotte. To get there she had crossed a heavily-travelled highway and a railroad and several streets.

Police and patrol cars in the area, with the officers instructed to call their headquarters when they sighted the 2,300-pound fugitive. Just what would happen then was anybody's guess.

Vicki's owner doesn't want her killed except as a last resort. But she's been given signs of viciousness after being chased for days by a posse of newspapermen and volunteers. Several times she has charged attackers and tore her purchasers, only to turn and amble back into the woods.

Vicki escaped from an amusement park near the airport last Sunday. She disappeared into a snake-infested thicket.

At the outset, during but lore-pertinent observers joined professional animal handlers on bushwhacking safaris. The excitement made Vicki nervous. But she still her trunk.

HURRICANE HILDA SLAPS YUCATAN, MOVES INLAND

Sister Lone Travelling Uncertainly in Atlantic

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Hilda slapped the Yucatan peninsula early today and moved inland from the Gulf of Mexico with winds up to 110 miles an hour while lone, her sister and less powerful younger sister, moved uncertainly in the Atlantic.

Hurricane-force winds raged outward 40 miles from the centre of Hilda to the north and 20 miles to the south. Gale- to hurricane-force winds are expected to batter the peninsula as Hilda moves forward.

The storm is expected to lose force as it moves but it makes its way across the land, but is likely to regain some of its punch in the Gulf of Campeche tonight and Saturday.

COURSE ERRATIC

Ione, embedded in a mass of colder air than normal, continued meanwhile an erratic course toward the west-northwest. Just before daylight she was about 400 miles east of Nassau, Bahamas, and about 750 miles east southeast of Miami, moving along at about 17 miles an hour.

Weather bureau forecasters said that while Ione is pointing toward Florida, she is too far away to pose any threat at this time. She has changed direction twice in 24 hours, "a very unusual thing for storms of intensification," the weather bureau said.

Forecaster said it was too early this morning to tell if Ione will threaten the mainland, but she was being watched "very closely."

Last year only eight storms reached hurricane proportions. Ione is the ninth this season. In 1933 a record 22 hurricanes were spawned.

Lightning Kills Two

CHAPLEAU (CP) — Two men and four horses were killed today when lightning struck the camp of the Spanish Lumber Company, 20 miles northeast of here.

Names of the dead were not immediately available.

Fifteen other men suffered severe shock, police said. Two believed several others are close to death.

The dead and injured are being carried out by truck over the company's bush road.

Say Newsmen, Police, MLA Conspired Against Mulligan

VANCOUVER (CP)—Three newspaper men, two police officers and a Social Credit member of the legislature were mentioned — but not by name—in a report charging a conspiracy against Vancouver police department and Walter Mulligan, its chief.

They were mentioned in a year-old report, made public for the first time at the R. H. Tupper royal commission hearing here Thursday.

The commission is inquiring into the operation and conduct of the force following charges of extortion and laxity.

A letter dated April 5, 1954, from Chief Mulligan to the police commission, was entered as evidence by magistrate Oscar Orr, testifying on the 25th day of the much-adjourned hearings.

It was read out by J. G. A. Hutcheon, commission counsel.

"This information, which came to me from a reliable source (whose identity I will reveal at the right time and place)," the letter read, "was to the effect that a conspiracy is being planned, designed to discredit the administration of the Vancouver police department generally and the chief constable in particular.

"I have the names of two police officers involved in this plot, also the name of a Social Credit member of the legislature who has agreed to interview the honorable the attorney-general at the appropriate time and present the allegations. . . .

"According to my information, the conspiracy is to be carried out in the following manner:

"At the present time, plans are under way in regard to preparing allegations against the administration of the police department. . . .

"Three members of a Vancouver newspaper are also involved (one of them actively) in this conspiracy and it has already been agreed that on the day the member of the legislature interviews the attorney-general with the request that he take the necessary steps to bring about an investigation into the allegations, the Vancouver newspaper will break the story with the objective of starting the ball rolling."

Magistrate Orr was on the stand most of the day, giving direct evidence and undergoing cross-examination.

He was due to return to the stand again today.

100 Volunteers Desperately Try to Save Trapped Miners

GEORGETOWN, Colo. (AP)— Federal mines bureau experts joined more than 100 volunteer rescuers today in desperate efforts to rescue two Kansas uranium prospectors trapped in an abandoned mine shaft.

Believed dead from lack of oxygen more than 24 hours were inside unused shaft near here were Glenn Dew, 33, and Melvin LeBlow, 45, Ulysses, Kans.

The two were last seen Thursday afternoon when they followed their geiger counters under the rotted timbers supporting the old mine tunnel, about 50 miles west of Denver.

Two companions who stayed back as a precaution escaped entombment. They are Kenneth E. Hickel, 30, a mining engineer, and Ernest P. Stubblefield, 32, an airport manager. Both also live at Ulysses.

County sheriff James Sacra said two miners with oxygen masks got to the scene after they went part way into the shaft Thursday night and smelled for Dew and LeBlow.

Lack of oxygen in the old mine hampered operations, but a team of 10 mines bureau experts arrived early today with self-contained breathing equipment and an oxygen supply.

Officials said the prospectors had oxygen tanks to support them for at least four hours. The officials believed the two could not possibly have survived the hours after their oxygen was exhausted.

Stubblefield and Hickok said they came here Tuesday to do some uranium hunting.

Hickok said all except Stubblefield, who is crippled, went down into the mine for about 3,000 feet Thursday. Then they reached a point where an old cave-in had blocked the tunnel. He said the air was bad and they abandoned the effort for the day.

They returned Thursday, and after reaching the cave-in Dew and LeBlow went ahead. Mr. Hickok said they discovered water on the other side over the radio.

DECLARE LOYALTY

A state of siege was proclaimed throughout Argentina.

Then an announcement said that commanders of various other garrisons had declared their loyalty to Peron. The announcement also said the regime had the situation in hand. It called on the people to remain calm.

Canadian Firm Will Develop Irish Minerals

DUBLIN (CP)—William Norton, Irish minister of industry and commerce, announced he has signed an agreement with the Mogul Mining Corporation of Canada for the exploitation of mineral resources at Avoca, County Wicklow.

Norton said a new company will be formed with £2,000,000 Canadian capital. The firm will pay a levy on profits and rate of royalties and after eight years will pay full income tax and corporation profits tax. It will also pay a levy of profits £500,000 spent by the Eire government in the last five years to explore the possibilities of mining.

The company will be given a 21-year lease, renewable with the option of a renewal for a similar period.

The announcement, made Thursday, did not disclose the nature of the mineral deposits in the area, some 30 miles south of Dublin.

TO CONSIDER TOLL

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost Thursday declined a request that the new Burlington skyway is to be a toll bridge as "purely speculation." The premier told a press conference the matter is one for the Ontario legislature and not committee on toll roads to study. However, the premier said he did not think the skyway could not be toll bridges if there were toll roads.

Uranium Miners Are Not Worried About Future

SUDBURY (CP) — Uranium mine officials at Blind River say they have no worries about what will happen after 1962—deadline for government-guaranteed prices for their radioactive products.

Don Smith and, Martin Stevens, general superintendent at Pronto and Algom uranium mines respectively, Thursday night addressed a joint meeting here of the Blind River and Sudbury chambers of commerce.

When production is under way at all major properties in the area, including Denison, Stanleigh and Consolidated Denison had combined capacities for 856,000-ton, 8206,500,000 and $182,250,000 respectively.

'BRAINWASHING' SCHOOL CALLED 'JUST CHILDISH'

Men Who Joined Reds Ridicule Torture Tests

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Three American turncoats, who first embraced and then rejected the Communist cause, today ridiculed as "childish" the U. S. Air Force's Nevada school against brainwashing.

William Cowart, Lewis Griggs and Otho Bell said in separate interviews that the Nevada idea is unrealistic. They were captured by the Reds in the Korean War, then chose to go to China rather than return to their homeland after the armistice was concluded.

They came out of China last July and now are awaiting court martial on charges they betrayed their country and their countrymen.

The men said through Mat Nevada school know they're not going to be killed—they're not even going to lose their cigaret rations." said Bell. "How can you call that a real test? It's just childish. . . .

"The big thing is education. A man with an education can stand up to the Chinese or anybody else, but you have to know what they're talking about."

SILLIEST THING

Cowart called the school "the silliest thing I've heard of since I came back. It's not going to make any difference to their tactics A man has to know what communism is. That's the basic thing.

"Ask any soldier—even after he goes through the school—what communism is. He won't know. He'll say he hates it—but he doesn't know what it is.

Griggs said the air force school was "ridiculous, completely crazy."

"You'll never train a soldier by torture," he said.

"And all those Chinese torture stories aren't true either. A lot of guys came back from POW camps and told some pretty terrible tales to cover up for what they had done themselves. . . .

YOUTH SENTENCED

OSHAWA (CP)—Lawrence Fenwick, 23, of Oshawa was sentenced Thursday to 16 days in jail for driving a motorcycle while intoxicated. He was also fined $50 or one month in jail for driving while his licence was suspended. Fenwick's licence was suspended and he was fined $150 in Toronto in March on an impaired - driving charge.

Army Garrisons, Section Of Navy Has Rebelled

BUENOS AIRES (CP) — Armed rebellion by army and navy units broke out at three key centres in the Argentine interior today and there was a report that army officials had called upon President Juan Peron to resign.

The government claimed the revolts were "rapidly" crushed and declared a terrorist plot had been smashed in the Buenos Aires with the arrest of 100 civilians.

The Associated Press quoted circles close enough with the army as saying unnamed army officials had called for Peron's resignation. The AP added that there was no official confirmation.

The Peronist news agency said the state radio named Gen. Dalmiro Videla Balaguer as head of the Rio Cuarto garrison in a conspiracy which was crushed. Four days later Gen. Balaguer was reported under arrest but this was never confirmed officially.

ATTACKS FEARED

Despite the government claim that the situation had been "fully mastered," there still appeared to be rebel activity in some areas this afternoon.

Federal police headquarters near the Congress building in Buenos Aires were evacuated, possibly indicating fear of an attack. And Peron himself was reported to have gone to the army ministry about 3 a. m.

The uprising today was the fourth reported plot aimed at upsetting Peron since the major revolt of June 16—just three months ago today.

Heavy fighting was reported on the outskirts of Cordoba city as movement forces battled the insurrection. The government claimed the revolt was being crushed.

Another outbreak at an army post in Arroyo Co. in Santa Fe province, was put down and 300 men surrendered, a government announcement said.

"Isolated uprisings" by army garrisons in Corrientes province and by some naval units were also reported in an official communique broadcast over the radio.

Labor Council Asks Ont. Govt. To Launch Appeal

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto district Trades and Labor Council Thursday night asked the Ontario government to launch an appeal against a decision of judge H. E. Gresch quashing a conviction against two restaurant owners accused of discriminating against Negroes at Dresden.

If an appeal is not possible the group, representing 55,000 unionists, wants Attorney-General Roberts to prepare "needed changes in the Fair Accommodation Practices Act."

The council also said the Ontario labor department was unfair in maintaining two salary scales for chairmen of conciliation boards. Judges who act as chairmen receive a day while other persons receive $25.

Lockheed CF-105 Will Approach Heat Barrier

OTTAWA (CP) — Anybody here who can fly 1,500 miles an hour?

A defence department official Thursday said the delivering of the CF-105, expected to start producing in this area this spring, will carry a pilot. There has been some speculation it might be a pilotless plane.

At 1,500 miles an hour, a plane is approaching the heat barrier at which ordinary metals such as steel begin to lose their strength as caused by friction between air and airframe.

It is believed that the pilot will ride the first of the CF-105 that take it off and land it—and even this may be done automatic.

A. V. Roe Canada Ltd. at Malton, Ont., is the twin-jet-interceptor CF-100,' now in squadron service with the RCAF.

It is understood that the prototypes won't be ready until about the end of 1957, and, if they are successful, that an operational CF-105 will be flying late in 1958 or early in 1960.

More important than the airframe is the engine that will go into it. Avro is working on a new, supersonic engine that may package as much as 20,000 pounds thrust, which would make it far more powerful than any aircraft now in existence.

The United States is also trying to develop a jet engine and it also may be used in the CF-105 prototype, depending which is ready first.

The latest version of the all-weather CF-100 travels at more than 600 miles an hour at about 50,000 feet and has an endurance of more than five hours.

Federal officials say there is no reason why the new plane be less resistant metal which is stronger than steel, which is now used in the CF-105.

Titanium is about 45 per cent lighter than most alloy steels but exceeds them in strength. It is also more resistant to atomic minimum.

Like the CF-100, the CF-105 will probably have an automatic fire control system.

Hooked to the CF-100's radar picks up an enemy aircraft, it locks on the target and leads the interceptor to the enemy. The radar computing equipment also determines the moment of attack—and automatically fires the CF-100's rocket guns.

This means that interception and attack can be made in complete darkness or cloud from several miles away without the pilot ever seeing the enemy.

Canon A. S. McConnell, Trenton, Appointed to St. Thomas' Parish

One of the district's most distinguished churchmen will take over the pastorate of St. Thomas Anglican Church some time next month.

Appointed new rector of the parish is Canon A. S. McConnell, now rector of St. George's Anglican Church, Trenton.

Announcement by Rev. William Robinson, popular pastor of the parish, and one of city's most important clergy of St. John's, Otawa, is the end of city's oldest religious communities. As yet no successor has been named for the Canon McConnell.

Canon McConnell, who has a full life of dedication to the Anglican Church to his credit, is coming here after nearly 10 years of service to the Trenton community. He takes over the care of the parish, in an auspicious year for just recently the community hailed the centenary of the present church. The parish itself is about 130 years old.

An Irishman by birth, Canon McConnell came to Canada as a boy from Fermanagh, Ireland. Settled in Toronto, he attended Oakwood collegiate. With the outbreak of World War I he joined the Canadian army but was not sent overseas.

In 1925 he embarked on his first step toward fulfilling his calling when he entered the University of Trinity College in Toronto. Four years later he graduated and commenced his work for his church.

His first parish was there in year of 1929 was to the mission of North Frontenac, and some time he was appointed to the parish of Sydenham and followed that with the parish of Napanee, his last community.

In 1945 he assumed the rectorship of Brockville's Trinity Church. However, it was a brief appointment. In the Spring of the following year Canon McConnell once more donned the uniform of the active wartime army. For a year he held the rules of regulars at the officers training centre at Brockville.

That he embarked with the 4th Canadian Armored Division for Europe, serving on the northwest front.

At the end of the war in Holland he established a relationship that linked him with the Queen Victoria and still lodged today. He was attached to the Hastings and Prince Edward regiment as chaplain, a post he still holds.

He returned to Canada with the acknowledgement of his war services recorded in an M.B.E. decoration. In January of 1946 he commenced his active relationship with the immediate Quinte district when he took charge of the parish of St. George's in Trenton. For nearly 10 years now he has been an active, popular figure both in his own community and the community at large.

Canon McConnell will settle in Belleville this week. He is the former Ruby Foy, whom he married in Toronto. They have two sons, Creighton now 24, married, and settled in Trenton, and a daughter, Ruth, a 2-year-old student of the Department of Forestry, and now living in Fredericton, New Brunswick.

Canon McConnell's appointment will be officially confirmed from St. Thomas' pulpit at the Sunday morning service. There was no indication who will be his successor.

"Naturally I am very loath to leave the parish here, but I am looking forward to my new task," Canon McConnell said.

"My successor I look forward to the same happy conditions in St. Thomas' parish."

Meeting Decides to Organize Hastings Historical Society

Historic Hastings County last night stepped closer to having its past and present preserved for future.

Informally, a group of district people sat down in the auditorium of King George public school and decided to found the Hastings Historical Society, which will have as its purpose and object the preservation of the county's annals and historical background in general.

The meeting, chaired by John Burdun, ended with a vote and took decision on anything, most of the discussion being confined to formative ideas for the society to be set-up as a well-established basis.

For this purpose, officers as yet has been elected, although several prominent residents were elected to draw up further interest throughout the county in the organization to be discussed further.

These included T. G. Wrightmeyer, Mrs. W. N. Fenton, County Clerk Eric Denyes, Kenneth Bell, Mrs. Irene Haig and Grant Gooding of Trenton.

Advice on organization of such a society was given the group by Kay McFarland, intimately connected with the Lennox and Addington Historical Society.

Lloyd Dorse, at the meeting that: "The Belleville Recreation commission is interested and would like to assist in every way possible."

His remarks later were echoed by recreation committee director William VanTassel who said: "Our office and our director will be at your disposal any time you wish."

The meeting ended on a note of optimism, and of general agreement—that Hastings County is ripe for historical interest and support for the society is certain throughout the county.

Firemen Assist In Looking For Lost Boy

City firemen stepped out of their customary role Thursday night when they were called to the Bayview heights district to assist in looking for a lost boy.

The fireball blotter failed to indicate whether the lad had been found, but city police said no call for assistance had been received at the police station.

Thursday evening firemen were called to Crawford Metals on South George street, where a blaze started by an acetylene torch was giving trouble.

6 BCI Students Receive Bursaries

Six proud BCIVS students are the recipients of a total of $1,050 in Dominion and Provincial government bursaries, the Ontario Department of Education has announced.

Biggest slice of the total goes to Robert Murray Phillips, 23, son of Mrs. R. W. Phillips, RR 3, Belleville, who received $300 to attend Queen's University. Incidentally, Robert also has been awarded the Mowat Scholarship in Mathematics, valued at $500, by Queen's University.

Annette Gayford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percival Gayford, RR 1, Selby, has been awarded $250 to attend teachers' college.

Bursaries of $100 each go to William Carter, Evelyn Lott, Jeannette Nicholls and Gordon Whalen to continue their education at Queen's.

The bursaries are part of the $430,000 awarded this year by the Dominion and Provincial governments to provide financial assistance to students wishing to continue their education. They are allocated to the various counties and districts on the basis of population and enrolment in the higher school grades. The allotment for Hastings County provides three bursaries for students entering first in university, three for students entering teachers' colleges and three for students entering Grade 13, vocational or Grade 13 general courses.

Another BCIVS student, Monica Bruckmann Bitawa, from the Watson Scholarship of $1,200 offered by Queen's University for special proficiency in German.

Obituary

FRANCIS (DUKE) SMITH

In ill health for the past two years, Frank (Duke) Smith, 1390 Burnham Street, died late Wednesday evening in Kingston General Hospital. In the death of Mr. Smith, the city has lost one who took a great interest in the social, civic and community life of the city for many years.

He was born in this city 64 years ago, being the son of the late Caleb and Mrs. Ida Smith, and had resided his entire life in the neighborhood. After his early education in the public and high schools in this city "Duke" Smith was known to a legion of friends, took up sailing on the Great Lakes as his life work and he was only following in the footsteps of his father, who for many years was a well known captain on the lakes. The late Mr. Smith graduially drifted away from the seafaring life and opened a taxi business in the city which he operated for some years and then the bus line. The latter was purchased. He operated this until the war and for a few years afterwards, finally retiring from active business.

His genial nature made him a ready wit and his kind personality were known to many in this city and district. "Duke" Smith did not have an enemy and he was never a daughter, many big friends. His first love was the Wharf St. Debating Club and through his efforts with others in the former Ward this club became an institution. He was also interested in social work and was a charter member of the Belleville Kinsmen Club but due to business reasons he was forced to relinquish his membership. He also assisted in the formation and progress of the Yacht Club, Rowing Club and was a member of the I.O.O.F. and also the Quinteca Rebekah lodge. He was a member of St. Thomas' Anglican Church.

He was much interested in civic matters and on two occasions offered himself for aldermanic honors. "Duke" Smith was a kind friend and his death will be sincerely regretted by a large circle of friends.

Surviving are his wife, the former Pearl Collins; one son, Edward Francis Smith of this city; three sisters, Mrs. Alexander (Ida) Addy of Medford, Mass.; Mrs. Harry (Gertrude) Hall of this city, and Mrs. John (Frances) Minter of Georgetown; one brother, Edward R. Smith, of Erie, Penn.

Resting at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home. The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

RALPH W. BURGESS (Frankford)

Ralph W. Burgess of 122 W. Bissell Street, Syracuse, N.Y., owner of Tech Products, Inc., died recently in Syracuse General Hospital.

He was king of Amaranth Royal Arch Chapter; a past patron of St. Mark's Council, Royal Order of Jesters; a past grand monarch of Yamato 92, Ancient Mystic Order of Samaritans; a member of the Shrine of Jerusalem, and Prince Arthur Rhodes Lodge of Toronto, Ont., Canada.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Louisa Burgess; two sons, Fellers of California and Meanns of Syracuse; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Roberta F. Wineow of Syracuse; a brother, John C. Burgess, of Belleville, Canada; two sisters, Mrs. Lulu M. Roberts of Kingston, Ont., and Mrs. Ethel Burt of Rupland, Vermont; seven grandchildren and a great grandchild.

Services were held at the John G. Butler Funeral Home with the Rev. Lloyd V. Moffet of the Centenary Methodist Church officiating. Burial was in Wilton Cemetery, Wilton, Ont. Belleville Lodge, 48, IOOF, conducted the service at the funeral home. Committal service was held at 3 p.m. Thursday evening by Central City Lodge, 305, F. and A.M.

FRANCIS BURKITT

The funeral of Francis Burkitt was held from the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home on Wednesday afternoon. Rev. Alfred Poulter conducted the service in the chapel and also the graveside prayers in Burnt Cemetery in Prince Edward County.

The bearers were: Keith Blakely, Cyril Cole, Robert Bert, Floyd Huffman, Clifford Hough and William Sehn.

MISS SOPHIA THERESA THOMPSON

The funeral of Miss Sophia Theresa Thompson was held from her late residence, 8 Queen Street on Thursday afternoon under the direction of the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home to St. Thomas Anglican Church. Rev. W. J. Robinson, rector of the church, conducted the service and also the last rites at Belleville cemetery.

MRS. WILLIAM C. DAFOE

Following a lengthy illness, Mrs. Sarah Jane Dafoe, 78 North Park Street, died Thursday at the Belleville General Nursing Home.

Born in Belleville, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Adam Hudgins, Mrs. Dafoe had lived in the city all her life and was a member of Tabernacle United Church. Her husband, the late William C. Dafoe, died here February.

Surviving is one son, Earl Dafoe; also one sister, Mrs. Mabel Wilson, Belleville, and one brother, James Hudgins of Belleville.

JOHN DOWNEY

MADOC — Funeral service for Mr. John Downey, late of Madoc, and formerly of Tweed, Ontario, was held on Wednesday afternoon, September 14th in the MacKenzie Funeral Home, Madoc. The funeral was largely attended by many relatives and friends of the deceased. Interment took place in Tweed cemetery. The Rev. [illegible] of Trinity United Church, Madoc, officiated and Grant Carter, Carl Trotter, Ben Miller, Norm Whytock, Clarence Farrow, Gordon Pigden and Delbert Francis.

MRS. JANET WHYTOCK

The funeral of the late Mrs. Janet Beaton Whytock was held on Thursday afternoon, September 15th, in St. Peter's Presbyterian Church, Picton, where service was conducted by the Rev. M. W. Heslip. The profusion of beautiful floral tributes and the large number of relatives and friends who attended the service testified to the high esteem and respect the deceased was held in in her community.

Flower bearers were: Walter Armstrong, Thomas Reid, Ted Hailstone, Ray Parks, Thomas Armstrong and Eric Donelin.

Bearers were: Carl McCoy, Cleve Mulrooney, Tom Burnside, Glen Whytock, William Naylor and William Crawford.

Interment took place in the family plot, Lakeview Cemetery.

EGBERT SINE (Frankford)

The funeral of Egbert Sine, a farmer all his life on the sixth concession of Sidney township was held from his late residence at R.R. 2, Frankford, to Belleville United Church yesterday.

Mr. Sine died in his 78th year in Belleville General Hospital on Monday.

Rev. W. E. Dovey, assisted by Rev. H. H. Hillis, Belleville, officiated at the service. Interment was in Sine cemetery.

Bearers were: Cecil Sine, Edison Sine, Lorne Sine, Glen Sine, Ronald Badgley and Maurice Dafoe.

Members of Jewish Faith Prepare for Rosh Hoshanah

Beginning at sundown tonight Rosh Hashanah, The Jewish New Year of 5716, will be observed by Jews across the world.

With prayer, devotion and serious thought the members of the Jewish Faith will hail the anniversary of the creation of the world, according to Biblic chronology.

Unlike the various Jewish holidays and festivals marking historic events in the chronology of their faith, Rosh Hashanah, like Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, is purely a religious occasion.

Through synagogues across the world will sound the call of the Ram's Horn, summoning worshippers and reminding them of their moral responsibilities. The sound of the Ram's Horn is also a clarion reminder to Rosh Hashanah. It is a day of judgment, when they pass before God to answer for the deeds of the past year. Prayers for forgiveness are offered to God while the congregation seeks reconciliation with their Maker and their fellowmen.

In Belleville the services at the synagogue, conducted by Rabbi Moses Lewin, will begin with candle-lighting at 6:47 p.m. The observance of the New Year will then have its beginning and will cover the entire period of atonement will last for 10 days, ending in the feast of Yom Kippur which begins September 25th.

RABBI GIVES MESSAGE

The following is the Rosh Hashanah message addressed to all of the local Jewish community, who here sends his Rosh Hashanah message to the Sons of Jacob congregation, as the Jewish Faith prepares to hail its New Year 5716.

RABBI MOSES LEWIN

New Rabbi of the local Jewish community, who here sends his Rosh Hashanah message to the Sons of Jacob congregation, as the Jewish Faith prepares to hail its New Year 5716.

Rashanah message addressed to all of the local Jewish community, the Sons of Jacob congregation by Rabbi Lewin:

"The deepest yearnings arise from our souls on Roah Hashanah, the New Year's Day, as we look for a spiritual mapto guide us through the new year. We, who are surrounded by the lures of temptations, thirst for the living waters that will satisfy us with righteous pleasures and virtuous enjoyments. All of us, creatures of flesh and blood, crave a spiritual force which can transform our very souls into virtues. We seek a foundation upon which to build our lives that cannot be smashed by any earthly power or calamity.

"All desires that we most urgently need can be fulfilled only within one who is The One, the Heavenly Father. He is the Rock of Ages, the eternal foundation that can not be moved, and certainly not demolished. He is the ideal that personifies us, His Children, He is the Guide, the Redeemer, the Creator and Source of goodness, mercy and sacred love.

"We, who are His children, should live within the cherishing spirit of our Heavenly Father, and should use the merit of our good deeds in all His children, all mankind, as rungs in the ladder for ascending higher and higher into His glory.

"Century after century, for thousands of years, our people on Rosh Hashanah have broken bread with challah and honey. Let us pray that the Father of Mercy grant us our heart's desire, endowed with any person's blood, but spread with the spirit of goodwill, peace and love, with the large number of relatives and friends who attended the service testified to the high esteem and respect the deceased was held in in her community.

"Century after century, for thousands of years, our people on Rosh Hashanah have partaken of a new fruit or have worn a new garment after reciting the appropriate blessings. Let us pray that the Father bless His children the fruits of our work and garb us and the whole humanity with His infinite compassion and love.

"God love you during the New Year, and for many years to come, and forevermore.

Amen."

Duck Population Possibly Due For Sudden Decrease

Judging from the number of gun licences being sold, the duck population is due for a sudden decrease commencing soon after daylight Saturday morning.

Don Thomas, local licence issuer, estimated today that sales have been heavy with additional sales expected with the start of the duck hunting season.

"It looks as though there may be more hunters than ducks," was Don's comment.

But regardless of bag prospects swans and marsh hens in the local area are almost certain to have their quota of hunters come daybreak tomorrow.

Whether the expected Blacks and Teals will put in their appearance as well as the hunters remains to be seen.

Junior Farmers Are Impressed With Hospitality

The experiences of the four Ontario Junior Farmer delegates during their recent two-month visit to Great Britain are recounted in the current edition of the Junior Farmer Review. One of these four Junior Farmers to make the trip was a Hastings county girl, Miss Marilyn Parish of Queensboro.

During their two-month stay in the Old Country the four delegates observed British farming methods and were deeply impressed with the hospitality of the people they met.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials were irregularly lower in active first-hour trading today on the Toronto stock exchange. Western oils continued firm, touching a two-year index high. Mining stocks were mixed.

Lower industrial groups were utilities, liquors, refining oils, foods and papers, although scattered blue signs indicated selective buying in most sections. Price changes were narrow, extending to about two points at best.

Weston's dropped 2 to 128. Also down were Canada Wire B, Aluminium, Eddy, International Petroleum and Union Gas.

International Nickel headed the lower mines with a decline of $1. Several other seniors lost fractions. Eastern Smelting tumbled 70 to 87. Gra Exploration pared western oils forward, adding 18 to a high of $1.13.

Uraniums chalked up a few small to moderate improvements, led by Gunnar warrants, up 35 to $8.10.

Interest in golds was negligible and price movements slight.

PRODUCE MARKET

The egg market was weak on large with receipts in excess of a quiet demand. Medium and small receipts were sufficient for a good demand.

Quotations, provided by the Dominion department of agriculture: eggs, in fibre cases, graded: A large 53-56; A medium 53-54; A small 37-42; B 38; C 28. Wholesale to retail: A large 70-71; A medium 58-59; A small 42-43; B 43; C 33.

Butter wholesale to retail, first grade, tenderable 58; non-tenderable 57¾; 93 western 58½ (nominal); one lot of third grade butter out at 49.

DOLLAR RATE

MONTREAL (CP) — The U.S. dollar was at a discount of 3-16 per cent, the Bank of Canada reported at noon EDT, today. Thursday's noon rate 99 25-32 cents. Pound sterling $2.75 3-16, unchanged.

Belleville And Chicago Scouts Enjoy Camporee

With the coming of fall the 2nd International Camporee has been held with Scouts from Belleville and Chicago, Ill. taking part, under Camp Chief Bernard Fox, 5th Belleville, assisted by Patrol Price, Post Adviser of Explorer Troop 5675 of Chicago, Ill. The comradeship the boys enjoyed under canvas, once again brought the ties of friendship of the people of the two countries closer together.

The American Scouts enjoyed a trip in the Thousand Islands and Old Fort Henry.

Plans are under way by the Scouters Club of Belleville, to take as many Scouts as possible to the 3rd International Camporee in Chicago in 1956.

Accused Given Three Months On Theft Charge

Pleading guilty to the theft of a lady's purse from the S. S. Kresge Company, William Bigalow, no given address, was sentenced to three months in the common jail when he appeared before Magistrate T. V. Wills in city magistrate's court today.

George W. Whelpy, 43, of Montreal, was remanded for one week for sentence after pleading guilty to breaking and entering and theft from the home of Rev. H. M. Davis.

Detective Harold Reid said entry to the home had been gained by prying up a window following which the residence was ransacked with a suit of clothes, mantel radio, clock, jewellery and $10 in cash being taken.

Whelpy had attempted to dispose of some of his loot at a local second hand store the owner of which was able to give police a description. The accused was later apprehended on Highland Ave. as he attempted to hitch hike a ride out of the city.

William Hubbs, 18, Station St., was remanded for one week on a charge of theft of a woman's purse from the Bowl-O-Drome. Two teen-aged youths charged with vagrancy were remanded until Tuesday.

Weekly Livestock Review

TORONTO (CP) — The cattle prices were normal at the Ontario public stockyards this week. Calves were strong, hogs and sheep were steady with lambs 50 cents and sweetsight higher.

Cattle receipts were 2,800 head more than last week and some 300 head more than the same week last year. Receipts from eastern Canada were 300 head higher than last week at 1,670 cattle and 138 calves, mostly stockers.

There were six loads shipped to eastern Canadian slaughterers and there were no exports to the United States.

The heaviest run in nearly five years contained a large number of medium and plain killers and stockers which sold slowly for most of the week. Top grades of steers, heifers and fed yearlings sold with steers showing gains o. 25 cents a hundredweight.

Cows sold actively at steady prices early in the week but by Thursday there were some reports of a lower cow trade. A narrow demand for the large number of bulls here this week forced prices lower, especially on common and medium light bulls and the heavy fat beef type bulls.

The dressed beef trade was reported as good and it was estimated that about 1,800 cattle would be slaughtered the close, mostly common killers and stockers.

Prices: Choice steers $20.75-21.75, with sales to $22 and one small lot at $22.50; good steers $19.50-20.50; with mediums at $17-19; common $13-15; good heifers $18-18.50; with p few choice to $19; mediums $16-17.50; commons $12-15; choice stock cows $15-16; good cows $12-12.50, with sales to $13; good light butchery cows $14; canners and cutter cows down to $6; good heavy bologna bulls $12.50-13; with common and medium light bulls down to $9.

Replacement cattle: Good stockers were scarce and sold slowly. Good stockers were $18-19, while the medium quality sold at $15-18. Stock calves were $17.50-19.50; medium stockers $15-17.50; commons $12-16.

Calf receipts were about 425 head more than last week and prices were strong. Good and choice vealers brought $22-24 with sales to $25. Mediums were $15-21; with commons $10-15. Grass calves sold for slaughter were $10-12.

Hogs were unchanged with grade A bacons at $28.50, dressed, with several loads out at $29. Sows were $18.25 dressed and stags were $15 dressed.

Sheep and lambs receipts were sharply increased this week with 1,100 head offered more than last week. Lambs were 50 cents a hundredweight higher at $19.50 for good handyweight ewes and wethers. Bucks were discounted $1 a hundredweight with heavy lambs discounted up to $3. Common and medium lambs ranged from $13-17, Feeder lambs sold 1. go back to the country at $15-17. Good light sheep were generally $5 with commons and heavy sheep selling down to $3.

Townsend Soon To Spend Leave In Britain

BIGGIN HILL, England (AP)— Group Capt. Peter Townsend, whose reported romance with Princess Margaret has kept Britons agog for months, says he will soon spend a holiday in Britain.

Townsend, British air attache in Brussels, came here to attend a reunion of 96 fighter-pilot veterans of the Battle of Britain.

Asked his plans, Townsend told reporters: "I shall be returning to London in October for some weeks. I shall be on leave." He didn't say just where he would spend the holiday.

Red Feather Revue Will Be Featured on TV

The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation will usher in the 1955 Red Feather campaign with the National Red Feather Revue over the CBC-Television network, Sunday, September 18, from 10 to 11 p.m. The program will originate from Shea's Theatre in Toronto. The Kingston TV station, channel 11, will carry the program.

Producer Peter MacFarlane has lined up an impressive array of Canadian and international talent, including Raymond Massey, Marcel Marceau, brilliant star of the French stage, who has just completed a run at the Stratford Festival and will shortly appear at the Crest theatre in Toronto and Walt Kelly, creator of the inimitable Pogo.

Outstanding Canadian stars will include Canada's favorite comedians, Wayne and Shuster, who will act as star emcees of the show, Gratien Gelinas, Marilyn Bell, Max Ferguson, Jan Rubes, and Norman Brooks. The orchestra will be under the direction of Jack Kane, while the 30-voice choir of St. Michael's Cathedral will be directed by the Right Rev. G. E. Ronan, D.P., M.C.G., LC.S.C.

Raymond Massey, who is coming to Toronto especially for the program, will read an original prose poem by Lister Sinclair. The reading will be illustrated by a selection of photographs from Edward Steichen's "Family of Man" series, a feature of the Museum of Modern Art, New York.

Max Ferguson, known to radio listeners as Rawhide, will be on hand with his "Stock Company." Present plans indicate that the TV cameras will "sneak in" on a Ferguson broadcast and show viewers what actually takes place in a studio during one of the famous Rawhide broadcasts.

The musical section of the program will feature Jan Rubes, baritone, singing the Death Scene from Boris Godunov by Mussorgsky and Irene Salemko, soprano, singing "Je Vent Vivre" from Romeo and Juliet by Charles Gounod. On the lighter side Norman Brooks, who is probably best known for his similarity to Al Jolson, will contribute part of his night club act, while Priscilla Wright will sing "Don't Call Me, I'll Call You" and another of her recent releases.

Woman Remanded

MONTREAL (CP)—Betty Sudney, 32, recaptured on Sudbury after fleeing from Fullum street jail here Aug. 20, was remanded to Sept. 23 when she appeared in court Thursday.

Defence counsel Gilles Duguay told judge Marechal Nantel that the woman was not guilty of illegally fleeing the jail — she merely walked out through an open door.

She left the jail shortly after being sentenced to 18 months on a narcotics charge.

Failing Spring Water Supply Causes Concern to Officials

TRENTON (Special) — Public Utilities officials express concern over Trenton's failing spring water supply.

Secretary C. B. Campbell reported yesterday that last Friday night No. 2 well in the Murray township was dry. The pump then injected air into the system causing trouble in No. 3 well. By Saturday morning only 1,000 gallons an hour was being obtained from No. 3 well. The supply to the town was actually cut down from 1,800 to 1,000 gallons a minute. In this emergency the filtration plant was called upon to augment the available spring water gallonage.

The situation improved however by Monday and continued to do so through to Wednesday but extra water from the filtration plant was again needed Wednesday in order to raise the level of the town's storage tank.

The engineer suggested cleaning a pond that is not feeding the water in the wells as well as effectively as it should. He noted that the static ground water level is down. He indicated that an alternative arrangement will be made to keep the wells when the storage pond is cleaned. Chairman C. S. Graham was advised that the supply from the wells was not adequate without the reserve in the pond.

Realizing the seriousness of the situation the commission has taken steps to counter the possible shortage.

Secretary Campbell recommended one location where it would be possible to store 30,000,000 gallons during the spring for use in the summer. He revealed it would cost $5,000 to make the spot suitable.

TRAFFIC SIGNAL DAMAGED BY TRUCK

TRENTON (Special) — Motorists using the Metcalfe-Dundas double set of traffic lights to watch yesterday.

The set governing traffic from the west was turned around when a transport driven by Gerald V. Trolley, 43, of Cobourg, caught the signals as the truck made a right turn from Dundas Street to Dufferin.

The damage amounted to a broken door on the truck and a green light pulled loose from the side and wrenched off the main part of the signal.

SIDEWALK BUILT IN BAYSHORE PARK

TRENTON (Special) — Dominion government waterfront installations at Bayshore Park have been greatly improved with the addition of a concrete sidewalk now under construction and nearing completion.

The park south of Senator Fraser Park, is gradually taking on the appearance of the beauty spot originally planned for the area.

Prays Queen May Feel Sin Of Sunday Sport

BELFAST (Reuters)—A leading sabbatarian asked a Belfast meeting tonight to pray for Queen Elizabeth, her husband and the Royal Family that there may come to them a conviction of the sin" of taking an interest in Sunday sports.

The speaker, the Rev. W. Legerton, claimed that the Duke of Edinburgh "has misused the hallowed hours of the Lord's Day." And the queen and other members of the Royal Family "have been present at these Sunday sports meetings."

Legerton was referring to a Scottish clergyman's recent criticism of Sunday polo and cricket in which the duke has taken part.

Prince Albert Meat Packing Plant on Fire

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP)— Fire of undetermined origin was raging out of control today in the Burns and Co. meat packing plant in the east end of this city, and damage already was estimated unofficially in the millions of dollars.

Wind blowing at 28 to 35 miles an hour from the south paralyzed firefighters and one fireman was injured in the blaze which broke out about 9:30 a. m. EDT in the egg-storage produce division.

Already destroyed are the egg plant, an addition costing $1,000,000 nearing completion, the main office, the water tower and several other sections.

Flames jumped from the buildings to furniture, which had been removed from the burning plant, and to telephone poles.

TESTING TIME COMING

Hon. Walter E. Harris, Canada's minister of finance, is jubilant. He has every right to be. When he announced his budget last April, he predicted Canada's gross national product this year would set an all-time record. For a "rookie" presenting his first budget to make such a statement at a time when unemployment was a pressing problem required either great courage or a high-grade cynical ball.

Mr. Harris has now been vindicated—whether with respect to his second sight, his own knowledge or his faith in the prophetic powers of his bureau of statistics and finance department we need not decide. Indeed, Canada has exceeded even his expectations. He thought it would take Canadians a year to speed up the economic machinery of the country to the point where it would be producing goods and services at the rate of twenty-six billions of annually. They reached it in the second quarter of the year instead of in the last.

Mr. Harris, a man of conservative outlook although Liberal politics, is not overlooking the fact that what goes up can come down. He does not now proclaim that his forecasts of prosperity will be surpassed; he merely notes that this will occur if the level of production is "reasonably maintained during the second half of the year."

Such caution is commendable. For the testing time would appear to be at hand. Soon we shall be at that season of the year during which, in a country such as Canada with great extremes in climate, seasonal unemployment starts making its appearance. If the ranks of the jobless increase this fall, it will not be enough to point to a record level of production during the spring and summer; nor will establishing a record for the full year be an answer to all the nation's problems. For, if much unemployment exists during a period when national production is at its peak, it is obvious that the country could face a serious crisis if the economy ran into a slump.

Seasonal unemployment is one of Canada's most bothersome problems. It is difficult to foresee how it can be completely solved in a country where much economic activity is curtailed by weather conditions. In this respect, though, it is interesting to recall a recent statement by Hon. R. H. Winters, Canada's minister of public works. Mr. Winters announced that he had ordered that construction work in his department, where possible, should be undertaken during the winter months, when the level of building activity normally declines. He has also issued instructions that orders for supplies should be scheduled in such a manner as to coincide with the slack period of firms manufacturing these goods. The latter policy would appear to have no drawbacks. Objections to winter construction projects may be made on the ground that they would be more costly and more costly than if they were undertaken during good weather. But though this objection might be unanswerable in the case of private industry, it is the government that is paying one has to remember that any increase in construction costs may be more than offset by a reduction in the cost of relief payments which might otherwise have to be made.

PROPER POUND NEEDED

The City Council has been asked to provide a proper dog pound.

There are some citizens who may contend that, with taxes high and municipal needs many, money available could be spent to better advantage than on providing quarters for stray animals, some of which would never have come to the hands of the dog-catcher if their owners had properly cared for them.

To advance this argument is to overlook an all-important point. Whether a stray dog or cat is a well-loved pet which has wandered away or an unwanted mongrel or alley-dweller is immaterial once the animal comes under the control of the dog-catcher. The dog-catcher is a city official and, if the people of Belleville become responsible for the manner in which they are treated. If they are not given humane treatment, the fault rests on the shoulders of all of us—not on the dog-catcher who should not be expected to assume the cost of housing and feeding these animals.

Present quarters are entirely unsuitable, exposing the impounded animals to cold during the winter and not being equipped with adequate facilities for proper heating. Providing a new pound is the duty of the city.

Record prices are being paid for rabbit skins because of the scarcity caused by the disease myxomatosis, reports the Lanark County Leader.

First thing one knows, if rabbits get scarce enough, the furriers will be dyeing seal and selling it as Baffin Land Bunny.

AS ONE

When man and maid are man and wife,
As one they've vowed to go through life;

As one to keep a dwelling fair;
As one what griefs may come to share,

When 'mid them the ritual's read,

A one-way road is theirs to tread.

And while together they remain,
A single goal is theirs to gain;

As one to think, as one to act,
And keep the family intact.
For this, as one, they put aside
The differences that divide.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

The second in the "donkey" baseball matches was played under floodlights at the Exhibition Park between the Kiwanis men's Club and the Kiwanis Club the result being a score of 4 to 2 in favor of the Kiwanis team. The players were dressed "it to kill" and it was a hard task even for the scorer to identify the players. As riders of donkeys the majority of the players were good. Which hitting — it was a task for some of the players to say on the donkey when they were stationary. The donkeys certainly "know their stuff" and the pitcher, Jack Hathway induced the donkeys to move about by feeding them carrots. Bill McIntosh led the Kinamen in battle, but the Kiwanis boys' mount was the speediest. Norm Garbutt, George Finch, Leslie Pearsall, Keith Scott, Edward Lally, Don Pearman, Cleo Colling and Bill Seymour were out of condition and the donkeys had them beaten. Jack Norris declared "nothing on earth" was master of ceremonies. Phil McKee had taken precaution to wear a rugby pad. Eddie Shapiro played first base for the Kinamen, picking himself up. Frank Domenico carried the small donkey around the bases and Albert Boynton endeavored to control the donkey by grasping its hind legs — the donkey did the rest. Mayor Chas. Tice officiated. There were fully 1500 fans present and all had a good time — the game was hilarious. The Kinamen are to be congratulated for providing such splendid entertainment and they were rewarded by donating a substantial sum of money to be used in their good work.

THE PACKSAK

By GREGORY CLARK

Not being a movie goer, I am not wondering what new movie star has the pretty little trick of wrinkling up her nose. I have lately noticed among the younger members of the fair sex a growing bit of twisting, screwing and wrinkling up their noses to what must be a fashion set by some star. Years ago, when Katherine Cornell showed the world what a gaunt, gawky, slab-sided girl could do, especially with a slow, insolent, drawling voice, we had a dreadful outbreak of gauntness, slab-sided areas and hoarse, insolent voices amongst the young females. Indeed, there was such an outbreak of reducing, so as to get down to the Hepburn flatness, that we began to be surprised if many a woman of forty now owes her gall bladder trouble, her digestive ailment her arthritis to the passionate effort she indulged in, when twenty, to pare herself down to the Hepburn or barn door style.

Then what new star is now a nose-screwer? What new fashionistic is knocking people out into the aisle by wrinkling up her nose as if it were a prehensile organ? Within the summer, on buses, street cars, in restaurants and on the streets, I have observed, in manner or girls, with all manner of noses, trying to employ their noses for purposes of gesturing. Formerly, girls used their eyes, mouths and hands for emphasis. Now they have lately developed the trick of wafting the upper lip so that the nose is wrinkled, wiggled and waggled to beyond all surprise, dismay, interrogation and just plain interest. When you ask a girl: "I hear Joey is coming back home," a girl would raise her eyebrows, widen her eyes and make a round O out of her mouth and then screw up her hands as has her cheeks or wave them about a little.

How all she does is wrinkle her nose at you.

Wrinkling the nose, from time immemorial, has been largely reserved for the expression of contempt or derision. But when you tell a girl Joey is coming home, and she does it with twenty, you hear since she passed her entrance. But what does he do? She wrinkles her nose.

I must get over my lazy habits and make the rounds of the movie houses again, and see which of the current stars is setting this fashion. It may be all right for some noses. But many a girl has a nose that don't wrinkle so good.

Snake Farm in Thailand

(BBC Weekly Talks Summary)

King Cobras or Hamadryads, the very large poisonous snakes, are cannibals, and Major W. T. Blake, a retired Army officer who has travelled extensively, said in a BBC talk that even these fearsome creatures have their uses. On a snake farm at Bangkok, in Thailand, they are kept in captivity in order that their poison may be extracted and used to produce the anti-snakebite serum which saves hundreds of lives each year. King Cobras are usually full of life twenty-five feet in length and are the most dangerous of the many varieties of poisonous snake in Thailand.

To enable this life-saving service to be carried out, the Pasteur Institute at Bangkok, the only one of its kind in Asia, buys snakes from all kinds from anyone who brings them in, ranging in price from about 6d. for a small harmless snake to £30 for a cobra up to twenty feet long. The snakes are sorted and put with others of like kind; the conspicuously poisonous being kept as food for the King Cobras.

"The handling of snakes is not a problem for they flatly refuse to feed in captivity and would starve to death unless forcibly fed," said Major Blake. The snakes are merely put in pits and the pits surrounded by wide moats but in the King Cobras' enclosure is a strong wire fence, a cobra's cage is twice as tall so that the most dangerous reptile has the most room.

Once a week the snakes are published in heaps and the attendants or the assistants approach the tangled heaps begin to disintegrate and instantly the snakes disappear. One or two swell out their hoods and become a definative attitude and sometimes strike their death-dealing blows repeatedly, usually at low level where the thick rubber boots receive the bite.

"This is where a steady nerve is wanted; any panic on the part of either of the men and they would almost certainly be bitten.

Watching the cobras feed is a fearful experience as a dead sway leaves me strung up and taut," Major Blake said.

Even this pales before the feeding of the cannibal Hamadryad for which three people are needed. One man lifts the lid of the wire cage and steps inside, waiting his opportunity, seizes a King Cobra by the tail, gives it a blow to prevent it striking, and steps from the cage and lowers the lid so that no other reptiles may follow and attack him in the confusion. The whole writhing length of serpent, a second and a second, is in the hands of the man who is now in a firm grip. Its jaws are forced open and the third man takes a large length of rope and with a deft process a fool long forces it down the cobra's throat. With his spare hand the first man squeezes the lump down the snake's throat and then, unless a second is required, the lump is pushed in with the forefinger of the left hand and rammed downwards. "Then both together the men who are holding it scramble to safety, reptile into the moat," Major Blake said.

A similar process is gone through to obtain the poison extracted from the snakes' fangs. The venom from each reptile is kept in bottles of milk and the solution then injected into a horse's vein. Only a few drops are used and the horses suffer no ill effects and after a while a certain amount of blood is taken from them, and it is from this that the serum is made.

The Pasteur Institute has to breed and keep more than six hundred cobras all over Thailand supplied with antidotes to snake-bite and sends the serum to British Malaya, Burma, India, the East Indies and South-East Asia generally. It is a valuable asset and a terrible blow to the snake rubber

5 Years Yet to Pay
Bit Sidewalk Worn Out

Ontario Intelligencer.

I wish to ask for a few lines in your valuable paper about a subject that is in the news of late. As a home owner who has paid ten-year debentures. We have had our sidewalks in now for six years leaving five more years to run till final payment. The street I am referring to is Dundas West. The sidewalk now is so worn out in spots that we are unable to ride the road to save it for the day when it is finally paid for. No one is doing anything about repairing it. I only wish is that those persons in the road would come and walk it, and get some idea how bad it really is.

My sympathies go out to the residents on the south side of Hastings Drive if they get as bad a deal as we have. We are still paying on the debentures for five years more to go. Could you visualize what the sidewalk will look like then!

Diesels Give CNR a Lift

(Cornwall Standard-Freeholder)

During July the net operating revenues of the Canadian National Railways jumped $4,000,000 that for July of last year. During the first seven months of 1955 income rose by $12,658,000 and the expenses dropped by $13,746,000. The latter result was a whopping overall improvement of $26,404,000 over the same month period.

Most of the change for the better is attributed to the use of diesel locomotives. These paragons can run 22 or even 24 hours a day on the same fuel oil as is used in a steam locomotive. No wonder all railroads, the world over, are using most, are building up the roster of diesels as fast as they can get the delivery. Only two roads which carry coal as a lift-or-death matter, still cling to steam.

This is a tremendous change, although we may have to be made in the face of an expanding traffic such as CNR rails has shown. Any carrier can cut expenses if it is doing a short business, but the freight traffic CNR rails has shown up.

We should all feel satisfaction at this; although it was almost a certainty that an improvement would be shown over 1954, rather a poor year by modern standards. But the taxpayer has often carried the burden for the CNR in the past, and if the line makes money, or shows improvement, it is from losing any it is so much clear gain for us all.

Barefoot Boy Disappearing

(From the Saint John Telegraph-Journal)

One of the subtle changes during the last generation has been the gradual disappearance of the barefoot boy. He is all but gone from the summer scene.

As late as the 1920's barefoot boys were more commonplace than shoe-shod ones, especially in the suburbs and to some extent in the cities and towns. It was the thing to do on the first free day of school's bondage — kick off your shoes, peel off your stockings and start gingerly trying out your natural soles on the pavement.

You could hardly wait. It gave a boy a sense of irrefutable proof that the holiday season was really on.

How sharp the gravel felt those first few days! And the tar! Sometimes one had scattered thumbtacks all over the path. And how comforting the comparative softness yielding lawn grass felt on the pampered feet. And how delicious the squidgy the soft mud of the creek bottom oozing between the toes. Soon, almost before he knew it, a boy found himself hiking over gravel not only with impunity but with the stubble of a newly-mowed field as nothing to him as if his feet had always gone wild.

Sometimes his mother, with a mixture of distress and pride, summoned him in from play to exhibit his feet explaining that in the matter of admiring visitors to the house, their exploration was mandatory. Then, after mingling with her rightfocus clucking over how dirty your feet were on which she said you possibly could have been contracting all manner of diseases especially at the nail holes here and there in the thin leather soles, and remarking involuntarily when they asked if they didn't still go to bed.

And what ecstasy barefoot boy days used to keep for the sensation of putting on stockings and shoes again in the autumn to start back to school. It was a cross between feeling your feet were bound up like the Chinese and like Cinderella you were walking on air. Many a kid honestly doubted he would ever get used to it again.

Everyone in that era could recognize the Norman Rockwell picture that John Greenleaf Whittier's poem inspired.

Blessings on thee, little man, Barefoot boy with cheeks of tan! With your turned-up pantaloons And thy merry whistled tunes.

But some of today's generation find the poet's message harder to get. They ask: Is he boy because he didn't he have shoes? Was his family poor? Or was he going in the river? And why was he wearing pantaloons, of all things? Were they some kind of old-fashioned girls' long bloomers? Didn't he own a pair of cowboy jeans?

It seems trouble, perhaps, not to quote the poem out loud but just to read it to one's self, the material picture it conjures up, in memory's treasurehouse.

Personal Health Talks

Can't Roll If You Haven't the Teeth For It

Even if I could take time out from my hectic living to chase around North America to interview people past sixty who take consealts before breakfast (forcrolls to you), I'd do so only on condition that they would report to me in the interval between games. If there were no bowling green available, well, I'd be willing to go as far as Preston.

Please, I beg you old stiffs to realize, I'm not serious about these morning rolls as I can be about anything pertaining to health and longevity. When my own health, comfort, equanimity, wife and longevity is concerned you can bank on it I don't indulge in monkeyshines. I've been rolling my own ever since Tony was a pup and—

Speaking of banking, at greenside a group of bowlers were chatting about somersaults. One of them, of what age, no matter, an affable fellow who has more than the ordinary dignity, I have always thought, said he has been rolling 'em every morning for many years. He's standing by, a pioneer of lawn bowling in this country and dean of them all, aged 85, heard what we were talking about and rolled one—back to front, mind you, since he was a boy—and went on with his game, evidently less upset than the rest of us were.

When I had recovered from the shock I remembered (1) that the man is a total abstainer, (2) that he is abstemious in eating habit, (3) and especially that he has most of his own teeth.

So, if it had not happened so often before, I might have expected that if any octogenarian could, do it, the man with the teeth could.

The conclusion to which I have said many times: For every tooth lost and not immediately replaced by a functionally efficient denture, deduct from one to two years from your life expectancy.

Remember also what I have said many times: Digestion begins in the mouth (conversion of cooked starch into sugar by the action of the innate ptyalin in the saliva) and continues—for half an hour or more after the food has entered the stomach—provided the processes of mastication has brought the enzyme in contact with every particle of starch. So if this important part of digestion is faulty, because of unrepaired breakdowns in the masticating machinery, digestion, nutrition, health, functional efficiency, good looks, vite and longevity are bound to suffer.

It is sad but true that a lot of poor geeks in Yankeeland quander on trick dentrifrices and toothbrushes much more that it would cost to repair their teeth or replace teeth had by decay, but they just haven't the Intelligence to avail themselves of good professional treatment. Some of these defectives convince themselves they can't afford proper dental treatment, and yet they manage to keep supplied with dentrifrices, brushes and, often enough, boosh.

"THOSE CURSED SUNDAY SCHOOLS"

You may find it hard to believe that Sunday-schools were once universally denounced by clergymen and other leaders of thought. In 1780 Robert Raikes, a newspaper editor of Gloucester, England, began the first Sunday-school. Children in those days, after working twelve to fourteen hours a day for six days a week, would rove the streets of the cities of England on Sunday, committing all manner of crimes and depredations. If you can imagine how the present juvenile delinquency problem multiplied many times over, you have the picture of those Sundays 175 years ago.

Robert Raikes conceived the idea of running schools on Sunday to teach these children to read and write and so try to instill within them moral habits. Almost without exception the clergymen denounced the scheme because they said it would desecrate the Sabbath. Even the Church was a place for preaching, and the whole Sunday-school movement was considered a place and tranquility. One Connecticut minister issued a pastoral letter to his teacher from the building, accusing her of desecrating God's day and God's house.

John Wesley, however, saw the value of Sunday-schools and encouraged them in his religious movement. Sleepers from in this country founded 1300 Sunday-schools. He rode a horse which he named Robert Raikes, and this horse never passed a child without stopping to know a customer when he saw one.

TODAY'S TALK

SANCTUARIES

All this open space of the earth is a sanctuary. The beautiful creation is a tribute to the Creator. Every forest, every valley, and every flowering garden is a sanctuary. God is everywhere, so that all the earth is holy ground, and the sea each is a sanctuary where anyone may bow in prayer to the giver of all goodness and to the world.

Many times I have visited the sanctuary at Lake Wales, Florida, where the body of Edgar Kraft is buried. It was he who created that beautiful spot as a sanctuary for birds in the Florida lake in the South. It was here I noted that line I have so often quoted, by John Burroughs: "I come here to find myself. It is so easy to get lost in the world." This statement is carved over the open fireplace of my lodge in Nova Scotia.

Wherever there are beauty, peace and quiet, there you can be sure that a sanctuary exists. For anyone minded to bow before it, or to meditate upon the urges of the soul, every forest and every valley and every home can well be one. No cathedral made with hands can be as great forest. Many a sanctuary has been created in the size of a cathedral window pane and the will to live and hope.

On a visit to the lands of the poor a sanctuary can be created. There many a one has gone to be alone, and to commune and pray. In the simplest of homes, where there is family worship, there is established a sanctuary. I always look upon my small library table as a sanctuary, and I am sure that it is blessed as one. Wherever God is, there is His sanctuary — and God is everywhere! Many years ago I built a stool before great sequoia trees in California. I removed my hat in tribute to those great arches of the forest, alive and growing when Christ was born! I felt that I was actually in a great sanctuary, and how humble I felt!

Canadian Business Dividing Eggs Between Two Shopping Baskets

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canadian business leaders are dividing their eggs just about equally between two shopping baskets, a Canadian Press survey indicates.

They are investing comparable amounts—calculated in millions of dollars—both improving their downtown facilities and on establishing in suburbia.

Representative of th expenditure are Simpson-Sears' $11,000,000 mail-order expansion and $21,000,000 for retail stores and equipment since January, '55.

Since August, 1954, Simpsons-Sears has opened five suburban centres in Ontario and one in Saint John, N.B., with another to open in Ottawa this fall. Downtown stores were established in Guelph and Moose Jaw, Sask. A retail store with approximately 65,000 square feet and an additional warehouse area of 15,000 s.tare feet are projected for Kingston in 1956 and several more stores in western Canada.

The allied Robert Simpson Co. Ltd., which has five stores throughout Canada, doubled its downtown Montreal store in size during the last year at a cost of $7,000,000.

Its London store was increased by one-third for $1,000,000 and in Regina a $3,500,000 service centre was built to supply the downtown store.

Hudson's Bay Company said it plans to spend $2,500,000 by Jan. 31, 1956, on downtown stores in western Canada.

T. Eaton Co. Ltd., operating throughout Canada until now in downtown stores, announced its first suburban store, costing $10,000,000 in Ontario at Oshawa next month. Its first department store in Prince Edward Island was opened this year in downtown Charlottetown.

In Ontario this year Eaton's took over a downtown store in Barrie and bought a building for a retail depot on the Barrie highway on the outskirts of Toronto.

In Alberta it built a new indoor parking lot for the store in Calgary.

Canada safeway, Ltd., which spent $500,000 last year in three large suburban stores in Saskatchewan, Manitoba and northwestern Ontario, plans to start on seven more before the year end at a cost of $1,200,000.

They Are Remembered

During the dark days of 1940, a handful of fighter pilots blazed a path to freedom over the British Isles that is not forgotten today. Sunday, September 18, the RCAF commemorates the fifteenth anniversary of the Battle of Britain, the fateful fray when airmen of the free world crossed aerial swords with Germany's vast armada, the Luftwaffe. Serving with the RCAF and RAF, 47 Canadians gave their lives in the Battle of Britain. Scenes above from the Battle of Britain portray: (1) A Hawker Hurricane and (2) Spitfires, mainstays of the Fighter Command. (3) Over the rubble of bombed buildings, a formation of Spitfires. (4) A crashed German fighter on the English countryside. (5) Group Captain Ernest McNab, RCAF, (centre), and some of the Famous Few who flew with him as members of No. 1 Fighter Squadron. (6) Ground crew installing a new engine in a Spitfire. (National Defence Photo).

OTTAWA.—The fifteenth anniversary of the Battle of Britain will be commemorated by the RCAF in services to be held Sunday, September 18, it was announced today by Air Force Headquarters.

In Canada as well as overseas the RCAF will hold church parades and special services to pay tribute to the famous "few", who, over Britain, fought the battle that decided the fate and destiny of free men.

The dates July 10 and October 31, 1940 have been accepted as marking the opening and termination of the Battle of Britain, which reached its peak on September 15, 1940, when the Luftwaffe suffered its major defeat over Britain. Each year since that September, members of the RAF and the RCAF have commemorated the Sunday following September 15, or on that date when it falls on a Sunday, as Battle of Britain Sunday.

The Battle of Britain has special significance for the RCAF marking the Force's baptism of fire. In August 1940 No. 1 Fighter Squadron of the RCAF, later designated 401 Squadron, flew into action against the enemy, won its first victories and suffered its first casualties.

Canada was represented in the famous battle by several hundred officers and airmen who served as aircrew and groundcrew in Fighter, Bomber, and Coastal Commands. Forty-seven Canadian officers and men, serving with the RCAF and RAF, gave their lives in the Battle of Britain.

Adenauer Says Position Has Not Changed

BONN (AP)—Chancellor Adenauer declared firmly today that establishment of diplomatic relations with Moscow will not change his government's opposition to the Communist East German regime.

But he held a crowded press conference that the Soviet rejection of his own government's claim to represent all of Germany did 'not surprise him. Moscow, he explained, could not leave one satellite in the lurch without arousing fear in the others that the same thing could happen to them.

The chancellor said the Russians agreed that "the (Big) Four powers are obligated to restore German unity" but warned that "long negotiations will be needed."

Adenauer stressed that his government had made clear to the Russians in Moscow that the West Germans will remain completely faithful to their obligations toward the West European Union and NATO.

The chancellor said he gained the impression in Moscow that the Russians want a period of peaceful international development so they can tackle big internal tasks in economics and culture.

Accused Remains Hopeful She Will Escape Gallows

EDMUNDSTON, N. B. (CP) — Mrs. Lida Thibodeau observed her 37th birthday in her death cell Thursday, apparently undismayed that the Supreme Court of Canada has refused an application for leave to appeal her murder conviction.

She is scheduled to be hanged Nov. 10 for the shotgun slaying in the fall of her husband. Nevertheless, said sheriff Thaddee Martin, the blonde mother of five children remains hopeful that she will escape the gallows.

"We all feel she won't hang," the sheriff added. Her fate depends on a decision yet to be made by the federal cabinet on recommendation of Justice Minister Garson.

Both the trial jury and judge recommended mercy. Two stays of execution were ordered to permit consideration of appeals.

Alert Girl Saves Tractor, Chickens

NOBLETON, Ont. (CP) — Marion Kitchener, 13, was credited by firemen with rescuing a tractor and 300 chickens Wednesday when a blaze razing fire destroyed a barn on the family's farm while her parents were away.

Firemen said the girl went into the blazing barn, drove out the $2,500 vehicle, rolled away a barrel of gasoline and returned to throw the chickens out of a window. Her friends Bob Flint, 13, and David Cleverley, 7, led 13 pigs and four calves to safety.

Nobleton is 20 miles northwest of Toronto.

LIFELONG PALS MEET

WATERLOO (CP) — Two men who began a correspondence while in public school 46 years ago met for the first time Wednesday night. Leon Miller of Auckland, New Zealand, and F. W. Roy Dickson of Waterloo have exchanged two or three letters a year. Mr. Miller and his wife are here as part of a world tour they started last Feb. 30. They expect to be back home Dec. 24.

MARMORA

Kiwanis Dinner Addressed By Lucien Moise

MARMORA. — At its weekly dinner meeting held in the Royal Hotel, on Monday evening, Marmora and Deloro Kiwanis club had an outstanding program.

Three new members were inducted by Alex Fraser.

With regret, the club took farewell of its past president, Stanton Shaak, who had almost completed four years of residence in Marmora, where he has held the position of secretary-treasurer of the Bethlehem Mines Corporation. With his wife and family, he leaves this week to reside in Bethlehem, Pa., where he has been appointed to another position with the same company.

In recognition of appreciation of a pair of gold cuff links bearing the Kiwanis crest.

GUEST SPEAKER

Guest speaker of the evening was Lucien Moise, public relations manager of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, who was introduced by G. W. Procton, manager of Belleville-Trenton district of the same company.

In his talk on the history of the company from the days of Alexander Graham Bell, up to the present, and including future plans for better service, Mr. Moise gave his hearers a fine insight into recent developments for the handling of long distance calls with the ultimate object of their establishment over the whole continent.

In his demonstration accompanying the talk; he made use of the transistor which is a development of the Bell Company's laboratory and a miniature electronic device replacing the vacuum tube, allowing miniaturization of equipment.

For his outstanding and educational talk, he received the thanks of the club through Robert Sweet.

The president, G. N. Rennie presided at this meeting and that of the directors which followed.

MILAN, Italy (Reuters)—Fifty persons were injured Thursday night when a truck crashed into a car, and three buses which were trying to avoid the overturned vehicles collided with each other on the flat-shrouded Milan-Bergamo highway.

NEW MUSIC CRITIC

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times announces the appointment of Howard Taubman, 48, as music critic to succeed Olin Downes, who died Aug. 22. Taubman has been a member of the paper's music department for 25 years, serving most of that time as music editor.

"I collected the information and I was guilty," he said in a low, steady voice.

"The Chinese government was lenient with me—they could have sentenced me to 10 years but gave me only one and indicated me after four," he said.

"I'm afraid 10 years is a long time in anybody's life. Considering the situation, I was treated exceptionally well. All through my treatment was the same as the other Chinese prisoners. I am not a foreigner I was given more food."

Asked whether he feels he has been indoctrinated by the Reds, Rickett replied "I have read the Chinese papers and progressive articles."

He said he passed military information to unnamed American consular officials and to a British embassy official and secretary, who he identified as Ted Youde and to a Dutch legation employee he named as Miss Helen van der Hofen. Presumably the last two were in Peiping at the time.

Rickett said he stayed behind when the Reds overran the mainland, because "the political situation was such that I felt I could learn more about the Chinese."

During his press conference one reporter asked Rickett: "Are you convinced we (the United States) used bacteriological warfare?"

"I am convinced," Rickett replied. "I know that Chinese interrogation is very fair and I am convinced the United States used bacteria warfare, and the United States has never denied it."

Teacher Who Had Students Steal Is Found Unfit to Stand Trial

REGINA (CP)—A Regina school teacher accused of inducing some of his pupils to steal for him has been found unfit to stand trial.

L. V. Platt, 33, who taught economics at Balfour Technical School was committed Thursday to the Saskatchewan Mental Hospital for an indefinite period.

A jury at a special hearing required by the defence ruled that Platt, was, "on account of insanity, unfit to stand trial." The committal was ordered by Mr. Justice H. P. Thomson.

Police laid 21 charges of possessing stolen property against Platt in June. A psychiatrist, Dr. John McLurg, told the hearing the teacher "is in a mental state which would prevent him from defending himself or advising his counsel accurately."

Platt sat silent and expressionless throughout the hearing.

ACCEPT APPOINTMENTS

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters)—Two papal bulls appointing Msgr. Enrique Rau as Roman Catholic bishop of Resistencia and Msgr. Silvino Martinez as bishop of San Nicolas de los Arroyos were formally accepted by the Argentine Supreme Court here Thursday after several months' delay. The bulls, which arrived at the peak of the conflict between church and state earlier this year, were shelved for months.

PICTON

Tribute Paid Two Members Of Chamber

PICTON — George Duncan and Gordon Campbell were guests of honor at a Chamber of Commerce dinner at the Royal Hotel, Wednesday night. Tribute was paid to the service they have rendered to the community during their residence in Picton. Mr. Duncan, manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce here for the past five years, goes to the main branch of the bank in Montreal as senior assistant manager. Mr. Campbell leaves Master Feeds to become manager of Oxford Farmers' Co-op. at Muirkirk, Kent County.

Past Chamber president E. J. Williams paid tribute to Mr. Campbell's service in many capacities, including the presidency of the Chamber. Jesse Mason spoke in appreciation of Mr. Duncan's contribution to community life. Both were presented with gifts as tokens of appreciation and good wishes.

Mr. Duncan stated that on retirement he planned to return to Picton to live. Both expressed regret at leaving Picton and the many friends they had made.

Mayor H. J. McFarland also paid tribute to Mr. Duncan and Mr. Campbell.

Chamber of Commerce president W. G. McLean presided and spoke of the help given the Chamber of Commerce by the retired guests.

Music was provided by Major Sargent, RCSA.

Barney Hepburn moved a vote of thanks to the Royal Hotel staff for the buffet supper which included turkey, ham, lobster, many kinds of salads and other delicacies.

WASN'T A SECRET

TORONTO (CP) — Sadder and wiser, grocer Leiser Lefkowitz told police Thursday he thought he was the only person who knew where he kept his store's takings. But Wednesday night, he said, he found he was wrong. As he prepared for bed a hand reached in through the window, grabbed his pillow and dragged it swiftly into the night. He told police there was $200 in the pillow slip.

HENRY—SPRACKETT

Multi-colored zinnias and gladioli adorned the chancel rail of Gilmour United church on Saturday, September 10, 1955, at 3 p.m. when Marion Evelyn Sprackett, of Gilmour, Ontario, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Sprackett, became the bride of John Allan Henry, M.D., of Little Current, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Henry, of Bar River, Ontario. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Hardy, pastor of the church, officiated in the double-ring ceremony.

Mrs. Leslie Hardy presided at the organ, and rendered the traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Miss Eleanor Sprackett, of Coe Hill, cousin of the bride, who sang "O Perfect Love" and "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Ross Sprackett, the bride was lovely in her bridal gown of white Chantilly lace, tulle and slipper satin, fashioned with fitted bodice of lace, having a portrait neckline outlined with seguins and seed pearls. The floor-length skirt was of nylon tulle over satin, accentuated by apron-shaped inserts of Chantilly lace. She wore a matching headdress with fingertip veil, and carried a white prayer book crested with two miniature orchids, trailing streamers of stephanotis.

Mrs. Ross Mason of Bancroft, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor, gowned in mint green cocktail-length organza with wide Bertha collar and full skirt. She carried a bouquet of rust mums and yellow rosebuds.

Miss Joy Nicholoff, of Little Current, Ontario, as bridesmaid, was attired in a similarly-styled gown of gold organza. Her bouquet was of mauve mums and yellow rosebuds. Both attendants were matching headdresses, shoes and gloves.

Mr. Thomas Henry of Bar River, Ontario, attended his brother, Mr. Ted Sprackett, Newburgh, and Mr. Keith Sprackett, a cousin of the bride, acted as ushers.

Following the marriage, a reception was held in the church hall, which was adorned with pink and white streamers and wedding bell. The bride's mother, for her daughter's wedding, chose powder blue nylon tulle over taffeta, matching accessories, and corsage of white and cherry-red feathered carnations. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who was gowned in dusty rose silk with lace inserts, navy accessories, and corsage of white feathered and cherry-red carnations.

For travelling to the Thousand Island, Quebec, and the Maritimes, the bride wore a grey wool and tweed suit with white and rust accessories, and corsage of orchids. Upon their return Dr. and Mrs. Henry will reside at Little Current-Manitoulin Island, Ontario.

Guests were present from, North Bay, Powassan, Little Current, Sault Ste. Marie, Lansdowne, Bar River, Newburgh, Belleville, Eldorado, Coe Hill, St. Ola, Hathaway, Bancroft, London, Ontario and McArthur's Mills.

The bride's gift to her matron of honor, matching bracelet and earrings; to her bridesmaid, a silver bracelet with matching necklace; to her soloist, a silver charm bracelet and "Mustard Seed" good luck necklace; and to her bridegroom, a monogrammed leather toilet case. The bridegroom's gift to his bride, a strand of cultured pearls; to his groomsman and ushers, gold cuff links and tie slides.

MELLOR—WILLIAMS

Barkels of white gladioli graced the altar of St. John's Anglican church, Deseronto, when Miss Marilyn Anne Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Williams of Kingston, became the bride of Mr. Walter James Mellor, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Mellor of Ottawa. Canon W. J. Minto Swan officiated in quiet ceremony.

The wedding music was played by Mr. Harry Birchall.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride took her marriage vows in a beautiful gown of two ported hand-clipped Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin. The fitted bodice had a portrait neckline and midriff, and the long sleeves ended in points over the wrists. The front of the gown was in full apron effect of Chantilly lace, while the back was fashioned in deep tiers of pleated nylon tulle, the bouffant skirt sweeping over a hoop. Her double-tiered fingertip veil of illusion tulle fell from a crown sparkling with the life in descent sequins and outlined delicately with pearl. Her bouquet was a cascade of white frilled gladioli and stephanotis.

Miss Robert Wilson, of Montreal, sister of the groom, was matron of honor. Miss Stuart Dixon of Belleville, the bride's cousin, was bridesmaid, and Miss Maryanne Jamie of Montreal was flower girl. The senior attendants were attired in gowns of copper satin faille, cocktail length, and carried cascade bouquets of yellow and bronze 'mums. The flower girl was attired in palo green organdy over taffeta, and she carried a Colonial bouquet of yellow 'mums.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Wesley Nicol of Ottawa, and the ushers were Mr. Robert Mellor of Montreal, brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. Claude Root of Kingston.

The guests were received in the Burgundy Room, Hotel La Salle. The bride's mother wore a tunic dress of avocado green satin, with a corsage of bronze 'mums and cocoa colored accessories. The groom's mother was in a gown of grape colored puckered faille, with a corsage of pink roses, and black accessories.

The bride and bridegroom are honeymooning in northern New York State. For her going-away ensemble, fingertip veil, and carried a white prayer book crested with two miniature orchids, trailing streamers of stephanotis.

Mrs. Ross Mason of Bancroft, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor, gowned in mint green cocktail-length organza with wide Bertha collar and full skirt. She carried a bouquet of rust 'mums and yellow rosebuds.

Miss Joy Nicholoff, of Little Current, Ontario, as bridesmaid, was attired in a similarly-styled gown of gold organza. Her bouquet was of mauve 'mums and yellow rosebuds. Both attendants were matching headdresses, shoes and gloves.

Mr. Thomas Henry of Bar River, Ontario, attended his brother, Mr. Ted Sprackett, Newburgh, and Mr. Keith Sprackett, a cousin of the bride, acted as ushers.

Following the marriage, a reception was held in the church hall, which was adorned with pink and white streamers and wedding bell. The bride's mother, for her daughter's wedding, chose powder blue nylon tulle over taffeta, matching accessories, and corsage of white and

St. Andrew's S. S. Institutes New Schedule

St. Andrew's Presbyterian church school resumed its activities for the '1955-56' season last Sunday with a new schedule in effect. The older pupils, of the Junior and intermediate age groups are now meeting at 10 a.m., which will provide more teaching time and allow both teachers and pupils to attend morning worship in the sanctuary. The younger groups, kindergarten and primary classes will meet, as before, at 11 a.m., while a nursery is provided for the very young to give the parents an opportunity to attend morning worship together.

New Guinea Experiences Told Melrose WMS

The Melrose W.M.S. held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. E. Pascoe, Sr.

The devotional period was conducted by the president Mrs. George Morgan assisted by Mrs. F. Jeffrey, Mrs. J. English and Mrs. R. Macfarlane. Mrs. C. Bates closed the devotional period by reading the hymn, "O Love That Will Not Let Me Go."

Mrs. E. Badgley contributed a piano selection, closing with a poem.

GUEST SPEAKER

The Rev. T. Hogerwaard, minister of Shannonville charge, as guest speaker, told of his experiences while serving as a missionary in New Guinea. He gave a very interesting talk on the life in that country. "Many problems such as language, climate, and diseases presented themselves in this new country.

At the conclusion of his very interesting and instructive address, Mr. Hogerwaard said, "the work there could only be done in a long chain of missionary endeavor." He and his family were taken prisoners in 1942 and were held in a concentration camp in the East Indies for two years.

Mrs. Morgan moved a sincere vote of thanks to Mr. Hogerwaard for addressing the meeting in such a helpful and beneficial manner.

Miss Marjorie Pascoe served refreshments and all enjoyed a social half hour.

Women's Institute

QUINTE W. I.

SHANNONVILLE— The monthly meeting of the Quinte Institute was held in the United Church Hall on Tuesday afternoon and was largely attended. Mrs. S. MacDonald, Mrs. S. J. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Frank Doxtator, and Mrs. W. D. Robertson, were hostesses for this pleasant gathering.

Two members of Belleville Business Hospital Auxiliary were present and gave an interesting description of the work that is being done by their organization. Following the program refreshments were served by the ladies in charge.

Family Marks 45th Wedding Anniversary

On Wednesday evening, about 25 relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Kingston, Belleville, in honor of the 45th wedding anniversary of Mr. Kingston's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Kingston, of Belleville R.R. 2.

Games, contests and a social get-together were enjoyed with lunch going to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Phillips, Mrs. Clifford Cassidy and Barton Hinchliffe.

The chairman for the occasion was a son, Mr. John Kingston, who, on behalf of the family, paid a fitting tribute to the guests of honor, and presented them with a purse containing forty-five silver dollars. Other gifts of silverware were also presented from various friends and relatives, for which gracious thanks were given by the completely surprised recipients.

Among those who spoke briefly, extending congratulations to this fine couple were several friends of the family, Mrs. Clarence Holmes and Ronald Bonsor.

The family members included John, Margaret, (Mrs. Barton Hinchliffe of Belleville, R.R. 2.); Marion, (Mrs. Frank Phillips, of Belleville, R.R. 2); Laura, Mrs. Clifford Cassidy of Trenton, R.R. 4); Kenneth of Foxboro, and Harold of Napanee, R.R. 1.

Another interesting feature of the evening was that Mr. and Mrs. Barton Hinchliffe were also observing their wedding anniversary on the same date.

Following the opening of the gifts, bountiful refreshments were served from an appropriately appointed table having a lovely Maderia lace cloth, centred with the anniversary wedding cake with its 45 motifs, made by a daughter, Mrs. Frank Phillips.

The community also extends its congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Kingston on their 45th marriage milestone, and wishes them a safe arrival at their golden one.

Groom of 94 Takes Bride Of 67 Years

PICTON. —The bride was 67, the groom 94. They were married on Tuesday afternoon by the Rev. J. G. Miniely. The groom was Stephen Allan VanCott, who resides in Amelisburg township.

St. Joseph's C.W.L Holds Euchre Party

With the beginning of the fall season, the first of the ever-popular euchre parties, was held on Thursday evening in the school hall under the sponsorship of St. Joseph's C.W.L.

Mrs. P. F. Halloran was at the door.

The prize winners were: ladies' Mrs. H. Carr-Brant, Mrs. W. Nevery, consolation, Mrs. C. Whalen; men, R. Van Alstyne, H. O'Neill, consolation, N. D. McNish; lone hand, Mrs. Kropinak; door prize, Mrs. Hawley.

A draw was held on a large basket of apples under the convenership of Mrs. J. Anton, the holder of the lucky ticket being Mr. Vane.

Refreshments were served, convened by Mrs. J. Poirier, assisted by Mrs. O'Neill, Mrs. E. Cooper, Mrs. B. Bankey, Mrs. P. Mercier, Mrs. C. O'Neill and Mrs. R. Chipman.

90th Birthday Marked By Mrs. T. Blakely

PICTON—Mrs. Thressa Blakely today marks her 90th birthday. She is still active and in good health and takes part in meetings of church organizations. A member of the United church, she has given a life-time of service in the W.M.S., W.C.T.U., Sunday school and Cavell Class, both at Cherry Valley and since coming to Picton.

Mrs. Blakely has three children, William B. at Cherry Valley; Roger and Thelma of Picton.

To mark the anniversary of this fine old-lady, her daughter entertained last night at a family dinner at Maple Lawn, Brimfield.

The bride is Mrs. Annie Way of Gosseelin. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Pierce of Trenton.

In the evening, relatives and friends gathered at their home to give them an old-fashioned charivari. During the evening the 94-year-old groom danced a jig for his guests. "We are looking forward to many happy years together," he said.

Fall and Winter's Fashion In Period of Transition

By MURIEL PENN

LONDON (Reuters)—The new fall and winter's fashion collections suggest that fashion at present is in a period of transition.

This feeling is emphasized by the "wandering waist," which may be anywhere from close under the bust to the top of the hips, and the fact that no single line has emerged this season as "the" style for the coming winter.

Victor Stiebel, who makes many dresses for Princess Margaret and the Duchess of Kent, seems to have summed up the unspoken sentiment of all London's "big" twelve, the members of the Incorporated Society of London Fashion Designers, when he said at the press preview of his new collection:

"Fashion now has arrived at a stage when a number of influences threaten the established post-war shape. We are on the edge of the second new look era and dress designers experiment with an alphabet of new lines."

The emphasis on influence runs though all the new collections of the big twelve, with the tubular tunic line also present in some form in most. But neither is featured in any one collection to the exclusion of all else.

The long-line line of the last two seasons is definitely on the way out, but it has not gone. Examples of it appear in some collections while other couturiers feature a neat if half-way effort with hip emphasis back or front but not both.

WAIST DEFINED

In general, however, the "waist around the hips" effect has moved on, up or down, a narrow braid, ribbon or roll which marked the bottom of the long bodice may move down inches to just below the knees, to produce the tube or tunic effect. Or it may move up under the bust to feature an empire line.

In this evolution, the natural waist has become more clearly defined, though never nipped in and rarely marked by a belt. Belts are few in the latest collections. Ronald Paterson, for example, has one tiny strand of silver ribbon for his 1956 collection.

The president graciously thanked the conveners and guild members, who worked so faithfully during the summer months.

Reports were received from various committees disclosing a busy but profitable summer

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMIESON

EXERCISE FOR HEALTH AND BEAUTY

Don't lose your summertime vitality. Join a gym and keep exercises going throughout the Fall and Winter.

Just six days more and Fall will be officially declared in. And probably, where too many of us are concerned, it will be the end so far as exercise is concerned, as Spring rolls around again. A pity, too, since exercise is so important to keep circulation and appetite stimulated, to bring the glow of health to a pretty face and to keep the figure in trim.

You must have noticed how much more sparkling vitality you had while you were on vacation and spent so much time, swimming, playing tennis, or just plain walking. So why give us such a good program now?

Promise yourself to keep on with some kind of circulation jogger now that you're back at the old grind. If nothing else, get off the bus or subway a mile from home and walk the rest of the way at a brisk clip. Better still, sign up at the "Y" or some other gym for regular swimming and exercise classes. A reasonable amount of exercise, combined with the right foods, are fundamental if you would keep a lithe figure and a pretty face.

Sleep counts, too. Some of the age's most beautiful women insist on a regular nine hours' sleep at their nightly due. You may need less—or more. But, whatever your quota, try to get it regularly. Sleep is better than any cosmetic for warding off wrinkles and sagging face muscles.

Another thing to consider on your Fall beauty program is breakfast. Getting back to that vacation period, did you notice that you ate better breakfasts when you didn't have to get up early and hustle off to the "salt mines?" Of course you did. Just as so many girls find they can eat a good breakfast on Saturday and Sunday mornings, but dash off to work with just a cup of coffee from Monday until Friday. That's all wrong, it's on those working days that you need a good breakfast to supply energy.

What's the answer? Get up a little earlier. Make time for a leisurely breakfast—one that will keep you from becoming overly tired and peevish by mid-morning. Every working girl needs a glass of citrus or tomato juice, an egg (or two slices of bacon) and a slice of whole grain or enriched toast, with a bit of butter, in the morning. Those foods are the tissue builders and repairers and what's good for your health is good for your looks. And you do care about them, don't you?

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DON'T TRY TO RUN THINGS YOURSELF

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

Recently, my boy friend, Paul, and I decided to get a blind date for my sister, who is a year my senior. The next week, Paul brought Jerry, a boy who was visiting him, over for my sister, and the four of us went out together.

Well, from the very first look I liked Jerry. He also seemed to be attracted to me. We all went into an ice cream shop, and my sister and Jerry sat opposite Paul and me in booth. Every time I would look at Jerry, I would find him staring at me, and we began smiling at each other. On the way home, he talked to me more than he did to my sister.

Later that night, I came right out and told my sister that I liked her date. She said she didn't mind, as Jerry wasn't quite her type, and she liked her other boy friend better anyhow. I felt much better that.

But the problem now is, how can I get better acquainted with Jerry? Jerry himself told me that my boy friend, Paul, likes me very much and talks about me all time and I do not want to hurt Paul. And if I do start going with Jerry, he couldn't over and see me without borrowing Paul's car, because Paul lives in another town from ours, and I'm sure Paul wouldn't let him if he knew Jerry was coming to see me. So how can I get better acquainted with Jerry without hurting Paul?

J. P.

Dear J. P.:

Why try to run things yourself? If Jerry really wants to get better acquainted with you, don't you think he's the one who should be figuring out the plans? Better let him if he does. Jerry was intuitive and break the news to Paul that he'd like to see you again.

Moreover, I think you'd better not consider yourself so tied up to Paul that you can't be free to have any other boy friends. Be a little independent, and let Paul know that you feel you want to be able to enjoy other friendships with boys, too. Wait until you're old enough to get really serious about some young man before giving up everybody else.

Readers' Friday Column

As Conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION:

Please (send) recipes for cookies and punch for a wedding. . . . we expect . . . 30 or 40 guests and I hope to do it myself. . . . planned fancy sandwiches, cheese and crackers, olives, pickles and stuffed celery and fancy cookies and coffee, then wedding cake and punch and perhaps ice cream. . . . as my place is small this will have to be buffet style. . . .do I let everyone help themselves or wait until they are seated and then I pass the lunch? A couple of my friends are helping serve. . . . many thanks for your fine column.—Mrs. P. B.

ANSWER:

I am mailing to you the copy of a release that appeared here in April of this year. It has 6-in-1 cookies, Cherry Dream Squares, French Fruit Roll and Marzipan Strawberries on it. Any or all may be useful to you. I recommend the 6-in-1 cookies because they give you such variety. I am also mailing you a tear sheet date August 27, which you may have seen with amounts for serving fifty at a wedding reception. When folks are not accustomed to buffet service they often sit down and expect to be served. If you could ask a few of your close friends to help themselves (which they should do) it might start the others coming to the buffet table and choosing what they would like. However you are wise to have reliable friends at hand to pass food to those who prefer it.

The recipes I am mailing to you for cookies will give you a good variety but I am giving you here the recipe for Coconut Macaroons. You would suggest you make one batch of them too, and on top of each macaroon press a quarter of a maraschino cherry to give your cookie plates a festive air.

COCOANUT MACAROONS

Three egg whites, 3-4 cup fruit sugar, 1 1-2 cups shredded cocoanut, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Beat whites of eggs until stiff, then gradually add 1-2 cup of the sugar, continuing to beat. Sift remaining sugar over top and fold in lightly. Add cocoanut and flavoring by folding in. Drop from small spoon on buttered baking sheet. (If desired press 1-4 maraschino on top of each.) Bake at 250 deg. Fahr. (very slow oven) for 30 to 35 minutes or until delicately browned.

QUESTION:

I would appreciate it, very much if you, would kindly give me the recipe for Hot Dog Relish.—Mrs. M. G.

ANSWER:

I am mailing you the release that had Mrs. Alex. M.'s "My Own Relish" in it and will give you another one to choose from:

BARBECUE OR HOT DOG RELISH

One peck (15 lbs.) green tomatoes, 6 red peppers (sweet), 1 medium-sized head cabbage, 6 medium-sized onions, 1 cup salt, 3 pints vinegar, 5 cups sugar, 2 tablespoons mixed pickle spices. Grind tomatoes in food chopper. Add salt and let stand overnight. Drain well and add ground peppers and onions and finely-knife-chopped cabbage. Combine sugar, vinegar and spices (that have been tied in muslin bag). Add liquid to mixed vegetables and simmer about 30 minutes. Pack boiling hot into jars and seal.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

WHEN SHE WANTS TO SKIP A COURSE . . .AND HE DOESN'T

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A friend and I have had a few double dates with two girls we like very much, and we hope to have more dates with them, to go to dinner somewhere and then to go on to a movie or to dance. When dining at a restaurant where the service is mainly table d'hote and the girls say they would like to skip a certain course (soup or salad course, for instance, or dessert) must we also just to be polite, skip that course?—Dick H.

No, sir, certainly not. It makes sense that, when a guest wishes to omit a certain course or certain courses on a table d'hote dinner, she (or he) should say so, with no apology or to-do. And it equally makes sense that the host may accept the course. He may graciously say, "I like minestrone soup very much. Do you mind if I take the soup course?"

What is this man doing?

Every month thousands of hospital bills in Ontario are "Prepaid the Blue Cross way". No red tape—peace of mind.

DO IT IN 4 EASY STEPS

1—LAYING OUT THE JOB
Check wall surfaces for any foreign substances, holes, or loose plaster. Fill and repair where necessary — for unpainted walls or waterborne painted walls. A level line must be drawn from the lowest point of floor to desired height.

2—APPLICATION OF CEMENT
When applying cement use either a comb or a notched trowel and cover approximately 4'x6' area at one time. Apply enough pressure so that notches make even ridges to insure tile's proper adhesion. Allow to set for about an hours for best results.

3—PLACEMENT OF TILE
One of the main steps here is to begin laying tile at toy level line, working from corner to corner. If the room has an outside corner start there. For further detailed instructions of this step, free pamphlets may be obtained at our Showroom.

4—APPLICATION OF COVE BASE
Continue wall tile to the floor and apply the cove base on top of the tile. Fill in with cement along the floor to make moisture proof. Be sure to apply the cove base last.

NHA SMALL HOUSE DESIGNS—Montreal architect M. Kolsen has designed this 1 1/4-storey house which is attractive and at the same time spells the utmost in economy. There is no waste space in the design and an example of the architect's care in this regard is the neat arborite stairwell which leads to all levels of the house and saves the space which would be required for a back stairway to the basement.

The house is designed with the problems of a growing family in mind and provides four bedrooms as well as good closet space. Two bedrooms are on the ground floor while the upper storey contains two large bedrooms as well as a second bathroom. The roomy L-shaped dining and living room is a feature of the first floor plan and furniture arrangement is facilitated by the large archway wall facing the living room entrance.

The total floor area of the house is 1,380 square feet while the cubic measurement is 21,500 cubic feet. The exterior dimensions are 25 feet by 37 feet, four inches. Working drawing for this house, known as design 414, may be obtained from Houston's at a minimum cost.

TO MAKE WASTELAND BLOSSOM

The shaded area on this map shows the 500,000 acres of semi-arid prairie which would be irrigated through the South Saskatchewan river power and irrigation project. The canal dam across the South Saskatchewan between Dunblaine and Outlook would create a huge artificial lake which would not only provide water for irrigation but would also enable generation of millions of kilowatt-hours of electricity for the power-short province. Inset shows location of the project in relation to the rest of the province. (CP Photo).

Saskatchewan Still Hopeful Federal Govt. Will Share In Cost of Irrigation Project

By DON HANRIGHT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

REGINA (CP)—The fatted calf is a principal figure in Saskatchewan's dream of the agriculture future. In the background is an irrigation dam.

The calf represents diversity in farm production—insurance against a farm-income variability which, chiefly because of thousands of thousands of one-crop farms and the grain-heavy economy, is Canada's highest.

$135,000,000 PROJECT

The vision is clearest to farmers on the northeastern fringe of the Palliser triangle, 15,000,000-acre dry belt in southern Saskatchewan and Alberta. There, they see the dam as part of the South Saskatchewan river project.

Estimated to cost $135,000,000, the project would create a 135-mile-long lake in the heart of one of Saskatchewan's worst drought areas.

The stored water would irrigate 500,000 acres of tableland, eventually resulting in a three-fold increase in agricultural production. And it would give the province its first domestic hydro-electric energy.

However, the federal government whose share of costs would be $11,000,000 less than that of the Saskatchewan government, has decided the scheme would not be sufficiently in the national interest to warrant the outlay. Saskatchewan has offered to pay $73,000,000.

STILL HOPEFUL

But Saskatchewan still is hopeful.

Something in the nature of a South Saskatchewan development was suggested 100 years ago. By the time Saskatchewan entered Confederation in 1905, there was even more talk of tapping the river. The federal government began investigations in 1908.

Since then, the wheatland farmer has faced the spectacle of the Saskatchewan, with its two branches meeting near Prince Albert, rolling west and into the sea. On its 1,500-mile journey from the Columbia river basin to Hudson bay the river drains almost all prairie land south of the 54th parallel.

Of the South Saskatchewan's watershed of 65,000 square miles, approximately 650,000 acres now are "under the ditch".

ALBERTA PROJECTS

However, less than 50,000 acres of this is in Saskatchewan. Southern Alberta is proceeding with such projects as the $60,000,000 St. Mary-Milk rivers development and the $40,000,000 Bow river project.

To the south, in North Dakota, the finishing touches are being put on the Garrison dam, straddling the Missouri near Minot. It will provide water to irrigate 960,000 acres and develop 400,000 kilowatts of hydro power at a cost of $400,000,000.

But Saskatchewan has only a handful of government-owned irrigation projects on which about $4,000,000 has been spent and these, along with about 2,000 small stock-watering schemes built by individual farmers, give the province a total irrigable area of about 150,000 acres.

Even these smaller projects have a lesson for ranchers: With an irrigated acre of pasture they can raise two well-finished cows, while under dry-land ranching 40 acres are needed for one cow.

This probably is a factor in the gradual increase of Saskatchewan's livestock population. It is estimated at 1,500,000 this year, an increase of 283,000 since 1950.

LOW-RAINFALL AREA

About one-third the province's total land area of 157,000,000 acres is classed as low-rainfall district. However, all of this could never be irrigated. All the water from the South Saskatchewan, plus all that could be diverted from the north branch, would provide irrigation for only about 3,000,000 acres.

This dry district is considered favorable for straight grain growing, but there is a lack of native grass-land pasture suitable for livestock.

Here, then, is a major reason why the Saskatchewan grain grower balks at raising cattle.

Where would he get his winter feed? Prairie grasses and clover are uncertain, low-yield crops on lands where a 10-inch annual rainfall is only about one-third evaporation rate.

Ranchers remember 1937, when $3,500,000 was spent to bring cattle feed into the province. Without water to boost forage-crop yields, crop diversification is a difficult step for many Saskatchewan farmers.

RUST CUT INCOME

Last year, when rust slashed wheat crops to their lowest point since 1941, the net Saskatchewan farm income was $124,000,000, less than one-third the 1953 total.

On the average, the province's farm income has increased or decreased by almost 8 per cent from one year to the next in its period 1927 to 1952—a variation more than double that for any other province.

It would start with a dam built at Coteau creek, a point between the towns of Outlook and Elbow at cost 120 miles northwest of Regina.

To straddle the two-mile wide, 200-foot-deep South Saskatchewan valley, 40,000,000 cubic yards of fill would be required. The dam would be 205 feet high, 16,700 feet long, would cost $80,000,000 and would take eight years to build.

CREATE HUGE LAKE

Canada's largest earth-fill dam now is the St. Mary dam near Lethbridge, Alta. In comparison, the Coteau creek structure would be nearly eight times as large.

Behind this wall would be created the lake with a shoreline of nearly 500 miles. It would flood 118,000 acres, of which 11 per cent now is under cultivation. Two railway branch lines would have to be moved.

The reservoir would hold 4,400,000 acre-feet of water—enough to flood more than 13,000 square miles of flat land to a one-foot depth.

Three steel penstocks would carry water to turbines which would develop 35,000,000 kilowatt hours of hydro-electric power a year.

Of this, 30,000,000 kilowatt hours would be used to pump water to heights of from 15 to 120 feet to reach 307,000 acres of the total of 500,000 acres to be irrigated.

TO SASKATOON AREA

Twelve pumping stations would keep the water moving through 500 miles of canals and main ditches extending 70 miles north to the Saskatoon area.

The cost of the irrigation system is estimated at $35,000,000 which, along with $20,000,000 for the power plant, would bring the project's total cost to $135,000,000.

First Saskatchewan verdict on the project came in 1952 when a royal commission found the economic returns would be "commensurate with the cost." It approved a cost estimate of $250,000,000, but that figure since has been rejected as extravagant.

Saskatchewan's argument for economic returns:

Agriculture Minister I. C. Nollet says the agricultural output of the development area would increase by three or perhaps four times.

PRODUCTION BOOST

Each year the district would produce 40,000,000 pounds of beef, 3,-000,000 bushels of wheat, 3,750,000 bushels of coarse grains and 60,000 tons of hay.

The minister estimates that with initial development the gross annual production from the area would increase to $41,000,000 from $7,000,000. Largest boost would be in livestock—from $2,250,000 to $32,-250,000.

In addition, the 1,455 new farms created would require starting capital outlays and the 3,000 existing farmers also would increase expenditure to keep pace with increased production.

However, some authorities have estimated it will take nearly 35 years for the area to reach full development.

Moscow Plans Warm Welcome For East Germany's Premier To Offset Adenauer's Claims

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

MOSCOW (AP) — The Russians prepared a warm welcome today for East Germany's Premier Otto Grotewohl. They hailed East Germany as a sovereign state and brushed aside Chancellor Adenauer's claim that his Bonn government speaks for all the Germans.

Grotewohl and his delegation were due in Moscow by plane this afternoon for negotiations following up those Adenauer concluded with the Soviet leaders only three days ago.

Premier Bulganin, who headed up the Soviet side in the bargaining sessions with Adenauer, is not expected to take part for the time being at least in the talks with Grotewohl. The news agency reported Thursday night that the 60-year-old Soviet leader is ill, but did not specify his ailment.

REASSURING MOVE

The meeting with Grotewohl is seen as a Soviet move to reassure the East German Communists that Russia has not sold them out by negotiating with Adenauer.

The Soviet-West German talks resulted in agreement to set up diplomatic relations between the two governments and, according to Adenauer, an oral promise from Bulganin to release German prisoners held in Russia since the war.

The Russians set the stage for the Grotewohl talks by rejecting two claims Adenauer had made before leaving Moscow: (1) That the Bonn regime is the only legitimate German government, and (2) that a final settlement of Germany's frontiers must await the peace treaty.

The Russians declared through Tass that Adenauer has no more right to speak for German highways built in the "horse-and-carriage days" were called for Thursday by Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Hamilton.

Mrs. Fairclough, speaking to delegates attending the annual meeting of the Mississippi river parkway planning commission, said United States and Canadian governments are "inconsistent in their thinking."

No Reduction In Defence Spending Seen

OTTAWA (CP)—Officials don't foresee any major cuts in defence spending in the 1956-57 fiscal year.

"There seems to be no doubt that spending next year will be about the same as this year," one authority said Thursday. There might be some minor reductions but personnel and equipment costs are expected to vary little from present levels.

The Canadian situation is different from that in Britain and United States, where big defence cuts now are being considered next year.

Britain and the U.S. are able to reduce defence costs by cutting down on armaments. There is no way to reduce Canadian forces to their present level of effectiveness.

Both Britain and the U.S. have completed many military projects in Canada relies on a very small force.

The amount spent in the current fiscal year, which ends March 31, came to $1,562,000,000. That is more than $362,000,000 more than the original estimate.

Officials said they expect the actual spending to be close to the estimate of $1,200,000,000. In other words, the sheet will be much smaller than the amount originally budgeted and considerably greater than in 1954-55.

Polio Season Starts to T... Off in States

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 1955 polio season apparently has started to taper off.

The U.S. public health service Thursday reported 2,009 cases throughout the United States last week. This was a drop of about two per cent under the corrected total of 2,058 the previous week. Although some states had increases a public health service spokesman said:

"It appears that on the whole we are on the down grade."

The year's polio peak — 2,289 cases—came in the week ended Aug. 27. In all, the 50 states reported 18,215 cases, 6,220 of them paralytic, between April 1, the start of the polio year, and Sept. 11.

This compared with 21,324 cases, of which 7,793 were paralytic, in the corresponding 1954 period.

Thursday's report repeated earlier statements that no conclusion can be drawn about the efficacy of the Salk polio vaccine from these figures since complete information is not available on polio cases among vaccinated and unvaccinated persons.

JOINS NEW EXPEDITION

OSLO, Norway (AP)—Thor Heyerdahl, who skippered the raft Kon-Tiki across the South Pacific in 1947, left by air today on a new scientific expedition to the South Sea islands. He will fly to Chile to join scientists from the United States, France, Norway and Chile for the voyage to Pitcairn and the Easter Islands. He hopes to prove his theory that the Polynesian islands were populated from South America.

GM and Union Open Marathon Contract Talks

TORONTO (CP)—With a strike deadline for 17,000 General Motors of Canada employees only three days away, company and union negotiators today open marathon contract talks.

It is expected that sittings will be extended into the night in an effort to reach a solution in the deadlock between the company and the United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL).

The union has set Monday as the strike deadline.

Involved in the dispute are workers at five plants in Ontario located in Windsor, London, St. Catharines, Toronto and Oshawa. The talks are being held in two sections, one for the Oshawa plant and the other for the "master plan" covering the other four.

They take place as news agency reported Thursday night that the 60-year-old Soviet leader is ill, but did not specify his ailment.

Leaders of both sides were informed in similar last-ditch negotiations in the General Motors disputes in the U. S.

They said Thursday night they believe the Toronto talks will copy those in Detroit which saw most of the crucial issues settled satisfactorily during the last two days.

Reduced Speed Limits on Old Roads Requested

Strong Advocate of Empire, L.S. Amery, Dies in London

LONDON (CP)—L. S. Amery, 81, Conservative party elder statesman and former colonial secretary, died today.

He was colonial secretary from 1924 to 1929. Previously he served as assistant secretary to the war cabinet in 1917. During the Second World War he was secretary of state for India and Burma from 1940 to 1945.

During the war he suffered a great personal tragedy. His son, John, was taken into custody after broadcasting for Germany against Britain and Russia from a station in Nazi-occupied Europe. He pleaded guilty to high treason and was executed in London on December, 1945.

Early in the war, Amery, not yet in the government, made what is considered his most famous speech in the House of Commons.

"You must," he said, "get into government men who can match our enemies in fighting spirit, in daring, in resolution, and in thirst for victory. They can be found only by trial, and by ruthlessly discarding all who fail, and have their failings discovered."

Then pointing a finger at Prime Minister Chamberlain, he cited Oliver Cromwell's words a few centuries previously in dismissing Parliament:

... Woman Is Convicted ...lanslaughter After Fire

...T STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)— ...year-old woman will be sen... 1 Sept. 28 on a charge of ...laughter arising from the ...fire death of her rival. ...orie Gertrude Sommerville ...ovicted Thursday by an Supreme Court jury after ...ours and 11 minutes of de... ...ation.

She was charged with murder ...Estate Carmen Mary Simmonds, 26, died in a fire which destroyed the home of Donald Berry, 56, with whom she two women were living.

Mr. Justice C. D. Stewart told the jury in his charge that there were only three possible verdicts: Guilty of murder, guilty of manslaughter or not guilty. Two hours after they went out he recalled them for further directions.

The charred body of Miss Simmonds was found in the ruins of a frame shack on Highway 17 about 18 miles north of here.

Evidence was that Miss Sommerville had moved in with Berry about two years ago after Jim Wilson had been committed to a mental institution. Two years ago Miss Simmonds moved in.

Crown attorney Ian Munro said his address to the jury:

"This is an old story. It has happened many times: There is an element of jealousy and a situation known as a triangle. I think there is no doubt there was bad feeling some time prior to Miss Simmonds' death. It was the natural resentment of a woman who had had a place of honor for 10 years and then a usurper comes in and tries to take over."

Defence counsel Donald Lawson said the crown had not shown that Miss Simmonds was in the house at the time the fire was set.

"Unless the crown proves she was in the house, Marjorie Sommerville must be acquitted and that is the verdict I ask."

Famous Runaway-Marriage Spot, Gretna Green Smithy Up for Sale

GRETNA GREEN, Scotland (Reuters)—Gretna Green smithy, the most famous runaway-marriage place in the world, is up for sale.

The 18th-century smithy, where more than 5,000 starry-eyed lovers by-passed parental objections and were married in a matter of minutes by the local blacksmith (priest's part of a romantic parcel) which will be turned over to the highest bidder for Gretna Green estate.

The estate, now owned by Miss Vera Richardson, a relative of one of the last of the "marrying black-smiths," includes Gretna Hall, a Georgian mansion hotel built in 1710, two souvenir shops cluttered with miniature brass anvils, lucky horseshoes and wedding rings, six cottages and 21 acres of good grazing land.

Scotland's sympathetic marriage laws first made the little village famous as the English border a haven for eloping couples.

The practical Scots said that, as far as they were concerned, a marriage was a marriage if a man and woman declared before witnesses that they were man and wife.

AIR PIONEER DIES

BEXHILL, England (AP)—Capt. Bill Lawford, who claimed to have been the first civil airline pilot, died Thursday. He was 70. In 1919 Lawford piloted a small De Havilland plane at the inauguration of London-Paris service. He took off at Hounslow and landed at Le Bourget, outside Paris, 2½ hours later, averaging 100 miles an hour.

SEVEN DROWN

May Propose Provinces Build Pipeline

TORONTO (CP)—The Globe and Mail says the Ontario government may propose an all-Canadian pipeline to carry Alberta's natural gas east to be built entirely by the governments concerned rather than by private enterprise.

The newspaper says it has learned that Ontario government officials would like to see Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario and the federal government combine to build the line. Quebec would also be invited to join.

Premier Frost said details of a report made Tuesday on the proposed pipeline have yet to be studied and evaluated. A decision will be made in due course, he said.

His comments came after the board of transport commissioners in Ottawa approved immediate construction of the $40,000,000 Toronto-Montreal leg of the proposed line by Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd.

WILL CO-OPERATE

The federal government said it is taking steps to co-operate with Ontario, to arrange for a crown corporation to finance the 675-mile northern Ontario stretch of the line.

The Globe and Mail says some officials in the Ontario government are wary of the crown company plan. It adds:

"Since the portion of the pipeline which the two governments now are being asked to help build will be the least productive for many years to come, but will return the profits at both ends, the attitude of the private sector is:

"If we are going to help build part of it why not let all the governments concerned join forces and build the pipeline as a self-liquidating venture?"

The newspaper adds that the government is worried about the cost of the pipeline across northern Ontario. That section is expected to cost $40 million or 60 per cent of the total price of the line.

Cyprus Group Comes Under Ban

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — The Greek-nationalist underground organization EOKA was declared illegal and banned under an order by governor Sir Robert Armitage Thursday.

This means membership is a crime punishable by imprisonment. Heretofore, terrorist suspects have been charged with conspiracy to overthrow the government of this British Mediterranean island colony through armed force.

The government gazette said preliminary hearings no longer will be necessary in serious cases and the accused can be sent straight to assize court.

The governor's order was the first since his return from the London British - Greek - Turkish talks which failed to settle the political future of the strategic island, populated by a majority of Greek descent. The Greek nationalists want union with Greece.

Canada Urges Eden Plan For Try-Out Inspection Of East-West Armies in Europe

IN BY-ELECTION

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Canada has suggested that Prime Minister Eden's plan for a try-out inspection of East-West armies in Europe as a preliminary to general disarmament be put into early operation.

"It seems to us this plan ought to be put into early effect," said Canadian Health Minister Paul Martin after Britain's Anthony Nutting outlined the proposal. The British minister of state spelled out the Eden plan for the first time at Thursday's session of the United Nations disarmament subcommittee.

Harold Stassen, U.S. presidential disarmament aide, and Jules Moch of France also welcomed the plan. Soviet delegate Arkady A. Sobolev considered it an important contribution worthy of study.

WOULD NAME COMMISSION

Under the proposed plan, representatives of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Soviet bloc would form a small supervisory commission with inspection powers of all military installations in an agreed area of equal depth on either side of the Iron Curtain. The participants in the scheme would agree on the exact territory to be covered but it is presumed Germany would be the test area because East and West have the greatest concentration of forces there.

Each side would have equal representation on the commission and would report in full its military dispositions in the agreed area. There would not necessarily be any limitation of the size of the armies but if the parties agreed they could limit their equipment and armaments. Aerial and atomic inspection is not involved.

Joint inspection teams would then be allowed to move with complete freedom over the test territories. The teams would report to the commission and it in turn would report to the NATO and Soviet commanders.

Martin said Canada welcomed the plan as a "simple and practical scheme for a particular phase of disarmament . . . which affords the prospect of putting into practical effect the kind of system of inspection the Western nations envisaged."

BABY DIES IN CAR

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—While Mr. and Mrs. Billy Graham watched a drive-in movie Thursday night their 14-month-old daughter crawled herself in the back seat. Karen, the couple's only child, was asleep on the back seat of the family car when she apparently climbed on a pillow and put her head out a partially opened side window The pillow slipped, leaving her head trapped.

STAGE MANAGER DIES

NEW YORK (AP) — Royal Cutler, veteran Broadway stage manager, died Thursday at the age of 64. Early in his theatrical career Cutler had been associated with George Lederer, Richard Carle and Aborn Opera Co., and Arthur Hammerstein...Until his illness several weeks ago, Cutler had been busy casting "Frontier Americana."

Finnish Leader Starts Talks With Russians

MOSCOW (Reuters) — President Juho Paasikivi of Finland began talks with Russian leaders today. But Premier Bulganin, reported ill, was absent.

Bulganin's absence was taken as a possible indication that his illness, reported Thursday, might be more serious than first thought.

Bulganin's absence from the talks with Paasikivi and Paasikivi's arrival Thursday was partly attributed to fatigue after his strenuous negotiations with West German Chancellor Adenauer over the previous week.

Speculation on the Soviet-Finnish talks in Moscow centred around the possibility that the Russians might offer to return their military base in Porkkala, about 12 miles west of Helsinki.

It was not thought that the Finnish president would have come to Moscow without the assurance of one such concrete results of the talks. But there was no indication of what the Russians might expect in return from Finland.

Wants Words 'Royal Mail' On Post Boxes

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—Donald Sisson, 10, says he likes to see the words "royal mail" on post-boxes instead of the recently-adopted "Canada mail."

One night last week he took a crayon-like stencil and a can of gold paint and put "royal mail" on letter boxes in the northeast part of the city, police said. When he transferred his operations to the downtown area, a policeman stopped him and led him to the police station where he was charged with vagrancy.

Thursday the charge was dismissed. The crown offered no evidence.

Afterwards, Sisson, a printing student, told reporters:

"It was a protest against the increase in republicanism which is creeping into Canadian affairs."

Captain Files Suit for Divorce

LONDON (AP)—The story-book romance of wartime spy "Odette" and the British officer she saved from the Nazis is on the rocks.

Capt. Peter Churchill has filed suit for divorce from the former Mrs. Odette Sansom, naming a correspondent identified only as Hallowes. Listing of the suit indicated, Mrs. Churchill would not contest it.

Churchill and the French-born Mrs. Sansom met while both were serving as British spies in occupied France. She helped him escape from the Gestapo. Later she was captured, tortured and imprisoned. After her release in 1945 she was awarded the George Cross, Britain's highest civilian decoration, and the French Legion of Honor.

A movie also was based on her wartime experiences.

This photo of Lawrence Buol and his wife was taken in 1948 in Los Angeles, Cal., two years before he was taken prisoner by the Chinese Reds. Buol, who worked for a private airline when he was captured and charged with espionage by the Reds, is listed among the 41 American civilians to be released by the Peking government. Mrs. Buol has gone to Hong Kong to await reunion with her husband, who is a native of Stockton, Calif. Mrs. Eisenhower was now pressing for the release of several hundred of their soldiers listed as missing in the Korean war and believed to be in Communist hands. (Central Press Canadian).

"There seems to be no doubt that spending next year will be about the same as this year," one authority said Thursday. There might be some minor reductions but personnel and equipment costs are expected to vary little from present levels.

The Canadian situation is different from that in Britain and the United States, where big defence cuts now are being considered for next year.

Britain and the U.S. would be able to reduce defence expenditures by cutting down on armed forces manpower. There is no plan here to reduce Canadian forces from their present level of about 120,000.

Both Britain and the U.S. have compulsory military service while Canada relies on a volunteer force.

The amount spent in the 1954-55 fiscal year, which ended last March 31, came to $1,565,968,960 or more than $242,000,000 short of the estimate.

Officials said they expect 1955-56 actual spending to be much closer to the estimate of $1,775,000,000; in other words, the shortfall will be much smaller than last year and expenditures may even be greater than in 1954-55.

Polio Season Starts to Taper Off in States

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 1955 polio season apparently has started to taper off.

The U.S. public health service Thursday reported 2,009 cases throughout the United States last week. This was a drop of about two per cent under the corrected total of 2,058 the previous week. Although some states had increases a public health service spokesman said:

"It appears that on the whole we are on the down grade."

The year's polio peak — 2,289 cases—came in the week ended Aug. 27. In all, the 48 states reported 18,215 cases, 6,220 of them paralytic, between April 1, the start of the polio year, and Sept. 11.

This compared with 21,324 cases, of which 7,793 were paralytic, in the corresponding 1954 period.

Thursday's report repeated earlier statements that no conclusion can be drawn about the efficacy of the Salk polio vaccine from these figures since complete information is not available on polio cases among vaccinated and unvaccinated persons.

GM and Union Open Marathon Contract Talks

TORONTO (CP)—With a strike deadline for 17,000 General Motors of Canada employees only three days away, company and union negotiators today open marathon contract talks.

It is expected that sittings will be extended into the night in an effort to reach a solution in the deadlock between the company and the United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL).

The union has set Monday as the strike deadline.

Involved in the dispute are workers at five plants in Ontario located in Windsor, London, St. Catharines, Toronto and Oshawa. The talks are being held in two sections, one for the Oshawa plant and the other for the "master plan" covering the other four.

More than 100 points are in dispute, with the guaranteed annual wage the major issue. The union also seeks a closed shop and a company-paid health and accident scheme.

Leaders of both sides were involved in similar last-ditch negotiations in the General Motors disputes in the U. S.

They ran Thursday night they believe the Toronto talks will copy those in Detroit which are most of the crucial issues settled satisfactorily during the last two days.

Reduced Speed Limits on Old Roads Requested

By WALTER GRAY

KENORA (CP)—Reduced speed limits on North American highways built in the "horse-and-carriage days" were called for Thursday by Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Hamilton.

Mrs. Fairclough, speaking to delegates attending the annual meeting of the Mississippi river parkways planning commission, said United States and Canadian governments are "inconsistent in their attitudes."

"We still have roads that were built for the horse and carriage and we slap a 50-mile-an-hour speed limit on them. And at the same time we build a modern limit six four-lane highway," she said.

She urged Canada and the U.S. to establish a uniform set of highway traffic regulations.

Representative Cora Knutson of Minnesota charged that U.S. federal highway authorities "bungled" planning of the Great River road before being ousted. She said funds have not been made available to the individual states concerned, and that they have been set aside to pay for consulting services by the engineers for the roads to the states," she said. "This seems to be a very clear circumvention of the intent of the congress as to what was to be done with the money."

SELLS PERSONAL YACHT

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP)—Reliable informants Thursday said ex-emperor Bao Dai of Viet Nam has sold his personal yacht for about 100,000,000 francs ($285,000). The purchaser was Alberto Ravano, a representative of the St. Gobain Society, which operates several ships.

Sault Woman Is Convicted Of Manslaughter After Fire

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—A 35-year-old woman will be sentenced Sept. 23 on a charge of manslaughter arising from the shack-fire death of her rival.

Marjorie Gertrude Sommerville was convicted Thursday by an Ontario Supreme Court jury after three hours and 11 minutes of deliberation.

She was charged with murder in the death of Nancy Simmons, 26, died in a fire which destroyed the shack of Donald Berry, 36, with whom the two women were living.

Mr. Justice C. W. Haines told the jury in his charge that there were only three possible verdicts: Guilty of murder, guilty of manslaughter or not guilty. Two hours after they went out he recalled them for further directions.

The charred body of Miss Simmonds was found in the ruins of a frame shack on Highway 17 about 18 miles north of here.

Evidence was that Miss Sommerville had moved in with Berry about 10 years ago after his wife had been committed to a mental institution. Two years ago Miss Simmonds moved in.

I think there is no doubt in your mind feeling some time prior to Miss Simmonds' death, it was the natural resentment of a woman who had been displaced after living for 10 years and then a usurper comes in and tries to take over."

Defence counsel Donald Lawson said the crown had not shown that Miss Sommerville was in the house at the time the fire was set.

"Unless the crown proves she was in the house, Marjorie Sommerville must be acquitted and that is the verdict I ask."

The federal government said it is taking steps, in co-operation with Ontario, to arrange for a crown corporation to finance the 615-mile northern Ontario stretch of the line.

The Globe and Mail says some officials in the Ontario government are wary of the crown company plan. It adds:

"Since the portion of the pipeline which lies in Ontario territory are being asked to help build will be the least profitable for many years to come, but will enhance the profits at both ends, the attitude of Queen's Park may well be: 'If we are going to help build part of it why not let all the governments concerned join forces and build the pipeline as a self-liquidating venture?'"

The newspaper adds that the government is worried about the cost of the pipeline across northern Ontario. That section is expected to cost about one-third of the total price of the line.

Cyprus Group Comes Under Ban

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — The Greek-Cypriot underground organization EOKA was declared illegal and banned under an order by governor Sir Robert Armitage Thursday.

This means membership is a crime punishable by imprisonment. Heretofore, terrorist suspects have not necessarily been punished for overthrow the government of this British Mediterranean island colony through armed force.

The government gazette said penalties for membership no longer will be necessary in serious cases and the accused can be tried summarily to assize court.

The governor's order was the first since his return from the London British - Greek - Turkish talks in effort to settle the political future of the strategic island, whose population is mainly of Greek descent. The Greek nationalists want union with Greece.

Canada Urges Eden Plan For Try-Out Inspection Of East-West Armies in Europe

By RUSSELL ELMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Canada has suggested that Prime Minister Eden's plan for a try-out inspection of East-West armies in Europe as a preliminary to general disarmament be put into early operation.

"It seems to us this plan ought to be put into early effect," said Canadian Health Minister Paul Martin after British Foreign Minister Nutting outlined the proposal. The British minister of state spelled out the Eden plan for the first time at Thursday's session of the United Nations disarmament subcommittee.

Harold Stassen, U.S. presidential disarmament adviser and Jules Moch of France also welcomed the plan. Soviet delegate Arkady A. Sobolev considered it an important contribution worthy of study.

WORLD WAR II COMMISSION

Under the proposed plan, representatives of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Soviet bloc would form a small supervisory commission with inspection powers of all military installations in an agreed area of equal depth on each side of the Iron Curtain. The participants in the scheme would agree on the exact territory to be covered but it is presumed Germany would be the first area because East and West have the greatest concentration of forces there.

Each side would have equal representation on the commission and would report in full its military dispositions in the agreed area. They would undertake not to make any limitation of the size of the armies but the parties to the pact could limit their equipment and armaments. Aerial and atomic inspection is not included.

Joint inspection teams would then be formed to move with complete freedom over the test territories. The teams would report to the commission and it in turn would report to the NATO and Soviet commanders.

Martin said Canada welcomed the plan as an "admirable and practical scheme for a particular phase of disarmament . . . which affords the opportunity of putting into practical effect the kind of system of inspection the Western nations envisaged."

NEW YORK (AP) — Royal Cutler, 55, veteran stage manager, died Thursday at the age of 81. Early in his theatrical career Cutler had been associated with George Lederer, Richard Carle, and Aborn Opera Co. and Arthur Hammerstein. Until his illness several weeks ago, Cutler had been busy casting "Frontier Americana."

Canadian Wants Words 'Royal Mail' On Post Boxes

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—Donald Sisson, 22, says he likes to see the words "royal mail" on post boxes instead of the French-dominated "Canada mail."

The 21-year-old week he took a cardboard stencil and a pot of gold paint and put "royal mail" on letter boxes in the northwest part of the city, police said. When he was questioned by police at a downtown area, a policeman stopped him and led him to the police station where he was charged with vagrancy.

Thursday the charge was dismissed. The crown offered no evidence.

Afterwards, Sisson, a printing student, told reporters:

"It was a protest against the increase in republicanism which is creeping into Canadian affairs."

Captain Files Suit for Divorce

LONDON (AP)—The story-book romance of wartime spy "Odette" and the British officer she saved from the Nazis is on the rocks.

Capt. Peter Churchill has filed suit for divorce from the former Mrs. Odette Sansom, naming a correspondent identified only as Hallows. Listing of the suit indicated Mrs. Churchill would not contest it.

Churchill and the French-born Mrs. Sansom met while both were serving as British spies in occupied France. She helped him escape from the Gestapo. Later she was captured, tortured and imprisoned. After her release in 1945 she was awarded the George Cross, British equivalent of the Victoria Cross, and the French Legion of Honor. A movie also was based on her wartime exploits.

Finnish Leader Starts Talks With Russians

MOSCOW (Reuters) — President Juho Paasikivi of Finland began talks with Russian leaders today, Premier Nikolai Bulganin reported indisposed, was not present.

Bulganin's absence was taken as a possible indication that his illness, reported Thursday, might be more serious than first thought.

Bulganin's absence from the support ceremonies on Khrushchev's arrival Thursday was partly attributed to fatigue after his strenuous negotiations with West Germany Chancellor Adenauer over the previous week.

Speculation on the Soviet-Finnish talks in Moscow centre around the possibility that the Russians might offer to return their military base in Porkkala, about 12 miles west of Helsinki.

It was not thought that the Finnish president would have come to Moscow without the assurance of one such concrete results of his visit. But there was no indication of what the Russians might expect in return from Finland.

Canadian Tobacco Harvest Under Way

Boats of tobacco leaves are hauled by tractor and by horse to a kiln for curing. Tobacco farming in Canada is centered in the sandy loams of southwestern Ontario and western Quebec with a limited production in the Fraser Valley region of British Columbia.

Demonstrating two of the more common tobacco varieties, Simone Durant of Joliette, Quebec, holds aloft cured leaves of dark Comstock cigar (left) and light flue-cured virginia cigarette tobacco (right). Other types include burley, pipe and raw leaf pipe tobaccos.

Completely cured, a rack of cigarette tobacco is inspected by expert Bert Murray, of Wilson, North Carolina. Temperature and humidity have been carefully controlled in the curing to produce a high quality leaf. Flue curing consists of yellowing, color fixing and drying.

A crew of workers seen 'priming' tobacco on an Ontario farm. Mature lower leaves are picked first from base of plant in a manual operation. Warm, sunny days are essential to quality in a cured leaf. Windbreak of trees in backround has been planted as protection for plants.

Though early French settlers of the sixteenth century are known to have produced some raw leaf pipe tobacco, large scale tobacco farming in Canada is a development of the last 25 years. To-day, tobacco is of increasing economic importance, netting the farmer $80,000,000 in 1954.

In the same year approximately 22,113,102,000 Canadian manufactured cigarettes were consumed in the country. Here, workers are shown storing cured virginia cigarette tobacco in a Quebec pack barn in preparation for a visit by buyers.

First Citizen of New Iroquois Sees Much Finer Village When All Work Is Completed

By JOHN LEBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

IROQUOIS (CP)—"It's a kind of doubtful honor," said Sam Leckie, the first citizen of new Iroquois.

Sam, a warp-tier in a linen mill, has just settled down with his wife and the three young Leckies in the scarred and ditch-pitted area that will be Iroquois when the old village of 3,180 persons becomes flooded by the St. Lawrence seaway power development.

For the moment, it's a rugged life. Streets with pretentious names are marked mainly by corner signs and perhaps the passage of a bulldozer. The 300-acre area holds about a half-dozen houses, with a stretch of concrete sidewalk in front of one.

NEIGHBORS SCARCE

This week, the Leckies had just one neighbor, the family of Ed Robertson, another millhand who moved in about the same time. Over the next couple of years, there will be a couple of hundred more, and paving and schools and churches and shops.

For Iroquois, the first community to be wiped out in advance of the taming of the St. Lawrence river for Hydro and its deepening for ocean ships, is at once a village undergoing death and rebirth.

"The Iroquois that now spreads along the shore of the St. Lawrence, about 35 miles upriver from Cornwall, Ont., is going under water with a half-dozen downriver villages and part of the town of Morrisburg. The new Iroquois is starting to come to life on high ground behind the somewhat old village that caught its name long ago from a warring Indian tribe.

Old Iroquois drowses now, seemingly oblivious to its approaching mid-village echoes only to the rumble of long-haulage trucks—its main street is Ontario's Highway No. 2.

On the greens of the Iroquois Badminton and Tennis Club, the ladies have their afternoon game of lawn bowls. Freighters slip past within a couple of hundred feet, this ground that will soon be buried under 38 feet of water.

ADVANCE SIGNS

Little attention is paid, outwardly to the advance signs of Iroquois' metamorphosis. They are around, though.

Here and there is an auction sale as yout loses a set or someone gets rid of his household goods after selling out. On other lawns are the visitor sees chopped-down trees, some already sawn thriftily into cordwood. The new boarding facilities of the Daffodil Lunch are stretched to feed the construction men creating the new homesite and cutting a seaway channel through nearby Iroquois point.

From just across the river on the United States side, and little more than a quarter mile away, there is a minor but persistent grunting as earth-moving machinery chews away at the nose of Rockmay point. A control dam is to stretch from there to a spot above Iroquois, one of the factors in putting this settlement under water.

Meanwhile, on the back streets, people like the Sam Leckies are undergoing a big uprooting. And this holds not only for Iroquois but for some 65,000 persons the length of "Seaway Valley" between here and Cornwall. It takes in the town of Morrisburg, population 1,900, which is to have its business section inundated, and Aultsville, Farran's Point, Dickinson's Landing, Wales, Moulinette and Mille Roches.

WONDER ABOUT FUTURE

All along Seaway Valley's 20,000 fertile acres, there is wonderment and suppressed anxiety as to how it's all going to turn out. The power and navigation advantages are

FIRST RESIDENT

Sam Leckie is the first resident of the new Iroquois, being built to replace the old village of Iroquois, due to be flooded by the St. Lawrence seaway-power project. there—2,200,000 horsepower of electricity and ocean ships into the heart of the continent—but there still is much uncertainty on how the human upheaval is to be worked out.

For the present, Iroquois is the gulnea pig. Here, the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission has a staff of 150 surveying properties, figuring out whether a house is movable to the new site—some of the homes are 70 or more years old—and arranging for rehabilitating the occupants.

Hydro is buying some houses and moving them. In other cases, it moves a house, furniture and all, to a new location, and pays the owner 15 per cent of what the assessors call its valuation.

Steve Lloyd Davis says the assessment system is haphazard. On a tour through Iroquois, he showed this reporter about 40 houses. On some built at about the same time and outwardly of the same appearance, the Hydro valuations varied widely.

One place had a small shed at the back for the lawn mower and garden tools. The reeve said an assessor put a valuation on the shed and listed it as "outdoor plumbing" without looking inside to note its modern bathroom.

OLD POLE WORRIED

The reeve, himself a prosperous filling station owner, says some of the old retired people are terrified about the move. Many are living out their days in ancient houses that have no real estate value.

"I've seen them crying about it," he said. "Some that have died lately, I'm sure, have gone to the grave over worrying about this."

The Leckies aren't too troubled, though. Sam is going to have a longer walk to work for a while—he starts at 6 a.m while his wife fixes the kids' breakfast, drives them to school and starts work in the mill around nine o'clock. Later, the mill will move to higher ground.

The Leckies at the moment were retaining in a new overlooking the St. Lawrence—in which the youngsters were awaiting about 25 yards away—while Hydro men put the finishing touches to their home that has been lifted off its foundations and set in the new location.

"Never saw anything like it," said Sam. His house was moved with such finesse that apparently shifters that has developed a whopping crawler capable of picking up a 200-ton house—the average is a quarter of that — and cart it away without even rattling the dishes in the china cupboard.

NEW TECHNIQUE

It's the first time this house-moving technique has been used in Canada. This reporter went through one of the houses after it had been moved through the town and over rough territory on the 10-foot wheels of the mover, and everything appeared exactly in place.

"Just for fun," Sam Leckie said, "my wife and I stood a mop in a pail—we'd heard about this—and when we got into the house in the new place, it was still standing."

The Leckies are in a semi-detached house, a family named Robertson living next door.

Other families are getting moved into the new town bulldozed out of the bush. The old house is heading into the nascent community—about six now.

Between 150 and 200 of Iroquois' 760 residential buildings are expected to be moved in the new townsite eventually. What will happen to the business buildings—most of them small—is still problematical Chances are they will be left behind under the water and replaced by new structures.

TO HAVE NEW PLANT

The linen mill, the biggest employer of Iroquois, Iroquois, will have a new plant. It is expected to be about double the size of the one to be drowned out, in anticipation of cheaper power. Hydro has bought the homes the company has been renting to employees.

It's going to be a smart new place, says Hydro spokesman Reeve Davis. "Though I don't like the idea of the company owning all the individual houses, I must say they're giving us the best—the very best—in municipal services."

"It will be a golden opportunity to start anew," says Jim Bigg Hydro's public relations director, who declined there have been no major beefs about the terms of Hydro's deals with home owners. Eventually, Hydro expects to be moving one home a day into the new area. The Leckies have only to wait 10 days. Thomas Johnston, whose home was the first moved in, waited about the same while Hydro workers decked it out with a strip of sidewalk and other trimmings.

"But it doesn't matter too much," said Mrs. Leckie. "It's home, and that's the main thing."

Sunday School Lesson:

When Skepticism Is Popular

By ROY L. SMITH

This week's Sunday School lesson ought to be very interesting to this modern generation for the simple reason that it deals with a problem that is well known to us. The scripture was written at a time when skepticism was popular, and when the plain people were holding religion in contempt.

THE PROPHET MALACHI

The word "Malachi" means "my messenger" and is more of a title than a cognomen. Inasmuch as the moral or spiritual issue depends upon the identity of the author we suffer no great loss in the fact that we do not know, precisely, who wrote this brave indictment of a gilded and guilty civilization. But because he wrote at one of the most critical periods of Hebrew history, and because the book appears at the very close of the Old Testament, the name Malachi has come to mean "the last word" to many people.

MALACHI'S CONGREGATION

The audience to which this extremely discerning book was addressed is very much like the one of which we are a part. The spirit of skepticism was already rife in the land. A terrible blight lay upon the hearts of men.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for September 18: "Malachi Calls Israel to Brotherly Living", Leviticus 22:31-23; Malachi.

Popular religion had degenerated into a listless routine of housefilers that has developed a whopping crawler capable of picking up a 200-ton house—the average is a quarter of that — and cart it away without even rattling the dishes in the china cupboard.

NEW TECHNIQUE

It's the first time this house-moving technique has been used in Canada. This reporter went through one of the houses after it had been moved through the town and over rough territory on the 10-foot wheels of the mover, and everything appeared exactly in place.

tion of keeping. They sang hymns which expressed lofty purposes and did not mean a word of the thing they were singing. The altars were piled high with sacrifices, but the sacrificial animals were the culls, the lame, the diaflagured, and the seconds. No self-respecting citizen would have even considered presenting them in payment of taxes. It was unlike the modern church that supports itself with carnivals and sideshows, and acts as if religion was a terrible bore at best.

SPIRIT OF SKEPTICISM

It was not that the people did not believe there was a God. Indeed they did. But the God they believed in did not matter. They could live as he had anything to do with the life they lived, they were indifferent to any preference. He might have in the matter of morals, and they lived in blissful indifference to any purposes he might be trying to achieve.

Malachi, they said, "Being religious does not make you any money" (Malachi 3:14) And when the prophet undertook to rebuke them for their carelessness they replied with something like, "O yeah!"

JUDGMENT IS COMING

In the face of such a situation our author declares that a day of judgment is coming in which the nation will be charged with its sins and convicted. Had the author been writing for our day he would probably tell us that the day of judgment has come, and that the world struggle with communism is a result of the fact that for a hundred years we have ignored the cries of the poor. The arms race of the world-It is impossible for God to overlook responsible for the fact that two thirds of this world goes to bed hungry every night, and that one third is overstuffed.

The judgment day is upon us, and only as we repent and rehabilitate this world in righteousness and opportunity can the world be saved.
